For Township Committeeman

Novotny Challenges Schlickman

By DAN BAUMANN
News Editor

A two-way race for Wheeling Township Republican committeeman was guaranteed Wednesday when Thomas W. Novotny, president of the Wheeling Township Republican Club, made himself a candidate.

Novotny will face State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, who announced last week he would seek the committeeman post as well as re-election to the Legislature.

Both men live in Arlington Heights.

WHILE opposing Schlickman in the committeeman race, Novotny announced he would support him in the legislative campaign:

—Referring to Schlickman's candidacy for township committeeman, Novotny said he agreed "wholeheartedly" with retiring committeeman Thomas J. Houser that "Wheeling Township needs and deserves constant leadership." Houser, who is supporting Schlickman, gave up the party job to organize the campaign of Charles Percy for the U.S. Senate.

Novotny added, "The more than 20,000 Republican voters in the township must have a leader whose only political concern is that of creating and maintaining an effective local organization."

—On the other side of the coin, Novotny said, "It was Rep. Schlickman's conscientious dedication to his duties, first as a village trustee and then in Springfield, that led me to give him my wholehearted endorsement for a second (legislative) term."

NOVOTNY, whose wife Jeanne is Arlington Heights village clerk and a precinct captain, does not face an easy task.

Schlickman and Houser are closely associated in township GOP circles. Novotny is one of several prominent Republicans whom Houser removed from precinct captain jobs late last year, citing "non-performance."

Novotny is expected to attract votes of Republicans who were dissatisfied with Houser's leadership of the township GOP. While Houser associates characterize the group as a small number of individual "dissidents," there has been no test of strength.

A show of strength was avoided last month when Novotny was elected president of the Republican Club; rumors of a Houser-backed candidate for the job

TEN VIE IN CAUCUS VOTE ON TWO POSTS

Powell Drops; Had Top Rank

by Mary Schlott
Staff Writer

The District 25 Nominating Committee will have 10 nominees to choose from when delegates meet tonight (Thursday) at 8 to select two candidates for the elementary board.

H. Robert Powell, who received top ratings from the Caucus screening committee, has withdrawn his name because of failure to meet the one-year residence requirement.

Another nominee, Harry A. Kunberger of 926 N. Kennicott, has cited personal reasons and also asked to have his name withdrawn.

RECEIVING identical top ratings with Powell was Mrs. Marian Malcolmson, incumbent board member who has said she is willing to run again, if the nominating committee — the "School Caucus" — backs her. She and Powell were scored "exceptionally well qualified" on 10 criteria ranging from experience to awareness of school goals.

Rated next after them was James W. Penn, 2211 N. Champlain.

At tonight's meeting in the South Junior High cafeteria, delegates will ballot until they have selected one candidate for each of the two vacancies that will exist. It will be a long meeting, since to get the caucus nod a nominee must receive a majority vote and only the lowest ranking nominee is dropped each round.

RECEIVING the next highest ratings, after Powell, Mrs. Malcolmson and Penn, were William F. Bridwell, 726 W. Gettysburg, and William C. Meinhardt, 208 S. Reuter.

Other nominees include Mrs. Elaine Craynon, 1264 S. Walnut; Robert Earl Dallstream, 2305 N. Lafayette; James F. Lee, 611 E. Frederick; Roger Martinell, 119 N. Wilke; Harry F. Segal, 809 S. Burton Place, and Charles H. Vetter, 813 N. Patton.

A keen interest in each nominee's view on federal aid was expressed by some delegates attending the first school Caucus meeting on Jan. 6. The screening committee did include a question on that topic in their interviews with the 12 men and women but the nominees' answers were not included in the written evaluation sheets. Warriner says he will, however, discuss this in his verbal report tonight.

Every candidate, he says, expressed himself as being basically opposed to the principle of federal aid to schools.

POWELL, FORMER president of the Prospect Heights District 23 Elementary Board, said he realized last Saturday that he had not met School Code residence requirements and took

214 Board Members Seek Re-election

Both Pres. Arthur E. Aronson and Dr. Frank J. Smith have decided to seek re-election to the High School District 214 Board, Paddock Publications has learned.

Terms of both men will expire on April 9, date of the next school board election.

CANDIDATES' petitions are available now at the District 214 administration building, 777 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect, and at the Chicago office of the Cook County superintendent of schools.

They may be filed in the District 214 office or with the secretary of the board, Mrs. Leah Cummins of Elk Grove Village, beginning Wednesday. The last date for filing will be March 19.

Aronson, a resident of 2818 Schoenbeck Road, Prospect Heights, will be seeking a third term on the high school board.

Dr. Smith, an industrial psychologist with Sears Roebuck and Co., is completing his first three-year term. He lives at 1523 Kaspar, Arlington Heights.

ALTHOUGH PETITIONS for Aronson were circulated at the board's Feb. 7 meeting, the board president did not definitely decide to run again until last Saturday.

He told Paddock Publications he would seek re-election shortly before he and Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer left for a five-day American Association of School Administrators meeting in Atlantic City, N.J. Accompanying them were Dr. Edward H. Gilbert, assistant superintendent, and Alvin L. Kulieke, principal of Prospect High School.

Opposition to Dr. Smith's candidacy, particularly, is expected from political conservatives angered at the board member's often acid defense of the use of federal funds for high school programs.

REPORTS THAT conservatives would be out for Smith's scalp this spring circulated persistently after District 214 voted last fall to set up a Neighborhood Youth Corps with federal assistance.

Aronson has also voted for most federally supported District 214 programs. Whether he, too, will be opposed by anti-federal aid factions is still a matter for speculation.

If Aronson and Smith are challenged, at least one of the opposition candidates must be from an unincorporated area of the district. The school board president is the only board member residing in unincorporated territory, and the Illinois School Code requires that the board include at least one resident from outside incorporated municipalities.

Atcher Will Buck Graham

Schaumburg Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher, a Republican, this week declared himself a candidate against State Sen. John A. Graham (R-Barrington), Third District.

"It's a free country," commented Graham on Atcher's candidacy, which will force a June primary fight. "I'm going to make my race too."

Atcher, 51, will be bucking several township committeemen and their organizations.

THE TOWNSHIP committeemen will hold a hearing Feb. 26 on prospective candidates for the Senate seat and two House seats.

The newly formed Third District consists of Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine, Barrington, Schaumburg, Hanover and parts of Maine and Northfield Townships.

Schaumburg Township Committeeman Jesse Lehman and Palatine Township Committeeman Alexander MacArthur have said they will not support Atcher. Without doubt, Barrington Township Committeeman Harold Smith will also oppose Atcher.

Atcher supporters believe fights for the committeemen's posts in Schaumburg and Wheeling will work in their favor. Atcher said he does not expect too much support from the committeemen.

Schaumburg village president for eight years, Atcher in 1962 vied for Republican endorsement as a candidate for the Metropolitan Sanitary District board and in 1961 he was chairman of the Schaumburg "Stratton for Governor Committee."

HE IS BEST known outside political circles as a country and Western singer and a long-time National Barn Dance personality.

Parents who cannot answer these questions should turn to one of the children in Joanna Hauschild's second grade class at Park School, Arlington Heights.

They showed their grasp of the world of dinosaurs and its tongue-twisting vocabulary of never-never words like pterodactyl, tricerotops, brontosaurus and diplodocus in a give-and-take question and answer session last Thursday morning with Ernest J. Roscoe, geologist from the Chicago Natural History Museum.

HOVERING MUTELY over the session was a six-foot model of a tyrannosaurus.

The geologist was in Arlington Heights to appear on closed circuit TV at Miner Junior High School, and stopped at Park School for the session with the second graders to give them some authoritative answers to fuel their current interest kick.

Among queries he faced were:

How long were the teeth of tyrannosaurus rex?

Did a brontosaurus weigh more than a diplodocus?

HOW DID THESE seven-year-olds know so much about unpronouncable monsters? Miss Hauschild explained that their class is doing a unit on prehistoric life.

She acknowledged that they are several years ahead of themselves and explained that the whole thing started in their daily question and answer periods. These 15- to 30-minute periods are held when time is dragging, usually before lunch, and the kids take turns asking their classmates questions on various subjects.

It happened that most of the questions the second graders brought to class were about the earth and prehistoric animals. "As long as the interest level was so high," said Miss Hauschild, "I thought it would be best to organize their questions into a unit on prehistoric life."

THEY TACKLED it earnestly and made a list of their questions. Among them were:

'Instant News' Acclaimed Successful in First Week

The Herald's new "Instant News" service has been termed a "success" by Robert Y. Paddock, vice president of Paddock Publications.

Since the service was begun last Friday, a "steady stream" of callers has dialed Paddock Publications for the community's earliest news reports, Paddock said.

Number to call for the service is 392-2100.

ACCORDING TO Paddock, the weekend sports service remains the most popular aspect of "Instant News," with several thousand calls received Friday night, Saturday and Sunday from residents seeking area high school basketball and wrestling results.

The service was announced in last Thursday's Herald. Although it was announced to begin Friday, several dozen persons called Thursday morning. The first "Instant News" message was placed on the recorders when installation was completed Thursday afternoon.

Beginning Friday, the recorded message was changed two to three times daily — except Saturday and Sunday when the sports service was in effect. It provided the area's first reports on several accidents, fires, official board actions, funeral arrangements and other "Instant News."

MATERIAL FOR "Instant News" is gathered by staff writers of the Arlington Heights Herald, coordinated by Herald News Editor Dan Baumann. Voice most frequently heard on "Instant News" is that of Bill Swinford, news editor of Paddock Publications' Hoffman Herald. Swinford is a speech graduate and was a radio broadcaster prior to entering newspaper work.

"This new community service has not been completely without 'bugs,' " noted Executive Editor Charles E. Hayes.

"We have had occasional errors — recordings tuned too loudly, and such. We expected a few problems because we are relying on our own local talent. This is a new experience for our news staff, whose main experience has been in newspaper work. "We're still learning; we will improve this new "Instant News" service.

Harris Named Finance Chief for Schlickman

George A. Harris, 626 W. Sigwalt St., Arlington Heights, has been appointed finance chairman for State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman's bid for Republican committeeman of Wheeling Township.

"I am very pleased by George's acceptance of this responsible position," Schlickman stated. "As a local businessman, George Harris has identified himself with a political effort in which he has placed his trust for the betterment of his community and state."

Harris and his wife, Marion, are the proprietors of Harris Pharmacy in Arlington Heights. Harris, a member of Rotary International, recently was elected president of the Illinois Pharmaceutical Association.

DIRECTLY associated with Harris in fund-raising efforts for Schlickman's candidacy for Wheeling Township Republican Committeeman are Jack Keefer, Mount Prospect, businessman, and John J. Walsh, Jr., Arlington Heights, village trustee and businessman.

Schlickman expressed "great satisfaction" with the immediate reaction to his candidacy for the Republican party post. "Daily, I am receiving growing support and encouragement from active Republicans and other community leaders. I especially am appreciative of the sentiment of the precinct captains."

Support from one quarter came in the form of a news release Tuesday from Charles Mihalek, village of Wheeling Regular GOP area chairman, who endorsed Schlickman's candidacy. Area chairmen, appointed officials, preside over several precinct captains.

Mihalek said Schlickman's "political experience and ability to get along with people . . . will create a stronger united Republican party in the township." (ACM

FOUR GIRLS, representing the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes, will serve as models from each of the four high schools.

Norman's, Ted's Teepee, and Cover Girl stores at Randhurst will donate the clothes for the show.

Members of the Comas Committee expect to erase a long-standing debt if the fashion show brings in a $350 profit. A donation of 50 cents is requested. (A

Eye on Arlington

Voters to Choose Lady or the Tiger

by DAN BAUMANN
News Editor

You'll be hearing a lot about junior colleges and juvenile delinquents this spring.

It will all be part of one of the strangest and most entertaining (if you have a diabolic sense of humor like mine) election campaigns in recent local history.

BAUMANN

The race for votes will pit an aggressive, vivacious lady from Arlington Heights against a respected attorney from Northbrook. The combatants: Mrs. Eugenia S. Chapman and Bernard M. Peskin.

Both are Democrats seeking re-election as state representatives.

Peskin has been in the State House fort several terms; Mrs. Chapman was elected in November 1964, and is completing her first term. The at-large balloting of 1964 cast them both into the state Legislature.

With the re-creation of representative districts this year, three representatives will be elected from each district. Two will represent the majority party—Republican, in this instance. Only one of the Democrats can hope to make it back to Springfield.

Early rumors had one of them—Peskin, probably—being offered an appointive job in exchange for stepping out of the contest. Apparently, however, both are in the race.

Now you won't hear either talking about the other Democrat as the opponent. The rules of the game won't allow it; on paper, both are running against those nasty Republicans.

But when you hear Peskin or Mrs. Chapman warmly endorsing each other, you'd better not believe it. They know it's two Republicans, one Democrat.

They also know that the attitudes of the rank and file Republicans—and the public and private actions of Republican leaders—will play a big role in their election chances. Electors will vote this fall for three candidates, and most of them will vote for two Republicans and one Democrat. Basically, Republican voters, far in the majority, will decide which Democrat wins.

What has all this to do with junior colleges and juvenile delinquents? Well, Mrs. Chapman was chief sponsor of the junior college bill which passed the last session of the Legislature. And Peskin was chief sponsor of the Family Court bill, similarly passed into law.

Chances are, you won't hear Peskin speaking in great detail about the junior college bill. Nor Mrs. Chapman about the Family Court bill.

Three New Projects Cited for Chamber

The Welcome Wagon Neighbor program of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce reached 96 per cent of all new residents of the village in 1965, according to a summary of the year's activities presented by Executive Dir. E. Charles Alft.

Purpose of the program is to build good will among the thousands of people moving into the village each year.

Alft cited three new projects in his annual report: the sponsorship of police and fire department recognition weeks and revision of the chamber's 24-page brochure on the village. Other chamber activities cited by Alft include the semi-monthly membership public newsletter, Triangle News, Christmas street decoration program and public relations on behalf of the business community with village government and other agencies.

THE CHAMBER'S 1965 budget reached an all time high with an income of $30,507.09 and expenditures totaling $27,814.19.

A net cash balance of $411.27 remains after accounts payable were satisfied, the report added. A breakdown of income showed that 60 per cent of the 1965 income came from mimeograph service, the Welcome Neighbor program, and the Sidewalk Days carnival. Thirty per cent came from membership dues and the remaining 10 per cent from miscellaneous, the report stated.

The bulk of the expenditures, $11,152.99, went for the salaries of the Chamber manager and the full time secretary and withholding and payroll taxes. Other expenses were $1,500 for rent, $1,259 for telephone and postage, and $1,370.85 for printing and supplies, the report said.

The remaining 45 per cent of the expenses included, among 18 budgetary items, $4,687.77 for the carnival, $711.49 for the 1964 Christmas decorations, $808.60 for the installation ceremony and dance, and $1,445.71 for the golf outing, according to the report. (A

Planners OK Wilke Road Relocation

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission voted last Wednesday to recommend denial of John N. Schafehen's petition for vacation of a section of street adjacent to Northwest Highway. Schafehen now plans to take his proposal for a commercial building at Northwest Highway and Highland Avenue to the village board Monday.

At the same meeting, the commission approved the relocation of a section of Wilke Road south of Central Road, adjacent to the Nike base. Developer Joseph W. Bernstein has agreed to use 50 feet of his land if the remaining 50 feet for the right-of-way can be obtained from the federal government.

COMMISSION Chairman Harold Carlson said at first government officials refused to release the land, "but now they say they will." Speaking for Bernstein, H. Myles Gordon said that the use of Bernstein's land is contingent on the road actually being built. At a later meeting, Bernstein plans to request rezoning for a service station in that area

In Schafehen's petition, he asked that the village vacate the paved area adjacent to the north side of Northwest Highway between Vail and Highland. Although it is owned by the Chicago and North Western Railway, the village has an easement on it. Schafehen hopes to build a two or three story commercial building on the present Texaco station site and use the railway property for parking.

Atty. Eugene Schlickman, representing Schafehen, said that Schafehen has an option to buy the Texaco property, which expires Feb. 28. Schafehen is proprietor of Hobby Lobby, 210 E. Northwest Highway.

REFUSING TO approve Schafehen's plan, the commission agreed that the village should not give up the frontage street which "might be needed in the near or distant future for traffic." It noted that future plans for the downtown area could include widening Northwest Highway.

In support of the plan, Schlickman pointed out that the village would be getting increased land with improvements on the tax rolls. It also would include office space, and, he added, "This village is in dire need of this."

"We object strenuously," stated Myles Gordon, one of the developers of the seven-story apartment and office complex to be built in the block north of the area under discussion. He felt vacation of the street would restrict accessibility to and exposure of the Eastman Center-Highland House project. "This should be delayed until more is known about what the traffic pattern will be," he said.

Speaking for the Sinclair Refining Co., S. A. Santoro said that his company objected only to cutting down the width of the approach to Marty's Sinclair service station. The station is just east of Schafehen's proposed development. "Ingress and egress are of considerable interest to a service station," he pointed out. However, if the approach width is retained and there is no cost to Sinclair, he added, "we will go along with the will of the people."

IN PREPARING for Schafehen's hearing, Norman J. Toberman, former village engineer now in private practice, made a traffic survey of Northwest Highway, between Vail and Highland. The resulting drawings, presented to the commission, showed traffic flow and possible "conflicts."

"Odds are that if the intersection (Northwest Highway and Highland) is revised, it will be a safer intersection," he said.

Schafehen had discussed his proposed plans with the state highway division. He reported it had no objection and had agreed to work out some ideas for regulating traffic in the area. (A

Exhibit Night Slated Tuesday For Miner PTA

"We Take Pride in our Children" is the theme of Miner Junior High School's annual exhibit night to be held Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 7:30 p.m.

Exhibit night, sponsored by the Miner PTA, will give parents an opportunity to visit their children's classrooms where projects, papers and textbooks will be on display. Among events planned is a gymnastic exhibition in the Miner gymnasium.

In addition, assorted pastries and baked goods will be sold in the PTA bake sale, under the direction of Mrs. Harry A. Rongner, ways and means committee chairman. The sale is from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday.

SMILES A-PLENTY were visible Saturday night as the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce installed its slate of officers for 1966. Outgoing president W. C. Wolf (right) wishes good luck to new president Robert Walters, as treasurer John Janszen and vice president Al Peters smile approvingly. Almost 200 persons attended the gala dinner dance at Old Orchard Country Club. (A

Christian Church Installs Pastor at Sunday Services

A new minister, the Rev. William R. Robertson, will be installed Sunday by the Christian Church of Arlington Heights.

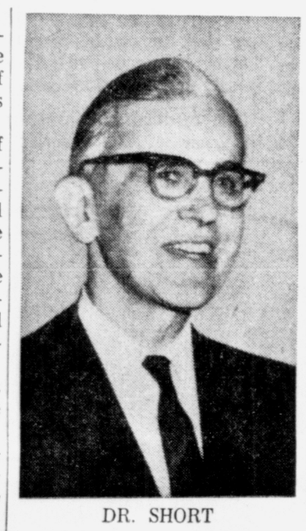
Ceremonies will take place at the church, 333 W. Thomas St., at 4 p.m.

Main speaker will be Dr. Howard E. Short, vice president of the Christian Board of Publication and editor of Christian, the international weekly journal of the Christian Churches, Disciples of Christ.

Dr. Short is a graduate of Eureka College and holds bachelor of divinity and Ph. D. degrees from Hartford Theological Seminary. He was an exchange fellow of the Institute of International Education at the University of Marburg, Germany, and has done additional graduate work at Oberlin Graduate School of Theology.

HE HAS ATTENDED religious meetings in many parts of the world.

Also participating in the installation will be the Rev. Donald D. Pritz, president of the Arlington Heights Ministerial Alliance and pastor at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church; Robert L. Bond, executive secretary of Chicago Disciples Union, and Thomas Morton, associate general secretary of the Illinois Disciples of Christ.



DR. SHORT

REV. ROBERTSON

A reception will follow the installation.

The Rev. Mr. Robertson came to Arlington Heights in January from the Union Avenue Christian Church, St. Louis, Mo. He is 34 years old. His predecessor, the Rev. Don Jones, became pastor of the Memorial Christian Church of Rock Island last November. (A

Two Events On Docket For VFW

Members of Arlington Heights Post 981 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars have slated two major events for the coming weekend.

The post rifle squad will hold a dinner-dance Saturday beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the post clubhouse, 811 N. Yale Ave. Music and dancing will begin at 9 p.m.

Tickets for the dinner-dance may be purchased from any member of the rifle squad for $2. Tickets for children under 12 cost $1.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON the post's state champion girls drill team, the Coronets, will present a "Festival of Flags" which features a color guard contest. Preliminaries are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. at Arlington High School, and finals will take place at 6:30 p.m. A $1 donation is requested. Funds will go towards meeting expenses for the Coronets to attend the state drill competitions.

Sessions Slated

The Kensington PTA in Arlington Heights has scheduled the first of three sessions for exchanging ideas for parents of pre-schoolers next Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the school.

The other two sessions will be conducted March 30 and April 27, with nursery care to be provided to toddlers.

The informal meetings will include a short talk by a qualified speaker with a question and answer period to follow. (A

Fire Losses In January Total $9,350

Property loss from fires during January reached $9,350 in Arlington Heights with blazes in two homes accounting for more than $8,000 of this figure, according to Fire Chief Harvey Carothers.

Carothers said this week that property loss figures for last year at this same time were only $450 but stressed that it only takes one or two major fires to boost a monthly loss.

FIREMEN answered 46 calls during January of which 23 were for fires, 15 for miscellaneous emergency and 8 for inhalator aid. A year ago January, 39 calls were reported. Only 10 of these were for fires, 11 for miscellaneous emergency and 18 for inhalator assistance, Carothers said.

Carothers explained that miscellaneous assistance included everything from clearing a street to aiding a household pet in trouble. (A

Young Actors Will Perform For Oldsters

Residents of the Lutheran Home for the Aged, 800 W. Oakton St., will be treated to the annual performance by "Budding Bernhardts," a group of children studying drama under Mrs. J. A. Smith, 909 S. Dunton Ave.

The program which includes short plays and monologues, will be presented this evening (Thursday).

Children participating are: Susan Kramer, Kim Knott, Jamie Knott, Dianne Glomski, Betsy Krebsbach, Susan Beckius, Susan Lazor, Kim Spinks, Jean Cummings, Donna Jernberg, Kenneth Jernberg, Amy Parchmann, Louisa Hollmeyer, Emery Peek, Elizabeth Zilen, Laura Bergstrom, Nancy Foreman, and Jeanne Burkitt, all of Arlington Heights. Joy Bell Burtis of Palatine will also take part in the program. (A

Variation Given To Allow Parking At Medical Center

A village zoning ordinance requiring a 25-foot setback for buildings and parking on commercial property facing residential areas was waived Monday by the Arlington Heights Zoning Board of Appeals.

The board granted a variation to Dr. Bernard Moore who will occupy a medical building under construction on his 75-foot lot at 1120 E. Central Road, between Cleveland and Roosevelt Avenues.

Dr. Moore requested the variation so he could use the 25-foot-deep section of his property fronting on Central Road for parking.

ACCORDING TO village zoning regulations, buildings and parking on commercial property must be set back at least 25 feet from the front lot line if the lot faces residential areas. Dr. Moore's property faces Hatlen Heights which is on the south side of Central Road.

By unanimous vote, Dr. Moore was granted a variation allowing him to use 20 feet of the setback area for parking on the condition that the other five feet along his front lot line be landscaped to effectively screen the parked cars.

The medical building lies to the rear of Dr. Moore's lot. There are about 75 feet between the building and the front lot line.

WITHOUT THE variation, only about 50 feet of that space could have been used for parking. Dr. Moore said that this is enough for eight cars.

He stated that three of the eight spaces would be used by the medical building staff and that five spaces would be insufficient for the backlog of waiting patients if he were called away for emergencies.

The additional space granted by the variation will provide parking for four more cars(A

Gospel, Peanuts To Be Discussed

"The Gospel According to Peanuts" is the title of the program to be presented by the Rev. Robert L. Short for the Adult Fellowship of the Congregational United Church of Christ, 1001 W. Kirchoff Road, Arlington Heights, Sunday, Feb. 20 at 7 p.m.

Short is the author of the book "The Gospel According to Peanuts" as well as many other articles relating to theology and the arts. He is currently working toward his Ph.D. in this field at the University of Chicago.

The program will be preceded by a social hour at which coffee and dessert will be served. (A

Nancy Emig Wins Award For Sales

Nancy Emig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emig, 1019 N. Highland Ave., Arlington Heights, was recently cited for membership in the President's Club of Kansas City Life Insurance. Miss Emig is a representative for the company's Chicago office.

Qualifying for the President's Club entitles Miss Emig to fly to Disneyland next spring. It is the second year that she has qualified for the club. Last year she earned a trip to Arizona.

In order to qualify for the club, Kansas City Life Insurance agents must sell a minimum number of policies annually.

Miss Emig is a graduate of Arlington High School and the University of Illinois. (A

Two Committeemen Seek Re-election

Elk Grove Township's two incumbent political party committeemen will seek re-election.

Republican Carl R. Hansen and Democrat Chester A. Chesney have received unanimous endorsement from their precinct captains, making their re-election almost certain.

Arlington Heights, south of Central Road, is in Elk Grove Township.

Both men will be seeking second terms.

Chesney is a savings and loan association executive and a former U. S. Representative in the 81st Congress from Chicago's northwest side.

He played football with the Chicago Bears championship teams of 1939 and 1940.

CHESNEY HAS pledged "full participation in all local affairs. . . and will press the two-party system in state and national elections.

"We also are committed to stop the deterioration of bi-partisan efforts in education, library systems and other community projects which demand programs without the influence of national parties," he said.

Hansen is an advertising agency executive. He was named general campaign manager for Charles H. Percy's race for governor in 1964, but was sidelined at the start by serious injuries resulting from an expressway auto crash.

HANSEN PLEDGED, "To continue improving levels of activity and participation for Republicans in Elk Grove Township and to continue the development of an effective political organization."

He said the Elk Grove Township GOP organization had grown from 42 members to more than 1,700 in a little more than four years.

"The Elk Grove organization is the largest of its kind in Illinois," Hansen said.

Maurice C. Sellers Jr., Arlington Heights, a past president of the Regular Republican organization, will handle Hansen's campaign. (A

BUICK 1,000,000 SWEEPSTAKES
WIN $2332*
*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Special V-8, 2-dr. coupe. Price includes Federal Excise Tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge.
Would you believe your car's vehicle identification number might be worth $2,332.00 in cash to you?
(This odd figure is also the price of a Buick Special*. Pleasant surprise, isn't it?)
HERE'S HOW IT WORKS: Check that car registration of yours. If the first symbols of your vehicle identification number on it match up with one of those listed at the right, you might have won yourself $2,332 cash. No slogan to invent, no puzzle to solve. To find out for sure if you won, just hop down to your nearest Buick dealer's. He's got a list of complete winning numbers posted. (No, you don't have to own a Buick to have a winning number.) If your complete vehicle identification number appears on his list—you're in the money.
Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. L. Polk and Co., P. O. Box 1247, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Entries must be postmarked before midnight, Thursday, March 31, 1966. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

Crime Rate Up For January

The total number of criminal offenses in Arlington Heights for January of this year is greater than the number reported for the same month last year, according to Police Chief L. W. Calderwood's monthly report to the village manager.

The report showed 287 offenses reported to police, nine of which were termed "unfounded." The remaining 278 compared with 239 offenses for a similar period in 1965, showed an increase of 38.

However, a breakdown of the list indicated that major criminal offenses did not significantly increase. There were no criminal homicides, rapes or residential robberies reported during January of this year or last. No aggravated assaults were reported this year, but one was listed for last year.

SIX CASES of larceny involving property over $50 were reported for both years. But 19 cases of petty larceny were reported for last month, whereas only 12 were recorded for a similar period in 1965.

Criminal damage to property —vandalism—was down by 14 with only 19 cases reported.

Offenses and police calls which accounted for the bulk of the increase included such violations as family and children disputes, fire reports, investigations, and suspicious autos, persons and phone calls, according to the report.

Eight juvenile offenses were reported January, but only one of the offenders was turned over to the courts. A breakdown of the offenses showed that one violated liquor laws, one was involved in a traffic violation, three were in connection with disorderly conduct and three others in violation of village ordinances.

TOTAL TRAFFIC violation convictions also increased over last year's figure, with 365 recorded for last January and 257 for the same month in 1965. Speeding was the most frequent violation with 198 reported last month. This figure represents 35 more than last year at the same time. Running stop lights and stop signs was the next most common offense with 39 convictions recorded.

A total of 584 parking tickets were issued last month. (A

Elliott Named By Aid Society

An Arlington Heights man recently was named to the board of trustees of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, one of the oldest and largest non-sectarian child welfare agencies in the state.

The new trustee is Lang Elliott, 641 S. Burton Place. Elliott is a partner in Stein, Roe and Farnham, an investment counseling firm.

Walther Head Nurse, Mrs. Hickey, Retires

Mrs. Golda Hickey, 1909 Birchwood Lane, Arlington Heights, has retired as head nurse at Walther Memorial Hospital in Chicago after 18 years of service, according to Calvin C. Singer, hospital administrator.

The department Mrs. Hickey headed since 1950 has cared for approximately 25,000 babies during the past 18 years.

MRS. HICKEY

MRS. HICKEY maintains friendships with many mothers and children born in the hospital. She said she received about 50 cards each Christmas from families who have had children born at Walther. Many of the cards contain photographs so that she can see how "her" children have grown.

Mrs. Hickey, now 70, plans to keep active through travel and volunteer work at health institutions in the Arlington Heights area, where she is residing with her daughter, Martha. She also has a son, James, of Dallas, Texas, who has four sons. (A

Belmont Cul-de-Sac Considered by BOLI

A cul-de-sac for Belmont Avenue between Oakton and Olive Streets in Arlington Heights is being considered by the board of local improvements (BOLI).

BOLI President Sam Rudder last Thursday asked Consoer, Townsend and Associates, consulting engineers to the board, to prepare plans for a cul-de-sac with a curb sidewalk that will fit within the 66 foot right-of-way planned for that block of Belmont.

Belmont north of Oakton presently dead-ends at the south boundary of Greens Park and Olive School. The two are contiguous and Olive School children use the park as a playground.

BOTH SCHOOL and park officials have indicated that they do not wish Belmont to run through to Olive Street and break up the contiguity of their common boundary.

BOLI had three alternatives for that block of Belmont:

—Let Belmont remain a dead end:

—Put in a "T;"

—Put in a cul-de-sac.

Orderly movement of traffic was the major consideration in the board's preference for a cul-de-sac.

Many parents of Olive School children living south of the school find it convenient in inclement weather to drive their children up Belmont to the south boundary of the school rather than drive around to the school's Olive Street entrance. A cul-de-sac would permit them to drop children off at the end of Belmont and exit without backing up to turn around.

THE PROBLEM with a cul-de-sac at that point is getting it within the 66 foot planned right of way.

Charles McBride, representative of Consoer, Townsend, advised the board that the minimum turning radius for cars recommended by the American Association of State Highway Officials (AASHO) is 28 feet.

A cul-de-sac based on these specifications would be 56 feet in diameter and have room for a curb sidewalk.

It would, however, be too small to permit trucks to turn around without backing up. The AASHO recommended minimum turning radius for trucks is 45 feet. (A

Two Schools Plan Homage For Fathers

Fathers will have their day at Arlington Heights' Westgate and Dwyer Schools on Washington's birthday next Tuesday, Feb. 22.

On this day, the two schools are inviting fathers only to come and visit their children's classrooms.

Mrs. Helen Castor, principal of Westgate School, explained that Washington's birthday was chosen for an annual open house for fathers only because many of them have the day off. Mothers, she said, can come almost any other day of the year.

"Fathers think of elementary classrooms as being the same as those when they were in school," said Mrs. Castor. "But when they visit they are surprised to see how much variety there is — how much the kids actually do and how much independent thinking there is."

THERE MAY BE some variations from the normal classroom routine and teachers may plan things that fathers can participate in. But activities will essentially be what children do all the time.

Brief schedules of the school activities for Washington's birthday will be sent to homes and fathers may adjust their schedules to those which seem most important.

Refreshments will be provided by the PTA. (A

Lenten Series Is Planned by Church

Wednesday evening, Feb. 23, will open the Lenten Sermon series of the South Church-Community Baptist, Mount Prospect, according to the Rev. Edwin I. Stevens, pastor. Services will be from 7:45 to 8:30 p.m. each Wednesday through March 30.

The Rev. John Di Gangi, associate pastor, will conduct the services for the first three Wednesdays and Rev. Stevens, the last three. Rev. Stevens will conduct the Lenten Sunday services from Feb. 27 through March 13 and Rev. Di Gangi from March 20 through Palm Sunday.

The Lenten - Easter Services will include a Maundy Thursday Communion at 8 p.m. April 7; Good Friday Tenebrae Service, 8 p.m., April 8, and four morning Easter Sunday services on April 10 at 5:31, 8:15, 9:30 and 11:00 a.m.

Rinks Host Record Number of Skaters

More skaters crowded local ranks this winter than ever before and some of them had a better sopt to warm themselves.

That was the conclusion given Arlington Heights park commissioners at last week's meeting by Supt. Thomas Thornton.

Some 51,000 youngsters and adults have used the park's skating rinks so far this year. This is up some 15,000 over last year.

Almost 11,000 of the 51,,000 adults and youngsters who have taken to the ice this year skated on the retention basin at Olive and Douglas, Thornton noted.

THE ONLY PLACE they had to warm themselves is a construction shack lacking sanitary facilities and getting its heat from infra-red lamps.

The retention basin, across from Greens Park, is the park district's largest skating area, Thornton said.

The number of skaters, Thornton's report showed, is up 16,000 over last year. Only Hasbrook's regular skating rink had a reduced attendance. He termed both years "average seasons."

Attendance at Pioneer Park's hockey rink this season was 3,500, about the same as it was last year, while attendance at the other rink was 18,000—up 6,000.

RECREATION Park's rinks drew 7,900 for regular skating and 2,200 for hockey, both types of skating proving more popular than they were last season.

At Hasbrook Park, 7,100 used the regular skating rink, a drop from last year's 8,060 attendance. The hockey rink has had an attendance of 1,400, about the same as the year before.

Special Service Programs Topic

A presentation on the school district's program of special services will be given Thursday, Feb. 24, at a meeting of the Clearmont PTA in Elk Grove Village.

Those taking part in the presentation will include Herbert Gordon, school, psychologist; Paul Lewis, social worker; Miss Haack, speech therapist, and Mrs. Alice Hufton, school nurse.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the school's multi-purpose room. A six-week course of math instruction for parents is nearly completed, with the final session for tonight, (Thursday). (A(E(M

Trip Tips

It's getting easier to get to Acapulco, Mexico. After many years of having to change planes in Mexico City, new air agreements now give thru plane service to the resort city of the Pacific.

Wayne Griffin

Many carriers are involved in this new agreement and new service, among them is Mexicana, a Pan American affiliate.

Mexicana's schedule leaves O'Hare at 4:20 in the afternoon and gets you to Acapulco at 9:25 p.m. Returning you leave at 10:15 a.m. getting to O'Hare at 3:20 p.m.

Most first time visitors to Mexico still want to stop to see the sights of Mexico City before continuing. This can still be arranged with non-stop jets to the capital city.

Wayne Griffin Travel has full information on flites and tours to all of Mexico. Drop in at 104 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights and we'll tell you all about it.

Study of Dinosaurs Intrigues Youngsters

IN THE INTEREST of classroom safety, the six-foot model of tyrannosaurus rex which overshadows Christopher Brogdon is minus teeth and claws. The model was constructed by the second graders with the aid of two dads who built the frame.

How do volcanoes build up? How big did dinosaurs get? How did dinosaurs move? Why did dinosaurs' bones turn to rock?

Then in their spare time, they hunted up the information. Many brought their own books to class. In the process of answering their own questions, Miss Hauschild said, they learned the meaning of research.

They brought their information to class and discussed it. After each discussion period, Miss Hauschild had them write up the information in complete sentences. This way, they integrate the things they learn with other areas.

ALONG WITH individual research, the class had movies and film strips. They also did art work, which included constructing a six-foot dinosaur (with the help of two dads who built the frame) and painting a huge, room-spanning mural depicting a prehistoric landscape.

The mural was done by committees with each doing a section so all students had a chance to paint. They chose the colors themselves and decided which plants, animals and geologic features should be included.

While this is advanced material for second graders, Miss Hauschild explained that they pick it up quickly because they are learning through experience. They create their own need to learn through their own questions and satisfy that need by finding the answers themselves. They learn better because the teacher leads them to relate the knowledge and concepts to themselves.

Miss Hauschild said that when they are finished with prehistoric life, she hopes the question and answer periods will lead to a later unit on space exploration.

Park Golfing Classes Start

The Arlington Heights Park District will start the first session of golf lessons next Monday and Tuesday at Recreation Park Fieldhouse.

The course will consist of eight one-hour lessons, which will include the various phases of the golf swing. Instruction in stance, grip, swing, putting, golf etiquette and club selection will be offered.

Prospective students may register by calling the park district office at CL 3-0620.

Area News Roundup

BENSENVILLE—Harold Keeling, village treasurer for 18 years, was arrested Saturday and charged by the DuPage County state's attorney's office with official misconduct, forgery and grand theft. He has confessed to embezzling at least $30,900 in village funds. Auditors went to work this week to size up the complete situation.

PALATINE-SCHAUMBURG—The High School District 211 board last week ridiculed an outdoor-farm center program and the Northwest Cook Opportunity Council (Norwesco). The outdoor farm center program, which would be developed under the federal Title III education act, was termed a "funny farm" and the board voted not to join the Palatine elementary school district in supporting the center. Norwesco wants the high school district's support for a special tutoring program for the underprivileged. The board delayed action until it could learn more about costs, but one board member called Norwesco "a bunch of do-gooders" and another said Norwesco's vice chairman is a "stuffed shirt."

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS—An incumbent member of Elementary District 25 board has received top rating from the subcommittee on candidate appraisal of the School Caucus. She is Mrs. Marian Malcolmson. A second candidate, who received an equally high score from the evaluating group, has announced he will withdraw because he does not meet school residency requirements. He is H. Robert Powell, 110 S. Kennicott Ave. The Caucus will select two candidates for posts on the board at a meeting tonight (Thursday).

ROLLING MEADOWS—A recommendation to purchase "the last open land in the heart of the city" for a cluster of public buildings will be made to the city council next Tuesday. A new library would be the first phase of the building program.

SCHAUMBURG—Pres. Robert O. Atcher this week declared himself a candidate against Sen. John A. Graham (R-Barrington), state Third District. Atcher, 51, a Republican, thus will force a June primary fight in which committeemen opposition is exepcted to form against him.

STREAMWOOD—Village officials generally support Village Atty. William Davies if he chooses to run for the Third District state senate seat. Trustee Dave Nichols says he will seek his removal if he announces because he does not believe the attorney will be able to do his job adequately if campaigning for the GOP nomination.

Few Measles Cases, But Epidemic Warned

The number of measles cases reported among Arlington Heights grade school children during January and February does not reflect so far the epidemic proportions the disease is expected to reach by spring, according to two Arlington Heights health officials.

However, both officials warned this week that an epidemic could flare up without warning and pointed out that predictions by state health officials of such an epidemic, based on cyclic nature of the disease, should not be taken lightly.

"TO DATE I HAVE heard of only five cases of measles among Arlington Heights grade school children," reported Mrs. Marie D. Coburn, director of village health services. Mrs. Coburn said this number represented no more than in other years. Four of the five cases, all reported in January, were among children in Our Lady of the Wayside School. The fifth case was a pre-school child.

Mrs. Thelma M. Carroll, director of School District 25 health services, warned that "it is not unreasonable" to expect an epidemic of measles.

"The disease is cyclic," explained Mrs. Carroll, "and we expect an epidemic about every three years."

BOTH MRS. Coburn and Mrs. Carroll said they refer local residents reporting cases to their private physicians. Those families who cannot afford medical attention from a private physician can receive measles immunization from the north district office of the Cook County Health Department in Des Plaines.

Mrs. Coburn said that actually there have been fewer communicable diseases reported this year than at this same time in previous years. Most common among school children other than measles are chicken pox and mumps.

Budget Up $40,000 3 Groups

A $168,000 budget — up nearly $40,000 from the current fiscal year — has been submitted for village review by the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

The budget was approved by the library board at a special meeting last Thursday. It compares with last year's $129,750 budget, which received village approval.

The increase reflects the library board's decision to increase services in anticipation of the opening of a new library building next year. It includes $13,000 for two new staff members plus additions for books and periodicals. Also planned is an increase in book rebinding and repair.

HEAD LIBRARIAN Mrs. Mary Lee Ewalt said as the shelf squeeze becomes acute in the present building, books needing repair will be sent to the bindery where they will be stored free until the new facility is opened.

The library budget is being considered, along with proposed budgets for village departments, by the village board finance committee.

Novotny in Campaign Against Schlickman

never materialized. Schlickman made it a point, in his announcement, to list top Republican leaders who are supporting him.

IN MAKING his announcement, Novotny said:

"I have discussed the needs of the party with many prominent Republicans in the township, and their offers of support convince me I should be a candidate. They represent every quarter of the township, every age group and every shade of thinking in the Republican spectrum."

Novotny was deputy campaign chairman for U.S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld in the western half of the 13th Congressional District in each of Rumsfeld's campaigns, including a four-man primary in 1962 and the fall contests in 1962 and 1964.

IN THE 1964 gubernatorial campaign of Charles Percy, Novotny was chairman of the committee which obtained petitions from Percy supporters throughout the state. He was a township coordinator in the presidential campaign of Barry Goldwater, and last year he was publicity chairman for the Wheeling Township Republican slate.

Novotny was a founder and first president of the Wheeling Township Republican Workshop and in 1962 served as state vice president for extension of the Republican Workshops of Illinois.

He is 37. Before moving to Arlington Heights in 1955, he was a founder of the Republican Club of the 50th Ward of Chicago.

Citing those tasks and other party and community work, Novotny said he has had "specific experience in every area of the committeeman's responsibilities with special emphasis on organization. Anyone who assumes the office of committeeman must have experience in the areas of organization, campaign management, public relations and fund raising. Otherwise he is fighting the odds, no matter what other qualities he might have."

NOVOTNY SAID the existence of a "well-organized, well financed, well-led" Democratic party in the township requires "day-to-day attention by the Republican committeeman."

Novotny formed his own consulting firm in 1963, specializing in executive recruiting. He said it will allow him to "arrange my schedule to be available wherever and whenever my duties as committeeman require."

10 Seek Endorsement In Caucus Balloting

steps immediately to withdraw his name.

The Caucus chairman, James W. Warriner, told the Herald he regretted the necessity for Powell's withdrawal. He termed the mixup an "unfortunate misunderstanding."

"This is a tremendous individual. He has terrific possibilities for some future time," the Caucus chairman said.

The residence factor was apparently overlooked by a lot of people. Powell was nominated by Mrs. Jean Prinslow, a Windsor PTA delegate. She talked to him about how long he had lived in Arlington Heights before and when he had moved back, and, apparently misinterpreting, put down two years as his length of residence on her written nomination form. Powell did not see the material she submitted and the Caucus screening committee apparently did not press this point because of their interest in Powell's other qualifications.

Warriner received calls Friday, questioning whether Powell was qualified to serve. He phoned Powell Saturday to check, learned then that the nominee had also caught the mistake and was withdrawing.

POWELL HAS lived in Arlington Heights two years, but not consecutively. He formerly lived in the village but was a resident of Prospect Heights for eight years. He moved to 110 S. Kennicott Ave. last May, lacking a month of meeting the one-year residence requirement.

The original nomination list for the Caucus included 15 persons. Three others — William Griffin of 1521 W. Oakton, C. Russell Lockwood of 515 E. Orchard and Henry J. Rebman of 414 W. White Oak — withdrew before the screening committee held its interviews.

Increased Apartment Zone Asked

A petition to rezone the land formerly known as the Pingle and Hildebrandt farms was scheduled to come before the Arlington Heights Plan Commission during a hearing at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The hearing was set after the current owners, Bennett P. Trapani, a northwest suburban contractor, and Robert Ryan, a land developer in the area, filed a petition seeking to have original zoning changed.

The 52-acre site northeast of Wilke and Algonquin Roads was initially zoned when the village annexed the land last summer. The zoning called for 23 acres of R3 (single family), approximately 22 acres of R5 (multiple family) and about seven acres of B2 (general business).

TRAPANI AND Ryan seek to have 2.8 acres of B2 changed to R5, 19.5 acres of R3 rezoned to R5, 2.5 acres of R5 changed to B4 (limited service), and 6.5 acres of R5 changed to B2. The resulting zoning, if approved, would provide 34.5 acres for multiple family dwellings, 10.7 acres for general service use, 3.5 acres for single family dwellings, and 2.5 acres for limited service use.

Touchy Sidewalk Question Tossed to Village Board

A comprehensive special assessment program for sidewalk additions throughout Arlington Heights was again bounced back to the village board by the board of local improvements (BOLI) Thursday.

BOLI members rejected by a 4 to 1 vote Pres. Sam Rudder's motion that sidewalks be installed on the Fairview Street side of lots at 601, 606 and 546 S. Chestnut Ave.

Before they begin assessing individual homeowners for sidewalk installation, the majority of BOLI members indicated that they want the village trustees as the senior policymaking board to set up definite standards.

THEY UNANIMOUSLY approved Harold Klingner's motion that they request the board of trustees to "express their feelings concerning the original request made of them . . .in our meeting of July 8, 1965, concerning the establishment of sidewalk policy . . ."

Klingner's motion further stated, "if they have insufficient time to devote to this problem, . . . we plan to proceed to establish standards for the determination of sidewalk placement."

Pres. Sam Rudder said he hopes BOLI will get an answer from the village board soon enough to be able to act at its Feb. 24 meeting.

IN THE EVENT that they do not get a response from the village board by then, Pres. Rudder appointed each BOLI member to act as a committee of one to report back on Feb. 24 the objective standards they feel would be adequate.

Discussion of the sidewalk problem began with Pres. Rudder reading a letter from Asst. School Supt. Robert P. Campbell requesting that sidewalks be installed on the south side of Palatine Road between Ridge and Fernandez Avenues. The stretch is several blocks east of Wilson School.

Klingner said that in requesting the sidewalks, the school district should also recommend some standards. "We're taking a big step and I would like to have some criteria to go by," he said.

PRES. RUDDER maintained that they already had criteria and re-stated the recommendations made last September by Kent Bristol, former administrative assistant to the village manager. They are, that sidewalks should be put in:

—On lots near schools and parks;

—On lots where they would fill in a gap in a line of existing sidewalks;

—On streets with heavy pedestrian use; and —On streets with heavy vehicular traffic.

"This is too nebulous," said Klingner who maintained that they should have a fairly well defined policy with objective standards.

BOLI member Ben Chaps reminded them that they had been over this ground before.

"ON JULY 8, 1965, we asked the board of trustees to set standards and give us a statement of policy," he stated.

"We have had no work from them. They had Bristol make us a map showing sidewalk gaps. It's a fine map but it's no policy. If we have a policy, we can decide on its application."

Pointing to the potential controversy involved in sidewalk assessments,

"Someday there'll be dozens of people in here c... assessments. I want to have a policy to point to."

Chaps added, "We want a set of objective standards so that we can say to a person who protests his assessment, "You either meet the standards or you don't." (A

Democrats Endorse Chapman, Stavros

1180 Attend Dinner-Dance

By NANCY ANDERSON
Staff Writer

Crowded into the huge Villa Venice Restaurant, 1,180 Wheeling Township Democrats and their friends had a gala time Saturday night at the annual dinner-dance honoring Democratic Committeeman James Stavros.

And they had a lot to be happy about.

—U.S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas graced the affair with his usual aplomb and vigor, personally greeting countless local constituents who twice gave him a standing ovation — before and after his brief remarks.

—Formal announcement was made by State Rep. Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights that she will, as expected, seek election to a secnond term.

—Formal announcement was made by Committeeman James Stavros that he will, also as expected, seek election to a third term.

—And, formal endorsements of the two candidates were preented from 1) Wheeling Township Regular Democratic Organization, and 3) Young Democrats of Wheeling Township.

ALMOST LEFT out in the cold through the festivities was State Rep. Bernard Peskin of Northbrook, a member of the House since 1958. Although introduced with countless other "honored guests," he was not a guest most favored by the township organization.

Though the Democrats don't like to say much about it, Peskin and Mrs. Chapman are in direct competition. Three representatives are selected from each representative district, two from the majority party and one from the minority. In this heavily Republican 3rd District, it's almost a sure thing that two Republicans and one Democrat will be chosen.

Publicly, Peskin and Mrs. Chapman are both fairly noncommital about their confrontation — indeed, the state central committee is endorsing two Democratic candidates in every district.

"I support the candidates endorsed by the Democratic party; I support the Democratic ticket," Mrs. Chapman commented this week.

FIRST ELECTED to the House in the 1964 at-large election, she said she based her decision to run again on a continuing interest in educational progress at the state and community levels.

"In 1965, we were able to sign into law the Junior College Act implementing the recommendations of the Illinois Master Plan for Higher Education," said Mrs. chapman, chief sponsor of the legislation. "These bills have been hailed as the most significant education legislation in our lifetimes, but they represent only a beginning in my mind. There is so much more to be done."

With an eye to future legislation, she cited a need to strengthen the state's educational structure with a state board of education and an appointive state superintendent of public instruction. She also stresses the need for increased state aid to local school districts to improve their facilities for adult education, and their programs for gifted and exceptional children.

"To pay for these necessary improvements," she said, "we must find a way to lift this burden from the real estate taxpayers to others who can and should share this responsibility."

MRS. CHAPMAN also voiced strong support for credit reform legislation, which has been repeatedly blocked in Springfield by the state's money-lending institutions.

Against Mrs. Chapman's first-term record — and goals— Peskin will balance his longer experience in Springfield and noteworthy legislation. He was chief sponsor of the 1965 Juvenile Court Act and has worked steadily on measures to improve the state's children and family services, as well as mental health programs. He also has devoted steady attention to state revenue reform, and is one of few vocal opponents to the compromise revenue amendment to be voted on next fall.

A chief problem for Peskin is apt to be his geographic location; he lives in Northbrook, over in the corner of this new district, which takes in sections of Northfield and Maine Townships, and all of populous Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships, as well as Palatine, Barrington, Schaumburg and Hanover Townships.

AND, PEOPLE in this area are familiar with Mrs. Chapman's accomplishments, particularly in education. She was for three years a member of the District 214 High School Board. In addition, the four-township Junior College District 301 will benefit from the legislation she introduced.

Probably the only chance for the two representatives to return to Springfield together would be the "independent" identification Mrs. Chapman might gain from such a record —and a weak second entry on the Republican ticket. Eugene Schlickman, Arlington Heights Republican who was also elected in 1964, is considered a shoo-in for re-election.

3 Groups Announce Support

Three township organizations Saturday night announced their endorsements of Wheeling Township Democratic Committeeman James Stavros and Rep. Eugenia Chapman.

Stavros, first elected in 1958, was cited for working "diligently and effectively to develop and strengthen the Democratic organization in Wheeling Township," in the statement from the regular organization. "His efforts have resulted in a strong, unified Democratic organization in Wheeling Township."

Mrs. Chapman was termed by the group as a "major sponsor or co-sponsor of many bills adopted by the Legislature."

The Democratic township women's group credited both for giving "unstintingly of their time and efforts towards the betterment of all of the communities in Wheeling Township. They have been outstanding leaders in their respective positions."

Stavros was recognized by the Young Democrats for founding the organization last year. The group added that "under his leadership, the Democratic vote in Wheeling Township has shown tremendous growth." The YD's said Mrs. Chapman "has served her state and township as blue ribbon member of the Legislature with great ability and leadership."

They Helped Patient No. 40,000

AT 3:34 P.M. NOV. 24, the Wheeling Police ambulance pulled up to the emergency room entrance of Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines. York Jones, 53-year-old construction worker had been run over by a heavy earth-loading tractor. His condition was critical. Diagnosis and X-rays revealed he had suffered crushing injuries to his chest, a collapsed lung, multiple rib fractures, facial fractures and a fractured arm. At Holy Family, Jones became a celebrity. He was admitted as the 40,000th patient since the hospital opened in June, 1961. Just before his release, Jones posed with hospital and medical personnel representing departments concerned or indirectly involved with his care and the police officers who brought him in. Included are the emergency room medical-nursing team, chest surgeon, ear, nose and throat surgeon, orthopedic surgeon, anesthesiologist, radiologist, pathologist, X-ray technician. Others in the picture represent medical records, admitting office, security guard, intravenous therapy, nursing service, orderlies, laundry, central supply, business office, maintenance, pharmacy, physical therapy, switchboard, purchasing, administrator, inhalation therapy, laboratory, housekeeping, personnel, dietary, engineer and out-patient department. Parents Invited To College Forum

Parents of Arlington High School juniors are invited to attend Junior Parent Information Night at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 22 in the school's Little Theater to learn about college and university life.

The informative program will attempt to answer parents' questions concerning tests required for college entrance, differences in college size and cost.

For the first time this year, this type of program is being presented for junior parents. Counselors felt the need of offering this program to junior instead of senior parents with the stepped up pace of selecting and applying at a college.

After an introduction about colleges given by Donn Stansbury, director of pupil personnel services at Arlington, and a panel of counselors, Miss Leotta Hampton, Mrs. Mary Barber, Vincent Carioti and thomas O'Driscoll, parents will be shown a film, "College Prospectives."

The film shows college life on three different types of campuses: a highly selective small private school, a medium-sized school and a large university. Miss Hampton says, "We have used this film before and think it is excellent."

Parents will be informed that College Night will be held for Arlington and Forest View students and parents March 30. Representatives from nearly 125 schools are expected to attend the event. (ACM

Temporary PTA Head

Robert Bright was appointed temporary presiding chairman recently of the new Patton School PTA in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. J. T. Peters is to serve as temporary secretary of the new group, with the next meeting of temporary chairmen and their committees scheduled for 1:30 p.m. March 7 at the school.

Committees include the following: by-laws — Mrs. George Beacham, chairman; Mrs. R. F. Wittmeyer; Mrs. W. O. Hitt; Mrs. F. J. Checchin; Mrs. J. R. Duke.

NOMINATING — Mrs. James R. Walsh, chairman; Mrs. Jerry Hanson; Mrs. J. T. Peters; Mrs. R. C. Pace; Mrs. E. J. Suzak.

Membership — Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Owens, co-chairmen; registrations — Mrs. R. F. Wittmeyer, chairman; refreshments — Mrs. H. J. Milam and Mrs. E. J. Suzak, co-chairmen; publicity — Mrs. James R. Walsh.

Also present at the recent organizational meeting was Robert Bright, principal at the school; Mrs. Thomas Uragami, District 37 director; and Mrs. Victor Graham, president, Arlington Heights PTA Council.

Federal Aid Foes To See Local Plan

Two articulate Arlingtons Heights opponents of federal financed school programs will soon be going to Flint, Mich., to see a locally supported pre-dropout program in action.

District 214 board member William Griffith and Village Trustee Roy Bressler will be in the high school district party that will attend a national community school clinic in the Michigan city on March 9-11.

Both Griffith and Bressler, who was associated with a District 214 Taxpayers Association group that last fall opposed approval of a federally financed Neighborhood Youth Corps, said they are looking forward to the trip.

Griffith, a persistent nay-sayer to federal fund proposals presented by the District 214 administration, said he views the trip as an opportunity to see how a successful locally operated community action program helps the pre-dropout.

THE FLINT schools have pioneered a "personalized curriculum program" to aid potential high school dropouts. A demonstration-keyed view of the program—explained to local high school administrators and community leaders in a visit here in December—will be the big feature of the clinic.

The clinic is co-sponsored by the Michigan State Department of Education, the Flint schools and the Mott Foundation.

The foundation is underwriting part of the trip expenses for the five-man local group, which will also include Dr. Edward H. Gilbert, assistant superintendent of the high school district, and two teachers. (ACME

Addison Man Directs Experiments

Years of Research Behind New Flower Seeds

by Dan Pribilski
Staff Writer

"Yes, we send tulip bulbs to Holland," said Carl F. Dietz, head of the flower seed department of the Vaughn Seed Co., Downers Grove.

While explaining the intricacies of the seed business, Dietz, 50, of 601 W. Jackson, Addison, remarked about sending tulip bulbs to the recognized tulip center of the world.

Dietz is a 30-year veteran of the seed business and holds a master's degree in horticulture.

"I've done just about everything," he commented. "Growing, research, production, everything." Now his duties are mostly administrative but presently he is filling in as the company's research director.

CONSIDERING flower and vegetable seeds alone, the company handles 2,500 varieties. If bulbs and green plants are included, another 2,500 varieties must be considered.

"We used to have our own farms, but not any more," Dietz said regarding the source of the company's seed supply. Most of the seeds now come from California because of the ideal weather conditions.

Besides the obvious packaging and marketing of the seeds and bulbs, the real job of the company is one of "policing" and research.

Dietz explained a sampling of each shipment of seeds is taken for testing and to see if they really are what they are purported to be.

FOR INSTANCE, take one of the most popular flowers today, the petunia.

A sampling of seeds from each shipment is taken and placed under the optimum germinating conditions in ice-box-like control cabinets, or in plastic containers. In these situations, the temperatures are rigidly controlled and the air is quite humid.

In this way the company learns if the seeds are good.

Dietz commented that sometimes shipments of seeds for petunias may be dead. "You can't really tell just by looking." As they germinate, it is determined what the health is.

At the same time, other samplings are taken and grown in hothouses located at Cantigny, the old estate of the late Chicago Tribune editor, Col. Robert Rutherford McCormick. (The lands now are owned by the state.)

BY ACTUALLY growing the flowers, the company learns whether or not the seeds are actually the color or the type they are purported to be.

He said sometimes mixups occur because of cross-pollination or other weather factors a farmer has no solid control over.

As Dietz said, "Nature has a lot to do with everything."

By this growing method, occurring in mid-winter, the company knows from the samples that the red petunias it is labeling actually are red and not white or pink.

THE COMPANY also carries on yearly 2,500 experiments, seeking new strains and varieties.

"Such experiments might take 15 years or one year," he said. "We'd like to say we come up with something new every year, but we can't. As much as we know about genetics, there's still no way for us to know the combination we want or need."

Seeds can be expensive. Again, speaking of the petunia, he said a particular hybrid costs $1,000 an ounce. He said the quarter ounce lot, the one sold most often to commercial users will produce 80,000 to 100,000 petunias under optimum conditions.
tions.

Petunias are favored by people because they are easy to grow, he said.

"BUT FEW people today grow their own gardens starting with seeds," he said. "People are buying plants more. We'd love to figure a way to interest the young in gardening."

Fifteen years ago, he said, one-third of the company's business was in retail sale, one-third to growers and one-third to other dealers for resale.

"Now I doubt if five per cent of the seeds sold accounts for retail sales," he commented. He said 60 per cent goes to commercial users who grow the plants for the people and 35 per cent to dealers for resale.

The seed business historically dates back to the 1400's in England, Dietz said. And the U.S. has had a thriving seed business since the 1800's. Today 25 companies are in the seed business.

DIETZ GOT into the seed business by chance. Thirty years ago he was doing some experimental work for the University of Idaho. He was offered a job by a seed company, took it, and has been in the business ever since.

Married and the father of three children, Dietz does keep a little flower garden at his Addison home.

But does he take the time to grow the seeds from scratch? No. He uses the plants.

Illinois Bell Social Group Elects Officers

Members of the Illinois Bell Telephone Social Club elected officers at their meeting recently at the Palatine American Legion home.

Newly elected president is Thomas Ong, employed in the construction department. He will be assisted by Thomas Klingsporn, vice president (plant department); Evelyn Grant, treasurer (engineering); Fran Bascota, secretary (commercial department); and Pat Niemz, membership chairman.

The club meets at 8:30 p.m. the first Thursday each month and is composed of employes of the Arlington Heights Centralized Test Center and outside employes and departments. The group meets at the Palatine American Legion home.

THE OBJECT OF the club is to furnish social activities and to help bring about a closer association between the employes and their families. Among the activities are a Christmas party and family picnic.

Practice Teaching

Frederick Lussow, 402 S. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, teaching physical education at Bloomington High School, and Susanne Stumpf, 221 Town Acres Lane, Roselle, who teaches German at Hammond Clark High School, are among 224 secondary education majors from Indiana University practice teaching the first eight weeks of the second semester in junior and senior high schools throughout the state.

The student teachers receive from six to eight hours of classroom credit for practice teaching, and are supervised by veteran teachers. (15CC

Some straight talk about car prices

by Mark Heller, President, Mark Motors

Nobody gives cars away for very long.

A few years ago, there was a car dealer who had a big sign which said, "I'd give them away, but my wife won't let me." In an effort to sell lots of cars, the guy practically did give them away. Then one day, some of his customers brought their cars in for service and found a furniture store where he used to be.

MARK is competitive--but in a very sensible way.

If we gave Chryslers and Plymouths away, we wouldn't be here. If we charged as much as the traffic will bear, we wouldn't be here either. But we are here, and have been for 8 years. Know why? Because we're soundly competitive—we sell cars at fair, sensible prices. We'll sell you a car at a price as low as anyone's, but we're not going to lose money on it.

You get what you pay for--boy, do you ever.

Here are some of the ways you benefit from the modest profit we make. We're able to provide painstaking pre-delivery preparation of our cars—your assurance of full enjoyment from your new car right from the start.

We're able to furnish the finest service in the area. Not only to MARK buyers, but to an awful lot of people who bought cars from other dealers and couldn't get good service.

By selling at honest prices, we're also able to hire and keep the kind of people you like to deal with. Considerate, knowledgeable salesmen, and top-notch service personnel. People more interested in pleasing you than in turning a fast buck.

There's a pleasant surprise in store for you.

Whether you're in the market for a Chrysler, Plymouth, Imperial or one of our fine import cars, I think you'll be pleasantly surprised by MARK prices. They're low—lower than you might have thought. You'll get an honest price for your trade-in, too. And after you've owned your MARK car for a while, one thing is going to become very clear . . .

you're getting your money's worth from MARK—and then some!

Arlington's Winter Play To Set Historic 'Firsts'

"THE FANTASTICKS," a musical comedy by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt, will be presented at Arlington High School Feb. 24, 25, 26. Among featured players are Curt Wilson, Joanne Mayer, Doug Olipra, and Bruce Elliott shown here in a lively scene from the "comedy in verse." Opening night Feb. 24 till be a benefit performance for Helene Bristol Memorial Scholarship Fund with tickets available at the door. Lyovonne M. Trad is director.

Two historic "firsts" will be set next week with Arlington High School's production of "The Fantasticks."

It will be presented Thursday, Feb. 24, Friday and Saturday in the Little Theatre, Arlington High School, Arlington Heights.

"The Fantasticks" marks the first time an opening night performance of a regular play production in High School District 214 will be presented as a benefit, and it will also be the first time that Arlington's winter play is a musical.

The play features book and lyrics by Tom Jones and music by Harvey Schmidt.

THE FEB. 24 benefit performance is for the Helene Bristol Memorial Scholarship Fund, established after the Dec. 31 death of Mrs. Helene Bristol, education editor for Paddock Publications suburban newspapers.

"Arlington's drama staff feels this would be a most appropriate tribute to Mrs. Bristol, whose enthusiasm for the educational well-being of our youth touched every phase of school life," said Lyovonne M. Trad, director.

All proceeds of the performance will be turned over to the fund. Tickets for $1 will be sold at the door.

Arlington High School departed from tradition and selected a musical for the winter play because "an original musical is part of the theatrical experience, and this is an important function of educational theatre."

Originally created as a one-act play at Barnard College in 1959, "The Fantasticks" was seen by a New York producer who prevailed upon Jones and Schmidt to expand it for Broadway. It opened in 1960 as a two-act musical at the Sullivan Street Playhouse and has since become a near-classic in American musical theatre.

THERE IS NO scenery and few props in the show, which leaves much to the audience's imagination. Explained Miss Trad: "The empty stage, small cast, and use of pianos rather than full orchestra were planned because the authors wanted to create a musical that could be done anywhere by any type of group."

The "parable about love" was described by Miss Trad as a combination of satire and romanticism in a "comedy in verse."

The plot involves a boy and girl who fall in love. Their fathers pretend to oppose the romance in order to encourage the marriage. In an effort to find a way to end the pretended feud, the fathers hire a "villain" to stage a raid in which he pretends to abduct the girl. The boy defeats the "villain" to eventually become a hero.

Hit songs from the show include "Try to Remember" and "Soon It's Gonna Rain."

CAST MEMBERS INCLUDE: Stephen P. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Clark, 921 Princeton; Bruce Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lang Elliott, 641 Burton; Mark Faro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Faro, 1221 E. Euclid; Cindy Flodin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Flodin, 229 N. Yale; Bob Kindler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kindler, 630 N. Dunton; Doug McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McDonald, 215 N. Orchard; Joanne Mayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mayer, 413 S. Arlington Heights Road; Douglas Olipra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Olipra, 202 W. Maple; and Curt Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, 1014 E. Marion, all of Arlington Heights.

At the twin pianos will be seniors Kathleen Manatt and Linda Piepenbrink.

Technical director for Miss Trad is Vernell Doyle.

Curtain time for Thursday, Feb. 24 is 7:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. for both Friday and Saturday nights.

Tickets are available at Arlington High School, from cast and crew members, or at the door each night of performance. (ACM-E

Communion To Launch Lent Season

Grace Lutheran Church, Euclid and Wolf Roads in Prospect Heights, will begin the Lenten Season with a Holy Communion Service next week on Ash Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Harold Glumpp, music director, has prepared special music for use during the distribution of the Sacrament. The service has been a tradition at the church since its organization in 1959.

The congregation's worship committee has gotten buttons imprinted with the symbol of the cross, which will be given to those at the service.

Movies depicting the events in the Passion of Jesus Christ will be shown on the remaining Wednesdays in Lent. (ACM

Women Voters to Pick Items for Local Study

Members of the local League of Women Voters will have a chance to make a pitch for their pet local study items this week.

The league general meeting at 9:15 a.m. Thursday will be devoted to discussion of what to study on the local level for next year. The meeting will be in the Congregational United Church of Christ, Kirchoff and Kennicott, Arlington Heights.

ONE POSSIBILITY for a local agenda item that already has support of some members is publication of a revision of the booklet "Presenting Arlington Heights." The last revision of the booklet was made in 1960, and rapid increase in population has made the few remaining copies of the pamphlet obsolete.

Other members of the League would like to expand the current Cook County agenda item for local agenda. At present it involves the study and evaluation of metropolitan needs for coordinated planning and the future of metropolitan governments.

As a local current agenda it could include a study of annexation policies and procedures within Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships and a study of both township governments and budgets.

The membership can bring up any item it would like to study, and if there is enough support, the item will be added to a list from which the League board will make recommendations. The agenda will be adopted at the April 28 annual meeting after members vote for what they want to study.

Mrs. Russell Gardner, unit organization chairman, will moderate the general meeting. Babysitting is available at a charge of 50 cents per child.

REVENUE UNIT meetings will be at 1 p.m. Monday, Feb. 21, in the home of Mrs. Arthur Olsen, 302 E. Hiawatha Trail, Mount Prospect; at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 22, in the Congregational Church with babysitting services available, and at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 23, in the home of Mrs. Ronald Larson, 817 Lynnwood Dr., Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Robert Grabitz, revenue study chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. George Schroeder, Mrs. Irving Crystal and Mrs. Hal Cress. (ACME

Regner New Township Auditors VP

David J. Regner, 910 S. See Gwun Ave., Mount Prospect, has been elected vice-president of the Township Auditors Association of Cook County at a meeting held on Jan. 22.

Regner was first elected to the Elk Grove Township Board of Auditors, to fill a vacancy, in January, 1965. In the general election of April, 1965, he was elected to a four year term as an auditor for Elk Grove Township.

Prior to his election as vice-president of the association, he served on the by-laws committee during formation of the organization.

Regner is currently serving as a deputy committeeman for the Regular Republican Organization of Elk Grove Township.

BOLI Defers Action On Three Streets

Action toward getting parts of Salem Avenue and Davis and Eastman streets paved was deferred Thursday by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI).

Under consideration are Davis Street from Euclid to Salem, Salem Street from Davis to Eastman and Eastman Street from Salem to Ridge.

Progress snagged over the width of Davis Street. The section concerned is abutted on the north by the Chicago and North Western Railway and on the south by Bill Cook Buick.

THREE BASIC alternatives were discussed.

The first was presented by Charles McBride, representative of BOLI consulting engineers Consoer Townsend and Associates, and called for a 36-foot wide roadway. This would allow parking on both sides and include sidewalks but would require a 50-foot right-of-way.

Since the present right of way is only 33 feet, an additional 17 feet would have to be dedicated.

ACQUIRING THE additional footage from the railroad was ruled out because the space is needed for crossing gates at Euclid.

The disadvantage to getting the additional 17 feet from Bill Cook Buick is its expense: that property is zoned commercial and in use as a car lot.

Second proposal was a 28-foot roadway for Davis. In this case BOLI could get by without dedicating additional right-of-way by having curb sidewalks.

Disadvantages to this alternative are:

—CURB SIDEWALKS get heaps of snow deposited on them by snow plows;

—Parking would be limited to one side because the state will not release motor fuel tax funds for improvements in arterial streets less than 36 feet unless parking is restricted.

Final proposal is a 24-foot wide roadway with no parking. This alternative would allow a sidewalk with a four foot parkway within the present right-of-way.

BOLI member Harold Klingner said that Buick dealer, Bill Cook would benefit from improvements on Davis Street and asked the board's authorization to discuss the proposals with Cook to get his reactions to the possible dedication of additional right-of-way.

The board unanimously approved Ben Chaps' motion to defer action until its Feb. 24 meeting and authorize Klingner to talk over the proposals with Cook. (A

Apartment Project On Planner Agenda

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission will hold a public hearing March 2 to consider plans by a Chicago contractor to build an apartment complex on the 14.2-acre site on the northeast corner of Goebbert and Algonquin Roads.

The same land was to be the location for another apartment development planned by builder Ira Gold. The plan commission approved construction of these apartments last August.

However, contractor Greta Lederer, who is known for her apartment developments in the north shore area, has since acquired the land and wishes to build apartments of different design from that approved by the commission last summer.

THE PROPERTY is already zoned R5 (multiple family). Mrs. Lederer apparently plans to build apartments of a French-colonial design.

There was no word on when Mrs. Lederer acquired the property from the previous owner. The proposed apartments are being designed by architect Milton Schwartz of Chicago.

Developer and former owner of the property, Ira Gold, received approval of the plan commission only after a month-long dispute over the inclusion of some studio apartments. Gold finally revised his plans omitting the proposed studio apartments, and the commission gave him its okay.

The land was rezoned from R1 (single family) to R5 at the time the commission approved Gold's plan. (A

Camp Fire Girls Plan Fashion Show Feb. 25

Arlington Area Camp Fire Leader's Association, at its monthly meeting, discussed the fashion show the Arlington Heights Camp Fire and Horizon Club girls are sponsoring.

The public is invited to attend this program at Prospect High School on Friday, Feb. 25 at 8 p.m. Punch and cookies will be prepared by the girls and served to all attending. Those desiring ticket information may call Mrs. Ralph Donges, CL 5-8241 or Mrs. Howard Schueler, 253-1102.

It was announced that two Blue Bird Father-Daughter banquets are being planned this year when the girls will be given an opportunity to have a "night out with Dad." The first of these banquets for all Blue Birds and their fathers living south of the railroad and in the area of Kensington School in Arlington Heights and for all Buffalo Grove groups is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 24.

THE NORTH SIDE of Arlington Heights is planning their banquet for the following Thursday evening, March 3. Both will be held at St. John's United Church of Christ in Arlington Heights.

Each Blue Bird group will be working on a table decoration in keeping with the theme "Out doors." Several dads will be chosen to judge the decorations and select the winner. Slides of Camp Tiyalaka, the area resident camp in Wisconsin, will be shown during the evening. Reservations for the banquets may be made with Blue Bird leaders.

Mrs. Andrew Beverett, district public relations chairman, spoke about Camp Fire birthday week in March. All girls will wear their costumes to school on Friday, March 18. The following Sunday, March 20, is "Camp Fire Birthday Sunday" when the girls will attend the church of their choice as a group wearing their Blue Bird and Camp Fire costumes. During the following week plans are being made for "Operation Cupcake" which all girls will participate in, celebrating Camp Fire's 56th birthday.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED that a "Leader's Weekend at Camp" is scheduled for April 29-May 1 when leaders will have the opportunity to follow a camping routine such as the girls will experience. This gives leaders a chance to brush up on camping skills and to learn new ones.

Religious awards for Camp Fire Girls were also mentioned. These awards are available for both Catholic and Protestant girls in the sixth grade and older. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Dale Klinger, CL 5-2899.

Thanks was given to leaders for their help in the annual candy sale held in the fall of '65. This is the one big money-raising project undertaken by Camp Fire, whose program depends to a great extent upon its success. In the Arlington Heights area there were 188 girls who sold at least 24 boxes of candy. They will receive certificates of appreciation for their work. Twenty-three of these girls sold over 48 boxes which entitles them to receive $2.50 toward their day camp fee. Two of the girls sold 96 boxes or more and will have a portion of their Camp Tiyalaka fee paid for them.

BONNIE RODIG, a second grade Blue Bird from Dryden School, deserves special recognition for having sold 156 boxes of Camp Fire candy.

Congratulations went to leaders whose groups had 100 per cent participation in the sale.

They are Mrs. Edward Conway, Mrs. Joseph De Vito, Mrs. Joseph Hofmann, Mrs. Roy Jernberg, Mrs. George Kendall, Mrs. Howard Rudin, Mrs. Elmer Rypkema, Mrs. Richard R. Williams, and Mrs. Robert Wilson.

Leader's meetings are held at Pioneer Park on the second Tuesday of each month at 9:30 a.m.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Blue Echo Blue Birds from Park and Our Lady of the Wayside Schools recently added a new girl to their membership. Nancy Jean Wetton was welcomed into the group. Nancy Jean Wetton was welcomed into the group. Nancy comes from Richmond, Va., and with her parents has recently moved to 914 S. Dunton. She is in the third grade at Park School. The Blue Echo girls are looking forward to learning more about the southern part of our country from Nancy.

Leader of the Bue Echoes is Mrs. Robert Wilson, assisted by Mrs. William Farr.

Newspaper Picture Tells Parents of Son's Wounds

A 20-year-old Marine from Mount Prospect was wounded in action in South Viet Nam Jan. 30, according to a telegram his parents have received from Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Marine Corps Commandant.

Pfc. Norman E. Dierkes Jr., 20, whose parents reside at 1605 Cottonwood Lane, Mount Prospect, suffered shrapnel wounds in his right arm and thigh when the Viet Cong attacked his platoon as they were loading a helicopter, his mother said.

THE DIERKES family lived in Arlington Heights for several years before moving to Elmwood Park and then Mount Prospect. Norman attended St. Peter's Lutheran School in Arlington Heights, and graduated from Elmwood Park High School in 1963.

The wounds are not considered serious enough to send the young Marine home. He is presently receiving treatment at a battalion aid station.

Much to the dismay of Mr. and Mrs. Dierkes, they learned their son had been wounded when they identified him in a picture that appeared in a Chicago newspaper. The same photo to later appeared in the Feb. 11 issue of Life Magazine. It shows Dierkes lying in the background as other Marines are treated by corpsmen.

The anxiety of the parents was relieved somewhat when the telegram arrived assuring them he was "receiving the best of care and treatment."

DIERKES JOINED the Marine Corps in October, 1964, and was shipped to Viet Nam on Aug. 1, 1965. He enlisted for three years. His brother, Edward, 17, is a student at Forest View High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Dierkes, who have "no idea when he'll be home," said they have received numerous phone calls from friends of Norman's, asking for his address.

Letters and cards to the young Marine should be sent to: Pfc. Norman E. Dierkes Jr., 2084504 USMC, 2nd Battalion, Fourth Marines, F. Company, 3rd Platoon, c/o FPO San Francisco, Calif., 96601. (A

Olive PTA Election Is Set March 1

Members of the Olive School PTA have drawn up a slate of 1966-67 officers and have set March 1 as the election date.

Names of proposed officers are: Gene Rabe, president; Mrs. John Brophy, first vice president; Mrs. James DeLuca, second vice president; Mrs. Gene Rabe, third vice president; Mrs. Edwin Henricks, fourth vice president; Mrs. Albert Bayer, secretary; Mrs. Herbert Weidinger, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Kenneth Jahnke, treasurer.

Marion Letzel, current president, urged all members to attend the election. The March 1 meeting will also include presentation of proposed amended bylaws which will govern the PTA next year when Olive becomes a K-5 school.

The PTA's Fun Fair will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 19, at Olive School. Lunch will be served and games and cartoons are among the planned entertainment. (A

Thornburgs Will Tour Holy Land

An Arlington Heights Methodist minister and his wife will be among 30 other Methodist ministers from Illinois who will attend an orientation meeting at Garrett Theological Seminary, Evanston, in preparation for a tour of the Holy Land and surrounding Middle Eastern countries.

Dr. Amos Thornburg, senior pastor of the First Methodist Church in Arlington Heights, and his wife, will receive reading assignments and hear plans at the meeting being held at 2:45 p.m. Thursday. The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Thornburg and 30 other Methodist clergymen will leave on the Holy Land seminar after Easter.

THE TOUR WILL be under the direction of Dr. Edward P. Blair, a New Testament scholar. Dr. Blair is a member of the Garrett faculty.

Countries the Methodist ministers and their wives will visit include Italy, Egypt, Jordan, Syria, Israel, Lebanon, Greece, and England. The tour will last 21 days. (A

Modern Etiquette

Q. I use the single-sheet type of personal stationery with my initials engraved upon it. Should the second sheet of one of my letters also be marked with my initials, or should it be plain?

A. Initialed first sheets and plain second sheets following them are the usual procedure.

Q. My wife and I have received an engraved card from distant relatives announcing their Golden Wedding Anniversary. What obligation does this impose on us?

A. Your only real "obligation" is to send them a message of congratulations and good wishes.

Q. When are "informals" used in correspondence?

A. The "informal" is a fold-over card, and may be used for any short, informal note—for sending and replying to invitations, for enclosing with a gift, friendly notes to acquaintances, and the like. This type of card is not proper, however, for writing messages of condolence.

Peppy Pixies See Cooking Demonstrations

The Peppy Pixies 4-H Club of Arlington Heights met Jan. 27 at the home of their leader Mrs. Martin.

Demonstrations in cooking were given in which Terry Humes showed the proper way to prepare a salad and Sandra Lynch baked a cake. In addition, Carol Simmons discussed sewing and Marchelle Wegzyn talked about baby sitting.

The next meeting of the Peppy Pixies will be on Feb. 17.(A Study Extension Of Evergreen Ave.

The extension of Evergreen Avenue from Willow Street through the playground of the St. James School Junior High is being considered by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI).

BOLI consulting engineers, Consoer Townsend and Associates, were asked to prepare preliminary plans for the proposed extension.

Evergreen Avenue north of Hawthorne presently ends about one third of the way up the block before it reaches the St. James junior high playground. It does not extend south of Willow Street.

The proposal was triggered by plans of John Waters, Chicago, to improve Evergreen in front of lots he owns on both sides immediately south of the St. James playground.

EVERGREEN HAS been dedicated north through the St. James playground. The school was allowed to use the street as part of their playground but it has not been vacated by the village.

Rather than have a "T" or cul-de-sac where Waters' improvement of Evergreen would meet the St. James playground, the board felt that it would improve traffic circulation to extend the street through to Willow. (A

Competition This Week

The Arlington Heights Park School PTA's annual art and essay contest is being held this week.

Pupils in the first through fifth grades may enter the contest, but only third, fourth and fifth grade pupils will be eligible to enter the essay competition. Art competition is restricted to first and second grade contestants.

Essays must be no less than 25 words nor more than 300 words long and must be based on one of three topics.

FIRST AND second grade students may do a painting or a drawing on a theme of their choice, accompanied by a brief explanation of why they chose a particular subject.

First, second and third prizes will be given for the best works in each grade level. First prize will be a globe, second a flag, and third an LP record. The awards will be presented at the March PTA meeting. (A

Girl Scouts Ready for Cookie Sale

Doorbells throughout Arlington Heights will begin to ring at 4 p.m. Friday.

The ringing will be done by junior, cadette and senior Girl Scouts who will be taking orders for Girl Scout cookies of which there are five varieties.

Order taking will last through Feb. 28. Delivery will be made two to three weeks later, and payment is to be made upon delivery.

THE SCOUTS sell and benefit from their sales, as the money earned maintains camps. It takes the sale of 800 packages of cookies to buy a canoe or 2000 packages to buy a tent with platform. The 1966 goal for Northwest Cook County Council Girl Scouts is 180,000 packages of cookies, which will build a camp unit of one troop house, 10 tents with platforms and equipment.

Neighborhood Chairman are Mrs. Lowell Plant, Mrs. Vernon Clausing and Mrs. George Wojtkiewicz. (A

Name Blackburn To State System

Library Trustee Robert R. Blackburn has ben named to represent the Arlington Heights Memorial Library board in the new state library System 5 organization.

The system is one of a series of regional library groupings made possible by the Legislature last year as an attempt to improve the level of library services. The Arlington Heights library has indicated its intent to join the state-financed system now being organized. (A

Church of Cross Dedicates Organ

The Lutheran Church of the Cross, 2025 S. Goebbert Road, Arlington Heights, recently dedicated a new Rodgers organ purchased by the church's congregation.

The dedication, which came during a regular Sunday worship service, was made with an appeal for funds to finance purchase of the new instrument.

Officials of the church said an increase in the size of membership enabled the congregation to buy the organ. (A

Junior College Postpones Site Condemnation

District 301 junior college board has delayed beginning condemnation action to acquire a controversial college site.

The postponement came at a board meeting Tuesday night after board member A. M. Bernstein recommended that other possible sites be reconsidered before initiating condemnation proceedings.

"I don't see any advantage in making a condemnation move today as opposed to any other day," Bernstein said. He agreed with other members that currently the site, located on 4,000 acres zoned for industrial development adjacent to the northwest corner of Golf and Meacham Roads, appeared most suitable for the junior college's needs.

HE SAID, however, "I suggest we walk an extra mile to confirm our decision." He stressed that limited, but organized, public opposition to the board's tentative decision demanded that more consideration be given to other possible sites.

Board member Paul O'Dea agreed with Bernstein, saying, "I think we must be sensitive to the fact that there is some organized opposition."

Initiation of condemnation proceedings will be held up at least until the next scheduled meeting Thursday, Feb. 23.

The board is considering seven other sites. One of these sites, bounded on the north by Illinois Street and on the west by Quentin Road in Palatine, would provide 170 to 190 acres. However, lack of adequate road access is discouraging selection of this land.

LAHTI SAID that plans were being made to extend Euclid Street near the site but that the earliest possible date the new road would be completed was January, 1970. This date would not be early enough to meet the needs of the junior college, which hopes to begin classes by no later than September, 1968.

"If this road problem could be solved," Lahti said, "this site would be our second choice."

In other action, the board approved a policy authorizing business manager James D. Perry to sign checks from the district's bank account.

THE BOARD also heard and gave approval to a suggestion by board member Jesslyn Nicklas that a citizens committee be established to study and make recommendations on data submitted by educational consultants. Mrs. Nicklas urged anyone interested to volunteer for the committee. She also will seek representatives from various civic organizations in District 301.

Lahti announced that architectural consultants would conduct a "squatter session" April 4-7 on the site selected for construction of the college. The session would enable architects to draw up a master construction plan, the cost of which would be submitted by April 15.

A second session would be held April 23-29 to study the first phase of campus construction. (B10

Atcher Continues Attack On Tentative Site Choice

Robert O. Atcher, Schaumburg village president, this week added fuel to the junior college site selection fire with new comments, about the tentative decision and James Hamill, a board member.

The board has selected the northeast corner of Golf and Old Plum Grove Roads. The land is the Bert Wild property formerly known as the Rathje Farms and is in the center of Schaumburg's industrial area.

Atcher contends the site is a personal decision made by Hamill rather than a unanimous board decision. He disagrees with the amount of land wanted (186 acres) as compared with a larger expected enrollment on smaller area of Chicago's Circle Campus.

ATCHER CLAIMS 4,000 autos can be parked on 30 acres of ground, leaving 156 acres for buildings.

He noted that if that is true, "Maybe we who voted for Mr. Hamill should remember that everyone who offers his services is not necessarily equipped to administer in the best interests of the public."

He mentions the Pure Oil site and comments that the company is not using all its land. He notes "There could easily be eight Pure Oil buildings and parking facilities on that land (240 acres)."

According to Atcher, professional planners advise that 10 per cent of a municipality be zoned for industry. They believe 10 per cent industrial land is equal to 90 per cent residential land, he said.

Using this as a basis, Atcher comments that "the 186 acres of industrial land will be equal in assessed valuation to 1,674 acres of residential land when both are developed."

THE 1,674 acres is equal to Hoffman Estates as presently developed in the township and is three times the size of the Weathersfield subdivision in Schaumburg.

Atcher defends the low assessed valuation of residentially developed land in the township as being due to "the fact that Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg have cooperated with grade and high school districts and held the density down by allowing much fewer dwelling units per acre than normal."

He uses Arlington Heights as an example of a community with six or more dwelling units per acre. He said this explains why "the assessed valuation of what will go on the disputed 186 acres, if it is allowed to develop according to Schaumburg's plans, will equal the tax value of all of what is presently Hoffman Estates or almost 2½ times what is now Schaumburg."

Atcher pledges Schaumburg will cooperate fully if another site is selected. He suggests one site in particular because of its proximity to sewer and water lines.

He also pledges the village will assist to make the other possible sites fit the college needs.

HE COMMENTS, "We still refuse to believe that a body as august as a junior college board should be, could be either as naive or as irresponsible as the action taken by the board would indicate."

He chastises the board for delaying "while five classes are graduating from high school" to provide "nothing but the best that money can buy."

He points to other junior college districts which have utilized existing space, including high school classrooms at night, until other quarters can be found and asks the local board why they have not done the same.

He said, "The real purpose of a college is to educate. Other junior college districts have been concerned enough to 'get-at-it' and have worked out schedules for evening and night classes.

". . . according to implied plans, no one will be educated until this most expensive site is purchased and the buildings are up, there will be another three years of classes to graduate with no local college."

HE WROTE, "It has been pointed out that our only reason for having a college is to offer education to those in our area who, for financial or other reasons, cannot attend a four year college or a college away from home."

As to Hamill's accusations that Atcher is politically motivated (He announced this week he plans to run for state senator) Atcher replied:

". . . has seen fit to impugn my integrity by labeling my efforts as politically motivated and to accuse me of being short-sighted.

"IN THE first instance, I am not a politician. Any man who knows the first thing about politics will tell you that a politician never gets mixed in an argument with institutions of learning.

"He may as well come out as opposed to motherhood.

"As for the short-sighted label, I believe that the thousands (not hundreds as Mr. Hamill states his board has expended) of hours Schaumburg has put into long range planning speaks for itself. Planning which the junior college is now ready to throw out in one powerful stroke." (B10

College Referendum Put Off Until June

Uncertainty on the amount of state funds to be granted for construction of the District 301 Junior College and lack of vital information from architectural and educational consultants forced the Junior College board Tuesday night to reschedule its referendum date from March 26 to Saturday, June 4.

The postponement came after Dr. Robert Lahti, junior college president, told the board that its educational consultant, Arthur D. Little, Inc., informed him that studies indicated that projected enrollment would be far greater than originally estimated.

Initially, it was expected that enrollment would level off by mid 1970. However, studies indicated that the enrollment figure would reach approximately 10,000 by that time and would still be climbing.

LAHTI SAID that the consultants therefore decided to carry their projections to 1980 at which time the enrollment figure should level off. Furthermore, Lahti explained, the architectural firm retained by the board did not want to make any cost estimates until enrollment projections were complete.

"They thought it too dangerous to propose a master plan until they had valid enrollment projections," said Lahti.

Originally, the consultants were to submit their findings by March 1. It was on this date, said Lahti, that the first referendum date was based. Board members agreed with Lahti that more time was needed to inform the public on their proposal before bringing it up for a vote.

LAHTI ALSO read the board two letters from state officials which indicated that the $20.5 million allocated by the Illinois Legislature for junior college development was grossly inadequate. In one letter Director of the State Board of Higher Education, Dr. Lyman A. Glenny, told Franklin B. Schmick, chairman of the Illinois Building Authority, that the number of junior colleges now planned exceeded the number originally expected.

"Instead of six to 10 new colleges," Glenny wrote, "we may have as many as 20 before the end of the biennium."

By action of the State Legislature, junior college districts may receive as much as 75 per cent of their building expenses from grants.

Lahti said it was obvious that if the $20.5 million were divided 20 ways, it would hardly cover 75 per cent of District 301's costs.

Board member Mrs. Jesslyn Nicklas said, "I think it is clear that the money isn't there as of now." She later moved that the referendum date be pushed back to June 4. Her motion passed with the consent of the six members present. (B10

Republican Conference

Lindsay Aide Outlines Key To GOP Victory in Cities

by T. WILLIAM SWINFORD
Staff Writer

It may be necessary for a Republican to disclaim his party in order to win the Chicago mayoral post, according to John Deardourff, a delegate to last weekend's Republican Research Conference at O'Hare Inn, Des Plaines.

Deardourff, co-director of research in the Lindsay-For-Mayor campaign in New York City, and director of research, Republican state committee of New York, told newsmen of the Lindsay campaign.

"There are certain lessons from Lindsay for Chicago Republicans — he appealed to disaffected Democrats and Independents who were tired of 24 years of boss control," said Deardourff.

HE WAS ASKED by a Paddock Publications reporter, "Since Lindsay ran as an independent, disavowing Republican support, do you think it will be necessary for a Republican to run as an independent to win in Chicago?"

He replied, "The Republicans, to win, must appeal to others than Republicans. They must cross party lines and appeal to all."

While not saying directly that a Republican must cast aside his identity in Chicago, Deardourff did say that "whatever is necessary to win must be done."

Robert L. L. McCormick, director of research for the Republican National Committee, opened the news conference, which was reporters only contact with delegates. The conference was in closed session.

He said the conference is the second of its kind, "as far as we know for either party."

THE FIRST conference was held last fall in Kansas City.

He said the conference is an attempt to apply scientific methods to politics, which is an art and not a science.

"In this get together, we figure out how to analyze census figures, population statistics, primary votes, precinct returns, etc."

He declined to make predictions on next fall's elections commenting "Only fools make predictions. This conference deals with methodology and not ideology."

The party workers, (McCormick explained "There are no bosses here. We all work for someone."), will conduct polls across the nation now and in the future to determine GOP weaknesses and strengths.

McCORMICK WAS asked whether a report on GOP press relations, prepared by Bruce C. Ladd Jr., an assistant to Congressman Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th), would be used in the coming campaign. He replied "I haven't read the report. It was prepared for congress and not us."

The report listed problems the GOP has had with press relations in the past and outlined some steps to "straighten out the situation."

Lance Tarrance, director of research for the Texas GOP state central committee, said civil rights has not affected the Texas party.

He pointed out that the problems there are with Latin-Americans "who have been used by the Democrats for 30-40 years as pawns."

He said the Mexican population in Texas accounts for 10 to 12 per cent of the state's vote.

HE COMMENTED that the party feels the Mexicans are beginning "to refuse to be pawns."

Also at the conference was Dr. Walter DeVries, executive assistant to Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

DeVries reported that Romney's name has been dropped as a candidate for Senator this year and that the Governor has not decided whether to run for governor again.

Romney has been mentioned as a possible GOP presidential aspirant in 1968, but DeVries said "We take 1966 first. We have to decide what to do this year before we can start worrying about 1968." (A15

Cancer Prevention Exams Given 350

Some 350 residents in the Paddock Publications circulation area were among 7,481 people who were examined at the Cancer Prevention Center of Chicago during 1965.

Of this total, 93 came from the Elk Grove area, 50 from Arlington Heights, 43 from Mount Prospect, 38 from Palatine, 20 from Rolling Meadows, 11 from Wheeling, 7 from Prospect Heights, and 2 from Hoffman Estates.

Also included were 21 from Addison, 16 from the Medinah-Wood Dale area, 16 from the Bensenville-North Elmhurst area, 12 from Itasca, 11 from Roselle and 10 from the Hanover Park-Bartlett-Streamwood area.

IN MAKING this report public, Albert A. Robin, Chicago real estate developer and the Center's president attributed the rise in examinations to increased public awareness.

Established in 1943, the Center is dedicated to the early detection of cancer through periodic physical examinations. Under the direction of Dr. Caesar Portes, its medical director and president-elect of the Illinois State Medical Society, it maintains a staff of qualified physicians, registered nurses, and medical technicians whose responsibility is to conduct cancer-detection examinations.

"Many early cancers," Dr. Portes emphasized, "can be detected through a periodic, cancer-oriented, physical examination and if found early enough can be cured."

DURING ITS 23 year history, the center has examined 125,000 people. Each of these individuals apparently was in good health.

In the recent statistical report, Dr. Portes pointed out, examinations this past year at the clinic revealed that about 2.3 per cent of the examinees had suspicious symptoms of cancer while another 14 per cent seemed to be harboring such pre-cancerous conditions as growths, swellings, ulcerations and other chronic irritations. Exam for Summer Postal Help Set

A nationwide competitive postal examination is to be conducted for temporary summer employment, it has been announced, to ensure selections are based on merit.

Applications for the jobs, which pay $2.37 an hour, will be accepted through Feb. 24.

A written test taking less than an hour will be held in March in more than 1,000 cities, with persons passing the test to be furnished a list of post offices in their state of permanent residence.

According to the Post Office Department, persons passing the test will be permitted to file for employment at a maximum of three post offices on the lists.

RATINGS ARE to be given each person, based on test scores, with those in the highest group to be given first opportunities at jobs. Veterans in each group will be selected over non-veterans.

Applicants must be 18 years of age at time of appointment, but the minimum age is waived for high school graduates who will be 16 years of age when entering employment.

Applications for the written test must be filed with the post office board of examiners having jurisdiction over the locality where the applicant desires to take the test.

Copies of the examination announcement and application form can be obtained from the U. S. Civil Service Commission and at many boards of civil service examiners and post offices.

Seasonal assistants, employed for the period between May 1-Sept. 30 are hired to assist the regular postal work force in handling the mail.

Some assignments require driving; candidates for these jobs will have to demonstrate ability to drive safely. (A15

Dates Set For Fourth Photo Show

The Fourth Annual Photography Show, co-sponsored by Paddock Publications and Randhurst Center, will be held March 17-18-19.

The show will be open to both amateur and semi-professional photographers. This event will be held in Randhurst's enclosed mall, located at Rand Road and Route 83 in Mount Prospect.

A PANEL of expert judges to be announced at a later date will judge the entries. Winners will be announced and $200 in cash prizes and ribbons will be awarded on Saturday, March 19.

Competition rules and entry blanks are available at all 72 stores in Randhurst. Early applications are encouraged.

This show is the only one of its kind in the northwest Chicagoland area and last year attracted 100 suburban photographers. (A15

Anita Bryant Given U.S.O. Silver Medal

TV and recording star Anita Bryant, veteran of six consecutive Christmas tours with Bob Hope, including a recent trek to Viet Nam, received the U.S.O. of Chicago's Silver Medallion when the organization celebrated its 25th anniversary at Flick-Reedy Corp. in Bensenville, on Feb. 3.

More than 700 persons were in attendance for the gala affair which was televised and will be included in a documentary on Miss Bryant to be seen on the ABC-TV network sometime next month.

Miss Bryant was personally nominated for the honor by Hope, who will receive a similar award in Washington, D.C. on March 31. Unable to attend because of his Palm Springs Golf Classic, Hope was present via video tape and introduced Miss Bryant to the audience. She thrilled the audience with a 25 minute performance climaxed by a stirring rendition of "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

FRANK FLICK, President of Flick-Reedy Corp., donated the film's facilities for the event as a tribute to the U.S.O. volunteers and veterans of the Viet Nam war. Miss Bryant visited the Great Lakes Naval Training Station hospital during the afternoon and brought 20 of the veterans to the banquet. They were escorted to the affair by stewardesses from United Airlines training school in Mount Prospect.

Rear Admiral Howard A. Yeager, USN, Commandant, Ninth Naval District, gave the principle.

Lt. General W. H. Arnold, USA, (Ret.) President of the U.S.O., presented the award to Miss Bryant and distributed service pins to U.S.O. volunteers with 15 years logevity.

Jim Conway, well known Chicago television celebrity, served as emcee for the program.

PRESIDENT FRANK FLICK, Flick-Reedy Corp., Bensenville, extends welcome to U.S.O. of Chicago on occasion of its 25th anniversary banquet held in firm's auditorium. Shown at speakers' table, Anita Bryant, radio-TV-recording star, who was theh onoredguest and received the Silver Medallion for her efforts on behalf of Armed Forces, and Lt. General W. H. Arnold, USA (Ret.), president of the U.S.O. More than 700 attended gala affair. (A-15

Top Toastmasters' Honors to Lauing

Ed Lauing of Mount Prospect won the area Toastmasters Club speech contest last week at the annual Sweethearts Night dinner meeting. His speech was entitled, "Is There Any Harm in Harmony?"

Lauing will now represent the club in an area contest March 5 at Golden Acres Country Club, Schaumburg, where he will compete against representatives from four other clubs-United Air Lines and Mainliner, both formed by United Air Lines employes, and Woodstock and Crystal Lake. The winner here will go on to regional and district contests and then the national finals, if successful in earlier contests. Robert Foster of Glenview, club president, was selected as an alternate.

THE CUP FOR the best table topics at last week's meeting was awarded to Raab Sechrist of Rolling Meadows. Table topics master was Ralph Molinelli of Arlington Heights. Robert Jolly of Arlington Heights presided. Al Schmidt of Mount Prospect was toastmaster for the evening.

Applications for membership are still being received, Foster said, and while the club is close to capacity for active members, associate memberships are always available. Associates are given active status as soon as possible, Foster said.

Visitors are always welcome at club meetings. The next meeting is Wednesday, March 9, at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan Association community hall at 8 p.m. (A15

Schucker, Thrasher Sow Seeds of Human Relations

By MARY CAMILLE SCHLOTT
Staff Writer

One might expect two men named Schucker and Thrasher to give advice on farming.

Both men agree that there are crops they'd like to grow.

But the seeds that Albert Thrasher and David Schucker hope to soon see flourishing are those that yield good will and community understanding of the multi-racial nation America's become.

Thrasher, new northwest suburban field representative of the Illinois Human Relations Commission, and Schucker, supervisor for the commission's North Shore and northwest suburban activities, will be seen a lot at community gatherings from now on.

THEY WERE PRESENT last menth when Village Pres. John G. Woods addressed the Arlington Heights Human Relations Committee. They have visited meetings of the Northwest Suburban Human Relations Council and of Mount Prospect's volunteer human relations group.

They have talked with representatives of official human relations commissions and local volunteer committees in the area west from Des Plaines to Barrington and south to Hoffman Estates.

The will be available — if asked — to advise a village faced with a potential crises, the first Negro move-in. They will probably visit each first Negro family that arrives—and it is the commission's experience, Schucker says, that that family, more often than not, doesn't even realize they're the first to break the for-whites-only suburban barrier.

BUT SCHUCKER and Thrasher's appearance in a northwest community won't automatically mean what some might term "bad news." Far from it, the two men emphasize.

"One of our main responsibilities is to help human relations groups get going," Schucker says.

In the northwest suburban area, this is an ever-growing job, the men have found.

"There are 29 official or volunteer human relations groups in this area right now," Thrasher points out. "And that includes just broad-spectrum human relations groups—not those with narrower interests such as fair housing or civil rights."

THE WHOLE pattern of operations has undergone drastic changes since the Illinois Human Relations Commission was originally set up by Gov. Dwight Green in 1943, points out Schucker. Originally, he said, the commission's role was just to "keep the lid on," to damper friction and resentment between the races. Gradually, the state commission's role changed as leaders recognized that segregation and discrimination were key causes that should be erased.

Today, says Thrasher, commission workers feel "substantial strides" in eliminating discrimination have been made, with other problems—particularly in housing—still to go.

He likens it to the remark made by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara about Viet Nam: "We are no longer losing the war." But not yet winning.

Lecturers Explain Source of Harmony

Racial tranquility, industrial peace, harmony at home: where do such things come from?

Herbert E. Rieke, Christian Science lecturer, linked the "good in our lives — the progress, achievement and peace — with qualities of character such as honesty, compassion and intelligence, that have a divine source."

He spoke Sunday at a public lecture in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Palatine. Introduced by Mrs. Ruth Nelson, he discussed "Who Is Your Maker?"

Rieke declared that "Divine Love expressed as compassion, kindness, forgiveness, and tolerance has always been the creator of good. Our sincere prayer should be that we may let an active sense of divine Love be expressed in all we think, say, and do."

NEIL H. BOWLES, Christian Science lecturer from Atlanta, Ga., spoke last Thursday at First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Arlington Heights, He was introduced by Elmer Gates, First Reader.

In his address, Bowles said humanity's needs will ultimately be met and harmony fully established through mankind's increasing spiritual understanding.

"Today we are witnessing," he said, "the rapid awakening of the dormant, the slumbering thought in many parts of the world. This awakening will irresistibly lead those who are receptive to Truth on to a search for a more spiritual sense of life. The world's most urgent need is to reach a willingness to learn to reason from a spiritual, scientific basis." (AP

Objectors On Vending To Be Heard

Food service at the newly-approved sixth high school and improvements needed in other buildings will be among items facing the High School District 214 board at its 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday.

Representatives of the architectural firm of Berger, Kelley, Unteed and Associates will be attending the meeting, probably to discuss—among other things—changes needed to bring Arlington High School up to Life Safety Code standards.

Board Pres. Arthur Aronson has promised persons who complained to him about the proposed use of vending machines for the Willow Road high school that they will have a place on Monday's agenda.

A NUMBER OF persons, among them members of the Citizens Committee for the sixth high school, called to criticize board members' Jan. 24 decision to provide automated lunch service to the new building.

The board will meet as a committee of the whole at 7 p.m. to consider possible raises in administrative salaries. Meeting with them will be an eight-man committee representing the administrative staff. (ACME

S.H.M Glee Club In Talent Contest

Hundreds of students and parents from this area will be going to Loyola Academy in Wilmette today and tomorrow to cheer for the 65 members of the Sacred Heart of Mary Glee Club, of Rolling Meadows, who will be competing in the annual Talent Revue.

Student representatives, who will act as liaisons for the show are Tara Dowd, Des Plaines; and Jane Delaney, Arlington Heights.

Over 250 talented teenagers from all sections of Chicagoland will appear on the stage of Loyola Academy, Wilmette, these two days to compete for the Frank Hogan Talent Trophy.

This showcase for Catholic students is the fifth annual La Talvue (Loyola Academy Invitational Talent Revue). The anticipated audience of over 2,600 will be entertained by a wide variety of acts, including rock-n-roll combos, folk singers, dancers, and comedy.

THE NORTHERN section of the area will be represented by: the host school, Loyola Academy; Academy of the Sacred Heart—Woodlands, Lake Forest; Regina Dominican, Wilmette; and Marywood, Evanston.

Fenwick High School, Oak Pakr, and Sacred Heart of Mary, Rolling Meadows, will compete for the western section, while Mendel Hgh School and Maria will appear for the southside. Chicago schools entered in the competition are: St. Scholastica, Gordon Tech, Alvernia, and Immaculata.

The judges, chosen because of their interest and experience in the field of present day entertainment are Jim Conway, television and radio personality; Louis Reizner, artist and repertoire director, Mercury Records; Jim Runyon, WCFL disc jockey; Frank Fried, teenage talent booking agent, Triangle Productions, Inc.; Bob Persean, educational television director, New Trier Township; Theodore Klinka, director of music, New Trier High School West; Ernie McLean, president of talent agency, McLean Enterprises. TV's BIG MONEY

by ED LANDWEHR

When a group of people discuss TV programs and personalities, you'll always notice that they get around to the fabulous money that is paid to certain actors. A seasoned star will get $100,000 for a single one hour effort. Just a personal appearance for a few minutes demands $20,000.

For we who struggle along with numerous payment booklets in the desk drawer, these figures are colossal to say the least.

But, let's look on the other side of this so-called rosy business. According to a public survey, the average actor earns $750 per year. He must hold a side job to get by. Of course, this big dough keeps him struggling and reaching for the big time that so few ever reach.

So, the next time you watch these expensive actors, think of the thousands that never reach it. And if the TV picture is distorted or hazy, and the audio is poor, remember LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Meet Social Needs at Local Level, GOP Women Urged

by BARBARA MacEACHRON
Staff Writer

"The Republican Party today falls into the category of a remnant that has a responsibility—to better the society of the 'Great Society.' "

This was the affirmation of Dr. Philip M. Crane, professor of history at Bradley University, when he presented "The Great Society, A Critique" before 350 members of the Women's Republican Club of the 13th Congressional District of Illinois last week at the Glenview Community Church.

"Our responsibilities are clear cut and we must draw strength from our faith," he continued. "I know our party was founded on bedrock principles and will never turn to destruction, if we hold fast to principles."

IN A REFERENCE to the "extensive and impressive program" outlined by President Johnson in his state of the union message, Crane said, "These are legitimate areas of concern, to be sure; but the question is how to come to grips with them, and this is where I differ."

Maintaining that the problems of poverty and education could be tackled at home more efficiently and more economically, he cited figures showing that from every dollar sent to Washington, D. C., only about sixty cents returns to Illinois.

"The individual should be the determinant of how his dollar is spent, even if it is foolishly," he said.

Dr. Crane compared the welfare state concept to Fabian socialism, as more power is being sought for the executive branch of the government to do "what's best for us."

HE REFERRED to the concept that society has certain rights that transcend the individual's as "the most ridiculous idea in current texts — semantic gobbledygook."

Referring to the "hideous age we live in," Crane asserted, "This century represents the most barbaric century in recorded history, with one hundred million lives destroyed." He questioned whether these lives were expendable under the guise of progress.

"There is (these days) a general erosion of spiritual values," he warned, charging that the welfare state program is taking the people along "the primrose path to the destruction of the fundamental liberties of our forefathers.

"All we need to change the tide is the will to change events."

Offering a note of optimism for his Republican listeners, Dr. Crane stated that his analysis of national elections throughout the history of the United States showed that the "outs" had won elections one-third of the time.

THESE INSTANCES had occurred when one of four factors was involved: economic depression, foreign policy blunders, factions splitting the "in" party, or no discernible differences in political party ideologies.

Predicting the downfall of the Great Society, he said, "Before long we will get our turn at bat. . .We must cling fast to principles, which are right and will become fashionable again, I guarantee."

Dispelling rumors of his possible candidacy that had appeared in Chicago newspapers, Crane said that he was not a candidate for any office; neither was he a member of the John Birch Society.

Mrs. Virginia MacDonald of Arlington Heights, chairman of the women's division of the Republican Cook County central committee, introduced Dr. Crane and listed among his accomplishments that he is author of a syndicated newspaper column, "Lessons in History"; a member of the National Institute of Social Sciences; an advisory board member of Young Americans for Freedom, and the father of five children.

He teaches American History at Bradley and has graduate degrees from the University of Indiana.

Mrs. Leo L. Hunter of Arlington Heights, president of the Women's Republican Club, announced the Easter luncheon as the next club meeting. It will be held April 11 at the Hyatt House in Lincolnwood, when Cong. Donald Rumsfeld will present his annual report from Washington. (B10

94th Birthday Marked With Valentine Lunch

St. Valentine's Day has served as a dual special occasion in the life of Mrs. Fred Redeker for several years now — 94 to be exact!

Her 94th birthday on Feb. 14 was remembered this year by a group of long-time friends who provided a potluck lunch in her home. Mrs. Redeker lives with her son, Herman, at the original farm home which was settled by her grandfather in 1848. The farm is located on Old Plum Grove Road in Schaumburg.

Among those who attended her birthday celebration were Mrs. William Beckman of Barrington, formerly of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Frank Morris, Mrs. Paul Taege, Mrs. Jack Wiese and Mrs. Walter Haberichter, all Arlington Heights residents.

OTHERS WHO PAID Mrs. Redeker a personal visit were the Rev. and Mrs. John Sternberg of Schaumburg's St. Peter Lutheran Church, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Krone, and three second cousins from Hampshire, Ill.

In addition, she received 75 cards (some from as far away as Germany) and approximately 20 telephone calls from well wishers.

The Redekers moved to Arlington Heights from the Schaumburg farm in 1893 when they established a general merchandise and grocery store on the northeast corner of Campbell Street and Vail Avenue.

"They sold everything from kerosene to silk in that old store," commented Herman Redeker, her only surviving child.

The general store remained in business for 21 years until 1914. The Redeker family remained in Arlington Heights until 1948 when they moved back to the Schaumburg farm. Her husband died in 1925.

"Mother remembers when the first kerosene lamp post was lit in 1893 in downtown Arlington Heights and the ceremonial laying of the original sewer system," Redeker reminisced.

ALTHOUGH HER eyesight is failing, she still recognizes people who come visiting. "She can still tell you what to do when she wants to," her son stressed.

Mrs. Redeker continues to make plans for the future. "Just the other day she was telling a couple of the women that she was planning to cook some things she hadn't tried yet," Redeker said.

While she was still agile, Mrs. Redeker maintained an elaborate display of shrubs and flowers around her home. She is now an invalid and has been confined to a wheelchair for 30 years.

"We thought Mom wasn't going to make it during her last hospital stay in November," Redeker commented, "but she came through that ordeal O.K. and is still very much with us."

Mrs. Redeker has outlived most of her immediate family. A son died in 1930 and a daughter passed away in 1960. Her two grandchildren died in 1926 and 1964. In addition to her son, she has a great-granddaughter, Mrs. William Trimble, who lives in California. (B-10

PALATINE

The 6th grade DaKon Ya girls and the 4th grade TaWan-Ka girls had a joint honor bead ceremonial on Monday, Jan. 31. Their theme was International Friendship.

The girls served parents and other visitors foods from many foreign countries. With each of the foods was the flag of the country from which it came. They served cheeses from France, Holland, Denmark, Switzerland and Sweden. There were crackers from America, nuts from Mexico, Hawaiian Punch, Colombian coffee, Chinese fortune cookies, and French wafer cookies. During the ceremonial, each of the girls gave some interesting facts about other nations and the groups also sang songs from many lands.

In February, the 6th grade DaKonYa girls will be working at the Plum Grove Nursing Home getting out the home's news letter.

Members of the DaKonYa group are Nancy Chellman, Marcia Eickenberg, Laurie Heimlich, Yvonne Hayden, Kim Kramer and Janet Wheeler. Their leader for the month is Dorothy Heimlich.

The girls in the TaWonKa group are Diana Fleming, Terry Heimlich, Valerie Meicio, Moira Nolan and Barbara Rogers. The leader of this group is Gail Rogers.

MOUNT PROSPECT

Congratulations to Nancy Stearns and Gerry Airey who were awarded five and ten year leadership awards at the annual dinner. Eunice Granzin received the special Keda award for her extensive annual report.

The Tawanka group, accompanied by Mrs. R. Prescher and Mrs. B. Boyle, went to Chicago in December to see "The Sound of Music." The girls who enjoyed the trip were Kathy Prescher, Pat Fordon, Mary Shanahan, Paula Teridio, Ann Kraemer, Barbara Doyle and Karen Watin.

The girls of Mrs. James Neble's Tchi-da-ki-ya group were hostesses to their mothers at a most impressive ceremonial on Tuesday, Feb. 8. The following girls were presented with their honor beads, which were strung on valentines: Mary Jane Deasy, Valerie Gavre, Dianne Lowry, Patty Livingston, Linda Luzwick, Leslie Muradian, Kim Neble, Mary Ann Rutkowski, Judy Stein and Patty Warehan. Following the ceremonial the girls served refreshments to their guests.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Ta Wan Ka Camp Fire Girls, under the guardianship of Mrs. Myron Austin, will hold a friendship ceremonial at their meeting Wednesday, Feb. 16 in Mrs. Austin's home at 1322 N. Vail, Arlington Heights. Following the ceremonial they will enjoy supper together which they will prepare themselves.

New member of the group is Marilyn Haynes.

Group president is Sandy Vogeler.

The girls are sixth and seventh graders from Thomas Junior High, St. James and St. Peter Schools. Meetings are held each Wednesday at their guardian's home.

Three Area Youths Named to Academy

Three area students are among six named by Cong. Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th District) to be granted competitive nominations to the U. S. Air Force Academy for classes beginning this summer.

They include Robert J. Drabant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Drabant, 339 W. Old Plum Grove Road, Palatine; Thomas M. Goff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goff, Jr., 238 Milan, Hoffman Estates; and Scott L. Schneberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Schneberger, 319 S. Burton, Arlington Heights.

Drabant is a senior at Palatine High School; Goff a senior at James B. Conant High School; and Schneberger a senior at Arlington High.

RUMSFELD employs a competitive system of nomination under which he submits the names of six qualified young men from his congressional district for each academy appointment, with the final screening and principal selections made by the academies.

His selections were based on the results of a competitive civil service exam, a rigorous physical examination, and various other factors relating to curricular and extra-curricular activities during high school.

His nominees for appointments to the Naval Academy and Merchant Marine Academy are to be announced shortly. Applications for 1967 academy appointments are also being accepted now by Rumsfeld. (B10

PTA Council Topic Is Welfare Helps

"Why Have Welfare Services for the Suburban Child?" will be the topic for the Feb. 23, meeting of the Randhurst Council of PTA's.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will be held at 8 p.m. in the Indian Grove School, 208 S. Lee, Prospect Heights. Mrs. Richard Schlott, of Arlington Heights will be the speaker for the program, by arrangement with the League of Woman Voters' Speakers Bureau.

Mrs. Schlott will describe the facilities available for the suburban child in need of help; need caused by trouble in the home or from a financial emergency. "Many feel that the northwest area has no children in need," Mrs. Schlott observes, "But, often children are in conflict with society or have financial trouble that will create problems. Sometimes this need is temporary, sometimes permanent." Mrs. Schlott then emphasizes, "In any case, it hurts the child."

Mrs. Schlott is vice-president and public relations director for the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights and has served as chairman of the Speakers Bureau and on the Welfare Committee. Known locally as a writer, as well as a speaker, she majored in journalism and home economics at Iowa State and Purdue Universities, and holds a master's degree in home economics management. (B10

Paddock's Basement Crammed with History

FILING SOME of the hundreds of newspaper clippings that go into the Paddock Publications library each day are Librarian Mrs. Dorothy Meyer and an aide. The library probably contains the most complete historical record of the northwest suburbs available anywhere. (Staff photo) (A15

Newspaper Files Date Back to 1901

by Dave Crippen
Staff Writer

What may be the most complete historical record in northwest suburbia is housed in the basement of Paddock Publications.

It is the Paddock newspaper library. While newspapers generally are regarded as recorders of contemporary history, their libraries or "morgues" keep alive much in the background of a community that is significant.

The Paddock library includes complete newspaper records dating back to 1901. Charged with keeping the library intact, improving it and making it a more effective tool for newspaper and community use is Mrs. Dorothy Meyer, head librarian.

AN EMPLOYE of the firm for nine years, she took over the position full time in January, 1964. Under her direction, the library was reorganized into an elaborate and complete filing system.

During her first months on the job, Mrs. Meyer had to file clipping envelopes in old shoe boxes for lack of adequate filing cabinets. Attempting to develop an easy-to-use categorizing system, Mrs. Meyer studied techniques used in similar libraries in two of the Chicago daily newspapers.

"I adopted the best features of each system," Mrs. Meyer explained.

Today the library is divided into four major classifications, including clip files, microfilm, picture file and reference. Microfilm records every issue of Paddock Publications' 15 suburban newspapers.

CLIPPINGS, filed according to various news titles and happenings, provide information on events that took place during the past three years. Photographs for future use are maintained in a separate file.

The reference library includes volumes and pamphlets on subjects ranging from air and water pollution to state statutes.

The purpose of the library primarily is to provide background information for Paddock news editors and writers, Mrs. Meyer points out.

"Although we are happy to serve the public," explains Mrs. Meyer, "the main function of the library is to serve the news editors."

SHE NOTES, however, that information in the library is frequently sought by students of all ages, by lawyers and insurance investigators and others who want to learn the details of a news event. Mrs. Meyer estimates that about one grade school or high school student each week uses the library.

She recalls that a student doing post graduate work once used the library as an information source. Any member of the public desiring to use the collection should make arrangements beforehand, Mrs. Meyer said.

Storage and filing of clippings and microfilm requires considerable space, and Paddock's library, like all other departments, has outgrown its basement headquarters. But the library will soon be moved to a new second floor office when work is completed on the building addition this spring.

"We have outgrown our facilities," commented Mrs. Meyer, "and I am looking forward to moving into the new library."

Institute on Judaism For Clergy Is Slated

The Beth Tikvah Congregation will hold an Institute on Judaism for the Christian Clergy Monday, Feb. 21.

The institute is designed to promise greater understanding of Judaism through lectures, discussions and exhibits, and all of the clergy in the area have been invited to attend.

The program will be held at the Beth Tikvah Congregation, 275 Hillcrest Blvd., Hoffman Estates.

Beth Tikvah (House of Hope) was founded in 1957 by a dozen families who were among the first Jewish residents in the far northwest suburbs.

At the present time, Beth Tikvah serves 150 families living in 15 different communities. The synagogue building was completed in the fall of 1963.

BETH TIKVAH is a Reform congregation. It adheres to the view that Judaism is an ever-changing and ever - growing religion.

It aims to bring the warmth and ideals of Jewish tradition into the lives of its members and to show the relevance for today of the 4000 year-old faith.

The program will begin with registration at 9:30 a.m., followed at 10 a.m. by a lecture and discussion, "The Beliefs of Judaism —Old and New" by Rabbi Arnold Jacob Wolf.

At 11:45 a.m. an exhibit on Jewish holiday displays, books and ceremonial objects will be presented, and at 11:45 a.m. the clergy will be guests of the Beth Tikvah Sisterhood for lunch.

THE AFTERNOON will consist of a lecture and discussion, "The Practices of Judaism—Old and New" by Rabbi Hillel Gamoran. Adjournment will be at 1:30 p.m.

Rabbi Wolf, the first speaker, is a native of Chicago and was educated at the University of Chicago, University of Cincinnati and the Hebrew Union College where he was ordained in 1948 with honors in theology and homiletics.

He has written for many periodicals including "commentary," "Judaism," "Christian Century" and the "Religious Digest." He has been a national vice-president of the Religion and Labor Seminary Foundation.

He is the author of a textbook for Jewish teenagers, "Challenge to Confirmands" and a work for adults, "Rediscovering Judaism: Reflections on a New Theory."

Rabbi Gamoran comes from Cincinnati, Ohio. He received his B.A. at the University of Cincinnati in 1951 and was ordained as a rabbi at the Hebrew Union College —Jewish Institute of Religion in 1956.

He received his M.H.L. (Master of Hebrew Letters) at the same time. Rabbi Gamoran spent the academic year 1953-54 as a student at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. There he pursued studies in the field of Judaism and Jewish history.

HE IS PRESENTLY a member of the Executive Committee of the Chicago Board of Rabbis and is visiting lecturer in Hebrew at the College of Jewish Studies, Chicago.

Rabbi Gamoran served as the spiritual leader of Temple B'nai Or, Morristown, New Jersey from 1954 to 1960. Since then he has been the rabbi of Beth Tikvah Congregation. (B10

Volunteers Are Needed For Center

Clearbrook Center for the Retarded is seeking volunteers to serve as teacher aids in the classrooms, according to Byrn Witt, executive director.

Volunteers will be assigned to a particular teacher and will work with the same class on a weekly schedule. No previous experience is required.

VOLUNTEERS ARE specifically needed to give one day a week or a half day per week.

The Clearbrook Center has tripled the size of its program during the last year, and there is a definite need for women who are interested in working with mentally retarded children from pre-school age to adolescents, Witt commented.

Further information may be obtained by phoning 255-0120.

Campus Capers

At Conference

Miss Diane Lynn Sargol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sargol, 1770 Lee Court, Palatine, is one of four Mundelein College students who attended the eighth annual college editors conference at the Overseas Press Club in New York recently.

The editor of "The Skyscraper," Mundelein's student newspaper, Miss Sargol is a junior sociology major and a journalism minor. She has been a staff member of the college paper since her freshman year, was president of her freshman class and treasurer of the Student Activities Council during her sophomore year. She was recently awarded an honorable mention in newswriting by the Catholic School Press Association.

The conference drew campus reporters, editors and feature writers from across the United States and included talks and panel discussions by leading professional newsmen and administration officials in New York and Washington, D.C.

At Western Illinois

A Mount Prospect junior will play the role of the man who refused to put his stamp of approval on King Henry's desire for divorce and re-marriage in a play to be staged at Western Illinois University, Feb. 9, 10, 11, 12. "A Man for all Seasons."

He is Gene, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kozlowski, 220 S. Pine.

This graduate of Prospect High School plays the role of Sir Thomas More.

Since enrolling as a major in speech at Western Illinois, young Kozlowski has played in the major productions on campus: Birdie in "Bye Bye Birdie," Father Ambrose in "Waltz of the Toreadors," Amos in "Queen and the Rebels," and Chaplin in "Mother Courage."

At Beloit

Richard Quast, 900 West Lincoln Lane, Mount Prospect, was one of more than 100 Beloit College Alumni who attended the annual Alumni Conference held on campus Jan. 28-30.

Quast represented the class of 1913 at the conference which included a number of athletic and social events, and discussion sessions with administration, faculty and student leaders.

At Illinois Wesleyan

At Illinois Wesleyan—1/14 bold Judith Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, 217 Dale Ave., Mount Prospect, was elected song leader of the pledge class for Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority at Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Ill.

A total of 88 girls were pledged at five sororities on the Wesleyan campus. This is an increase of 22 per cent over the number of students pledged in 1964.

Alpha Omicron Pi was established at Barnard College in New York City in 1897. Beta Lambda Chapter on the Wesleyan campus was chartered in 1956.

Sorority Pledge

Patrice Lynn Thomson, 802 Catino, Arlington Heights, was among the Purdue University coeds who were admitted as pledges of the social sororities, following a week's rushing.

Miss Thomson pledged Kappa Kappa Gamma, having qualified for formal rush by attaining a 4-point or higher grade index in at least 14 credit hours of study in the fall semester. (10CC

At Kentucky

Gene Leroy Samsel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene L. Samsel, 314 S. Rammer, Arlington Heights, has made the Dean's List for the fall semester.

A junior in the school of agriculture at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, he achieved an academic standing of 3.4 or better on a point system of 4.0.

Samsel is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and plans to do graduate work upon completion of his Agronomy major in December of this year. He graduated from Prospect High School in 1963. (10CC

On Student Board

Thomas Cashin, 2603 Cardinal Drive, Rolling Meadows, was recently sworn in to serve on the Student Association Board, a new student government organization formed at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

Cashin, a senior, served on the preceding student board and will be senior representative for one more semester.

SWEET-DARTS GO BINGO at Ma & Pa's Country Candy Kitchen in Arlington Heights with the bright window display attracting attention of all passersby. Our photographer caught "Ma," Mrs. Bernie Wood, adjusting the arrow last week when the accent was on Valentine's Day. Readers of Paddock Publications are playing Bingo to the tune of over 50,000 cards per week, with this week's prize expected to be $300.

Library Tax Curbs Invalid, Clark Rules

Atty. Gen. William G. Clark in an opinion has called attention to the probable invalidity of that section of the Illinois Library Act restricting townships, villages and towns to use of the complicated formulae set up in the Butler bills in levying library taxes while fixing different library taxation standards for cities of less than 500,000.

House Bill 956, enacted by the 74th General Assembly, constituted a new library code for towns and townships, permitting levying of a tax to establish and maintain a library, Clark's opinion advised Secretary of State Paul Powell.

The bill provides that in a city this tax may not exceed .12 per cent of the full cash value of the taxable property in the city without a referendum but permits by referendum increase this tax to not to exceed .20 per cent of the value of the property. This tax levy is not made subject to the Butler bills, Clark's opinion said.

HOWEVER, CLARK'S opinion stated, another section of the bill makes tax levies in an incorporated town, village or township subject to provisions of the Butler bills.

By these provisions, Clark's opinion said, the General Assembly has "chosen to set up for cities of less than 500,000 different standards concerning the levy of library taxes than those set forth for other municipal bodies governed by the same Act."

"Cities of less than 500,000 have the freedom to tax without the restraining influence of the Butler bills while townships, villages and towns are restricted to the use of the complicated formulae which these bills set out," Clark's opinion said. "This discrimination between municipal bodies in the extension of taxes is, on its face, a violation of Article IV, Section 22 of the Constitution of 1890."

THE CONSTITUTIONAL provision states that the General Assembly shall not pass special laws for municipalities, Clark's opinion said.

Clark's opinion further held that this section of the Library Act can be severed from the body of the Library Act without danger to the remainder of the Act.

The object of the Library Act, Clark's opinion said, was to encourage the expansion of the library system throughout the state, and to empower municipal bodies to provide library service. Its provision concerning the Butler limitation was incidental to this object, Clark's opinion said.

"TO ARGUE that the absence of this provision would have stopped the passage of this bill is to impute minute motivations to the legislature's members who voted for the passage," Clark's opinion said. "This I will not do but I instead base my opinion upon an Act without the unconstitutional provision. Without the subparagraph that subjected the villages, townships and towns to the Butler Bill provisions, it is clear that the officials in those municipal bodies can increase the tax rates up to .12 per cent without referendum and up to .20 per cent by the use of referendum.

Clark's opinion stated that the opinion was written generally and not to cover a specific situation. (A-15

Randhurst Manager Lectures

Harold J. Carlson, CSM and general manager of Randhurst was a lecturer at the 12th Institute on the Management and Operation of Shopping Centers held at the University of Arizona, Phoenix.

This institute sponsored by the International Council of Shopping Centers, Inc. is the only formal education program available to managers and owners of Shopping Centers.

Carlson's segment was on the subject of Center Operations & Costs and drew upon his experience both at Randhurst as well as on a number of smaller centers with which he was previously connected. He is also the State Director for Illinois for the International Council.

Annual Photo Show Set for May 17-19

By BEVERLY AIRTH

I would imagine that some time in your life you have come up with that once-in-a-lifetime "great shot." Maybe the lens of your camera only captured a memory or an expression, a scene, an event, a very special personality or just a member of your family. Whatever you captured with your camera it will always be cherished and personally judged by you as one of those really "great shots."

Why not enter your priceless photos in a contest? You don't have to be a professional in order to enter the contest as it is open to amateurs and semi-pros. Your photos can have a "day in court," judged by some of the finest judges, just to rest your curiosity to see how really great they might be.

THE RANDHURST - Paddock 1966 Photography Show will be held this year on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 17-18-19 on the Randhurst mall. This contest offers the amateur picture-taker a chance to compete on a comparatively equal level with contemporaries from his own neighborhood. The 1966 photo competition is open to all photographers in the northwest area. $200 in cash prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Why not pick up your entry blank in anyone of the 72 Randhurst stores or at the Paddock Publications office. This is your opportunity to see how your "bragged about" pictures stand up in still photography competition.

What's in store for us today? Well, today, ladies, is the beginning of "February Value Days." Today, Friday, and Saturday our shoppers will be able to take advantage of this fabulous shopping guide.

I HAVE NEVER seen anything like it — a shopping guide every single month! How is Randhurst able to do it? It is only through the fine efforts of all the Randhurst Merchants. When you receive your shopping guide in the mail we sincerely hope you breeze through it, gather ideas, make out your shopping list, or just wish for some of the newly advertised spring clothes.

We want to thank the Boy Scouts, parents, leaders, and the executive council for their combined efforts in presenting the "Randhurst Boy Scout Day" in observance of National Boy Scout Week. (RH

Exams Slated for Summer Postal Jobs

A nationwide competitive examination has just been announced for temporary summer employment in a number of larger post offices throughout the country. The new examination was developed as part of the previously announced plan to assure that selection for summer jobs is made on the basis of merit.

The examination will be used to select the best qualified applicants for employment as seasonal assistants between May 1 and Sept. 30, 1966. Applications for the positions, which pay $2.37 an hour, will be accepted through Feb. 24. A written test taking less than one hour will be held in March in over 1,000 cities.

SEASONAL assistants are hired during the summer to assist the regular postal work force in handling the mail. Some assignments require operation of motor vehicles and candidates for these jobs will have to demonstrate ability to drive safely.

Post Office Department points out that seasonal assistants will be needed in only a limited number of post offices, generally larger ones.

Persons who pass the written test will be furnished a list of the post offices in their state of permanent residence where appointments will be made and will be permitted to file for employment consideration at up to three of them. Eligibles will be given ratings based on test scores, and offers of employment will be made first to those in the highest group. Veterans in each group must be selected ahead of non-veterans.

Applicants must be at least 18 years old at time of appointment; however, this minimum age is waived for high school graduates who will be at least 16 years old at the time they enter on duty. (A15

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Fifth and sixth grade Junior Girl Scouts completed Personal Health badge requirements at Recreation Park under the supervision of Mrs. F. J. Stewart. The month long program for 128 girls included discussions of good health habits, a two-week personal health chart and posters and skits for the final day of instruction. Mrs. Robert Cook and Mrs. Raymond Anderson were Mrs. Stewart's assistants in carrying out the project.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE

Girl Scouts of the village have been busily engaged in making gifts for the children of the Dixon State School. Troop 898 of the Clearmont area, led by Mrs. Ollie Ryan, have been making nut cups filled with candy and party favors of valentines.

Troop 364 of the Salt Creek area, led by Mrs. Lawrence Gebbe, made candy boxes out of egg cartons. They decorated the boxes with valentines and were given to the children on Valentines Day.

ROLLING MEADOWS

Mrs. E. Meade, Cadette co-leader of Troop 633, attended the PTA Mother Daughter program at Kimball Hill School Feb. 8 with eight of the 7th grade girls in her troop.

Cadettes are working for their Good Grooming badge and the program presented by Mrs. Blanche Ninnemann, owner of the Duchess and Aloha Beauty Salons in Rolling Meadows, covered the dos and don'ts for proper hair care and beauty which filled one of the requirements towards attaining this badge.

The annual Father and Daughter Sweetheart Dinner presented by Girl Scout Troop 141, headed by Mrs. Elmer R. Tucker and assisted by Mrs. Joseph E. Murawski, was held Feb. 14 in the Old Fellowship Hall at the Community Church in Rolling Meadows.

Women assisting Mrs. Tucker in the preparation for the spaghetti dinner were Mrs. Francis A. Endre, Mrs. Charles L. Newman, Mrs. Sid Vanderspool, Mrs. Richard C. Kremel and Mrs. William D. Ahrens.

Entertainment for the evening was a specialty song number prepared for the occasion by the girls in the troop.

MOUNT PROSPECT

Post holiday activities of Junior Girl Scout troops have been almost as busy as during the Christmas season. Troop 802 and leaders Mrs. James Hayes and Mrs. Donald Hase teamed up with Troop 629 for a party at Lions Park Hockey Rink. Leaders of 629 are Mrs. Elmer Blasco and Mrs. Edmund Hayes. Refreshments were served in the warming house.

Troop 802 held a Court of Awards and Investiture recently. The girls received Cook badges which were earned by the Scouts baking in various homes with the help of several mothers.

Mrs. John Cutchin and Mrs. Lawrence Koch of Troop 411 report their Scouts are working toward My Community badges. With the cooperation of the principal and the teachers of Westbrook School the girls are assisting after school with various classroom duties. They are also working on a library display.

An evening sleigh ride at Fleetwood Farm in Palatine was enjoyed by Junior Troop 742. The hot chocolate and cookies helped to thaw out the girls after their frigid outing. The Scouts of 742 assisted in the serving of a church sponsored dinner at the Trinity Methodist Church which sponsors the troop. This service completed their work on My Troop badge.

Mrs. John Roberts and Mrs. Richard Barretts Troop 703 are working for a Skating badge. They invited friends to a party held at the Mount Prospect Country Club. Refreshments were served in the warming house.

Junior leader Mrs. J. Crillen recently moved from Illinois and Troop 219 and co-leader Mrs. Robert Miller have welcomed back former leader Mrs. Richard Locke. The girls of 219 recently held a Court of Awards and received the Troop Crest and various badges. This troop also enjoyed ice skating at Lions Park during the recent cold snap.

NORTHWEST ARLINGTON

Juniors of Troop 996 are working on their Print badge under the direction of their leaders Mrs. Eugene Pogalz and Mrs. William Broadfoot.

On Dec. 16 at Patton School Junior Troop 724 had a Christmas skit and Court of Awards. Mrs. Courtney Norman supplied the music for the carols and there were three Senior Scouts from Troop 504 who served as program aides. The girls received their Dramatics badge and five girls received their Writers badge. The skit was produced and directed by Mrs. Edward Pinigis. The troop also went caroling at the Lutheran Home for the Aged. Following the caroling a party for the troop was held at the Merwyn Dan home at 1539 N. Kennicott.

Troop 259 Brownies have designated the month of Feb. as Camping Month. The girls are learning all the techniques of camping; the building of a fire, how to tie a knot and the correct usage of a knife. On Feb. 15 the basic fundamentals of first aid was demonstrated by Mrs. Stanley Auck, a registered nurse. The troop will follow this up with the planning and filling of a first aid kit. Troop 259 meets in the morning at the home of their leader, Mrs. John Scott. Mrs. R. I. Smith assists with the 13 girls that are all in their first year of Scouting.

A Girl Scout Family Fun Night at the YMCA on Feb. 5 was held by Junior Troop 996. Ninety two people participated in roller skating and swimming. (B10

Hospital Slates Lecture on Stroke

A public lecture on stroke at the Northwest Community Hospital tomorrow (Friday) evening will feature Dr. William Kristy, an internal medicine specialist in Arlington Heights as principal speaker. The lecture begins at 8 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria.

Assisting Dr. Kristy in the program will be three other members of the hospital staff. They are Dr. James Kane, surgeon, Dr. I. J. Young, neurologist, and Dr. R. Brown, chief physical therapist at the hospital.

THE PROGRAM includes a short film and general presentation followed by questions from those in attendance regarding the causes, complications and various treatments of stroke.

Earlier presentations by members of the medical staff at the hospital included talks on cancer and diabetes. The programs, according to Leonard Genunge, assistant administrator of Northwest Community Hospital, have received favorable public response. A fourth lecture on treatment of birth defects and treatment of hereditary diseases is planned for May. (B-10

FOREST VIEW MUSICIANS

Today (Thursday) Forest View High School's music department will be performing for the students of Carl Sandburg Junior High School in Rolling Meadows.

The band, choir and Vocals (a vocal group) will perform in the concert. Choir director is Vincent Ahnquist; band directors are Fred Elliot and Harry Swenson.

TWO WINNERS

Palatine High has two winning homemakers, Sandy Winkelman and Jeanette Krueger.

Sandy was awarded a charm bracelet for baking a cherry pie. She made her pie in front of judges who judged her techniques and her final product. The cherry pie contest is sponsored by the Northern Illinois Gas Company.

Jeanette Krueger was a local winner of the Betty Crocker Homemaker's award. The award is given on the basis of a written test pertaining to all areas of home economics. Jeanette received a gold pin for her achievement.

CONANT SINGERS

Two Conant High School vocal groups, the a cappella choir and the Conaires, under the direction of John Van Hook, recently performed in the Hoffman-Schaumburg area.

On February 11, the a cappella choir presented two assembly programs at the Robert Frost Junior High. Their selections included "Song of Hope," a Hebrew traditional; "Brother James Air," "He Watching Over Israel," from "Elijah;" "All Through the Night," a Welsh air; "John Henry," and "Alleluia," an old German melody.

The Conaires presented a program for the Lions Club at their annual Wives' Night Dinner, held February 12 at the Maitre D' restaurant, Elk Grove.

Selections presented by this group included "John Henry," "Shenandoah," "Foggy, Foggy Dew," and a revision of Allen Sherman's "No One's Perfect."

STUDENTS SEE FILMS

"Othello" and "Lord of the Flies" were seen last week by the Fenton High School senior English classes.

Many students felt that these viewings were good guides in the further study of these classics and helped to explain the plots better.

NEW FENTON PAPER

Signal, Fenton High School newspaper, will have a new helper to be called the "Little Signal." It will be a supplement to the regular Signal and will primarily help the students become more informed about school functions.

The paper will be distributed every 3-4 weeks during lunch hours.

Little Signal is published by Fenton's journalism class. All the writings, cartoons, and printing is done by the class of 14 students.

The editor staff positions change with each edition of the paper. "This gives each student experience in working on all parts of a paper," said Mrs. Marjorie Rollow, journalism advisor.

The first edition editor was junior Kay Larsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Larsen, Sherwood Road, Royal Oaks, Wood Dale.

WHEELING MUSICAL

The English-Fine Arts division of Wheeling High School will sponsor its first musical, "Li'l Abner," to be presented Thursday through Saturday, March 24, 25, and 26 in the Little Theatre.

Tryouts are currently being held under the supervision of Eric Lidh (dramatics), Charles Jenks (choral), and Dean DePoy (band).

This comic-strip-inspired extravaganza includes a baker's dozen of characters and misfits taken from the writings of Al Capp. The show had a Broadway run in 1956 and 1957, toured the country, and also was made into a movie.

Wheeling's production will feature Lidh as stage director, Jenks as choral director, and DePoy as show band director. Other faculty from the English-Fine Arts division will be cooperating in the production of the show.

CONANT FACULTY NIGHT

GAA at Conant High School held its first faculty night on Thursday, February 3. Despite the fact that "Batman" was on television, 60 GAA members and 25 faculty members were there.

The group participated in many activities, ranging from volleyball to gymnastics. Then they concluded the evening with refreshments provided by members.

SCHOOL CELEBRATION

Bensenville's first high school was opened 50 years ago. In recognition of this, a ceremony will be held Sunday at Green Street School.

To help celebrate this occasion, the Bensenville Cub Scouts will present a Kaleidoscope. Juvenile Officer Donald Jensen will compare the youth of today with the youth of yesterday.

Following the presentation, cake and coffee will be served. Doors will be open at 7:30 p.m.

WILDCAT PURCHASED

The Spur Club of Wheeling High School has recently purchased an authentic wildcat.

It will be presented to the school at a future assembly. The wildcat is displayed in one of the trophy cases in the foyer. Trophy plaques containing captains and outstanding players in each sport will be in the case, also.

SHM CAREER TRIP

Twenty-five students from Sacred Heart of Mary High School attended the Career Exposition at McCormick Place Friday, last week.

The exposition consisted of seminars, movies and lectures on job opportunities and post-high school education.

BAND CONCERT

The Fenton High School concert band was given a standing ovation by Weber High School students at a band concert held at Weber in Chicago on February 3.

Among the numbers presented were "Tamerlan," directed by Dennis Hegebarth, Weber's band director and onetime Fenton band student.

Under the direction of Fred Lewis, Fenton concert band leader, "Tympendium," a solo was played on the typani by junior Paul Zadel and a flute solo by senior Linda Breiter.

CONANT GAA

The next fund-raiser for the GAA of Conant High School will be another sweatshirt sale next month. This time the sweatshirts will be cranberry and short sleeves with the same emblem as the navy sweatshirts.

The price will again be $2.50. Chairmen of the committee are Carole Knight and Gayle Kaplan.

TALENT REVIEW

For the second time, Sacred Heart of Mary High School will participate in the third annual Loyola High School Talent Review at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights at Loyola High School in Wilmette.

Competing against such schools as Regina, Loyola, St. Scholastica, Mendal and Gordon Tech will be the Sacred Heart of Mary Girls' Choir, directed by Miss Janet Nolting, head of the music department.

The choir will perform both nights singing "Cantate Domino," "Aura Lee" and "Try to Remember."

Admission is $1.

GAA FORMAL

There are only two days left to get ready for "Emerald City," this year's theme for Fenton High School's GAA Sweethearts Formal. The formal will take place in cafeteria B from 8 to 11 p.m.

Tickets will still be on sale tonight and tomorrow after school. The prices are $3 with two activity cards, $3.25 with one card and $3.50 with no cards.

Music will be provided by the Fentone's, Fenton's dance band.

Scenery and decorations are being made by the members of GAA and will be primarily blue

SPEECH CONTEST

Palatine High School was represented in the district speech contest Saturday at Lake Forest. Four students from the Wood street campus and six from Fremd attended.

Those from Wood street are Rick Dinkel, Sue Orth, Dave Rydin, and Gayane Babayan with the one-act play "Impromptu."

Those from Fremd are Jim Lawrence, radio speaking; Peggy Zajonc, poetry; Joann Piro, prose reading; Peggy Morrison, dramatic interpretation; Colleen McGrath, comedy interpretation; and Carl Johnson, original oratory.

CONANT FIELD TRIP

The Conant High School Science Club will spend a day at the Chicago Sun-Times building and at the Chicago Police Department Criminology laboratory.

Invited guests are the Conant Crier (newspaper) staff and the Conavite (year-book) staff.

The bus will leave from Conant at 8:30 a.m. At 11 a.m., a guided tour through the Chicago Sun-Times Building will take place. After lunch this group will proceed to the Chicago Police Department Criminology Laboratory for a tour of the building and demonstrations of the equipment used.

The price of the trip is $2. Thomas Burkhalter, sponsor, said, "This will be quite a day for those people going!"

FENTON SKI TRIP

A weekend trip to Rib Mountain, Wisconsin, will be an up and coming event for Fenton High School's Ski Club.

"This," according to Mr. Donald McCann, one of the clubs sponsors, "has been our goal." He added that a number of one-day trips have previously been made for instruction purposes.

McCann stated that now that the group has gained some experience, a trip like this may be taken in late February or early March. Approximately 60-65 students will attend.

HONOR ROLL

Forty-three students of Walther Lutheran High School in Melrose Park have earned Honor Roll recognition for the first semester of the present school year. To earn this position, students must maintain a minimum grade point average of 4.51 on a five point scale.

Among the Honor Roll students are Maureen Johnson and Julaine Wendler of Addison; junior Nancy Runge of Bensenville; and freshman Keith Kolzow of Itasca.

PALATINE AUCTION

An upperclass auction the night of March 4 in Palatine's girls gym is being sponsored by Student Council to earn money for next year's foreign exchange program.

Although details have not been worked out there have been many suggestions as to what to auction. An example of what will be auctioned is a dinner for two cooked by a certain teacher or a car wash for the prom done by a teacher or administrator. At this event, each item will go to the highest bidder.

Following the auction, there will be a dance to live music.

ACT TEST

College-bound seniors will meet at Prospect High School in Room 106, on Feb. 19, to take the ACT (American College) test.

There will be approximately 100 students from the district and other areas taking this college entrance exam.

SALE IS SUCCESS

The Pep Club of St. Viator High School and Junior Homeroom 41 sponsored a week-long ticket sale in an attempt to send as many busloads of students as possible to the basketball game against St. Patrick's of Chicago.

The sale, which was held from February 7 to February 11, was considered successful, as seven buses were sent to the game.

The purpose behind the effort was to duplicate the spirit demonstrated by the students in the February 5 upset victory over Chicago De LaSalle.

EMPLOYMENT TEST

The Illinois State Employment Test will be administered to 40 Prospect High School seniors on the mornings of Feb. 14 through 17.

Ten students will meet in Room 163 each morning at the beginning of first period. They will be absent from their morning classes only.

FRENCH CLUB DANCE

On Saturday the French Club of Sacred Heart of Mary High School will present its annual semi-formal French Dance, "La Nuit Parisienne." Music will be provided by "The Melodons" of Notre Dame.

Working behind the scenes to make the evening a success are co-chairmen, Christine Jacobs from Rolling Meadows and Peggy Moran from Mount Prospect.

Nominees for Mardi Gras Queen are juniors Christine Jacobs, Rolling Meadows; Christine Lonze, Palatine; Peggy Moran, Mount Prospect; and Elizabeth Myers, Des Plaines.

Also, sophomores Mary Hitzman, Arlington Heights; and Judi Molkup, Arlington Heights; and senior Mary Seeny, Arlington Heights.

FENTONES WIN HONORS

The Fentones, Fenton High School's dance band, placed second after Notre Dame at a stageband contest held at Oak Lawn Community High School two weeks ago.

Out of a possible 18 points for superior rating, Fenton had a total of 22 points, just two behind Notre Dame. Hinsdale and Thorton tied for third.

The Fentones played Niel Hefty's "Flight of the Zoo Bird," Billy Byer's "Hey, Jealous Lover" and Bob Siebert's "Soliloquy."

Two of the Fentones members, Phil West of Bensenville; and Terry Pettijohn of Bensenville, were selected as members of the all-state as a result of the high quality performance.

VOODOO AT FENTON

Have you seen a Zombi running around lately or do you know who Mawu is or what Loos are?

Well they are all connected with the Voodoo religion still practiced on the island of Haiti. These ideas were brought to life by five Fenton High School freshman members of Richard Doherty's world history class last Thursday.

These members were Carol Shanzynski, Rita Winters, Gwyneth Jashson, Colleen Coughlin and Cathy Newmann.

The five students dressed in costume and were accompanied by appropriate music.

Carol stated that she didn't remember a thing that went on, but if any teachers felt mysterious pains in the chest Thursday — well . . . . .

HOMEMAKER ANNOUNCED

Conant High School's 1966 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow is Patricia Dehner.

She scored highest in a written knowledge and attitude examination taken by senior girls Dec. 7, and is now eligible for state and national scholarship awards.

Pat has already earned a special award pin from the program's sponsor, General Mills.

Test papers of all school winners in the state are being judged, and a State Homemaker of Tomorrow and runner-up will be selected soon.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 college scholarship, and her school will be awarded a complete set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc.

The second-ranking girl in the state will receive a $500 educational grant.

FENTON HOMEMAKER

Senior Patricia Palicki has been chosen Fenton High School's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. She was the high scorer of a written examination taken December 7.

Pat, who is now eligible for the State Homemaking of Tomorrow, also received a special pin from General Mills.

The winner from each state will be awarded a 1,500 college scholarship and her school will receive a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica.

DEBATERS ACTIVE

The Lincoln Day High School debate will again be held at Eisenhower High School Campus Building in Blue Island with 46 schools participating in this 18th annual tournament on Feb. 12.

Defending champions from last year, Prospect High, face such contenders as New Trier, Elgin, Dundee and Evanston, as well as all the leading schools of the Eisenhower area.

Co-host is Eisenhower's new member of the District 218 "family" — the Harold L. Richards High School. Robert Lyons, coach at Eisenhower, is in charge, assisted by his Richards' colleagues, Floyd Dougherty and Spencer Maxcy.

The topic this year is "Resolved: The Federal Government Should Adopt a Program of Compulsory Arbitration in Labor Management Disputes in the Basic Industries."

FV TEAM WINS

The girls' basketball team captured first place at Arlington High School's Play Day February 5. All four District 214 schools participated in the two events offered, basketball and badminton.

Members of the winning basketball team were Pat Paul, Wendy Wegner, Linda Ferguson, Diane Rautenkranz, Sally Krueger, Yvonne Sittner, and Alexis Mitchell.

In the badminton competition, Carol De Sain and Marti Enguist, both of Forest View, took first places.

Second and third places went to Alison Kisch and Linda Schnur. (15Y

'The Lark' Second In Speech Tourney

By PHYLLIS MILLDRUM AND BARB McKEWEN

"The Lark," Forest View High School's contest play, placed second in the district speech tournament at Lake Forest High School Saturday.

Under the direction of Daniel Padberg, "The Lark" will now advance to the sectional contest at Rockford on March 5.

Members of the winning play are Dolores Longo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Longo, 903 S. Edward Street and John Tabbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Tabbert, 805 S. I-Oka in Mount Prospect; Bob Farber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Farber, 64 W. Roxbury Lane in Des Plaines; Tom Byrd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Byrd, 3606 Dove Lane in Rolling Meadows.

Also, Bob Klopp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klopp, 1052 Bosworth; Dave Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Cook, 107 Landmeier; Bob Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunn, 34 Woodcrest Lane; and Larry Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Green, 200 Walnut Lane, all in Elk Grove Village; and John Berto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vilas Berto, 764 Debra Lane in Des Plaines.

"THIS WILL BE the first time Forest View has ever taken a contest play to the sectionals, and we all are very excited!" Padberg commented.

Ten other students from Forest View participated in and won honors in the individual events.

Senior, Pat Press, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Press of 601 Hatlen Dr., Mount Prospect, took fourth place in prose reading. Terry Hysell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hysell of 800 William Dr., Mount Prospect, took fifth place in serious reading.

Dolores Longo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Longo of 903 Edward St., Mount Prospect, took fifth place in verse reading. Jorlyce Junkel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Junkel of 1030 Horne Dr., Des Plaines, placed fifth in extemporaneous Speaking.

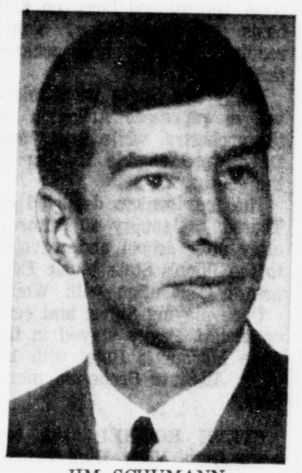
MARY KENNEDY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy of 1520 Lonnquist Dr., Mount Prospect, placed third in after dinner speaking. Debbie Jo Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Conley of 71 Jeffry, Des Plaines, placed first in comedy play reading.

Adrienne Hamparian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamparian, of 907 Edward Dr., Mount Prospect, placed first in original monologue.

These last three students qualify for the sectional contest which will be held at Rockford on February 26.

Participating in individual events was Karen McKelvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McKelvey of 73 Forest Ln., Elk Grove; Naoki Saito, AFS student, staying with Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Chilton of 1103 Lonnquist Dr., Mount Prospect, and Carl Richter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richter of 538 Woodview Ln., Elk Grove. (10Y

Wheeling Pair Move Into Senior Spotlight



JIM SCHUMANN

By KATHIE BARNES and MARYANN KEENEY

Jim Schumann, and Diane Stevens, two of Wheeling High School's outstanding seniors, have been chosen for the senior spotlight.

Jim is a member of the National Honor Society and has been on the honor roll since his freshman year. He will soon receive his seven semester honor pin. He is in the upper 7 per cent of his class.

Jim is not quite sure of his future plans as to what he will study. He has been accepted at the State University of Iowa, where he will participate in its honor program. For the first year, Jim will study liberal arts.

DIANE STEVENS

FOLK SINGING is a big part of Jim's life. He is in a folk singing group and likes all types of folk music.

Jim is a sports writer on the Spokesman. His sports interests among others are swimming and hockey. Jim was on the swimming team last year.

"Making the most of one's education is the most important accomplishment for teens today," Jim stated.

Diane Stevens, outstanding Wheeling senior, has made her high school career one for which Wheeling High School can be proud.

Diane is presently serving as editor-in-chief of the Lair, Wheeling's yearbook, and as corresponding secretary of Student Council.

Diane's activities for this year are rounded out by her membership in the Political Forum Club and National Honor Society. She is currently in the upper 10 per cent of her class.

SOME OF DIANE'S outside activities include her award by the Wheeling VFW for her patriotism essay during her junior year, and teaching her Sunday school class.

Diane is especially interested in current events and is an avid newspaper reader.

Diane feels that the most important accomplishment for teenagers today is to "formulate their own opinions and not to depend on what other people say." (15Y

Conant Lists 61 On 'A' Honor Roll

A total of 61 students at Conant High School made the "A" honor roll the first semester. Approximately 13 seniors, 11 juniors, 19 sophomores and 18 freshmen make up this number.

The "B" honor roll has 133 Conant students. There are 25 seniors, 33 juniors, 33 sophomores, and 42 freshmen that qualify.

The "A" honor roll consists of the following students:

'English Mist' As Prom Theme

The theme of this year's Wheeling High School prom on May 20 is "English Mist," it was recently decided by the Junior Class Board.

The decorations for the dance will follow the English theme. The Marlowe Orchestra will provide the entertainment.

The queen, a senior, will be voted for when the tickets are bought. Five girls will be nominated for queen in the homerooms.

CHAIRMEN of the prom committees are Judy Kampfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kampfe, 33 Glenbrook Drive, Prospect Heights, decorations; Barb Noll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Noll, 1738 E. Lilac, Arlington Heights, refreshments.

Also, Sharon Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Vincent, 158 W. Jeffery Ave., Wheeling, publicity; Ryan Sarti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Sarti, 317 Peachtree, Prospect Heights, queen selection; and Connie Andrew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Andrew, 1717 Woodview Dr., Prospect Heights, pageantry. (10Y

Teacher Scorns Newspapers But Calls Television Worse

From time to time, High School Highlights' correspondents will interview interesting teachers from our area high schools. This interview with Arlington High School art teacher Fritz Michaelis begins the series. Reporter John Simmons, a member of the Arlington High School Cardinal (school newspaper) staff, started this interview by asking Michaelis his opinion of modern daily newspapers:

He replied that he doesn't read them. "I never read newspapers any more. I don't even read 'Dick Tracy' any more."

Fritz Michaelis is one of Arlington High School's two art teachers. He is the sponsor of the art club and the chess club. It is his handiwork that is on many of the posters that decorate the school from time to time.

He received his bachelor of art education from the Art Institute of Chicago "some years ago," and came to Arlington in 1962. He is married and has one child.

Michaelis is impressive on sight — goatee and all — and is at once an artist. He consented quickly to my interview and led me into the office. I sat down next to his desk; he sat on top of it, an extremely clean and cluttered desk. I asked him what he thought of newspapers and got a biting reply. I asked him to elaborate.

"Seriously, I think newspapers are useless. There is nothing in newspapers which cannot be heard on radio in capsule form. Today's news is tomorrow's litter."

Asked what he thought of television, Michaelis was even more scathing. "Television is no good. Programs for 'adults' are geared to the minds of seven year olds. I do not own a television."

Michaelis went on to say that T.V. seems bad for children, too. "The kids get a wrong impression of life. Life is made to seem too rosy. But life is real, and they will soon find that out."

"What do you think of teenagers, then?" I asked.

"Kids do have it too easy today. They have too much money and too much time. They need to work more. I'm not saying they should walk two miles to school each day — but," he reflected, smiling, "it might be a good idea!" He paused. "But don't misunderstand me — I like kids — all of them. I would stand behind any one of them."

Michaelis, in leisure, likes to read "anything from mysteries to biographies" and play chess. He likes classical music. I asked him what he thought of rock 'n' roll.

"I accept it," he replied. "It's show business. But I don't like it. The dancing, however, I cannot tolerate. It is almost an imitation of a burlesque show."

I finally asked him my only prepared question — what he thought of the Revolutionary War.

"Best thing that ever happened to the Daughters of the American Revolution!" he decided.

With that I jumped out of my chair and Michaelis sprang off the desk. In walked English instructor Robert Boesel. After a vaudeville routine, the two settled down for their weekly game of chess. (15Y

'Blithe Spirit' Next Play at Forest View

By JUDY ARNOLD

Forest View High School will present its winter play, "Blithe Spirit" on Feb. 24, 25, and 26 in the Little Theatre.

"Blithe Spirit," by Noel Coward, is the story of an author. Charles Condomine, who invites Madame Ancati to his home in order to gather material for a book he is writing.

Charles Condomine is portrayed by junior Jim Dale, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dale, Biesterfield Road, Schaumburg; and senior Pat Press, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Press, 601 Hatlen Ave., Mount Prospect, plays the role of Madame Ancati.

AS THE PLOT thickens Madame Ancati holds a seance and materializes Charles first wife, Elvira, played by junior Sue Amon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Amon, 707 Glendale, Mount Prospect.

Needless to say, Ruth, Charles' second wife is none too pleased. Junior Terry Hysell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hysell, 800 Williams, Mount Prospect, plays the role of Ruth. The escapades which follow prove to be extremely amusing.

Other members of the cast include junior Debbie Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Conley, 71 Jeffery, Des Plaines, as Edith; junior Ken O'Dell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O'Dell, 206 W. Hiawatha, Mount Prospect as Dr. Bradman; and junior Norma Eckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Eckert, 1236 Doreen Dr., Des Plaines as Mrs. Bradman.

NOEL COWARD is famous for his sharp, satirical dialogues. Other plays by Coward include "Private Lives" and "Hay Fever." The $1 tickets can be purchased at the door.

Two Engineers Will Describe Their Profession

A typical day in the life of two engineers will be presented by the Lake Park High School Science Seminar JETS in observation of National Engineers Week Feb. 20-26.

The presentation will be next Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 232 of the high school. The public is invited.

J. Richard Koehler, Roselle Village engineer; and Donald Hildebrand, field test supervisor for A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, Incl, will talk about their profession and the particular work they do.

Fun's the Word at Piano Class

'LET'S COUNT'—Learning how to handle their own unskilled fingers is one of the first things taught District 214's adult school beginning piano students by Alma Grambauer, who has been doing the same thing for the district for 15 years. Many of her students, when they begin her classes, can't even read music. They learn names of the notes and musical symbols as they go. (Staff photos) (ACM-E

IT'S HIS TURN—Picking out "home" notes on the keyboard is Alma Grambauer's beginning piano class at Prospect High School is Stan Hedrick, 3409 Sigwalt, Rolling Meadows. Hedrick is one of 12 men signed up to learn to play the piano in this adult school class.

All the way to her first adult school piano class at Prospect High School the housewife told herself, "What in the world am I doing this for? I feel like such a fool."

Entering the classroom, she could see she had company. Most of the 30 men and women in the class had the same sheepish look that she had.

But the men and women in that Monday evening beginning piano class soon lost that feeling—as students have been doing for 15 years in response to the cheerful enthusiasm of their teacher, Miss Alma Grambauer.

Miss Grambauer has taught adult piano classes for the high school district since 1951. A Des Plaines resident, she was first asked to teach adult classes by John Schaaf, former business manager for the high school district.

"WE'RE HERE TO have fun, to enjoy ourselves, to laugh with each other and for each other," Miss Grambauer tells all her classes. "So let's start by doing our fingering in the air."

The classes respond. Soon the teenagers, the women in housedresses or in suits and hats, the men in sports shirts and the men who look as if they've just come from the commuter train, all have their hands in the air. "Cee, dee, eee," they say together.

Most of the men and women in Miss Grambauer's beginner classes have never played the piano before. Most have a piano at home that others use. Most practice regularly.

"I do my practicing with my children," the man in a sports coat will tell his seat mate.

PROGRESS IS hard to judge in these classes, Miss Grambauer says. But the students persist. In her beginning classes in the fall, the students wind up the session being able to play one piece, "Jingle Bells." This spring they'll learn another song, not quite so seasonal.

"Visit my advanced classes, if you really want to see what progress can be made, Miss Grambauer tells her beginners. "Then you will really be able to see what can be done."

Long Grove
Country Club Estates

We understand that the idea of building homes along the fairways of a golf course originated in Palm Springs, California.

Regardless of where it started, we have seen from our own experience how a combination of a large site and the open greenery of acres of golf course provides a most distinctive and exclusive setting for the fine custom-built residence.

If you are seeking a close-in yet still rural setting and desire to build or buy a home in the general area of $75,000, we invite your inspection of our acre or larger home-sites in varying degree of proximity to the fairways and greens of the Long Grove Country Club.

Property office is located on Route 53, approximately two miles north of Rand Road (U.S. 12), or one mile west of the juncture of Routes 53 and 83.

Long Grove Country Club Estates is located in the historic Village of Long Grove, east of Barrington, west of Deerfield. Take Routes 12 or 83 to our farm office on Route 53.

CHRISTOPHER TIMMERS (seated) and Edward Graves, both seniors at Wheeling High School, happily read the letter from 13th District Congressman Donald Rumsfeld appointing them as nominees to West Point and Annapolis, respectively.

2 Boys Named to Service Academies

Two Wheeling High School seniors have received nominations to service academies, according to an announcement Jan. 27 by 13th District Cong. Donald Rumsfeld.

Christopher Timmers was nominated for entrance to the United States Military Academy at West Point and Edward Graves to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Chris is the son of Commander and Mrs. R. W. Timmers, 13 St. Armond Court, Wheeling, while Ed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene P. Graves, 212 George, Wheeling.

The boys' nomination was based upon a competitive system employed by Cong. Rumsfeld under which he is permitted to select six boys from the 13th Congressional District for nomination to each of the service academies.

"The selections were based on the results of a competitive Civil Service examination, a rigorous physical examination, and various other factors relating to curricular and extracurricular activities during high school," Rumsfeld said.

CHRIS HAS BEEN interested in a service academy since he was young because his father is a commander in the Navy. A transfer student from Loara High School in Anaheim, Calif., Chris was a member of the wrestling team for two years, has participated in Explorer Scouting for the past two years, and is currently a member of the 'Cat gymnastic team.

Ed, whose father was in the Navy, is a nominee for the Naval Academy. His activities include current president of the Student Council, vice-president of both Boys' Interact and National Honor Society, and athletics including baseball, tennis, and football.

Ed is an Illinois state scholarship semi-finalist.

"THE COMPETITION in the 13th District for academy appointments is exceptionally keen," Cong. Rumsfeld noted. "These young men are due high praise for achieving these nominations."

Rumsfeld said that applications are now being accepted in his office, Room 241, Cannon House Office Building, Washington, D.C., 20515, for classes entering service academies in 1967.

Jim Towery received a nomination to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs. However, he has reconsidered since applying and declined the nomination.

Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Towery, 1238 Sarasota Drive, Wheeling. (10Y

10 Seniors In Drama Festival

by CHRIS MEAGHER

A play, original oration, original monologue, serious comedy, prose and verse reading and oratorical declamation are the categories 10 seniors from Fenton High School entered in the annual dramatics festival Saturday.

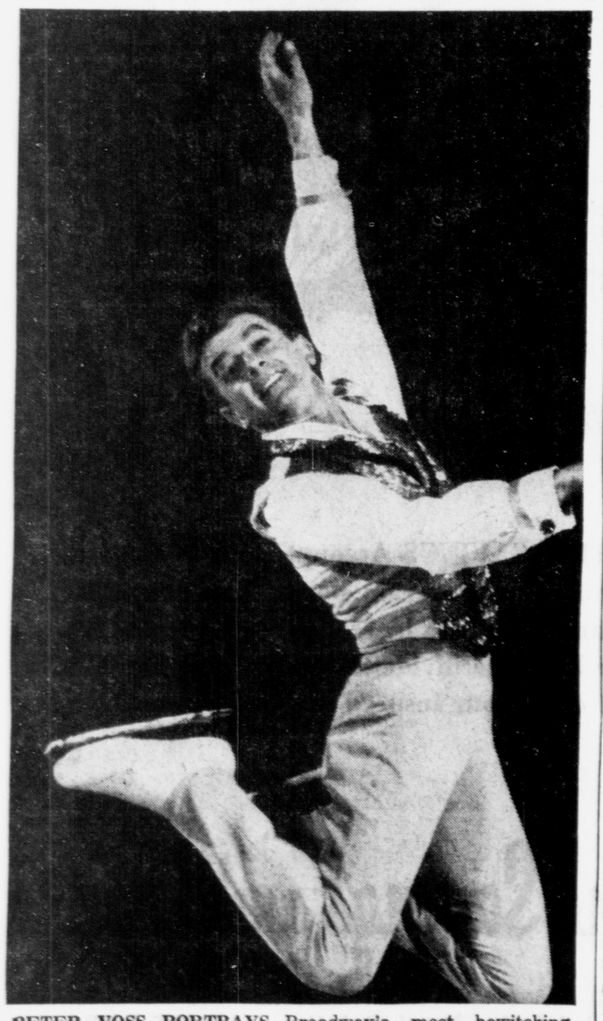
This year the contest was held at Notre Dame High School in Niles.

Chris Harman entered an original monolgue entitled "S.S.E.C.C.V.M.E," a satire on aptitude tests. Adlai Stevenson's speech, "A Continuing Emancipation" was orally interpreted by Ken Roberts in the category of oratorical declamation. Original oration was entered by Martin Keller with his speech, "Decline by Default."

LOOKING ON the lighter side of things was Catherine Metskas reading a cutting from George Bernard Shaw's play "Pygmalion." Patricia Duerkop offered her interpretation of such authors as Thomas and Dickens.

Joyce Owen read from the poems of Whitman, Longfellow, and Stevens in verse reading while Douglas Drenk entered serious reading with a selection from "The Deputy" by Hochhuth.

The final entry was a cut from the play, "Waiting for Godot" by Samuel Beckett featuring Doug Drenk, Jim Houghton, Fritz Allen and Dennis Thompson. (5Y



PETER VOSS PORTRAYS Broadway's most bewitching scoundrel—"Pal Joey"—in the Ice Capades' salute to the "World of Entertainment." The March 25 performance at Chicago Stadium is sponsored by the Parents' Council of Sacred Heart of Mary High School. General chairman is Jerome Schneider of Mount Prospect. To order tickets, call 392-6880. Over 3,000 tickets are reserved for SHM patrons.

History Articles Published

By CHERI DORNQUAST

Three Prospect High School juniors were recently honored by having their articles published in the Illinois History magazine. Diane Siewert, Darryl Einhorn, and Jeff Bates each wrote articles which were presented in the January and February issues of the publication.

Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert L. Siewert, 910 N. Stratford, Arlington Heights, chose Louis Sullivan's designing of the Carson Pirie Scott and Company building in Chicago's Loop as her topic.

"It was an unexpected but pleasant surprise," stated Diane upon hearing about the publication of her article.

Darryl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Einhorn, 206 N. Eastwood, Mount Prospect, took an unusual approach in his relating of Abraham Lincoln's desperate attempt to keep the Southern states from seceding from the Union.

The publishing of Darryl's article, which appeared in the February publication about Abraham Lincoln, surprised him because he really didn't expect it.

JEFF BATES, SON of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bates, 2 Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights, wrote about "Much-Quoted Myths" about Abraham Lincoln. In his article, he explained many wrong ideas that people have heard about Lincoln. Jeff believes that, "we have not created an ideal that conforms to Abraham Lincoln but rather an Abraham Lincoln that conforms to an idea."

According to Alex Schmidt, history teacher of the three students, Diane, Darryl and Jeff will attend an award ceremony given for students who have had their articles published in the history magazine.

The ceremony will take place on the Illinois State Fair Grounds in Springfield.

The 20 best writers will be honored, with the top five or six receiving a special award of $25.

Afterward, the students will be invited to the Governor's mansion for refreshments.

St. Patrick Junior Class Planning Dance

The title of the junior class dance of St. Patrick Academy is "A Little Bit of Heaven." It will be held at Henrici's Ballroom on Friday, February 18, from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. and is semi-formal.

Music will be furnished by a group of young college students called the "Upperclassmen."

President of the junior class Ellen Wriedt is chairman of the dance. She is assisted by the other officers of the class: Dee Caruso, vice-president; Sue Meline, secretary; and Linda Lubeck, treasurer. Publicity is being handled by Tine Alberts and Barbara Dolan.

Faculty member Sister Rosemary is moderator of the affair.

Go-Go-Ology Winners Selected

The two winners of the Go-Go-Ology Contest from Wheeling High School have been selected and will perform at a teen concert at Deerfield High School Saturday, Feb. 26.

The Go-Go-Ology winners are Teri Galow and Sonja Hertzner, who were selected last Saturday. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. William Galow, 301 S. Willie, Wheeling; and Mr. and Mrs. James Hertzner, 122 George Road, Wheeling.

THE CONCERT IS sponsored by the Youth Group of Congregation Beth Or. Clark Weber will be master of ceremonies. Featured attractions are the "Vogues," "Ross and the Majestics," and a surprise guest attraction along with Wheeling, Glenbrook, Deerfield, and Highland Park high School's Go-Go-Ology winners.

Show times for the conert are 7 and 8 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the Deerfield Record Shop in Deerfield, Fells Clothing store in Highland Park, the Meadow Save Mart in Northbrook, and the Kotz Shoe Store in Wheeling.

Tickets may also be ordered by mail from "Sounds of Go-Go - Ology," c/o Mrs. Annette Baber, 3460 Sorrel Drive, Northbrook. (10Y

Jeff Powell Receives Scholarship

Jeff Powell, Wheeling High School senior, received a scholarship to Monmouth College in Monmouth, Ill.

Jeff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Powell, 308 Ridge Ave., Prospect Heights.

The grant, which Jeff was given in January, totals $4,400 or $1,100 per year for four years, leaving Jeff $5,600 or approximately $1,500 per year to pay.

HE WAS SELECTED for the award on the basis of his rank in class (11th in the senior class) and the impression he made on the Monmouth representative who visited his home.

Jeff's major activities during his two years at Wheeling include football in both years, as well as baseball and swimming his junior year.

He is presently Varsity Club treasurer. Jeff was a member of the National Honor Society his sophomore year at Prospect High School. (10Y

Wheeling Jazz Band Rated High

The Wheeling High School Jazz Band, under the direction of Dean R. DePoy, won a rating of excellent at the 7th Annual Chicagoland Stage Band Festival at Oak Lawn High School.

Numbers performed by the band included "Flight of the Foo Birds" by Neal Hefti, "When Sunny Gets Blue" by Marvin Fischer, and "Blues Down Home" by Alf Bartles.

There were 46 bands from the entire Chicagoland area competing along with bands that traveled from as far away as Racine and Beloit, Wisconsin. Competition among this year's contestants was extremely keen and all bands present set new standards of excellence for high school stage bands.

Wheeling High School's Stage Band has been in existence as long as the school has been in existence, going on two years now. Since its inception, the band has played at a wide variety of events including two years running as the main band at Glenview Naval Air Station's Annual Inspection Dance held each December.

THE BAND HAS also appeared at school dances, assemblies, and many other functions connected with Wheeling High School.

In May of this year, the band will play for a society dance at Itasca Country Club and appear in concert.

During the 1964-65 school year, the band recorded a 12 inch stereo LP along with the school's symphony band which has been well received by the public.

The band is led by Dean R. DePoy, 436 South Beverly Lane, Arlington Heights. (10Y

Merit Test Feb. 26 in District 214

District 214 high schools will administer the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) to interested juniors at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 26.

The NMSQT, a 2 and ½-hour test of educational development, will be given at Arlington High High School, Forest View High School, Prospect High School, and Wheeling High School.

This test is the first step in the 12th annual competition for four-year merit scholarships. Students who wish to be considered for the Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1967 must take the NMSQT on this date. The results will be returned May 15.

ON SEPT. 22, the 14,000 semi-finalists will be announced. Those students who score just below the top 14,000 will receive Letters of Commendation.

The semi-finalists will take a second examination, and be required to submit biographical information.

Finalists will receive scholarships on the basis of school records and recommendations, test scores, extra-curricular activities, leadership ability, and other accomplishments.

Awards, ranging from $100 to $1,500 per year, are given according to the student's need.

Campus Capers

At St. Mary's College

Two Mount Prospect students cited for their superior scholastic achievement are Jerry Blandford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Blandford, 105 W. Lonnquist Pkwy. and Richard Reardon, son of the Walter Reardons, 709 I-Oka Ave.

Blandford was named to the first semester Dean's Honor list with a 3.25 ranking and Rearden achieved 3.75.

John Schinka, son of John Schinka, 3407 Pheasant, Rolling Meadows, was named to the dean's list with an academic ranking of 3.25.

Blandford, Reardon and Schinka are all freshmen at St. Mary's College, Winona, Minn. and graduated from St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights. (10CC

Publicity Chairman

Miss Barbara Angelos of Palatine is chairman of the publciity committee for a scheduled Junior Class Fashion Show at Saint Mary-of-the-Woods College in Indiana.

The theme, "You Can Take It With You" features college fashions, noted for packability, from a Terre Haute department store. (10CC

At Madison

Pamela K. Tietze, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Tietze, 1364 S. Brockway, Palatine, is among 59 students of the University of Wisconsin who have been awarded sophomore honors for excellence of work in their studies in the university's college of letters and science.

To be awarded sophomore honors a student must take a minimum of 20 of his 58 underclass credits in the humanities, three in social studies, and three in the physical or biological sciences and earn a grade of A or B in them. He must also maintain a general grade-point average of at least 3.0. (10CC

At Southern Illinois

Les Truelsen, a graduate student in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences majoring in biological sciences, was named to the Deans List for scholastic achievement during the fall quarter at Southern Illinois University. He made a 5-point (perfect) grade average during his last term as an undergraduate.

Truelsen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Truelsen of 300 W. Circle Dr., Prospect Heights. His father is an interior decorator. Truelsen graduated from Prospect High School.

While at Southern, Truelsen was a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, social fraternity, Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary fraternity and is currently resident manager of his residence hall.

In his spare time, he likes to participate in athletics. After graduation, Truelsen would like to sell chemicals.

Truelsen has been on the Dean's List six times and gives this advice to students wishing to make high grades: "study."

Greek Week

Catherine Crockett, 638 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights, will serve on the interim committee and participate in the planning of the annual Greek Week at Iowa State University in Ames.

Greek Week will feature a service project, conferences on problems of mutual interest to the Greek community, speakers and social events. The observance by sororities and fraternities will take place from March 30 through April 2. (10CC

At Illinois Wesleyan

Paula Bloomquist, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Bloomquist, 2102 Verde Dr., Arlington Heights, was elected president of the pledge class for Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority at Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Illinois.

A total of 88 girls were pledged at five sororities on the Wesleyan campus. This is an increase of 22 per cent over the number of students pledged in 1964.

Alpha Omicron Pi was established at Barnard College in New York City in 1897. Beta Lambda Chapter on the Wesleyan campus was chartered in 1956.

National College Summer School

A new Summer School schedule of two five-week sessions is being introduced this summer at National College of Education, Evanston-Wilmette, Illinois, and will include several new classes in a wide range of subjects.

These new terms from June 20-July 22, and July 25-Aug. 26, are part of the quarter system at the College begun in September 1965 when the new liberal arts curriculum in the undergraduate school was instituted at the opening of the eightieth year of the College.

DR. K. RICHARD Johnson, president of the College, has announced that Dr. Lewis Troyer, NCE dean of instruction, will direct the Summer School, as he has for several years.

Known as the oldest independent college for the preparation of elementary school teachers, National College in Summer School 1966 will offer professional courses as well as classes in the liberal arts and sciences. Both graduate and undergraduate courses will be available.

At Missouri Military

Cadet William Martino of Arlington Heights has been cited for his superior scholastic work during the fifth grading period at Missouri Military Academy Junior School, Mexico.

The M.M.A. Junior School is the Academy's separate department for boys in grades six through eight.

Major Derrill Kuhlman, principal, announced that Martino, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Martino, 519 South Rammer Avenue, scored two honor points.

Missouri Military is essentially a college preparatory school, with cadets sectioned for honors, medium and minimal academic work. Enrolled at M.M.A are 325 cadets in grades six through twelve.

Student Teachers

During the first nine weeks of the second semester, Illinois State University students at Normal are engaged in student teaching in elementary and high schools throughout Illinois.

Patricia Kist, 8 Glenbrook, Prospect Heights, has a mathematics assignment in the Lanphier High School in Springfield.

Jerry Barton, 1003 Manor, Streamwood, is located in the Limestone Communtiy High School, teaching social science.

Assigned to the Metcalf Elementary School on the ISU campus are Donna Adams, 112 W. Sunset, Mount Prospect, teaching third grade; Vicki MacIntyre, 809 N. Mrs. Barnette graduated in the class of 1961 at Roanoke.

Sunny Valentine Day Skies Carry Hint of Springtime

As Valentine's Day approached, and spurred on by the burst of warm weather of last week, this reporter hurried out to purchase spring floral arrangements in anticipation of an early end to winter. Today, with the valentines sent and delivered, it snowed again, and with the coming of the fluffy white stuff, thoughts of blooming flowers and trees that actually have leaves went out the window, hopefully to be revived in the not too distant future, when springtime has, in reality, arrived.

A Valentine birthday girl, Dawn Bankert, observed her fifth birthday at an early celebration, held Saturday in the home of her parents, the Marlin Bankerts, 116 S. Dunton. The little miss entertained six friends with whom she played games, exchanged valentines and enjoyed an unusual "ballerina" birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Driscoll, 728 S. Vail, enjoyed a mid-winter vacation in Florida recently, spending their two weeks of relaxation at Lauderdale-by-the-Sea.

NORMAN BARNES of Schenectady, N. Y., was a weekend visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Barnes, 19 N. Dryden. Before leaving Sunday evening by plane for California, he was also entertained at the home of his brother and family, the Harold Barneses of Barrington Hills, former Arlington Heights residents.

Mrs. A. J. Hitchcock of Chattanooga, Tenn., arrived here Friday for a two-week visit at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Daniel Musser, 28 S. State Road.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dotts, 501 W. Miner, had as their house-guest last week, the latter's sister, Mrs. Edward Rowley of Saddle River, N. J. A dinner party was given in her honor Thursday evening at the Anvil Club in Dundee by Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Bowen and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, all of Arlington Heights.

Susan, daughter of the William Grashorns, 817 S. Walnut, was guest of honor at a family dinner at Hackneys, complete with birthday cake, on Feb. 10 in celebration of her 15th birthday. Susan then spent the weekend with other members of the youth group from the First Methodist Church at a winter retreat near Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Wolf, 119 Pear Tree Lane, recently received the good news that their son, James, a junior at the University of Illinois, has been named to the dean's list.

SATURDAY WAS the long awaited "night out" for the bridge group whose members are the Henry Wists, Carl Benruds, William Plambecks, Paul Weinrichs, Neal Hawkins and the Ralph Raymonds. For the annual event, funds in the "kitty" are used to finance the evening's entertainment. This year the members enjoyed dinner at the Millionaires' Club in Chicago, after which they returned to the Hawkins' home.

Tom Mueller, 110 S. Vail, spent the weekend at home, returning to resume his junior pre-med studies at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, on Sunday. He was accompanied on his visit by John Kline of Marengo, Iowa. Tom and his family, the Leo Muellers, used the occasion of his visit to hold an advanced celebration of his March 8 birthday, when he will be 21.

Dr. William T. Jones, 1309 Leona Terr., left by plane Jan. 30 for Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he visited his sister, Mrs. Shellie Paris. In St. Petersburg, he visited his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Jones, and then traveled to Bradenton to visit former members of the church he served in Venedocia, Ohio. Dr. Jones returned home Feb. 6.

OUR HIGH SCHOOL seniors are now in the process of making up their minds about college and Donald Strathearn, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Strathearn of 720 Bristol, will fly to DePauw University at Greencastle, Ind., this weekend to see how he likes that school. He will stay at a fraternity house and attend classes, lectures and a dance to get a first hand view of college life. This will be honors weekend at DePauw and qualified high school seniors will spend a get-acquainted weekend there.

"It was a bit cool for swimming, but fine for golf," declared Mrs. Walter Strobel when asked about her recent trip to the Bahama Islands. Mr. and Mrs. Strobel of 1319 Mayfair spent 11 days relaxing with friends at the Lucayon Hotel at Grand Bahama Island. At least they missed the sub-zero weather here.

WITHOUT THE block hostesses we couldn't do a thing in the Stonegate Assn. according to Mrs. Chet Raasch of 420 Windsor. Recently 30 of these block hostesses were honored at a Sunday afternoon tea in her home.

It was sort of a pep party for the Stonegate Association dance which will be held Feb. 26 at Rolling Green Country Club. The hostesses on the blocks can tell everyone about the dance and get that many more out.

Bruce Rassmussen, a former resident of Stonegate and still living in Arlington Heights, is the first president of a new Stonegate Alumni Assoc. and he promises to bring a full table of couples who have been Stonegate residents to the dance.

GEORGE WILLIAMS College Camp at Lake Geneva was the scene of a fun weekend for a number of young people of the Methodist church. Vicki Auer, 410 S. Windsor, wws among them. It was much colder there, so all who brought skates could use them.

Heidi Schwank, 526 Dryden, celebrated her sixth birthday with a party in her home. Playing records and doing the latest dances were Jenilli Stemple, Mary Ward, Susie Hinton, Bill Grabitz, Paul Brinkworth, Scott Troani and Karen Thomas.

It was a fun party and all the youngsters declared they liked the dancing as much as the regular games of pin the tail on the donkey or dropping clothespins in a bottle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stevens, 602 Lynden, had as visitors from Dayton for a short time recently, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Marlow. They were only there for a few hours, as they were visiting close friends in Rolling Meadows, but "Kayo," as Carol is called, was a classmate of Mr. Stevens. Mrs. Marlow and Mrs. Stevens were nurses, so they had much to talk about while their husbands renewed old times.

CAROL CASHION, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cashion of 628 S. Arlington Heights Road, spent a week of her vacation relaxing and swimming at the Grand Bahama Islands. She will spend another week in Nassau before returning to the Florida mainland and home.

"Wish that she might have put me in her pocket," laughed her mother. "She's having a wonderful time and what a nice change for a dull February."

Missing out on the cold weather was the Frank Scarpelli family of 500 Pine. They took their three pre-school children on a trip to Hollywood, Fla. Frank, Jennifer and Susan along with their parents, rented an apartment right on the beach and enjoyed a family vacation together.

"Nothing really very exciting," declared Mrs. Ted Skiermanski of 125 Burton. "But we did spend a full day on an outing with Kathy, Scotty and Susie at Lake Geneva, sledding, skating and eating meals out."

A GROUP OF Stonegate women made up a table to attend the luncheon and fashion show for the benefit of Northwest Suburban Illinois Children's Home and Aid at Jacques Restaurant on N. Michigan in Chicago. In on the fun day were Joyce Carpenter, Virginia Gutman, Mrs. Chester Raasch, Mrs. Bruning and Mrs. John Hickox.

John Shelley, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shelley, 350 Derbyshire, was Illinois attorney general for the day when 33 Eagle Scouts filled all the government positions as a part of Scout Week across the nation. Each boy was hosted by an Illinois official at a grand banquet at the Leland Hotel in Springfield. "The parents were invited to attend the banquet too," said Mrs. Shelley. (A

Modern Etiquette

Q. Is it proper for the bridegroom to hand the clergyman his fee for the wedding?

A. While not exactly improper, the usual procedure is for the bridegroom to allow his best man to take care of this.

VIRGINIA TERRACE

The Ronald Landrys, 1418 N. Race, traveled to Chicago Sunday for the baptism of their nephew. Mary Ann was a sponsor for her sister's child, Richard Francis Koch, at St. James Church in Chicago. The Landrys then attended a party hosted by the Kochs in their apartment on the campus of IIT.

Werner and Leona Becker, 1440 N. Race, report that they have a new granddaughter, Kathryn Becker, born Feb. 9 to the Ronald Beckers of Joliet. Kathryn's brother, Ron, stayed with his grandparents while his mother was in the hospital. He returned to Joliet Tuesday.

On Feb. 6, June Ziegler, daughter of the Bill Zieglers, 1243 N. Chicago, was 8. She celebrated at a party on Saturday attended by Cathy Weber, Ginger Griffin, Debbie Ann Kanyuh, Karen Peterson, Diane Stanley, Gay Wuestenseld, "Dede" Smith, Cindy Pendleton, Jeannie Larson and June's sister, Jane.

THE TERRACE was well represented at "Candles and Creations," the Ridge School PTA annual fashion show and card party, Friday night. Modeling in the fashion show were Pat Ross and daughter, Cindy, and Mary Maybee and daughter, Debbie. Others attending were Kay Roden, Mary Soby, Rosemary Shellander, Brenda Crawford, Jan Munn, Gail Israel, Dolores Simpson, Clorinda Roberts, Julia Gross, Marilyn Schmidt, Diane Peterson, Karen Walters and Sally Kruse.

A weekend at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton was enjoyed by Don and Ann Kennedy, 1425 N. Chicago, last weekend. The Kennedys went with six other couples, all college friends. Swimming, bowling and skating were some of the activities the couples found enjoyable.

Wednesday night Bill and Olive Balow, 1424 N. Illinois, with some business friends of Bill, went out to dinner in the city and then saw Carol Channing in "Hello Dolly."

Weekend guests of Hugh and Phyllis Bredenbeck, 1706 W. Oakton, were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Drews of Orinda, Calif. They became friends when the Bredenbecks lived in California.

To celebrate their wedding anniversary, Larry and Jane Lincoln, 1322 N. Illinois, went to Nielsen's for smorgasbord and then to the Blackstone Theatre, where they saw Myrna Loy in "Barefoot in the Park." Friday night the Lincolns saw the movie, "My Fair Lady."

Al and Rosemary Shellander and four children, 1716 W. Olive, traveled to Lake Geneva on Sunday to visit Rosemary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jonas. They enjoyed an early celebration of Mrs. Jonas' Feb. 15 birthday. Also present was Rosemary's sister and family, the David Floods of Fond du Lac.

FRIDAY NIGHT Jim and Ruth Stevens, 1333 N. Illinois, with Cicero friends, Mr. and Mrs. George Lanegraff, went out to celebrate the Stevens' wedding anniversary. They had dinner at George Diamond's, went to China Town and then to the Lanegraff home.

Jack and Pat Kolle, 1511 Clarendon, went to a dinner-dance Saturday night at Allegretti's. The event was sponsored by Commonwealth Edison.

Bill Poole, 1329 N. Chicago, enjoyed two celebrations in honor of his birthday last week. On Feb. 6, Bill, his wife, Dee, and sons, Jeffrey and Steven, went to the home of Bill's parents, the J. E. Pooles, where a dinner party was given in honor of Bill and his father, who both have Feb. 9 birthdays. Dee's parents, the Paul E. Reicherts, and her brother and wife, the Ronald Reicherts of Joliet, and Bill's sister and husband, the John Carlsons of the Terrace, were also present.

On Feb. 9, the two Poole families, the Carlsons and Bill's aunt and uncle, the Donald Houses, had dinner at the Elks to celebrate the birthdays.

On Feb. 6, Bill and Freya Jones and children, Mara, Matthew and Deirdre, 1227 N. Illinois, went to Chicago to the home of Bill's parents, the George Wilhelms, to celebrate Bill's father's birthday.

Dinner at the Milk Pail, near Elgin, was enjoyed Sunday by Richard and Ruth Frost, 1302 N. Illinois and John and Bonnie Carlson, 1327 N. Illinois. With them were the John Browns and Grant Prathers of Arlington and the Bill Jacobsens of Elk Grove. After dining the five couples returned to the Carlsons'.

LEO AND KATHY Martin and children, Babette and Steve, 1107 N. Wilke, visited Leo's mother, Mrs. Romayne Martin, in Chicago Monday evening.

Traveling to Gurnee for dinner at the Rustic Manor Saturday night were Jack and Debbie Gleeson, 1239 N. Illinois, and Evanston friends, the Ron Kleins.

Vicki Gleeson spent the weekend in Wilmette visiting her grandparents, the W. E. Gleesons.

Don and Mina Shields, 1256 N. Race, had dinner at Willow Manor in Naperville Saturday night to celebrate Mina's birthday. Accompanying them were Naperville friends, the Donald Miltons.

Joe and Estelle Kaspryzak and son, Gary, 1219 N. Wilke, went to Chicago on Sunday to the home of Joe's mother, Mrs. Catherine Bachara, to celebrate Joe's birthday. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Mrs. Dexter Ashbrook, 416 S. Forrest, was a busy hostess over a long anticipated weekend which she enjoyed as much as her guests: her husband's mother, Mrs. Otto Ashbrook of Bloomington; a sister-in-law Mrs. James Ashbrook of Washington, Ill.; and a cousin, Mrs. Lewis Lanphier of Mattoon. Plans for the "all-girl" weekend, while husbands took over baby sitting chores, included an afternoon of shopping at Long Grove, a performance of "Hello Dolly" and dinner at George Diamond's in Chicago.

Kevin Knudson, 413 S. Phelps, received congratulations on his Feb. 12 birthday at a family party Friday evening, where he shared birthday honors with a cousin, Mike Reynoldson of Chicago. Guests for cake and coffee were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wollschlaeger of Chicago, and a host of aunts, uncles and cousins.

Kevin's most prized birthday gift came from his mother in the form of Siamese Fighting Fish to be added to his tropical fish collection, a hobby to which Kevin devotes all his spare time.

A SUCCESSION OF celebrations marked the observance of Julie Dombrow's Feb. 8 birthday, starting with a dinner party a week ago Sunday at the home of an aunt and uncle in Chicago. At this dinner, Julie was co-guest of honor with a cousin also observing a birthday, but the dinner at home the following Tuesday was all for the 8-year-old, as was the party for school and neighborhood friends Saturday afternoon. Guests who enjoyed party refreshments and games at the Dombrow home, 428 S. Prindle, were Kari Knutsen, Cathy Hanson, Christine Miller and Mary Draguesku.

Missing from the family celebration of Julie's birthday Tuesday was her brother, Greg, who recently entered military service and is temporarily stationed at Ft. Polk, La.

Dick Truelove, son of the Edward Trueloves, 532 S. Phelps, entered the service with Greg Dombrow, and is also stationed at Ft. Polk for basic training.

Two Arlington Acres couples who sentimentally chose Valentine's Day to be married are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Donovan, 524 S. Prindle, and both were married 13 years Monday.

THE KNUTSENS celebrated Saturday by having dinner at Shanghai Lil's in Chicago. The original plans were to see "Hello Dolly" but they fell through because of the scarcity of tickets. However, the Knutsens have since been able to get tickets, so that part of the celebration will follow next month.

The Donovans celebrated their big day as a family, and took their children, Kevin and Kelly, to dinner with them at Mangam's on Beverly Lake.

No 3-year-old received more attention than Becki Ann Shure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shure, 413 S. Prindle, did at her Feb. 12 birthday party, held Sunday afternoon. Joining the Shures for cake and ice cream were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sulo Hokkanen of Wildwood, and Mr. and Mrs. John Shure and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Lydia Fisher, of Broadview.

THE GUEST LIST for Chris Mc Ardle's fifth birthday party was limited, but the merriment wasn't when Bruce Richardson, Kenny Alvin, Doug Hoffman, Julianne Mertes and Chris' brother, Joey, got together at the Mc Ardle home Saturday afternoon. Cake and ice cream were served, and there were games with prizes and favors for everyone.

Chris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mc Ardle, 536 S. Phelps.

Diane and Denise Roy, 14-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. David Roy, 425 S. Prindle, marked their Feb. 10 birthday at a quiet family dinner at home. Both girls are making plans for slumber parties to be given in the near future. Plans will be completed when they decide whether the house can withstand both parties on the same weekend.

The Fran Conways, 513 S. Prindle, and close friends, the Robert Tates of Arlington Heights, got together a week ago Saturday and celebrated Eunice Conway's Feb. 9 birthday over dinner at the Encore in Park Ridge. Both couples were accompanied by their children.

A HAPPY BIRTHDAY was wished to Mrs. Richard Byrnes, 437 S. Phelps, Tuesday of last week, at an evening party at the home of Mrs. A. E. Dassonville, 428 S. Phelps. Hostess, guest of honor and more than a dozen well wishing guests are members of a neighborhood birthday club and get together for cake, coffee and the presentation of a gift on the occasion of each member's birthday.

Congratulations and best wishes for many more happy years together go to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barlow, 424 S. Phelps, who were married 23 years Feb. 11. (A

The Way We See It

War on Litter Is Needed in Suburbs

Many suburbs have a bad litter problem that is not being dealt with effectively.

To some extent, this deplorable situation is a switch from the past, when big cities had the reputation of being litter storehouses while the suburbs and small towns boasted neat-and-clean images.

Litter cancels out all the efforts to beautify a town. It is harmful and costly in many specific ways.

It discourages new businesses or industries from locating in a town.

It keeps customers away from the stores.

It spoils people's enjoyment of their parks.

It makes a town less desirable to potential home buyers.

It induces tourists to keep on driving.

It causes accidents on streets and highways.

It contributes to lake and stream pollution.

It breeds rats.

It causes fire hazards.

It costs lots of money to clean up.

And the list could be even longer.

The bywords of litter prevention are the so-called "Three E's": education, equipment, and enforcement.

Education has been a prime factor in curbing litter. The slogan "Every Litter Bit Hurts" and the epithet "Litterbug" have been sharp educational weapons. Education is indispensable in every anti-litter campaign.

Equipment means providing enough receptacles, litter bags, and whatever else is needed to dispose of the host of throwaway items so characteristic of contemporary life.

Enforcement means passing anti-litter laws and making them stick by meting out penalties that demand respect.

The battle against litter would be a worthwhile campaign for community councils and civic organizations.

In towns where litter is a problem, civic groups should get together with municipal and school officials, police and fire departments, conservation and garden clubs, and Chamber of Commerce spokesmen. The resulting exchange of ideas would suggest many simple steps that could be taken immediately to improve the situation.

Beyond that, such a meeting could muster the enthusiasm and widespread volunteer effort needed to lick the problem. It could provide the impetus to put education, equipment and enforcement to work.

It's time to declare war on litter.

For Better Health

We are watching attentively efforts to establish a health board in Niles Township.

Such a township board would merge the existing municipal health boards of the villages of Skokie, Morton Grove, Lincolnwood and Niles.

Niles Township Supervisor John Nimrod says if local health boards consolidate, the new board can provide health services not now being offered by any of them.

"Should the local boards become part of the township health board," Nimrod declares, "the people of Niles Township would end up with more medical services and for the same amount of money they are paying now."

Under the proposal, villages would contribute to the township health board budget on a per capita basis.

What of villages which overlap township boundaries, as most of them do? The township health board would provide the same services to all residents of participating villages. In fact, Glenview, which is outside Niles Township, is considering contracting for services if the proposed board is established, and probably would be invited to join.

An additional advantage of such a board is that it would receive state health funds, amounting to 30 cents a person, which now go to Cook County. Nimrod says these funds are now not being used to best advantage because the county doesn't have facilities needed to carry out a comprehensive health program.

For this reason, among others, county officials support formation of a Niles Township health board. Support has also come from state officials and the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago.

The Niles Township proposal may be the right answer for other townships and villages in comparable situations. It merits close attention.

Hope for the Future

The political party with the loftiest ideals and soundest platform is lifeless and impotent unless it can gain widespread voter support. The best candidate for public office or the most worthwhile public program will never have a chance unless backed by a strong political organization. The strength of a party flows directly from its local organization.

In recent years, there has been a general "renaissance" of the two major parties at the township level. Most of this dynamic "let's get organized" effort has come from the younger, more energetic new faces in the party.

This has been especially evident in Wheeling Township, where retiring Republican committeeman Thomas J. Houser, 35, has appointed Richard Cowen, 30, as deputy committeeman. Vying for Houser's seat in the June 14 primary will be State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, 36, and Thomas W. Novotny, 37. Incumbent Democratic committeeman James Stavros, 35, will be seeking re-election.

In Palatine Township, incumbent Democratic committeeman Oliver Dilks is being challenged by Richard Mugalian, 43, and John R. Rafferty, 36, Jack Ewen, 37, has announced his candidacy for Schaumburg Township Democratic committeeman, and on the Republican side incumbent Jesse Lehman, 42, faces a contest with Michael F. Bartnett, 37.

The hope for the future lies with young men who are working to upgrade the character of suburban politics by instilling new integrity and fresh vigor into old-time political machinery.

Critic's Corner

'Bad Taste' Masquerades

By HESTER KLINE
Staff Writer

Pop culture is an enigma to me.

I can read its message of a frantic search for security in this terrifying impermanent world, but that is not to say that I can find artistic merit in much of the literature, music or art which is being produced in masses.

So unappreciative am I that I almost wrote "messes."

I can go along with a gag — and I strongly suspect that sculpture, paintings and other art forms that resemble nothing so much as the products of pre-schoolers are done as spoofs by talented artists who have a good deep belly-laugh when their work is praised by critics.

And I can listen to dissonance in serious modern music or the current pop beat without too obvious a grimace.

BUT THE OBSESSION with exhibiting poor taste in print—here I draw the line.

I guess I'm teed off about a book I picked up at the library the other day. Nicely bound, with an attractively designed dust jacket, it purported to be a historical novel of medieval times.

I settled down pleasurably to read it. On the very first page my stomach was turned by a vivid description of a rather natural physical disturbance. And throughout there were passages describing ordinary body functions. These crudities added nothing to the story except length. They weren't even shocking, merely boring.

The author probably prides himself that he added realism to his novel.

Art is a constant search for realism, for an expression of life so true that it satisfies the soul.

Traditionally art (and I mean the genre, art in all its forms) has been contemporarily reviled.

HIGHLY CREATIVE people have stars in their eyes. Their deeper insight gives them the ability to put into words, music, art, the essence that we average mortals overlook.

It is usually in retrospect that their works are called great.

While some bits and pieces of pop culture may withstand the test of time, I harbor a nagging suspicion that most of it is trash, produced by psuedo-artists wearing halloween masks or even death masks.

Although their works are intended as a commentary on this frenetic era, a commentary both sad and true, nonetheless there seems to be no justification for exhibiting execrably bad taste.

THERE MIGHT be some justification if it was even ribaldly funny, but the wit is hard and empty. There is no happiness behind the laughter.

Pop culture seems to be merely a cult of ugliness, and the uglier the more camp.

The most heartening fact about it is that it appears to be of a transitory nature — what is camp today is old hat tomorrow.

Behind the Headlines

The Utility Tax Issue

by JACK NEUKOM
Staff Writer

There are three major areas in which Illinois municipalities can raise funds for their governmental operations — increase property taxes, lobby for a raise in the sales tax, or adopt a tax on their local utilities.

With property owners already bearing the brunt of the tax load, more and more cities in the state are looking for new avenues to bring in additional revenue. Many officials are hopefully looking towards the state legislature to tack on one per cent to the state sales tax, thereby raising the municipalities' share to a full penny for each dollar spent instead of the present half cent.

NEUKOM

But there's one levy that city and village officials have known about at least since 1955, although the law has been on the books since 1941, but few have adopted. It's a tax on gross receipts of certain public utilities.

CHAPTER 24, section 8-11-2, of the Illinois Statutes, gives "corporate authorities of any municipality" the power to tax any or all of the following occupations or privileges:

Persons transmitting messages by electricity (telephone, telegraph), and persons distributing, supplying, furnishing or selling gas, electricity or water. The law limits the tax to "five per cent of gross profits."

To emphasize how slow or cautious officials have been to get on the utility tax bandwagon, only about 100 cities out of more than 1,200 in the state have imposed such a tax on utilities operating within their respective city limits.

The list ranges from the small town of London Mills (1960 population: 170) situated west of Peoria that collected $275 from utilities in 1964, to Cook County's own behemoth, Chicago, where $15 million was dropped in the coffers from a maximum five per cent tax on all utilities.

CITIES AND TOWNS that do derive operating capital by taxing utilities are listed in the Statewide Summary of Municipal Finance in Illinois put out by the office of Michael J. Howlett, auditor of public accounts. The latest edition available is for the fiscal year ending in 1964.

Des Plaines garnered $12,799, according to the 1964 figures. A check with Des Plaines officials revealed the total was for a franchise tax the city levies against the Mid States Telephone Co., and was not a true utility tax.

Farther from the area, but still within northeast Illinois, are Carol Stream, population 836, which collected $30,530, and Lake-In-The-Hills, population 2,046, which took in $12,274.

LINCOLNWOOD, with 11,744 residents, collected $364,907, a considerable amount for such a small population. Other utility tax totals revealed by Howlett's finance summary were: Zion, population 11,941, $96,402; Hinsdale, 12,859 population, $400; North Chicago, 20,517, $201,536; Maywood, 27,330, $41,889; Park Ridge, 32,659, $25,060.

In the last quarter of 1965, several Chicago area suburbs passed ordinances calling for collection of a tax from utilities. These include Evanston, Oak Park, Niles, Maywood, Lyons and Flossmoor. Rosemont added to an ordinance already imposing a tax on utilities that brought in $23,915 in 1964.

Suburbs seriously considering the tax are Berwyn, Chicago Heights, Highland Park, Lake Forest and Winnetka. But these don't complete the list, by any means.

The "take" from a municipal utility tax could be very high, with many of the larger cities collecting over $500,000 a year, and some closer to $1 million. Utility tax revenues go into the general fund, and do not have to be earmarked for any particular operation.

MOUNT PROSPECT and Arlington Heights officials said they have talked about the utility tax law, but the proposal has never been before a board meeting. Dan Congreve, Mount Prospect village president, said he felt such a tax would "be unfair to the taxpayer," and would be double taxation.

L. A. Hanson, Arlington Heights village manager, thought just the opposite, saying, "It's fairer more than any other form of taxation. It covers everyone, including apartment dwellers."

In Wheeling, Ted Scanlon, village president, said the proposal to levy a utility tax is now in committee. "We're exploring all avenues of bringing in revenue," and have even gone to the trouble of asking area villages what they are doing on the subject, he said.

VILLAGE PRES. William Farrington of Buffalo Grove reported an ordinance "imposing a maximum tax of five per cent" for two years on utilities operating in the village is now in committee, but will soon be before the board of trustees. The tax is being proposed in order to "gain revenue for operation of the police department," Farrington said.

When a similar ordinance was defeated in Buffalo Grove in 1961, the police department resigned en masse, the village president said, but they later returned, he said.

"Every year around budget time" such a tax is considered in Elk Grove Village, according to George Majoros, village manager, "but never too seriously."

"We have a little different situation in Elk Grove Village," Majoros pointed out. "We have a large industrial park and are trying to attract more industry. We're more interested in assessed valuation than a utility tax," he said.

"I DON'T KNOW of any municipality that doesn't need additional revenue, but where do you stop?" was what Richard Jenisch, Addison village administrator, said. "Addison has never considered such a tax, as far as I know," he said.

"There's a little inequity in such a tax in that you are taxing the large user to subsidize governmental operations," was the way Robert L. Brunton, city manager of Elgin, put it.

Brunton, well known in the field of public administration, said Elgin officials had been asked by the city's Industrial Development Commission to refrain from imposing any tax on the city's utilities, because it would "hinder them in their search for new industries for the city."

"But, with the increased cost of government, you can't continually take it from the property owner. This would be one way of trying to get around yearly property tax increases," Brunton said.

IN ILLINOIS, a state which does not have constitutional provisions respecting municipal home rule, the feeling is that cities are creatures of the legislature and therefore wholly dependent on legislative enactments, especially in the realm of taxing powers.

The state has given municipalities the power to levy a utility tax, but 90 per cent of them, or more, have failed to take advantage of the power. Instead they have stuck to the time-tested theory of going to the real estate owner for additional revenues, or wistfully looking towards the state sales tax to engender enough money to pay rising operating costs.

What's the one big reason cities seem to fix the idea of a utility tax with a glassy stare? That's easy. They don't want a little item to appear on a resident's utility bill: "For payment of 5 per cent tax imposed by city officials. . . ."

The Aggressive Diners

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

Some patrons of fashionable restaurants consider it important to be seated at the right table.

Thus, a report on the New York restaurant scene notes that at The Colony, "some back tables in the bar are considered to belong to certain regulars" and at La Caravelle, "there is what is known as the Royal Station; tables just inside the entrance that are more or less reserved for such patrons as Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Mrs. William Woodward Sr., widow of a multimillionaire sportsman, and Mrs. James H. Van Alen, whose husband is head of Newport's Casino and Tennis Hall of Fame."

CUMMINS

You can imagine the competition that goes on to be seated at one of the back tables in the bar, or at the Royal Station. The facts are deeply disturbing to all men of good will.

WE KNOW there have been cases of naked aggression against these choice tables. In some cases, maitre d's have had to call on waiter reinforcements to repel the aggressors, at the cost of heavy casualties. In one restaurant, the maitre d' suffered third degree burns when a tureen of hot cream of celery soup was thrown in his face.

Some patrons with covetous eyes for the Royal Station have used the tactics of internal subversion. They have planted their people in the kitchens and pantries of the great restaurants, where these agents work quietly, peeling potatoes and stirring sauces, but all the time planning the big Royal Station take-over.

Some headwaiters are scornful of colleagues who make concessions to nouveau riche social climbers.

"AGGRESSION must be stopped at its source," declares Victor, headwaiter at a plush after-theatre spot. "That was the lesson of Munich.

"If they are allowed to take over one table at the Royal Station, the others would fall like a stack of dominoes."

Victor's thinking has gained wide acceptance in restaurant circles, where it is known as The Domino Theory.

OTHERS FEEL that while forceful means must be used to repel aggression, steps should also be taken to ameliorate the unhappy lot of many restaurant patrons.

Maurice, a veteran maitre d' at distinguished French restaurants, is spokesman for this point of view. "Nothing can be solved by 'bouncing' patrons onto the sidewalk," he said. "We can achieve lasting victory only if we win their hearts and minds."

Diners whose meals have been disturbed by seating quarrels fear the dispute may escalate into a dangerous conflict, with hard rolls being used as weapons. Consequently they are anxious to bring the parties to the conference table.

VICTOR HOTLY rejects this, saying, "I will not seat these people until they end their aggression."

Maurice, however, favors reducing the commitment to hold the Royal Station to a few easily defended enclaves near the kitchen.

"The social climbers have limitless manpower resources," he points out. "It would be fatal to become involved in an 'open-ended' conflict over fringe tables near the washrooms."

Maurice's idea is known as The Enclave Theory.

The Domino Theory vs. The Enclave Theory. Which will prevail? The chances of future generations to eat their lunch in peace and quiet may depend on the outcome.

At Signal School

PVT. JAKUBEC

Pvt. Stephen M. Jakubec, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen M. Jakubec, Sr., Itasca, was today enrolled in the U. S. Army Signal School for fourteen weeks' intensive training as a radio technician.

He is a 1964 graduate of Lake Park High School.

Admission to the Signal School is limited to men of outstanding promise. Classed as a technical institute, the school gives major training in the technologies of forty different types of electronic equipment, from radio and television sets to "electronic brains," also teaches meteorology and both motion-picture and still photography.

A yearly average of 6,800 enlisted men are admitted. All are among the Army's best in point of intelligence, educational attainments, and practical ability. Over 90 per cent are high school graduates or better. Over 21 per cent have attended engineering school or college.

The Signal School courses vary in length. They qualify the enlisted student for greater responsibilities within the Army and, incidentally, equip him for high-level technical work after leaving the Army.

At Air Academy

Cadet Eugene A. Rose III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Rose Jr., of 631 Burno Drive, Palatine, has been named to the Superintendent's Merit List at the U. S. Air Force Academy.

Cadet Rose, a member of the class of '68, will wear a special silver star and wreath insignia on his sleeve in recognition of his outstanding academic and military achievement.

The cadet is a 1964 graduate of Palatine Township High School.

At Ft. Knox

Two privates from Palatine, Robert T. Fleming and Jerome A. Schur, completed a food service course at the Army training center, Ft. Knox, Ky.

During the eight-week course, they were trained in the preparation and serving of food in military kitchens and in the field. The fifth and sixth weeks were spent obtaining "on-the-job" training in an Army mess hall.

Fleming, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Fleming, 296 S. Elm, was graduated from Palatine High School in 1964.

Schur, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Schur, 337 S. Hale St., was graduated from Palatine High School in 1962.

On USS Eldorado

Fireman Apprentice Robert Macko, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Macko of 524 W. Center, Itasca, has completed a goodwill visit to Bangkok, Thailand, while serving as a crewmember aboard the amphibious force flagship USS Eldorado, now back at Subic Bay, the Philippines.

He has opportunities to visit the city's Royal Palace, the Temple of the Emeral Buddha, the Royal Barges and the Temple of Dawn.

The Eldorado's visit was designed to promote goodwill and further friendly relations between the United States and Thailand. The visit also familiarized the crew with the waters in which they cruise, and with the customs and cultures of the people of Thailand.

At Keesler AFB

Airman Gerald E. Cassidy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cassidy of 22W115 Lake St., Addison, Ill., has been selected for technical training at Keesler AFB, Miss., as a U. S. Air Force communications-electronics specialist.

Airman Cassidy recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. His new school is part of the Air Training Command which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically-trained personnel for the nation's aerospace force.

The airman is a 1964 graduate of Glenbard West High School, Glen Ellyn.

VFW Leader Urges Support Of LBJ Policies in Viet Nam

To many people who think we have no place in these countries far from our shores. This is not true. It is our place and duty to help these people in Viet Nam for two reasons.

1. These small countries have not the equipment to defend themselves against enemies from within or from without. The communistic principles are to control small units in different parts of the world and at the right time unite the small groups into a larger unit and then proceed to take over another smaller group, just like mould on bread until all the bread is spoiled. Communism is dictatorship, and dictatorship has to continue to control the masses and to continue to move into other areas for expansion and indoctrination of communism. This is why we are in Viet Nam.

2. Viet Nam is today's Far East outpost. This we have to maintain. If this small country is lost we do not have a safe place for our Far Eastern fleet, air fields and a stepping off place for our troops, (remember Pearl Harbor) for the protection of Hawaii, Guam, and other Pacific holdings. These we have to protect to protect our western shores. This is a must if you and I want to live in a free country. This is going to be done come hell or high water. This is why our boys are in Viet Nam (God bless them all).

This, my good, true, blue-blooded Americans, who wish to live in a free, healthy, good wage-earning country, the Land of Plenty. The highest wages and not the highest taxes in the world (even though sometimes we think so), the land in which we can think, and speak our own mind. This is why our boys are in Viet Nam.

With all these freedoms and privileges which we have had handed down to us by our forefathers, I, as Commander of Tioga Post 2149, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, do urge you to support President Lyndon Johnson's policy in the Viet Nam War.

Police Thanked For Solving Store Burglary

We want to express our appreciation for the fine police work and prompt action displayed by the police of Arlington Heights in their apprehension of persons that committed the kidnapping and burglary at Monaco Rexall Drugs.

We have every confidence in this department that has many responsibilities, including the protection, investigation and enforcement of the law. We want you to know this. We want the citizens of Arlington Heights to know how great it is to feel safe. We are very proud to be a part of Arlington Heights.

We also wish to take this opportunity to congratulate the people of Arlington Heights and their Police Department. With warmest best wishes that this Village shall continue to achieve and enjoy every success.

Arlingtones Called Asset To Community

Everyone can be very proud to have an organization such as the Arlingtones in this area.

Together with the young Arlingtots, they put on an excellent benefit program in behalf of the Northwest Suburban Council for Exceptional Children. Normally charging a fee for such a performance, they turned their fee back to the council. Their time and money is unestimable and their talent was greatly appreciated by the audience.

Anyone who missed the performance in the Wheeling High School last Sunday should resolve to hear this group at the next opportunity. Not every community is fortunate in having an Earl Auge who can bring out the best in ability in each individual who comes under his direction.

Criticizes Reporting of Mendez Fire

In your Feb. 10 issue, reporting the fire of the Mendez family, wish you could first get your facts straight and verified before submitting them for print.

Why use words such as "believed to be picking up, etc." or "reported head of the household." These are suppositions and in my view very derogatory. If you can't have a positive mental attitude in reporting, just give the facts of what you see at a fire.

You can see what damage can be done by irresponsible reporting from the recent Fohrman incident.

Why not print the persons names to contact to help this family. That would be constructive. Print the children's sizes for clothes, shoes, etc. Don't just tell us of a tragedy. Let us help them in their time of need.

Police Thanked For Help in Squirrel Case

A sincere thank you to the Itasca Police Department for coming to the aid of a housewife in distress. Two officers responded to a call within only a few minutes after I reported a squirrel running around loose in the kitchen.

They were most courteous and considerate—and got the squirrel out alive.

Chamber Head Pleased by Fenton Result

It is with much satisfaction that I see the public in the Fenton High School district act in unison and vote affirmatively for the recent school referendum.

While no one wishes his taxes to rise, the loss of the programs as outlined by the Citizens Advisory Committee working with the high school faculty, are worth many times the small additional cost.

Fenton can be justifiably proud of its extra curricular activities offered the students.

Many thanks for your excellent editorial support and that of your representative Pat Hensel.

PTA Dominance Feared in Wheeling Community Council

It has been brought to the attention of the Wheeling Junior Woman's Club that the Community Caucus has been acting in a manner which is not consistent with its by-laws.

Section 2, clause a, which states the number of delegates permitted each school in the district ends with: "At no time shall the PTA representatives exceed 50 per cent of total Caucus Membership."

At the start of the first meeting, of Jan. 19, over 50 per cent of the delegates were representatives of the PTA. Our alternate delegate tried to point this out to the Caucus, and finally raised a point of order.

Section 12 of Caucus By-Laws states, "Unless specifically stated in the by-laws, all other procedures shall be governed by Robert's Rules of Order." Robert's Rules, Revised, states in section 21 that questions of order take precedence, etc.

After raising the point of order, our alternate delegate was told by another delegate that "Rules are made to be broken." At this point, the vice-chairman, Mr. Masler, also tried to question the right of several of the delegates to be seated. He too was ignored, and another delegate was recognized and permitted to move that the 50 per cent rule be deleted for this time. This was seconded and carried, voting rights not being limited to only 50 per cent PTA delegates on the question.

We believe that this action has raised a serious doubt as to the validity of all the actions taken by the Caucus that evening and subsequently.

Once the Caucus had been brought into proper balance, it could have legally voted any provisions regarding percentages of delegates, etc. out of existence, according to section 11 of the by-laws, and the other PTA delegates could have been seated.

We believe that the original purpose of the 50 per cent rule, made in 1959, when there were only two schools in the district, was to keep Caucus a community group, and to prevent the PTA from having a too dominant voice and turning it into a PTA Caucus. As more schools are constructed in the district, (42 is the projected figure) more PTA's are organized.

Our purpose is not to criticize unjustly, but to try to make sure that Caucus will remain a respected entity within the community. (FP

Upset Mother Asks Measles Vaccine Action

I'm one citizen among many who is very upset about the article in the Feb. 3 issue of Paddock Publications concerning the measles vaccine the state has made available but is going unclaimed.

The fear of an epidemic as stated in the article has me very upset because of the complications the child could needlessly suffer.

One comment made in the article was the indifference of the citizens and with this I must disagree because of the very fact that the vaccine available by the state was unheard of by me and many others as far as our area is concerned until this article appeared.

I for one want this vaccine for the simple reason that is is our tax dollars the state used to purchase it.

I talked to many mothers and they too were upset by the thought that all this vaccine would spoil by April if not claimed and used.

The realization that clinics for a mass inoculation of a measles vaccine would take a lot of community cooperation both from the people and the doctors has been made known to me. May I ask though isn't it worth it to prevent an epidemic?

A discussion with two local doctors leads me to believe their unwillingness to accept the state vaccine is fear of socialized medicine. If so, shouldn't the fear of a severe epidemic be an exception, and their first concern be for the health of the community?

The parents must speak up and acquire the state vaccine, if not for themselves, at least for the families whose incomes are inadequate to pay the going fee of $10 a shot to private physicians.

Defends DeShane Against Charge Of Partisanship

Events during the week preceding the election of the first board of Junior College District 502 have left impressions which I would like to clarify.

The Citizens Committee for Securing a Junior College for DuPage County was constituted with representatives from the 10 high school districts to undertake the vast job of presenting the case for the college to the voters.

Once that was achieved, the committee felt it had the additional responsibility to help launch the college by working for a well-rounded board, balanced both as to talents and to geographic representation. To assure candidates with these qualifications, the committee met after the Dec. 4 referendum to function as a caucus group. Our goal was a positive one, not negative. It was to offer a fine slate to the voters, not to keep others out or to serve merely as a screening committee.

The steps which the committee took and the channels of information it used were fully open to other candidates.

The committee regrets the implication that County Supt. of Schools Roy DeShane gave partisan support in the election, because the efforts were solely those of the committee and not his. Mr. DeShane in no way participated in the selection of the committee's candidates or used the facilities of his office on their behalf. He attended none of the meetings of the committee after the Dec. 4 referendum and made every effort to remain fair and impartial with respect to the Jan. 29 election. If our activities cast him in any other light, we hasten to underscore his impartiality.

The address of 222 Willow Ave. was placed on the committee's mailing piece not because it was the address of the County Superintendent, but because it is the registered address of the Citizens Committee's parent organization. The same address appeared on numerous fact sheets, news releases and other literature issued by the Committee for several months preceding the Dec. 4 referendum.

It is now time, having elected a good first board, for all of us to give the members our support in the formidable task of building a college capable of meeting the needs of DuPage County now and in the future.

I would like to take the opportunity now to thank the voters of District 502 for backing the efforts which the Committee has been making for over a year. It has been an exhausting but satisfying objective for all of us.

Jaycees Mix Friendship, Civic Service

It is not unusual to hear a young couple complain about the difficulty of making friends in Arlington Heights. Meeting people is not thought to be the problem, but changing casual acquaintances into friends is.

Most young couples are extraordinarily busy — with new jobs that demand a lot of energy, with preschoolers that demand everything, with newly-acquired houses. Neighbors often are busy with their own families, especially it seems in winter, and settled longer, they don't feel the need for more social life as the newcomers do.

If you've begun to wonder why anyone said Midwesterners are easy to know, may we suggest you look into joining Jaycees? Qualifications for membership are age (21-35) and residence in this area. Husbands must belong to enable their wives to join the Jaycee Wives. The men meet every fourth Thursday of the month at Beverly Lanes on Kensington Road. Wives meet every month on the first Thursday at the president's house. Mrs. James Louden, 1403 W. Roanoke Rd., Arlington Heights at 8:30.

Meetings center around programs of local interests.

The purpose of the groups is to support the community, work for its betterment and provide for local charities. The local group is part of a national organization of young people. The wives help with fund-raisings of their own. Social evenings are frequent and informal and are, of course, combined.

This dynamic, young group will introduce you to community developments, interests and needs. A small group, it is in no way overwhelming or pretentious. Jaycees have a constant need for new people because of the maximum age limit. All of the same age bracket, members share many interests and common problems. This is a group with interests which both husband and wife can share — a joint organization which excels at promoting friendships while aiding the community.

Superintendent Grateful for Fenton Support

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude as well as my compliments to the many individuals who helped us succeed in the Feb. 5th referendum in Fenton High School District 100. It is most reassuring to know that the voters in our district will support the educational program when they are aware of the great need and the problem.

There were so many who worked hard for the issue that it is most difficult to name them all. Key workers include Citizens' Advisory Council co-chairman Morton Wright and George Ecklund. Richard Snyder, George Nielsen, Richard Weber, Mrs. Guyla Hunt, Harry Bentsen, Arthur Richter, and Mrs. Charlene Ricker contributed much time and effort.

On the faculty Norman West, Kenneth Carroll, Alex Georgas, and Mrs. Charlotte Sonnenfeld were very effective. Student Council President, Kenneth Roberts, worked hard as did other members of this group.

The endorsement by our Chamber of Commerce and the information published by the Bensenville Register through the efforts of Mrs. Pat Hensel were very helpful.

Finally, the response of the community at the polling places was astounding in the very strong support for the program. To all of these I am sincerely and profoundly grateful.

Schools Taking Back Seat To Host of Competing Trivia

My husband and I are not "young" parents in our school district but we are parents of children that have passed through one of our suburban elementary schools. The youngest one is now ready to graduate from elementary school, two are graduating from high school to enter public universities, one is already attending college.

This picture indicates that though we will have only one child left in our local schools, we will have other heavy educational expenses as well as our taxes to support the schools in our district.

We have no quarrel with the increased cost of schools. We are paying more for all aspects of our living and there are times budgeting is practiced with a fine art. We had a difficult time of it financially when our children were small for there were many necessities to be acquired on the small salary of a man beginning his job experience.

Schools of course were a necessity to our family then. We were surprised at the cry of "no frills.!" Education to both of us meant fulfilling the hope of our parents who had left Europe with four and six years of education. Our parents visited our schools with pride.

In our elementary schools they saw auditoriums, gymnasiums, libraries, manual training shops, home economics rooms as part of the facilities offered their children. One of us received speech therapy. We had friends who were helped by reading specialists. Our handicapped friend was educated in a special public school.

In junior high school and high school were added art rooms, vocational shops, science labs, hot lunch programs, music facilities for vocal and instrumental groups and a swimming pool. In the depression our families experienced much financial difficulty but our schooling was a constant we depended on. We walked and cycled long distances to receive this community gift.

We had a surprise when we chose suburban life instead of city life. In working with community boards and citizens committees we soon learned that schools had to prove and reprove the worth of every expenditure. Plain buildings of the cheapest construction, no "unnecessary" services were the demand. A continual defense of increased building and teachers that reflected the increased community growth was startling in an America that we assumed tried to offer the fullest experiences to all its children.

We saw elaborate, shiny gas stations, elegant bank buildings, spectacular shopping centers, brilliant automobile show rooms popping up everywhere as proof of American affluence. Our economy will provide the best facilities for spending money to acquire more material goods, but our schools must apologize for asking for meaningful learning facilities to enrich the whole life of our children.

The repeated struggle that some of our communities have in passing educational referendums is disheartening. These referendums are being boned down with public pressure to bare necessities. The good life, the go-go world of the expensive television commercial is for the "light" beer, "sheer" hair sprays, "new" detergents, a "man's" cigarettes, "diet" drinks for a society conditioned to seek an ever increasing quantity of competing trivia.

The school, once the pride of American parents looking hopefully to this bright future that is our present, has become an inconvenient expense. It demands too large a part from our expanding wishes for the "most" and the "best."

The most and best for whom and why?

Roselle Resident

THE ACCEPTED INFLUENCE IN THE NORTHWEST SUBURBAN AREA

Publicity Hits Its Mark

Public Roused on Measles by Vaccine Story

by Pat Hensel
Staff Writer

Alarming mass media publicity usually causes one of three reactions in people—panic, withdrawal, or responsible action.

A poll of public health officials reveals the concensus that the public is reacting in a responsible manner to warnings that Illinois may be facing a major measles epidemic by spring.

They urge three counter-warnings:

—There is no epidemic now, so don't push the panic button.

—Don't try to stir up a mass immunization program unless you're assured of responsible medical supervision.

—Find out about the three types of measles vaccines and let your doctor decide which is right for each child in your family.

Dr. Colette Rasmussen, of the Cook County department of public health, said community immunization programs have been organized and will be administered by local officials and doctors in Hoffman Estates and Rolling Meadows.

BUT, SHE FEELS private medical supervision would be much better for the one-to-six age group expected to benefit from the programs.

Dr. Rasmussen said there has been no report whatever of anything approaching a measles epidemic in suburban Cook County.

In the cases of families who cannot afford the doctor bills for the beneficial measles vaccine, mass immunization programs are planned on a monthly basis in the county's public health offices.

Mary Stypul, nurse supervisor for the northwest district, confirmed that there is no indication of a measles "epidemic" in the area.

She works with 35 school districts — and with 100 school nurses who have but to pick up a telephone to sound the alarm. No such alarm has been sounded.

DR. JOHN Hall, Cook County public health director, announced that 48 monthly clinics would give measles vaccinations in the Chicago suburbs in the near future, with trained medical personnel.

But, all local health officials and hospitals deny there is an epidemic at present, and are reluctant to grant permission for community - wide mass immunization programs.

The nature of the free state vaccine is very tricky.

In the first place, it technically should be available only to youngsters through the age of six, whose families could not otherwise afford privately administered immunization.

IN THE SECOND place, it's a potent vaccine, and should be followed with a second inoculation to counteract effects of fever and other feelings of illness.

A mass immunization program does not lend itself well of this procedure unless extremely well-organized.

Clinics will continue to make their own investigations with regard to which families are eligible for the free vaccine.

The Des Plaines office has quietly compiled a list of about 1,000 families who would find it difficult to finance the measles immunization through private physicians.

But, DuPage and Lake County health department directors will merely continue with their normal routine of offering medical treatment to the indigent —one morning a week in DuPage and three times a week in Lake.

HOSPITALS IN the northwest and western suburbs do not plan community - wide programs, but are glad that the public has finally "sat up and taken notice" of measles vaccinations.

The to-do started when Dr. Norman Rose, quoted by the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children, predicted a major measles epidemic this spring. Rose is director of the state bureau of epidemiology.

He was reported to have estimated that Illinois would have 20,000 cases of the disease, 20 deaths, and 40 cases of resulting mental retardation during 1966.

His warnings were backed by Dr. Franklin Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, Rose's boss.

THEY CHARGED that $100,000 in free state-purchased vaccine was lying around unused, and would be worthless after April 29. They said private physicians had only to request the free vaccine from the state health department.

Chicago's health commissioner, Dr. Samuel Andelman, said 34 clinics in Chicago would open for mass measles vaccination programs. He said there had been 1,143 measles cases reported in Chicago during January, and nearly 2,000 in the state, compared with 99 cases of the season, beginning March in Chicago during January last year.

Telephones began jangling, as the public reacted instantly to the warnings.

They learned from their doctors that measles immunization could run about $10 per person.

IN CONFUSION, the people then turned to public health clinics for more information.

Just what does it mean when the state warns there will be a measles epidemic this year?

In fact, there are measles "epidemics" every year. They occur in different places at different times. Some years they are not so bad and some years they are worse.

This week, there is a measles "epidemic" in Glendale Heights in DuPage County.

THAT SIMPLY means that almost 10 per cent of the grade school children are home sick. Several of them have measles and many of them have been exposed.

It means that anyone in Glendale Heights who has not been immunized should do so at once.

Doctors, apparently, are getting the brunt of public reaction to the flood of publicity from health officials, many of whom believe it's "high time."

Though most doctors had already ordered the free state vaccine — or another variety at low cost — and were prepared for the sudden influx of patients, others had never administered a measles vaccination.

THIS FACT is borne out by the number of inquiries by doctors, asking public health officials, "How do you do it?"

According to a spokesman at Northwest Community Hospital, the chief of pediatrics and other heads of departments are not alarmed about a measles "epidemic."

"It's an individual responsibility," the spokesman said. We do not plan a community - wide immunization program. This is each individual's responsibility." The same feeling was expressed by spokesmen for Elmhurst, St. Alexius, and Central DuPage Hospitals.

Northwest Community Hospital refers all queries on the subject to the Des Plaines public health office. Said the spokesman:

"The measles vaccine has been out for several years. We're not sure it's any worse this year than it has been in previous years, but for some reason the publicity is finally hitting its mark."

THE DuPAGE County Medical Society was to meet Wednesday to hear recommendations from a special committee organized to cope with the sudden public interest in measles vaccines.

According to Dr. Charles Lang, county public health director, the recommendation will be that more publicity is needed to keep the public alert, and better means must be devised to make the vaccine available to everyone who is clamoring for it.

"For the first time, the people are swarming to their doctors," Lang said.

Just because there happens to be a measles "epidemic" in Glendale Heights, it does not mean that the public health clinic is going to open its doors to all comers.

The DuPage health department has just had a shipment of 750 vaccines — but the medically indigent get served first.

"ALL WE ASK of patients is that they have some indication —from their doctor, pastor, or township supervisor —that paying for measles vaccinations for the children in their families would work an undue hardship on their budgets," Lang explained.

"Then we ask that they telephone before coming here for the vaccinations so that we are not swamped on any one particular day."

Lang's office gives about 50 measles vaccinations every Tuesday morning between 9 and noon. That's about all that can be handled between Lang and two nurses who work with him.

The offices would be open to the public all day Tuesday, or again on another morning each week, if the need were indicated, Lang said.

"We would stay open longer if the people would just come over here."

ASKED IF he would oppose a community effort to organize an immunization program, Lang answered:

"A community program is a very difficult thing to set up. You just can't handle a lot of people in a hurry. It takes three of us a whole morning to immunize just 50 people."

First the powdered vaccine must be mixed, then it must be emptied into a syringe, and finally it must be administered expertly. The mixture coagulates rapidly.

Lang explained that in a community program, a doctor would have to be drafted to take full responsibility for the project.

"Doctors just don't have the time to do this, usually. But, if one can be found, we will supply the vaccine to the doctor—not to the community organization sponsoring the program."

Apparently, Lang has turned down such requests because no doctors were in charge.

SOME AREAS have successfully completed community-wide immunization programs, but not on a crash-program basis. In Glen Ellyn, the job was done by private-practice pediatricians who made it their business to alert patients over the years.

Some school districts have indicated on health checkup cards that students must be immunized against measles, along with small pox, booster and polio immunizations.

New health cards, to be given out this year in DuPage, will make it a requirement.

FAR TOO MANY doctors, according to Lang, simply are not educated to the importance of immunizing their patients against measles.

He said publicity has been sent out for several years, and all doctors were notified last September that the free vaccine was available at the county public health department.

Publicity also has appeared in the bulletins of countywide medical societies, and measles got a big write-up in the state medical society journal.

According to the American Public Health Association, in a 1965 wrap-up on "Control of Communicable Diseases in Man," measles hits about every second year in urban areas.

THE DISEASE hits less often in rural areas — but there it usually is more severe.

Cook and DuPage Counties, being urban, probably are going to get about as many measles "epidemics" as in any other year. But, the "epidemics" hit on a very local basis — one school, one neighborhood, one town.

There are three types of measles vaccines, all said to give lifetime immunization:

The "dead virus" vaccine is extremely mild. It usually is given only to persons who have a tendency to allergies, convulsions, high fever, or other chronic conditions.

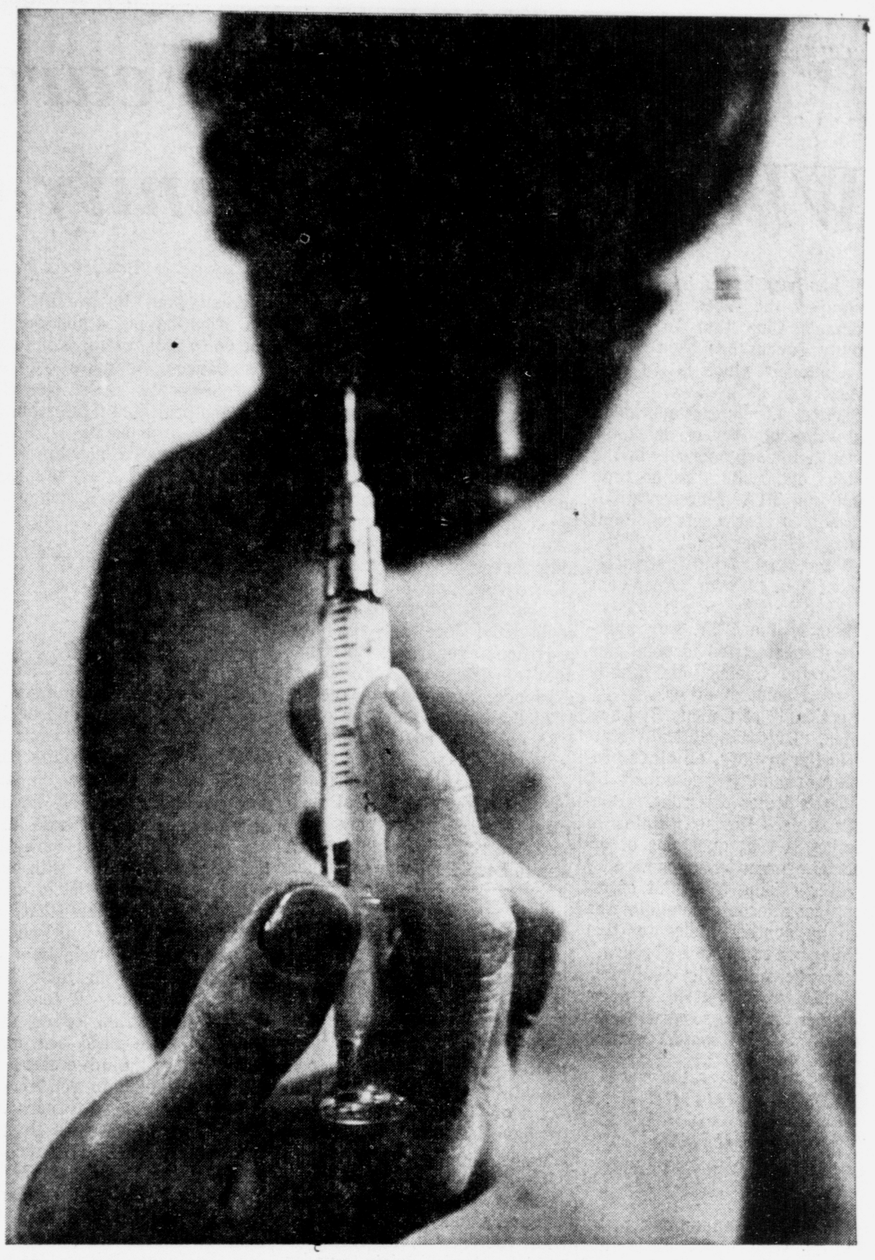
Also given as an emergency preventive to normally healthy persons suffering from a temporary illness, it can be followed by a more potent dose after the first degree of immunity is established.

THE "LIVE VIRUS" offered by the state is very potent, and usually causes some reaction of fever in patients. It should be followed by an injection of globulin (a fraction strained from human blood and laden with antibodies to fight the "live virus.")

Before this vaccine was offered free by the state, doctors could buy it in a two-dose, one-immunization package (vaccine, globulin and syringe) for about $8.50. It was this particular immunization package for which patients usually were charged a total $10, administered.

A third type of vaccine has been put on the market for a cost of about $2.50 to doctors. It's a milder form of "live virus" which does not require the follow-up globulin to reduce unfavorable reaction.

Most health officials believe doctors prefer the newest vaccine, rather than the state's vaccine, because it's more convenient to administer, and easier on the patient. (A-15



OH, NO, PLEASE NO! Oh, yes, little fellow, it's time for your measles vaccination. It will save you from measles complications like heart and brain damage. Why today, you ask? Well, why not? Everybody's getting immunized, so you must, too. There now, it didn't hurt very much, did it? And it probably will last you all the rest of your life. (Staff Photo by Tom Grieger)

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

BRONCO SQUARES

Barrington's club is rounding up another fine evening of dancing in Grove Avenue Grade School with Joe Gipson at the mike and seven new member couples on the floor. Tomorrow's the night and guests are welcome as always. New members are from the recently graduated beginner's class sponsored by the Broncs. They received their diplomas at a graduation-potluck supper party last Thursday night.

While the Barrington club has been busy corraling new members, other clubs have been rustling Bronc's banner. "They went that-a-way" is getting to be the club motto, although a local posse vowed by their boot straps to raid the thievin' varmints and have the banner back by tomorrow night. Last week Wednesday a square of Broncs had to ride all the way to Elkhorn, Wis. to bring back the banner from the Limber Timbers.

After last Friday's dance the derned walls were bare again, accounta the Swinging Pairs from Wauconda pulled a raid and went that-a-way with the pennant. They danced last night, Broncs planned to call on 'em peaceful-like but with retrievin' in mind and as far as we know the banner's in the home corral for the second time. Mosey over to Grove School tomorrow night and see for yerself.

Joe squares 'em up at 8 o'clock after the Sanders' half-hour round dance workshop, and everybody's welcome at the 7:30 session, too. The Barrington bunch is easy-goin' and relaxed, so don't be bashful about taking 'em up on their "y'all come."

TWIRLIN' TEENS

Newly elected club officers extend an invitation to all area teens to join 'em for a twirl around the floor in Mount Prospect Country Club tonight or any Thursday night. Assuming official duties are Chuck Stowe, president; Eileen Endersen, vice-president; Mike Hinze, treasurer; Eileen Hinze, secretary and Lina Lenz, publicity chairman. There'll be an election every four months so that all the members will get to know what it's like to run a club.

Dancing to the calls of Harry Glass (who gets an assist from wife Lydia) the kids meet at 7:30 every Thursday evening. Dancing's over at 9:30.

There are plans in the works for a club banner and club badges since membership is steadily on the rise and there's no doubt that the club is "in" to stay. Full information about Twirlin' Teens is available via Chuck Stowe, phone CL 5-1241.

BUCKS AND DOES

Members and friends of the Elk Grove club farewelled club caller, Bob Lewis, at the club's last dance, Feb. 12. Bob and his wife, Zella, leave soon for a "down on the farm" life of semi-retirement in Wisconsin, after more than six years as Bucks and Does' leaders. B's & D's will miss the Lewises of course, but wished their friends lots of luck and happiness in their new venture. At the same time Paul "Foggy" Thompson was welcomed as Bucks and Does' new club caller.

"Foggy" will head a weekly workshop, Tuesday nights, from 8 to 10 p.m., in the club's headquarters at Dempster Junior High School. Guest callers will be at the mike for the rest of the regularly scheduled dances 12 when Jim Stewart will be featured. Paul-the-Fog will call for the club's next dance, Feb. 26.

In addition to Foggy's Tuesday workshop sessions, round dance leaders Carl and Marie Peterson conduct classes the second, fourth and fifth Tuesday nights of every month from eight until 10 o'clock. Petersons' classes are also held in Dempster Junior High School. Full information about the workshop or round dance classes may be had by writing B & D publicity chairman Evelyn Gronemeyer, 2550 Nona, Franklin Park.

Plans are going ahead at a full clip for the club's annual Jamboree, June 11, and we'll bring you complete details when the date draws closer. In the meantime, mark the date and reserve it-it'll be the big event of the Elk Grovers' season. Callers include Pat Braffet of Big Rock, Art Mathews of Chicago, Ralph St. Pierre of Herscher, Jerry Whitebread of La Grange and Earl Thompson of Racine, Wis.

Bucks and Does welcome guests always, and dance the second and fourth Saturday nights of every month. Square-'em-up time is 8 o'clock and "that's all folks" is at 11. Dempster School is located at Dempster Road and Route 83 in Elk Grove Township.

SLOWPOKES

Want to earn your "Kissin' Kuzzin" badge? Mount Prospect dancers invite you to join 'em in Euclid School tomorrow night when caller Gene Tidwell gets things swinging at 8:30. (Your non-square-dancing editor is going to find out some day if earning a "Kissin' Kuzzin" badge is as easy as it sounds.)

Tomorrow night's session will also mark a new era in the round dance portion of the program. Art and Ruth Youwer will be teaching round dance basics from 7 to 8 o'clock, then use the next half-hour to teach some of the popular dances. This will be a fine opportunity for square dancers who are developing wall-flower complexes from sitting out the round dances that are now part of almost every club's regular program.

Plans are just about complete for Slowpokes' third annual Square Dance Round-Up, May 15, when six well-known area callers will keep the crowd dancing from 1:30 until 5 p.m. Flick-Reedy Corp. in Bensenville has donated the use of its facilities for the afternoon. Featured at the mikes will be Pat Braffet, Chuck Broad, Ed Hemple, Dale Manson, Gene Tidwell and Jerry Whitebread. Keep the date in mind, May will be here before y'know it.

Now-about that kissin' cousin business. . .

A-C SQUARE WHEELS

Deerfield - Wheeling dancers are also scheduling a Kissin' Kuzzin dance Saturday night in Deerfield's Woodland School. Spring must be in the air. A-C's invitation reads, "For all of you whose whole heart belongs to square dancing, come join us. .." Joe Gipson, club caller, will square 'em up at 8:30 after a half-hour "round of the month" session with Glen and Elaine Dolmar. Following the last square dance there'll be a refreshment-and-social hour, a regular part of the A-C Square Wheels program.

Further information about the dance or the club may be had by calling Ralph and Carolyn Cedergren at 537-5110. (A-15

Mrs. Bristol Honored In Board Resolution

The board of education for School District 15, Palatine and Rolling Meadows, passed a resolution Feb. 9 honoring the memory of the late Helene Bristol, education editor for Paddock Publications suburban newspapers.

"It is our hope that this expression from the board will serve to indicate our lasting appreciation of Helene Bristol and her fine work as well as our deepest sympathy," said E. S. Castor, superintendent.

Mrs. Bristol, who died Dec. 31, had been associated with the newspapers since 1954. As education editor, she was responsible for reporting High School District 214 and 211, the northwest suburban junior college, and general education assignments.

THE SCHOOL board's resolution read:

"Whereas, the Board of Education and Staff of Community Consolidated School District 15 knew the late Mrs. Helene Bristol not only as the education editor of Paddock Publications, but as an active and tireless worker in civic affairs; and

"Whereas, said Board and Staff knew Mrs. Bristol as a parent who was keenly interested and very much appreciative of the educational program of this district;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Board, with deep grief, wishes to take note of the death of Helene Bristol, recognizes her contributions to both community and school, and dedicates this resolution to her memory."

SIMILAR RESOLUTIONS of mourning and recognition have been adopted by High School District 214 and Community College District 301 boards.

A memorial scholarship fund has been established in memory of Mrs. Bristol with donations already over the $900 mark. Opening night performance Feb. 24 of "The Fantasticks," winter play at Arlington High School, will benefit the fund. (A15

The check represents the publishing firm's first annual contribution to the fund, which is nearing the $1000 mark. Mrs. Bristol, who died Dec. 31, was education editor of Paddock Publications. (A15

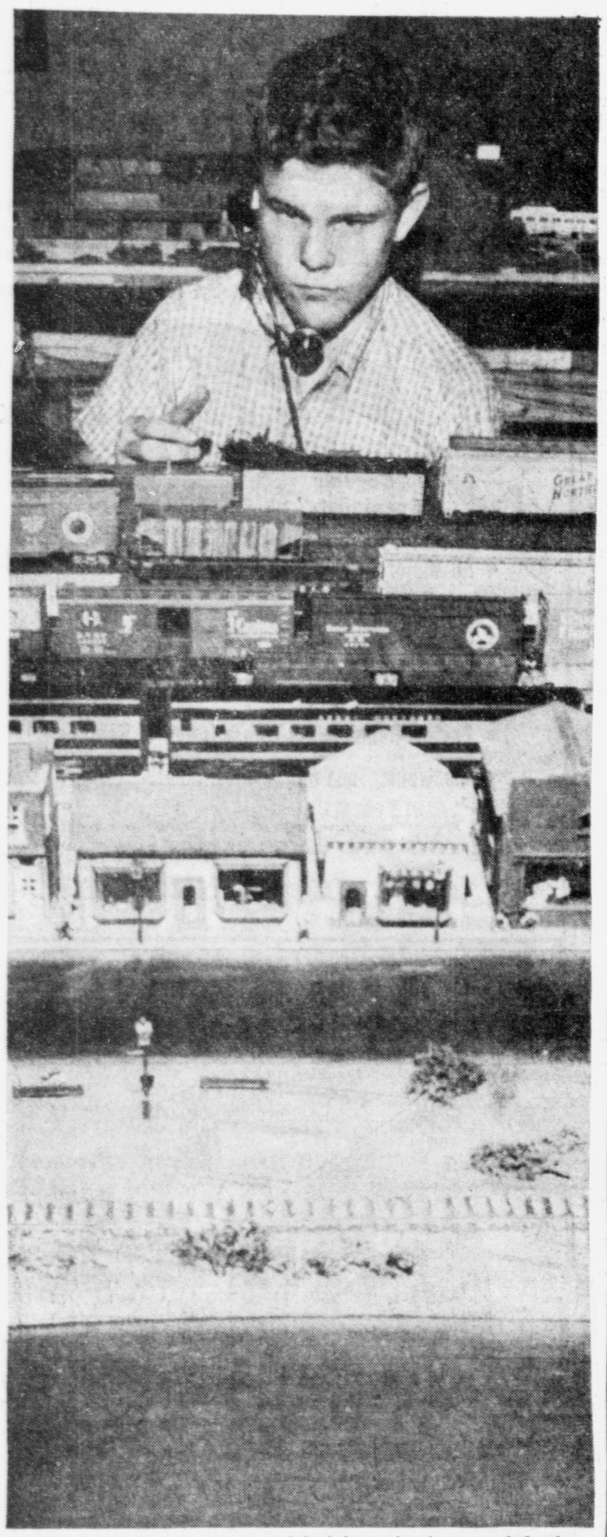
Model Railroaders To Hold Open House

Open house will be held in the clubroom of the Northwest Society of Model Railroaders in Rolling Meadows Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 8 p.m.

The scale model operation will be on view to the public in recognition of National Model Railroad Week, which ends Sunday.

THE CLUB'S first open house two years ago attracted 1,600 visitors to the display, which is reached through the rear door of Murray's Store for Men in Rolling Meadows shopping center, on the north side of Kirchoff Road.

The 18 teen and adult members operate 1,500 feet of track, patterned after full-scale railroading practices. (A-15



DISPATCHING passenger and freight trains is part of the fun of model railroading, as demonstrated by the Northwest Society of Model Railroaders who are holding open house this weekend in their clubroom in Rolling Meadows shopping center. All railroad buffs are invited to drop in.

O'Dea to Run Again

Both incumbents on the Junior College District 301 Board will seek re-election in April.

Board member Paul O'Dea of 349 Princeton, Hoffman Estates, announced at Tuesday night's meeting that he would run again.

A similar decision had been announced previously by board member Richard L. Johnson of Arlington Heights.

The two drew the one-year terms when the board was organized last spring.

Candidates for the board can file petitions at the junior college offices, 34 W. Palatine Road, Palatine, beginning next Wednesday, Feb. 23. Names of candidates will appear on the April 9 ballot in the order in which they are filed.

EAGLE SCOUTS — Holders of the top Boy Scout award were honored Tuesday at the ninth annual eagle recognition dinner sponsored at Old Orchard Country Club by the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council. Talking with the main speaker, Gen. Howard T. Markey, of the Illinois Air National Guard, are Craig Anderson (center) of 328 S. Windsor, and Raymond A. Sklencor of 712 Lynden Lane, both of Arlington Heights. (Staff photo)

Eagle Scouts Told: 'You're the Future'

A prominent Chicago area attorney and military leader Tuesday night told 87 high ranking Boy Scouts that they would play a major role in America's future.

Speaking at the ninth annual Eagle Scout Recognition Dinner at Old Orchard Country Club, Mount Prospect, Gen. Howard T. Markey charged the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council's Eagle Scout Class of 1965 with the responsibility of maintaining the nation's freedom.

"These young men," Markey told an audience of 400 parents and friends of the Scouts and their Scouting leaders, "will be in the forefront of the fight against tyranny."

MARKEY TOLD THE Eagle Scouts, 44 of them from the northwest suburbs, that they should always remember the difference between "heritage" and "inheritance."

"Heritage is something you build on and nourish," he stated, "while inheritance is something that is spent or squandered. You have a great heritage in this country, the greatest form of government ever devised by man.

"Yet America isn't perfect," Markey went on. "That's why she needs you young men."

THE ADDRESS by Gen. Markey, commander of the 126th Air Refueling Wing, Illinois Air National Guard and member of the Chicago law firm of Parker and Carter, was the climax to a day of intense activity for each of the boys who had earned Scouting's highest honor during 1965.

Each of the new Eagle Scouts had spent the day in his chosen vocation. Playing host to each boy was a business or professional leader in the area, later accompanying the youth to the dinner.

Leroy H. Stoehr, 441 S. Prindle, Arlington Heights, chairman of the council's advancement committee, was master of ceremonies at the dinner.

OTHERS WHO spoke briefly were Russell Larsen, Park Ridge, council president, and John Bell, Des Plaines, chairman of the council's Eagle Board of Review.

Eagle Scouts participating in the dinner program were Thomas Post of Troop 164, High Ridge Knolls PTA in Des Plaines; Frank Randall Jr. of Post 93, St. Peters United Church of Christ, Lake Zurich; and William Balaz Jr. of Post 155, Lincoln School PTA, Mount Prospect. (B10

PROOF THAT TWO SERVICE groups can work together was exemplified this week with honors accorded two men by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce. They are Staff Sgt. Hal Ethridge of Wheeling, left, named "Missileman of the Year" by the Army; and Staff Sgt. Harvey Burnette of Mount Prospect, selected "Airman of the Year" by the Air Force. Both units are serving at the Nike base in Arlington Heights.

Army Missileman Honored By Chamber of Commerce

An Army man with 17 years' service and an Air Force veteran of 11 years' service walked off with top honors Saturday night when feted by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce at its installation dinner dance at Old Orchard Country Club.

Staff Sgt. Hal Ethridge, 407 Mors Ave., Wheeling, was selected as "Missileman of the Year" in year-long competition among Army personnel serving with the 45th Brigade in Arlington Heights. He was accorded his plaque from the Chamber of Commerce by E. Charles Alft. executive director of the chamber.

Ethridge originally hailed from Rock Falls, Ill., and served with the 24th Division in Korea in addition to other Army locations. He has been awarded the Purple Heart and other commendations, is married and has two daughters, 12 and eight years old.

STAFF SGT. Harvy Burnette, 30 Judith Ann Drive, Mount Prospect, has 11 years with the Air Force behind him, including stints in Korea and Okinawa. He is married and has one daughter, four years old.

Both men were selected from their units after elimination procedures which picked them as outstanding men in their respective categories. Chamber of Commerce has been presenting the awards for several years in recognition of the effort given by these men to protect the Chicago area. (B10

At Air Academy

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

Mrs. Bette Howes, 945 N. Kaspar, flew to New Hampshire on Jan. 30 to spend a week with her daughter, Chris, and to meet her fiance, Lawrence Sutherland of Belmont, Mass. Chris is working at the Pinkham Notch Camp of the Appalachian Mountain Club in White Mountain National Forest, so Bette did some skiing and sightseeing while there. Chris and Lawrence will be married in Arlington Heights on May 7.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Balfour, 1208 Northwest Hwy., went to a steak fry at the American Legion Hall on Feb. 5. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Don Geise and the Don Wheelers.

A family celebration was held at the Louis Bensinger home, 945 N. Ridge, in honor of Marsha's birthday. Guests on Feb. 6 included her sister, Peggy and family.

Sandra Elenz, 1008 N. Ridge, has been home since the middle of January with pneumonia.

ON FEB. 5, a party, including ice cream, cake, favors and prizes, was given for Carol Jean Erd's eighth birthday. Guests included Patty and Mary Beth Sherry, Tracey Grant, Diane Hughes and her sisters, Maureen and Mary Francis. Carol Jean's parents are the Stephen Erds, 650 N. Kaspar.

Jeffrey and his mother, Mrs. J. H. Niell Jr., celebrated their birthdays together Feb. 6 with a buffet supper. Jeffrey was 4. Joining them for the party at 630 N. Salem were two sisters, Mrs. Lenart Ericson of Bethany Beach, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Munson and the Karl Nelson family of Chicago.

Mrs. Paul Delia, 632 N. Salem, celebrated her birthday Feb. 13. Her aunt, uncle and cousin, Mr. and Mrs. William Richter and Bill of Arlington Heights, helped her celebrate.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wojtkiewicz, 920 N. Ridge, entertained her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Leipzig of Chicago, Feb. 6.

The Walter Nystroms, 1615 W. Oakton, had a double birthday celebration Feb. 8. Chris was 16 and his dad became a year younger.

MRS. H. C. Sorensen kept the home fires burning at 1717 W. Oakton, along with her two youngest, while Nancy and Alice were treated to a trip west with their dad. They landed by jet in Los Angeles and from there went to Anaheim. After spending two days at Disneyland and visiting Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park, they took a tour to the Pacific Ocean. He then took them to Arizona, where they spent two days in and around Phoenix. For the six days they were gone, they managed to see a number of tourist sights.

The J. J. O'Briens, 820 N. Salem, had a family celebration for their daughter, Kathleen's birthday Feb. 3. Having ice cream and cake with her were her five brothers and sisters.

Charlotte Ronayne, 1011 N. Kennicott, cooked Danny's favorite, a ham dinner, for his fourth birthday Feb. 5. His dad, brothers and sisters were on hand to help him eat it.

After 11 years on N. Kennicott, the Ronaynes are crossing the tracks to their new home at 411 S. Pinceton the end of this month.

A christening was celebrated at the Walter Pilips', 920 N. Kaspar, after the ceremony at St. James Church Feb. 6. Godparents for Donna Jean were her uncle, Chester Pilip, and Mrs. Ann Cimino, 931 N. Kennicott.

823 N. Salem was the scene of a family celebration for Dawn Holmes' third birthday Feb. 2. Dawn is the daughter of Donna and Donald Holmes.

GIRLFRIENDS of Corrine Sundquist invited to 804 N. Fernandez to help her celebrate her birthday Feb. 5 were Patti Rosheger, Susie Ringel, Coralee Carlson, Lisa Weed, Donna Kenny, Carol Robertson, Jean Godzicki and Ann Wagner.

On Feb. 13, Len and Lynn had a double birthday celebration for Ricky and Corrine. Guests for the family party included their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sundquist of Chicago, an uncle, the Henry Donatelli family, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Behnke of Silver Lake, Wis.

Chris Marie Williams, 834 N. Patton, had a busy and enjoyable birthday Feb. 5. Her mother, Mrs. Richard Williams, treated Chris and her guests to a luncheon in St. Charles and then to the Pheasant Run presentation of "Little Women." Helping her celebrate her ninth birthday were Nancy Duvall, Debbie Marquis, Barbara Smith, Ginny Turner, Lynn Elkins and her sister, Erin.

On Feb. 9, the William Muhrs, 1019 N. Kennicott, sans children, went to Chicago to her parents' home to join them and her eight brothers and sisters for the day-long celebration of the Gerald F. Griffins' golden wedding anniversary. Although they've been planning this for months, they managed to keep the plans a secret from their mother, who wanted a small party with her children. They and their father decided the occasion merited something bigger.

AFTER BREAKFAST, they handed her one of the invitations to the anniversary party which was held at home. With the food on the second floor and the liquid refreshments on the third, there was plenty of room for the 100-plus guests.

Guests arrived from everywhere, including friends from Pocahontas, Iowa where the family originally lived, and from Arlington Heights. A cousin and Mrs. Griffin's godson, Father Schwider of Texas, read the mass and the renewal of their wedding vows.

Mrs. D. R. Brandt, 819 N. Fernandez, had a few neighbors in for "coffee and" to say good-bye to Alice Calgrove on Feb. 3. The Calgroves moved to Midland, Mich., Feb. 9, where Bill had been transferred.

Brian Ringel celebrated his birthday Feb. 6. Guests at 722 N. Ridge included his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ringel of Milwaukee.

Newcomers to Ridge Park are John and Sue Landry. After a year in New Jersey, they moved to 819 N. Kennicott. They are from Detroit, originally.

The house at 948 N. Fernandez recently changed hands. It is now the home of Aileen and Neal Duffey and their family, which includes Greg, 14, Susan,, 12, Scott, 8, and Dennis, 2. The Duffeys are from Rockford and Neal is employed by Zinsco Electric Prod. in Elk Grove Village, as office and warehouse manager.

FROM SHERWOOD

Nat and Virginia Burfeind, 1130 N. Harvard, took a trip to Iowa City on Feb. 5, to watch their son, Bill, receive his bachelor of science degree from the State University of Iowa. He's at home now and commuting to Chicago to his position with the Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burkett of Reading, Pa., were babysitters for their son, Richard, and Carolyn's children at 1221 N. Harvard while they were on a trip west. Richard had good golfing weather when he competed in the Gold Cup Golf Tournament in Las Vegas. They stayed at the Desert Inn during the tournament and then went to Palm Springs, where they got in some swimming and sunbathing. Carolyn was home Feb. 7 and Richard returned later that week. His parents stayed on to visit with the whole family.

THE PAUL Fellinghams, 1145 N. Patton, and their daughter, Wendy, took a weekend trip to Detroit on Feb. 12, to attend the wedding of a nephew, Stephen Decker, and Janis Thompson.

Robert and Marolyn Fletcher are keeping a watchful eye on 3-year-old Keith these days. In the process of getting off the sofa, he fell and broke his shoulder. He's recuperating at home, 1315 Watling.

A double birthday party featuring a buffet was held at the Ted Carlsens', 1314 N. Harvard. The celebration spanned 58 years. Ted's niece, Laura Thorsen was 2 and his uncle, Axel Carlsen was 60. Guests for the occasion were Laura's parents, Donna and Al Thorsen, her grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Carlsen, Uncle Axel's wife, Myrtle, and Frank and Elaine Brokamp and their baby. Ted and Bernie's son, Richard, his wife, Nancy, and their baby were there, too. They had their own reason to celebrate. It was their first wedding anniversary.

The John Aulds, 1009 Watling, are sending Robin's mail to Galesburg now. He's back at Knox College for the second semester, after being in Washington, D. C., since September for a political science seminar.

WE WIN MORE THAN VICTORY IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

America won more than victory in the Revolutionary War; we won a bigger prize—the right to establish the finest government ever created in the history of mankind.

It took six years from the first shots at Lexington and Concord to win that right, and in that time there was a vast parade of battles and heroes:

Ethan Allen and his Green Mountain Boys at Ticonderoga . . . the Battle of Bunker Hill . . . Nathan Hale saying "I regret that I have but one life to lose for my country" . . . the winter at Valley Forge . . . Washington crossing the Delaware . . . the battle near Saratoga, called the turning point of the war.

And finally, Lord Cornwallis surrenders at Yorktown, Va., Oct. 19, 1781.

The war is over. At that moment, America is free. Let us do all we can to keep her free forevermore.

Eastwood Events

Grandmother Aylesworth flew in from Alexandria, Va. to meet her first grandchild, Diane Lynne Ross, born on Valentine's Day. She is also in Eastwood for the first time, as Jud and Peggy just moved to their 419 N. Hickory in January. Grandmother and Grandfather Ross of Wilmette are also making frequent trips to Eastwood.

Eastwood Bridge found action recently as Al and Esther Gamenthaler hosted an evening of bridge in their home at 503 N. Hickory. The Bud McKnights substituting for the Scullys, the Dick Vlaches and the Jack Gavins were also present.

Jan. 28 found Steven Nowack celebrating his birthday with eight candles on his cake. The family celebration included his sisters, Julie, Liz and Mary Robin, and parents, Carl and Jean.

As aunts, Edith and Alice Nowack of Watertown, Wis. were spending the weekend as houseguests, they were also in on the festivities as were Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardt Nowack of Lake Forest who drove here with greetings for Steven. The celebrating took place at the Nowack home at 720 N. Hickory.

JOHN AND RONNA Griffin hosted a supper party Saturday for eight couples. The ladies all belong to a monthly bridge group. Bill and Doris Steuber and Bob and Carol Glader were the Eastwooders who attended the gala evening at 415 Beverly Lane.

Riding the train found Eastwood's new resident, Hal Maertz of 502 N. Hickory. happily meeting Aaron Rasmussen of 501 Lincoln Lane. They attended grade school together back in Manitowoc, Wis. After the chance meeting, Hal and Mava and their daughters, Kelli and Kerri, were Sunday afternoon guests of Aaron and Betty Rasmussen two weeks ago.

Recently, Hal and Mava Maertz enjoyed the hospitality of the Richard Montabas of S. Chestnut. Chappy and Pat Maxwell of Des Plaines were also present.

Last Sunday the Maertzes drove to Milwaukee to visit Hal's brother and his wife, Mannon and Belle Maertz.

Mava was hostess at a recent luncheon for Betty Rasmussen and her three children and Jo Dell Jochims and daughter, Susie, as guests.

With all this activity, the Maertzes still found time to begin playing Eastwood bridge when the hosts were the Dick Bartons of 321 S. Windsor. The Bob Luckers and the Matt Cockrells were also busy trying to augment their scores.

Tom and Ruth White, 634 N. Dryden, are busy working with final details for the square dance and box supper to be held at the First Methodist Church soon.

LAST WEEK found Vi Corcoran, 507 N. Hickory, offering her home and hospitality to the Golden Hour Group of the First Methodist Church, for a business meeting and dessert.

On Saturday, Joseph and Vi Concoron served dinner to Charles and Mathilda Zimmerman of Brookfield. They were celebrating Mr. Zimmerman's birthday. The next day found Joseph and Vi driving to East Troy, Wis. with Chuck and Marie Footh of Chicago to dine at the Alpine Valley Ski Lodge.

On Jan. 31, Billy Glader of 407 Beverly Lane blew out six candles on his birthday cake as several school friends wished him happiness. Following the party, Billy was then treated to a family dinner at Heuers Restaurant on River Road. Included were his parents, Bob and Carol, brother, Gary, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Knudson of Park Ridge.

On Feb. 19, Gary will celebrate his 10th birthday with school friends. Their father, Bob, will celebrate his birthday Feb. 24, for which another joint family dinner is in the planning.

SATURDAY found Steve and Dolores Bartolone and their children, Steven, Michael, Billy. Susan and Julie, attending the wedding of Dolores' brother, John Waldmueller, at Our Lady of Grace Church in Chicago. The Bartolones also attended the family breakfast held at the Victoria in Chicago. In the evening, Steve and Dolores attended the dinner-dance reception, also held at the Victoria.

Albrecht and Yvonne Koch and their sons, Peter and Frank, spent the weekend in Evanston. Friday they helped Grandma and Grandpa Mercier celebrate their 39th wedding anniversary by dining at the Piccolo Mondo Restaurant in Skokie. Saturday, Albrecht and Yvonne attended a Mardi Gras dance in Chicago.

Houseguest in the Sam Cullison home, 511 N. Hickory, is Eleanor's mother, Mrs. Jacob Wilkins of Gary.

Smoke Signals

Saturday, Feb. 12, 8:59 a.m.—Auto fire, 10 W. Central Road. Fire in engine compartment of car owned by R. Henry, Rolling Meadows. Damage totaled $100.

Saturday, Feb. 12, 12:15 p.m.—Auto fire reported at 114 S. Highland Ave. No fire; firemen found battery cable shorted out in car owned by Brian Coward, 410 N. Beverly Lane. No damage.

Monday, Feb. 14, 4:02 p.m.—Fire reported in Ritzenthaler bus at Arlington Heights Road and Euclid. No fire was found; apparently grease on the manifold caused smoke.

Monday, Feb. 14, 7:20 p.m.—Grease fire in kitchen of Donald T. Hansen home, 14 N. Rammer Ave. Extinguished before firemen arrived, the fire caused several hundred dollars damage. A son, Richard, 11, was burned slightly and was treated by a family physician.

50 Parents At 'Night'

More than 50 parents observed scouting in action last Thursday evening as Troop 159, sponsored by St. Simon's Episcopal Church, Arlington Heights, celebrated parents night.

Scoutmaster Paul Chaffee presented badges of ranks earned to five tenderfoot, six second class and nine first class scouts. Scout John Reitmeyer was awarded his badge of Star Scout and Bob Massey that of Life Scout.

Sixteen merit badge awards were presented to 12 scouts. Scoutmaster Chaffee announced that scout Rob Swim will receive his Eagle Scout Award in a special ceremony at the meeting on March 3. The advancement of scouts in Troop 159 continues to be one of the highest of any troop in the district. The assistant district commissioner, Otis Johnson, presented the troop with its renewed charter for 1966. (A

Has the Volkswagen fad died out?

Yes.

But it was an unnerving experience while it lasted.

Because after we introduced our completely sensible car, people ran out and got it for completely frivolous reasons.

The first people bought VW's just so they could be the first people to have one.

And a lady in Illinois had one because it looked cute beside her "real" car.

However, the faddists soon found out that the bug wasn't an expensive ($1574) toy, but a cheap ($1574*) car.

As a fad the car was a flop:

(When you drive the latest fad to a party, and find 2 more fads there ahead of you, it catches you off your avant-garde.)

But as a car the VW was impressive:

If you had to go someplace, it took you. Even when some cars wouldn't. And when you got there, you could park it. In places where other cars couldn't.

Once people took the bug's good points for granted, it became the best-selling car model in history.

And that's when the VW fad ended.

Ordinance No. 0-6-66

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE SUBMISSION TO THE VOTERS OF THE VILLAGE OF PALATINE, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, THE QUESTION OF INCREASING THE ANNUAL TAX RATE FOR THE MAINTENANCE AND OPERATION OF THE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY IN AND FOR SAID VILLAGE AT A SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD IN AND FOR SAID VILLAGE ON THE 12TH DAY OF MARCH, 1966.

WHEREAS, for many years a free Public Library has been maintained in and for the Village of Palatine, Cook County, Illinois, under the direction of a duly elected Board of Library Directors, and annually, taxes have been duly levied and extended against all taxable property in the Village for the purpose of maintaining and operating such Public Library; and

WHEREAS, heretofore, on the 27th day of January, 1966, a petition signed by more than fifty (50) legal voters of the Village of Palatine, was filed in the office of the Village Clerk, such petition exclusive of signatures, being in words and figures as follows:

"PETITION

To: The Village Clerk and the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Palatine, Illinois

We, the undersigned, being legal voters of the Village of Palatine, Illinois, hereby request that a Special Election be called in the Village of Palatine, Illinois, to submit to the voters of said Village, a proposition to increase the maximum tax rate for the Library Fund of the Village of Palatine, Cook County, Illinois, from .12% to .20% on the full, fair cash value of taxable property as equalized or assessed by the Department of Revenue, applicable to the next taxes to be extended."

and

WHEREAS, it appears that, and it is hereby found and determined that said petition above set forth is signed by the genuine signatures of persons constituting more than 50 legal voters of the Village of Palatine, and that such petition is in all respects in conformity to the applicable provisions of the Illinois Statutes in such case made and provided, including Chapter 81—Library— of the Illinois Revised Statutes, and that the request of said petition should be granted and that provision should be made to submit to the voters of the Village of Palatine the proposition to increase the maximum tax rate for the Library Fund from .12% to .20% on the full, fair cash value of taxable property.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Palatine, Cook County, Illinois, that:

SECTION 1: That in order to provide additional funds for the maintenance and operation of the Public Library in and for the Village, and responsive to the request of a petition signed by more than 50 legal voters of the Village, and filed in the office of the Village Clerk on the 27th day of January, 1966, there be submitted to the legal voters of the said Village at a special election which is hereby called, to be held in and for said Village on Saturday, the 12th day of March, 1966, the following proposition:

"Shall the maximum tax rate for the Library Fund of the Village of Palatine, Cook County, Illinois, be established at .20% on the full, fair cash value of taxable property as equalized or assessed by the Department of Revenue, instead of .12%, the maximum rate otherwise applicable to the next taxes to be extended?"

and that the polls at said election be open between the hours of 6:00 A.M. and 6:00 P.M. of said day.

SECTION 2: That the Village Clerk of said Village be and is hereby ordered and directed to cause notice of said election to be given by publishing notice thereof once in the Palatine Enterprise, a newspaper of general circulation in the Village of Palatine. The date of such publication of said notice shall be not more than 30 days nor less than 20 days in advance of the date of said election. The Notice of said Election shall be in substantially the following form:

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

To vote upon the proposition of increasing the maximum annual tax rate for the Library Fund of the Village of Palatine.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special election will be held in and for the Village of Palatine, Cook County, Illinois, on the 12th day of March, 1966, at which time there will be submitted to the electors of said Village the following proposition:

Shall the maximum tax rate for the Library Fund of the Village of Palatine, Cook County, Illinois, be established at .20% on the full, fair cash value of taxable property as equalized or assessed by the Department of Revenue, instead of .12%, the maximum rate otherwise applicable to the next taxes to be extended.

(a) An estimate of the approximate amount extendable under the proposed rate is $66,443.00.

(b) An estimate of the approximate amount extendable under the rate otherwise applicable to the next taxes to be extended is $39,866.00.

For the purpose of said election the Village of Palatine shall be divided into two (2) election precincts, the boundaries thereof and the polling places therefor being as follows:

Precinct 1: Shall include all that part of the Village of Palatine lying west of the center line of Northwest Highway (Hicks Road). The polling place for this precinct shall be the Palatine Public Library building at 149 North Brockway Street.

Precinct 2: Shall include all that part of the Village of Palatine lying east of the center line of Northwest Highway (Hicks Road). The polling place for this precinct shall be the Winston Park School, 900 East Palatine Road.

The polls for said election will be opened at 6:00 A.M. and will be closed at 6:00 P.M. on the date of said election, and all persons qualified to vote at regular Village elections are qualified to vote on the said question.

The legal voters of the Village may vote only at the polling place designated for the election precinct within which they reside.

An Ordinance

AMENDING THE BUILDING REGULATIONS OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS TO PROVIDE FOR INSPECTION AND REGULATION OF ELEVATORS

WHEREAS, pursuant to the provisions of Division 3 of Chapter 24 of the Illinois Revised Statutes, any municipality is authorized to adopt by reference published regulations which have been prepared by a nationally recognized technical trade or service association; and

WHEREAS, the provisions of Section 1-3-2 of said Division 3 require that three copies of such regulations as are to be adopted by reference shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the municipality and there kept available for public use, inspection and examination for a period of fifteen days prior to the adoption of the ordinance which incorporates such regulations by reference; and

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees did on January 3, 1966, adopt a certain resolution placing the "American Standard Safety Code For Elevators, Dumbwaiters, Escalators and Moving Walks," published by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Number A17.1 — 1965, on file in the office of the Village Clerk of the Village of Arlington Heights; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to said resolution, there has been kept available in the office of the Village Clerk of the Village of Arlington Heights for public use, inspection and examination for a period of not less than fifteen days prior to the date of this ordinance three copies of said regulations; and

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights have determined that the best interests of Arlington Heights require the adoption of said regulations by reference;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

SECTION ONE: Chapter 23 of the Municipal Code of Arlington Heights 1965, being the building regulations of the Village of Arlington Heights, is hereby amended by adding thereto Article X relating to elevators, which article shall be and read as follows:

X. Elevators, Dumb waiters, Escalators and Moving Walks.

23.1001. Pursuant to authority granted by Illinois Revised Statutes 1965, Chapter 24, Section 1-3-2, the Village of Arlington Heights hereby adopts by reference as criteria for the issuance of construction, reconstruction, alteration or installation permits for elevators, dumbwaiters, escalators and moving walks the provisions of the "American Standard Safety Code For Elevators, Dumbwaiters, Escalators and Moving Walks," published by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Number A17.1 — 1965.

23.1002. Every elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator and moving walk now in operation or which may hereinafter be installed, together with the hoistway and all equipment thereof, shall be inspected under and by the authority of the Director of Building and Zoning at least once every six (6) months, and in no case shall any new equipment be placed in operation until an inspection of the same has been made. It shall be the duty of every owner, agent, lessee, or occupant of any building wherein any such equipment is installed, and of the person in charge or control of any such equipment to permit the making of a test and inspection of such elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk, and all devices used in connection therewith upon demand being made by the Director of Building and Zoning or his authorized elevator inspector.

23.1003. Whenever any elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk has been inspected and the tests herein required shall have been made of all safety devices with which such equipment is required to be equipped and the result of such inspection and tests show such equipment to be in good condition, and that such safety devices are in good working condition and in good repair, it shall be the duty of the Director of Building and Zoning to issue or cause to be issued a certificate setting forth the result of such inspection and tests and containing the date of inspection, the weight which such equipment will safely carry and a statement to the effect that the shaft doors, hoistway, and all equipment, including safety devices, comply with all applicable provisions of this code, upon the payment of the inspection fee required by the provisions of this code. It shall be the joint and several duty of the owner, agent, lessee, or occupant of the building in which such equipment is located and of each person in charge or control of such equipment to frame the certificate and place the same in a conspicuous place in each elevator and near each dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk. The words "safe condition" in this section shall mean that it is safe for any load up to the approved weight named in such certificate.

23.1004. Where the result of such inspection or tests shall show that such elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk is in an unsafe condition or a bad repair, or shall show that any of the safety devices, which are required by the provisions of this code, have not been installed or if installed, are not in good working order or not in good repair, such certificate shall not be issued until such elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk, or such device or devices have been put in good working order.

23.1005. Whenever any elevator inspector finds any elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk in an unsafe condition he shall immediately report the same to the Director of Building and Zoning, together with a statement of all the facts relating to the condition of such equipment. It shall be the duty of the Director of Building and Zoning, upon receiving from the elevator inspector in charge a report of the unsafe condition of such equipment and hatchway, including doors, to order the operation of such equipment to be stopped and to remain inoperative until it has been placed in a safe condition and it shall be unlawful for any agent, owner, lessee, or occupant of any building wherein any such equipment is located, to permit or allow the same to be used after the receipt of a notice from the Director of Building and Zoning, which notice is in writing, that such equipment is in an unsafe condition and until it has been restored to a safe and proper condition as required by the provisions of this code.

23.1006. The fee for semi-annual inspection of an elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk shall be Ten Dollars ($10) for each elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk in a building no higher than ten (10) stories and Fifteen Dollars ($15) for each elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk in a building over ten (10) stories. Upon the initial installation of each elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk, there shall be a Thirty Dollar ($30) permit fee for each elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk in a building of four (4) stories or less, with an additional fee of Five Dollars ($5) per elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk for each additional floor. An additional charge of Thirty Dollars ($30) per elevator, dumbwaiter, escalator or moving walk shall be made for the initial review of plans.

23.1007. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this article shall be fined not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500) for each such offense.

SECTION TWO: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law.

Ordinance No. 1141

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE MAKING OF A LOCAL IMPROVEMENT IN AND FOR THE VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS

BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Mount Prospect, Cook County, Illinois:

SECTION ONE: That a local improvement shall be made in the Village of Mount Prospect, Cook County, Illinois, the nature, character, locality and description of which improvement is as follows:

The said improvement shall be located in West Lonnquist Parkway, as presently dedicated, extending from a point 31.5 feet east of the center line of Elmhurst Avenue to the east line of Byron Court; and, in a strip of ground, to be acquired by condemnation proceedings, 50.02 feet in width, adjacent to and south of the south line of West Lonnquist Parkway, as presently dedicated, from a point 31.5 feet east of the center line of Elmhurst Avenue to the east line of Byron Court. The said improvement shall consist of the widening of the existing roadway, the paving of the roadway in the aforesaid strip of land 50.02 feet in width, extending 8 feet on either side to the center line of West Lonnquist Parkway, as wideed after the acquisition of the aforesaid strip of land 50.02 feet in width, and the construction of a new sidewalk and new curb and gutter. The improvement of the south half of West Lonnquist Parkway, as widened by the acquisition of the following-described property:

The North 50.02 feet of the West 335 feet, as measured along the West and North lines, of Lot 18 in the Owner's Subdivision, Section 13, Township 41 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois, shall consist of a roadway 17½ feet in width consisting of 8 inches of water bound macadam base course and 2½ inches of bituminous concrete binder surface course; the new curb and gutter shall be 18 inches in width and shall be constructed on an alignment such that the back of the curb shall be 22 feet north of and parallel to the south line of the right-of-way of West Lonnquist Parkway, as widened by the acquisition of the property hereinabove described; and the sidewalk shall consist of Portland cement 5 inches thick and 5 feet in width, constructed on an alignment such that the south edge of the said sidewalk will be parallel to and one foot north of the south line of the right-of-way of West Lonnquist Parkway, as widened by the acquisition of the property hereinabove described; together with the construction of such catch basins and catch basin inlets, and the adjustment of existing catch basins as may be needed. The improvement shall consist of the widening, paving, and improvement of Lonnquist Boulevard with the construction of a parkway 16 feet in width, the center line of which is located on the center line of Lonnquist Parkway, the improvement of the south half of Lonnquist Parkway with 8 inches of water bound macadam base course, and 2½ inches of bituminous concrete binder and surface course, said pavement to be 17½ feet in width, the construction of rolled curb and gutter along the south edge of said pavement, together with the construction of such catch basin inlets as may be needed and the adjustment of catch basins, and the construction of a sidewalk 5 feet in width and 5 inches thick parallel to and one foot north of the south line of the right-of-way of Lonnquist Parkway, as widened by the condemnation of the property hereinabove described.

SECTION TWO: That the recommendation of the Board of Local Improvements of the Village of Mount Prospect, providing for the improvement, and the estimate of the cost thereof made by the President of the Board of Local Improvements, both hereto attached and made a part hereof, be, and the same are hereby approved.

SECTION THREE: That the said improvement shall be made and the whole cost thereof, together with an amount not exceeding six per cent (6%) of the estimated cost, to-wit: SIXTEEN THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS ($16,725.00), which is hereby provided for to apply towards the cost and expense of making, levying and collecting said special assessment and all other expenses allowed by law, being the amount included in the estimate, thereof, shall be paid by special assessment, in accordance with the Illinois Municipal Code, Article 9, Division 2 and amendments thereto.

SECTION FOUR: That the aggregate amount herein ordered to be assessed against the property and against the municipality, if any, and also the assessment on each lot and parcel of land herein assessed shall be divised as follows:

The said assessment to pay for cost of construction of said improvement and the cost of levying, making and collecting said assessment and all expenses allowed by law, shall be divided into ten (10) installments, in the manner provided by the statute in such case made and provided.

So much of the aggregate amount of the assessment as represents the cost of levying, making and collecting the special assessment and all expenses allowed by law, together with all fractional amounts so as to leave the remaining installments of the aggregate assessment equal in amount and each in multiples of $100.00 shall be apportionate to the first installment of the said special assessment. The first installment shall be due and payable on the 2nd day of January next after the filing of the first voucher issued on account of work done on the said improvement. The second installment of said assessment shall be due and payable one year thereafter, and so on annually until all assessments have been paid.

IT IS HEREBY made the duty of the Board of Local Improvements of the Village of Mount Prospect, to file in the Office of the Clerk of the Court in which such assessment was confirmed, a certificate signed by the Secretary of the Board of Local Improvements of the Village of Mount Prospect of the date of the first voucher and the amount of said voucher, within thirty (30) days after the issuance of said voucher. All installments shall bear interest until paid at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum. Interest on all installments shall begin to run in accordance with the provisions of the Illinois Municipal Code, Article 9, Division 2 and amendments thereto. Interest on such first installment shall be due and payable and shall be collected at the same time as the first installment. Interest on the second and succeeding installments shall be due and payable and shall be collected with the installments respectively as in said Code relating to special assessment provided.

SECTION FIVE: That for the purpose of anticipating the collection of the second and succeeding installments of said assessment for the cost of said improvements, the Village of Mount Prospect shall issue bonds payable out of said installments, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent (6 per cent) per annum, payable annually, signed by the President of the Board of Trustees of the Village of Mount Prospect and attested by the Village Clerk of said Village. Said bonds shall be issued in accordance with and shall in all respects conform to the provisions of the Illinois Municipal Code, Article 9, Division 2 and amendments thereto.

SECTION SIX: That the President of the Village of Mount Prospect, be, and he is hereby, directed to file a Petition in the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois, in the name of the people of the Village of Mount Prospect, praying that steps may be taken to levy a special assessment for the purpose of defraying the expense of said improvement so far as the same may lawfully be done and to ascertain what property will be benefited, in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance, and in the manner prescribed by law.

SECTION SEVEN: That the President of the Board of Trustees of the Village of Mount Prospect be, and he is hereby, directed to file a Petition in the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois, in the name of the people of the Village of Mount Prospect, praying that steps be taken to ascertain the just compensation to be made for private property taken or damaged and easements to be acquired for the said improvement, including in such petition the following-described property to be taken or damaged for public use, to-wit:

The North 50.02 feet of the West 335 feet, as measured along the West and North lines, of Lot 18 in the Owner's Subdivision, Section 13, Township 41 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois.

SECTION EIGHT: That all ordinances, or parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

SECTION NINE: That this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval thereof, according to law.

County Board Redistricting: How It Stands

by Pat Hensel
Staff Writer

Reapportionment of county government may not have to be tested in Illinois courts.

That's the latest prediction from some of the men who tried last year to apply to counties the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court.

DuPage and Lake are two of several counties to venture into an in-depth study of reapportionment. Officials will embark on this project in a meeting of the Urban Counties Problem Council next Wednesday.

A debate has been arranged, with Sen. George Drach (R-Springfield pleading against county board reapportionment, and Rep. William Redmond (D-Bensenville) challenging him.

THE URBAN Counties Problem Council, membered by supervisors representing several northeastern Illinois counties, is led by Pres. Patrick Riedy, Lisle Township supervisor in South DuPage.

Rep. William Hartnett, Democrat from Lake County, keeps toying with the idea of filing suit to force Illinois counties to reapportion themselves.

"He's not kidding," says Redmond, who recently scrapped a similar complaint he had prepared last year during the 74th General Assembly.

"I didn't file it then because I didn't want it to look like I was using the courts to get legislative action."

According to Redmond, "I personally think the working, underline working, members of the county board want to reapportion."

THE STATE OF Wisconsin reapportioned itself in 1965. Lawsuits are pending in at least 16 states throughout the nation.

Some cities, including New York City, have reapportioned their elective bodies in the 20 months since the Supreme Court decided that both branches of state legislatures should be apportioned on the basis of population. Other suits have been filed against school districts and judicial districts.

States in which suits are pending include Washington, Ohio, Tennessee, Oklahoma (where several individual suits already have been won), Montana (also where the suits held up), Missouri, Indiana, Virginia, Mississippi, Maryland and Alaska.

A bill was defeated in the Illinois legislature last year which would have required the redistricting of township counties, would have set up supervisor districts from each of which one county supervisor (or commissioner) would be elected, and would have eliminated all "additional and assistant supervisors" from county government.

SPONSORS OF THE House bill were Redmond, Hartnett, Eugene Schlickman (R-Arlington Heights), J. W. Scott (D-Bloomington), and Thomas Hanrahan (D-McHenry).

Schlickman was one of the members of an Illinois legislative council charged with providing factual information on the subject for the General Assembly last year.

The council was instructed not to include specific recommendations for action. Actual preparation of the report was a function of the research staff operating under the direction of the council. According to the report:

THERE ARE roughly four methods of election and representation on county boards in the United States:

—Election from the county at large, with or without district residence requirements;

—Election by supervisor or commissioner district;

—Election by political subdivision such as townships, cities or boroughs;

—Election as a county judge or justice of the peace and thereby automatically obtaining a seat on the county board.

The third method is characteristic of 84 Illinois counties, except Cook, which have the township form of government.

IT IS DUBBED as a "sort of confederation of local units of government" in a Wisconsin research report published early in the 1960's.

Under the one-man, one-vote doctrine of representation adopted by the U. S. Supreme Court, there is considerable doubt as to whether this form of area representation is constitutional as it is set up in many counties.

A study by the Wisconsin legislative research agency found that about two-thirds of the states provide either for the election of county board members at large, or for election from districts based on population. A few states give the option of using either of these two methods.

IN ILLINOIS, there are three systems of county board representation — the commission form, the township form, and the Cook County commission form as provided in the Illinois Constitution.

Some Georgia counties have one commissioner, while some Vermont counties have two. The range goes up to an undefined maximum in Illinois, where the LaSalle and Sangamon county boards each have 51 members.

Taking the states as a whole, the most typical is said to be the county board consisting of three members, found in fairly widespread use in about 22 states.

This is the number, as provided in the Illinois Constitution, for counties in Illinois that retain the commission form of government.

TERMS OF office for county board members in the United States ranges from two to six years, with a majority of the states providing for four-year terms.

Township counties in Illinois have supervisors and assistant supervisors serving overlapping four-year terms. Commissioner counties in Illinois have three-year terms, with the office of one commissioner expiring each year.

Cook County Commissioners—10 from Chicago and five from the remainder of the county—serve four-year terms.

The Wisconsin 1962 study suggested alternatives to existing composition of county boards. Several alternatives adapt themselves readily to the situation in Illinois:

—CONSOLIDATION of townships to raise them to a sufficient population class so that each township could have at least one supervisor on the moderately sized county board. This way, the present system of interlocking township and county government could be retained. Townships would be enlarged and strengthened.

—Election of a county board at large so that its members represent the entire county.

—Election of a county board by districts, with the statute specifying maximum permissible population deviations from the average districts. Such boards might be required to redistrict every ten years, with board members running at large should the board fail to redistrict.

—Election of a county board by an option of selection of any of the above methods, or by putting the question to the people in a referendum.

THE WISCONSIN study ends its discussion of this with "or we could leave things as they are."

The Illinois Constitution is "quite liberal" with respect to organization of township counties:

"...and when any county shall adopt township organization, so much of this constitution as provides for the management of the fiscal concerns of said county by the board of county commissioners, may be dispensed with, and the affairs of said county may be transacted in such manner as the General Assembly may provide."

In the minds of many legislators, this is tantamount to "leaving the door open to almost any plan except county home rule...and county home rule seems out because the Constitution says the General Assembly is to provide for the manner of transacting the affairs of the county."

TOWNSHIP COUNTIES in Illinois have boards composed of one supervisor of each township, plus assistant supervisors in the case of larger townships.

Although the statute provides additional representation for the more populous townships, the scheme usually falls far short of assuring approximately equal representation, on a population basis, to all areas of a county.

It is not possible to assure urban areas the same ratio of representation as the small rural townships, which are much more prevalent.

Adams County is a perfect example: McKee Township with 277 population in 1960, has one supervisor on the county board.

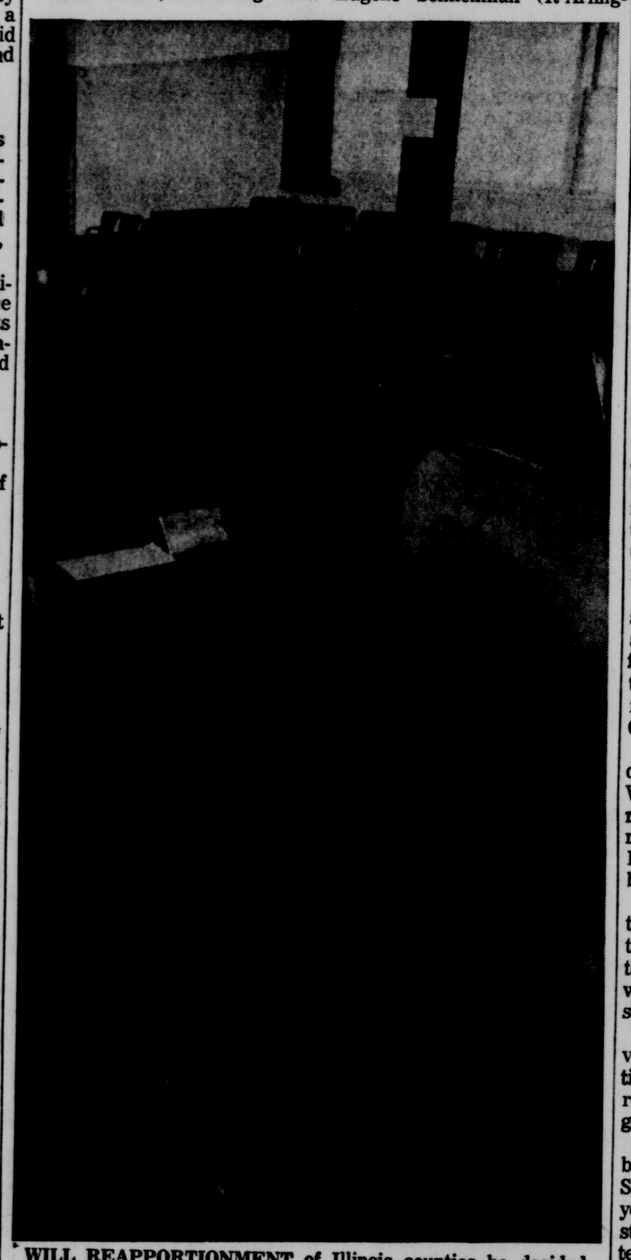
If Quincy Township were to be accorded representation on the same basis—that is, one representative for each 277 residents—it would be entitled to 158 representatives. Actually, Quincy Township has only 18 representatives on the board—one for each 2,433 residents.

Township counties have been divided into five classes by Illinois statute. Population determines the class into which each county falls, and determines the number of supervisors to be elected from each township.

ODDLY, MANY counties with small populations are entitled to larger county boards under the unrealistic system.

Counties having 40 or more board members include Adams, population 68,467; McLean, population 83,877; Champaign, population 132,436; LaSalle, population 110,800; Sangamon, population 146,539; and Kane, Madison, Peoria, Will, and St. Clair, all with populations under 300,000.

DuPage, with a 1960 population over 300,000, has 31 board members. (A15



WILL REAPPORTIONMENT of Illinois counties be decided in a courtroom, as shown above, or will it emerge from a meeting of minds of county and state officials? Northeastern Illinois counties will tackle the issue next week in a meeting in DuPage. The pro and con of reapportionment will be debated by two veteran state legislators, William Redmond and George Drach. (Staff photo)

Notice of Public Hearing

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS PLAN COMMISSION WILL CONSIDER CERTAIN AMENDMENTS TO THE COMPREHENSIVE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ADOPTED DECEMBER 21, 1959, AS AMENDED, ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2, 1966 AT 8:30 P.M.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a public hearing will be held by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission on Wednesday, March 2, 1966 at 8:30 P.M. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building 33 South Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights, Illinois to consider the following amendments to the 1959 Comprehensive Amendment of the Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights:

ONE: To delete "R-4A" from Section 11.6-1.1. The section would then read to the effect that any use permitted in R-1, R-2 and R-3 is permitted in R-5. Duplexes would not be permitted.

TWO: To amend the definition of Planned Developments found in Section 3.2-109 to permit one or more uses not otherwise permitted in the district in which the tract is located subject to use exceptions in bulk regulations as required by subsection 7.5 of the zoning ordinance.

THREE: To amend subsection 7.2-11 enumerating special uses to add "Planned Developments" as a special use.

FOUR: To amend subsection 5 defining Planned Developments to require Planned Developments to meet standards as provided in subsection 7.5 of the zoning ordinance.

FIVE: To amend subsection 7.5-2.3 to permit the entire area devoted to residential uses to be considered in computing lot area requirements in Planned Developments.

SIX: To add subsection 7.5-3 to the zoning ordinance, which subsection would prescribe the method of processing applications for Planned Developments and permit the Village Board to impose additional restrictions or conditions on Planned Developments and require appropriate covenants or other restrictions running with the land.

SEVEN: To amend section 3.2-80 of the zoning ordinance defining lot area measurement to require multiple family and commercial Planned Developments to have at least 20 per cent of the land area dedicated to public circulation and roadways.

All persons desiring to be heard on said proposals will be given an opportunity to be heard.

AN ORDINANCE GRANTING A SPECIAL USE PERMIT

WHEREAS, the Board of Appeals of the Village of Mount Prospect has heretofore recommended the approval of an application for a special use permit to allow National Bank of Austin, as Trustee, under Trust No. 3880 to construct two indoor swimming pools on its property located on the west side of Busse Road south of Algonquin and immediately south of Tally-Ho Courts, commonly known as 3012-14-20 Busse Road, and

WHEREAS, the construction of two indoor swimming pools is permitted as a special use under the existing R-4 Planned Residential Development District regulations of the Mount Prospect Zoning Ordinance; and,

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Tustees of the Village of Mount Prospect have considered the application for a special use permit and have determined that granting such a special use permit at the above location would be in the best interest of the Village of Mount Prospect;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT, ILLINOIS:

SECTION ONE: That a special use permit be, and it is hereby granted, to allow the National Bank of Austin, as Trustee under Trust No. 3880 to construct two indoor swimming pools on the following described property:

The South 5 acres (except the West 210 ft. thereof) of the Northeast quarter of the Northeast quarter of Section 22, Township 41 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian; also, the North 5.544 acres (except the West 210 ft. thereof and the East 50 ft. thereof) of the South 40.544 acres of Southeast quarter of the Northeast quarter of said Section 22; also the North five acres (except the West 210 ft. thereof) of the South 35 acres of the Southeast quarter of the Northeast quarter of Section 22, Township 41 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, all in Cook County, Illinois.

SECTION TWO: That the Superintendent of Building of the Village of Mount Prospect is hereby directed to issue, upon proper application, such permits and certificates of occupancy as are required to utilize the said premises, or portion thereof, for the construction of two indoor swimming pools as a special use.

SECTION THREE: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law.

Meeting of College Board, Site Opponents Scheduled

The choice of a site for the District 301 junior college may be discussed — possibly heatedly — in two weeks at a public meeting at the Hoffman Estates village hall.

Representatives of the Hoffman and Schaumburg village boards, the Palatine - Schaumburg High School District 211 and Schaumburg Elementary District 54 boards and the junior college board are expected to attend.

This will be the first time the junior college board and officials who oppose the college's choice of a 186-acre industrially zoned Schaumburg site will formally sit down to discuss the matter.

The college board Tuesday postponed action to condemn the 186-acre site at the northeast corner of Golf and Old Plum Grove Roads.

Still considering other sites, the board possibly will take action to condemn the land at next Tuesday's meting.

Schaumburg Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher and other municipal officials are strongly opposing the site choice.

The site is owned by Palatine lawyer and land developer Aribert Wild. Known as the Rathje Farm, Wild is the agent for the industrial land.

Wild, coincidentally, owns the Palatine building which houses the junior college administration andmaintains offices there himself.

The farm was purchased in November, 1964, for $6,500 an acre. The college board has talked of condemning at $9,000 an acre.

A. Harold Anderson. president of J. Emil Anderson and Co., which owns several hundred tion and maintains offices there acres of industrially zoned land across from the proposed site, told Atcher, "I have never heard of a more dastardly thing than this decision by the junior college board."

Atcher this week said he plans to release a letter from Dr. Alexander Langsdorf, a nuclear physicist at the Argonne National Laboratories and a Schaumburg resident, opposing the possible site selection.

The Schaumburg president said the letter "points out a pile of reasons why the college shouldn't want to go into an industrial district."

The 186-acre site lies in the heart of 3,600 acres of industrially zoned land.

Atcher said placing the school there would probably restrict industry from developing the remaining portions.

In opposing the Rathje Farm site, officials of Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates have commented that anywhere from $18 to $50 million in assessed valuation will be lost if the land is not developed industrially. (B10

County Board Redistricting: How It Stands

by Pat Hensel
Staff Writer

Reapportionment of county government may not have to be tested in Illinois courts.

That's the latest prediction from some of the men who tried last year to apply to counties the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court.

DuPage and Lake are two of several counties to venture into an in-depth study of reapportionment. Officials will embark on this project in a meeting of the Urban Counties Problem Council next Wednesday.

A debate has been arranged, with Sen. George Drach (R-Springfield pleading against county board reapportionment, and Rep. William Redmond (D-Bensenville) challenging him.

THE URBAN Counties Problem Council, membered by supervisors representing several northeastern Illinois counties, is led by Pres. Patrick Riedy, Lisle Township supervisor in South DuPage.

Rep. William Hartnett, Democrat from Lake County, keeps toying with the idea of filing suit to force Illinois counties to reapportion themselves.

"He's not kidding," says Redmond, who recently scrapped a similar complaint he had prepared last year during the 74th General Assembly.

"I didn't file it then because I didn't want it to look like I was using the courts to get legislative action."

According to Redmond, "I personally think the working, underline working, members of the county board want to reapportion."

THE STATE OF Wisconsin reapportioned itself in 1965. Lawsuits are pending in at least 16 states throughout the nation.

Some cities, including New York City, have reapportioned their elective bodies in the 20 months since the Supreme Court decided that both branches of state legislatures should be apportioned on the basis of population. Other suits have been filed against school districts and judicial districts.

States in which suits are pending include Washington, Ohio, Tennessee, Oklahoma (where several individual suits already have been won), Montana (also where the suits held up), Missouri, Indiana, Virginia, Mississippi, Maryland and Alaska.

A bill was defeated in the Illinois legislature last year which would have required the redistricting of township counties, would have set up supervisor districts from each of which one county supervisor (or commissioner) would be elected, and would have eliminated all "additional and assistant supervisors" from county government.

SPONSORS OF THE House bill were Redmond, Hartnett, Eugene Schlickman (R-Arlington Heights), J. W. Scott (D-Bloomington), and Thomas Hanrahan (D-McHenry).

Schlickman was one of the members of an Illinois legislative council charged with providing factual information on the subject for the General Assembly last year.

The council was instructed not to include specific recommendations for action. Actual preparation of the report was a function of the research staff operating under the direction of the council. According to the report:

THERE ARE roughly four methods of election and representation on county boards in the United States:

—Election from the county at large, with or without district residence requirements;

—Election by supervisor or commissioner district;

—Election by political subdivision such as townships, cities or boroughs;

—Election as a county judge or justice of the peace and thereby automatically obtaining a seat on the county board.

The third method is characteristic of 84 Illinois counties, except Cook, which have the township form of government.

IT IS DUBBED as a "sort of confederation of local units of government" in a Wisconsin research report published early in the 1960's.

Under the one-man, one-vote doctrine of representation adopted by the U. S. Supreme Court, there is considerable doubt as to whether this form of area representation is constitutional as it is set up in many counties.

A study by the Wisconsin legislative research agency found that about two-thirds of the states provide either for the election of county board members at large, or for election from districts based on population. A few states give the option of using either of these two methods.

IN ILLINOIS, there are three systems of county board representation — the commission form, the township form, and the Cook County commission form as provided in the Illinois Constitution.

Some Georgia counties have one commissioner, while some Vermont counties have two. The range goes up to an undefined maximum in Illinois, where the LaSalle and Sangamon county boards each have 51 members.

Taking the states as a whole, the most typical is said to be the county board consisting of three members, found in fairly widespread use in about 22 states.

This is the number, as provided in the Illinois Constitution, for counties in Illinois that retain the commission form of government.

TERMS OF office for county board members in the United States ranges from two to six years, with a majority of the states providing for four-year terms.

Township counties in Illinois have supervisors and assistant supervisors serving overlapping four-year terms. Commissioner counties in Illinois have three-year terms, with the office of one commissioner expiring each year.

Cook County Commissioners—10 from Chicago and five from the remainder of the county—serve four-year terms.

The Wisconsin 1962 study suggested alternatives to existing composition of county boards. Several alternatives adapt themselves readily to the situation in Illinois:

—CONSOL'DATION of townships to raise them to a sufficient population class so that each township could have at least one supervisor on the moderately sized county board. This way, the present system of interlocking township and county government could be retained. Townships would be enlarged and strengthened.

—Election of a county board at large so that its members represent the entire county.

—Election of a county board by districts, with the statute specifying maximum permissible population deviations from the average districts. Such boards might be required to redistrict every ten years, with board members running at large should the board fail to redistrict.

—Election of a county board by an option of selection of any of the above methods, or by putting the question to the people in a referendum.

THE WISCONSIN study ends its discussion of this with "or we could leave things as they are."

The Illinois Constitution is "quite liberal" with respect to organization of township counties:

"...and when any county shall adopt township organization, so much of this constitution as provides for the management of the fiscal concerns of said county by the board of county commissioners, may be dispensed with, and the affairs of said county may be transacted in such manner as the General Assembly may provide."

In the minds of many legislators, this is tantamount to "leaving the door open to almost any plan except county home rule...and county home rule seems out because the Constitution says the General Assembly is to provide for the manner of transacting the affairs of the county."

TOWNSHIP COUNTIES in Illinois have boards composed of one supervisor of each township, plus assistant supervisors in the case of larger townships.

Although the statute provides additional representation for the more populous townships, the scheme usually falls far short of assuring approximately equal representation, on a population basis, to all areas of a county.

It is not possible to assure urban areas the same ratio of representation as the small rural townships, which are much more prevalent.

Adams County is a perfect example: McKee Township with 277 population in 1960, has one supervisor on the county board.

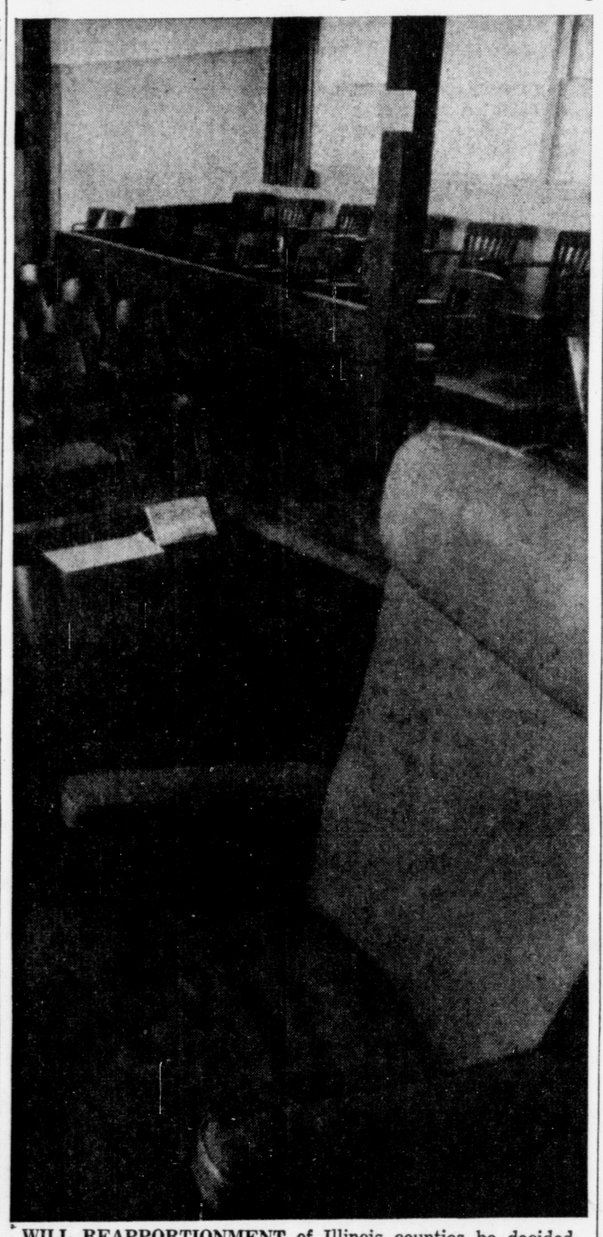
If Quincy Township were to be accorded representation on the same basis—that is, one representative for each 277 residents—it would be entitled to 158 representatives. Actually, Quincy Township has only 18 representatives on the board—one for each 2,433 residents.

Township counties have been divided into five classes by Illinois statute. Population determines the class into which each county falls, and determines the number of supervisors to be elected from each township.

ODDLY, MANY counties with small populations are entitled to larger county boards under the unrealistic system.

Counties having 40 or more board members include Adams, population 68,467; McLean, population 83,877; Champaign, population 132,436; LaSalle, population 110,800; Sangamon, population 146,539; and Kane, Madison, Peoria, Will, and St. Clair, all with populations under 300,000.

DuPage, with a 1960 population over 300,000, has 31 board members. (A15



WILL REAPPORTIONMENT of Illinois counties be decided in a courtroom, as shown above, or will it emerge from a meeting of minds of county and state officials? Northeastern Illinois counties will tackle the issue next week in a meeting in DuPage. The pro and con of reapportionment will be debated by two veteran state legislators, William Redmond and George Drach. (Staff photo)

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS PLAN COMMISSION WILL CONSIDER CERTAIN AMENDMENTS TO THE COMPREHENSIVE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ADOPTED DECEMBER 21, 1959, AS AMENDED, ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2, 1966 AT 8:30 P.M.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a public hearing will be held by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission on Wednesday, March 2, 1966 at 8:30 P.M. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building 33 South Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights, Illinois to consider the following amendments to the 1959 Comprehensive Amendment of the Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights:

ONE: To delete "R-4A" from Section 11.6-1.1. The section would then read to the effect that any use permitted in R-1, R-2 and R-3 is permitted in R-5. Duplexes would not be permitted.

TWO: To amend the definition of Planned Developments found in Section 3.2-109 to permit one or more uses not otherwise permitted in the district in which the tract is located subject to use exceptions in bulk regulations as required by subsection 7.5 of the zoning ordinance.

THREE: To amend subsection 7.2-11 enumerating special uses to add "Planned Developments" as a special use.

FOUR: To amend subsection 5 defining Planned Developments to require Planned Developments to meet standards as provided in subsection 7.5 of the zoning ordinance.

FIVE: To amend subsection 7.5-2.3 to permit the entire area devoted to residential uses to be considered in computing lot area requirements in Planned Developments.

SIX: To add subsection 7.5-3 to the zoning ordinance, which subsection would prescribe the method of processing applications for Planned Developments and permit the Village Board to impose additional restrictions or conditions on Planned Developments and require appropriate covenants or other restrictions running with the land.

SEVEN: To amend section 3.2-80 of the zoning ordinance defining lot area measurement to require multiple family and commercial Planned Developments to have at least 20 per cent of the land area dedicated to public circulation and roadways.

All persons desiring to be heard on said proposals will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Meeting of College Board, Site Opponents Scheduled

The choice of a site for the District 301 junior college may be discussed — possibly heatedly — in two weeks at a public meeting at the Hoffman Estates village hall.

Representatives of the Hoffman and Schaumburg village boards, the Palatine - Schaumburg High School District 211 and Schaumburg Elementary District 54 boards and the junior college board are expected to attend.

This will be the first time the junior college board and officials who oppose the college's choice of a 186-acre industrially zoned Schaumburg site will formally sit down to discuss the matter.

The college board Tuesday postponed action to condemn the 186-acre site at the northeast corner of Golf and Old Plum Grove Roads.

Still considering other sites, the board possibly will take action to condemn the land at next Tuesday's meting.

Schaumburg Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher and other municipal officials are strongly opposing the site choice.

The site is owned by Palatine lawyer and land developer Aribert Wild. Known as the Rathje Farm, Wild is the agent for the industrial land.

Wild, coincidentally, owns the Palatine building which houses the junior college administration andmaintains offices there himself.

The farm was purchased in November, 1964, for $6,500 an acre. The college board has talked of condemning at $9,000 an acre.

A. Harold Anderson. president of J. Emil Anderson and Co., which owns several hundred tion and maintains offices there acres of industrially zoned land across from the proposed site, told Atcher, "I have never heard of a more dastardly thing than this decision by the junior college board."

Atcher this week said he plans to release a letter from Dr. Alexander Langsdorf, a nuclear physicist at the Argonne National Laboratories and a Schaumburg resident, opposing the possible site selection.

The Schaumburg president said the letter "points out a pile of reasons why the college shouldn't want to go into an industrial district."

The 186-acre site lies in the heart of 3,600 acres of industrially zoned land.

Atcher said placing the school there would probably restrict industry from developing the remaining portions.

In opposing the Rathje Farm site, officials of Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates have commented that anywhere from $18 to $50 million in assessed valuation will be lost if the land is not developed industrially. (B10

Forest View News

The Forest View Improvement Assoc. will hold the annual meeting Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m. at Forest View Elementary School. Members are urged to attend.

Mrs. A. M. Marinoff of Alexandria, Va. has been a houseguest of the Waller Smiths, S. Chesterfield, for the past three N. C. Bullock family, new resiweeks.

A welcome is extended to the dents on Sunset Road, who moved here from San Rafael, Calif. Mr. Bullock works for IBM Corp. in Chicago.

Patrice is in sixth grade at Dempster Junior High, Nathan is a fourth grader and Ava is a third grader at Forest View Elementary School.

FRIDAY EVENING the Robert Englehardts, W. Algonquin Road, and the Raymond Projahns of Des Plaines, had dinner at the Palmer House and then went to the Blackstone Theatre to see Myrna Loy in "Barefoot in the Park." Later they went to Trader Vics.

On Monday, Mrs. Englehardt, room mother for Mrs. Lancaster's second grade class at Forest View School, was serving at their valentine party when the children surprised her by singing "Happy Birthday."

Mr. and Mrs. Englehardt and Linda had a birthday dinner at The Embers on Monday evening.

Birthday greetings this week also go to Joseph Andronaco, Rosemarie Leuzzi, Rosalie Vercelli, Joey Trznadel, Mary Hilgeman, Jayme Loeschen Kathy Trznadel, Clifford Potter and Jeffery Lowe.

Anniversary greetings go this week to Sam and Audrey Bass.

COLONIAL HEIGHTS

Get well wishes go to Frank Buffa.

Esther and Harold Weitzel, Jane and Mark, former residents of Estates Drive, are happily settled near Sandy Lake, Pa. Janet and Mark send greetings to their friends at Forest View School.

Saturday evening the Carl Baardsens, Estates Drive, and the Thomas Schwingbecks and Gordon R. Fields of Des Plaines were dinner guests of the John L. Pedariks in Elmwood Park.

The Baardsen girls enjoyed visiting their grandparents, the Henry Nystroms in Chicago, on Saturday evening.

MR. AND MRS. Ed. Wuchterl, Kim Avenue, attended a surprise birthday party for Mrs. H. Krug in Chicago Saturday night.

On Sunday, the Wuchterl family had dinner at the W. Colterjohn home in Elmwood Park. In the evening, they had supper with the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, in Chicago.

Mrs. Betty Strand and son, Bill, Hatlen Avenue, had her daughter, Helen Searle, and granddaughter, Laurie, of Chicago as guests on Sunday.

On Saturday, the Bill Camerons of Martha Lane had the senior Camerons of Elmwood Park as guests for the day to celebrate the birthday of Bill Jr. In the evening, Nadine and Bill took in a show while the grandparents baby sat. On Sunday, Mrs. Mildred Guertin and children of Westchester were birthday dinner guests.

HOME ARE Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sullivan and three sons, Estates Drive, from a two-week vacation in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Mr. Sullivan's mother, Mrs. Anne Sullivan accompanied them.

The boys enjoyed side trips to the Seaquarium in Miami and the wax museum. They also went crab fishing and saw a house that was actually built upside down.

On the way home, the family stopped for a tour of Cape Kennedy. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan also attended the harness races at Pompano Beach.

ELK RIDGE VILLA

Sunday the Ronald Gawne family, Birch Drive, went to a birthday party for the children's aunt, Caryl Gawne, and great-uncle, Earl Johnson, from Chicago at Caryl's home in Mundelein. (AME

Children's Choirs to Sing Sunday

The second annual Afternoon of Song will be held Sunday, Feb. 27, at St. Peter Lutheran Church, 111 W. Olive St., Arlington Heights, with 200 children from six Lutheran choirs participating.

The program will begin at 3 p.m. with choirs from St. Paul Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect; Faith Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights; St. Johns Lutheran Church, Elk Grove Village; Redeemer Lutheran Church, Prospect Heights, and St. Peter in Arlington Heights.

Coordinator of the program is Mrs. Arnold Anderson, choir director at St. Paul Lutheran, Mount Prospect. Director will be Dr. Theodore A. Lams of Mount Prospect, professor of music at Northwestern University.

Sunday Suburbanite

THESE BUGS MAY WIN YOU $300.00

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS

Each week pick up your Free Bingo Cards from any of the sponsors (adults only, please). Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. You may, however, make as many visits as you wish. The more cards you play the better your chances of winning!

HOW TO PLAY

To play, merely check the ads in the Sunday Suburbanite on Sunday, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. Different set of numbers each Sunday and each Thursday means two different games with the same card. Many ads contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the Bingo Bug (shown above). Other numbers, most of them in this symbol, will be scattered throughout the paper. On the want ad pages the numbers will be included in special type with the notation of "Newspaper Bingo Bug Sez." If you can match all 24 numbers on any one of your Bingo cards (see example of a winning card) with those appearing in either the Sunday Suburbanite, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications (but not both), you have a "Bingo" and you are a winner.

$100 WEEKLY!!

Winners will share a weekly cash prize of $100. If there is only one winner, he gets all $100. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share equally. If there are no winners any week, the $100 weekly prize money will be added to the following week's prize fund!

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER

Each Sunday Suburbanite game is complete within one issue of the Sunday Suburbanite; each Paddock Thursday game is complete within one issue of the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. You cannot use numbers from both issues for the same game. A new set of numbers will appear in the Sunday Suburbanite each Sunday, plus another new set of numbers in the Paddock Thursday editions. A new color Bingo card will be available each week at the participating stores. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week's games. The color card for each week's games will be announced each week in the newspaper.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER . . .

If you have a winning Bingo Card, all 24 numbers of which appear in either the Sunday Suburbanite or your Thursday edition of Paddock Publications, write your name, address, phone number and from which store you procured the card on the back, and drop in the mail to Paddock office. Envelope must be postmarked by Friday of that week; or bring your card in to the office of Paddock Publications at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights by 9 a.m. of the following Monday morning.

RULES OF THE GAME:

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY

There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at office of Paddock Publications as well as public libraries and at sponsors' stores. You can play as many cards as you wish — they're free. Get additional cards, one at a time, from the friendly sponsors listed below. (Adults only, please.)

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK

The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week. Mutilated cards will not be honored. All 24 numbers must be covered to win.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS

Bingo numbers will be drawn at random from a Bingo Number cage at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

Some duplication of Bingo Numbers may exist in certain sponsors' ads due to a newspaper production problem. This duplication in No Way affects the total number of Bingo numbers drawn. All numbers Drawn at Random from our Bingo Cage Appear Somewhere In Each Issue Of the Newspapers.

Employees of Paddock Publications and their families are not eligible to win any cash prizes.

live in the northwest suburbs . . .

JUST FOR THE FUN OF IT!

The Northwest Suburban Area is a great place for kidding around. The many spacious fields, parks and neighborhood recreation areas are favorite fun places for happy, growing children.

When you buy a home, consider the value of locating where your children (and the grown-ups) can be surrounded by the space and outside atmosphere that brings friends together and generates healthy, happy living habits.

There's no better area in the country for this type of living than right here . . . in the great and growing Northwest Suburbs.

See the many fine homes available in the Paddock Real Estate Section. Your local Realtors will show you how convenient and close homes are to the many recreational afcilties in the area. Your children will love you for it . . . no kidding!

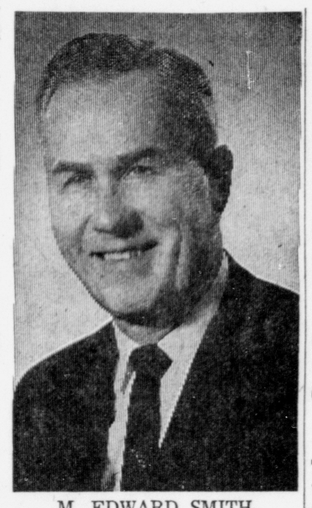
"WE'VE CHANGED our exterior but not our service" said Larry Johnson, owner of Wiggins Real Estate when the firm's offices at Central Road and Northwest Highway in Mount Prospect reopened recently after extensive remodeling. The project included adding a new roof, facing the outside with cedar wood and expanding the parking lot to a 25-car capacity. Johnson noted that the remodeling is brought about by the expansion of real estate operations at Wiggins and is accompanied by an increase in staff. Johnston is a past president of MAP Multiple Listing Service.

Smith Installed by Illinois Realtors



M. EDWARD SMITH

M. Edward Smith, Realtor of Des Plaines was installed as vice president of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards at the January inaugural banquet in Dolton, Ill.

Smith, a past president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, served as director for the state association for two years and as secretary in 1965. He was reappointed dean of the I.A.R.E.B. Real Estate Institute and chairman of the board of governors for the institute—he has held these posts since the institute was formed in 1964.

Smith was also appointed chairman of the district vice presidents committee, and a member of the executive committee, budget and finance committee and fiftieth anniversary committee of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards by President Robert M. Steger.

OFFICES IN the state association and committee appointments are highly prized in the 6,500 member organization. The association functions primarily through the operation of many committees working on various specific subjects. Realtors and their associates serve on these committees without compensation.

The Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards is the only statewide association serving the real estate brokers and salesmen in Illinois and taking an active interest in legislative matters affecting private home ownership. The real estate brokers and salesman's license laws were passed by the legislature through the efforts of the association. (BB

Q. Is it necessary to send a wedding gift when one is invited only to the wedding, but not to the reception?

A. In this case, no. Only an invitation to the reception imposes a gift.

3 Directors Named By Park Ridge Bank

Following the January meeting of directors, W. E. Cornelius, board chairman, announced the election of Everette E. Ballard, Mr. Fred Haack, Jr., and John N. Metropulos to the bank's board.

Cornelius said, "All three men are prominent Park Ridge residents and their experience will contribute much to the Bank's program of constant improvement and expansion of its services."

Ballard is President of All American Life & Casualty Co., 225 Touhy Ave., Park Ridge. He has been in business in this community since 1956 and lives at 501 Edgemont Lane, Park Ridge. He was born in Little Egypt, Ill. and received his education at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale. At age 18, he entered the teaching profession and taught rural school in southern Illinois for ten years.

In 1929, Ballard entered the personal insurance business in Bowling Green, Ky., as a representative of the Alliance Insurance Co. with which he served as salesman, general agent, supervisor and assistant director of agencies. Nine years later, he joined Jefferson National Life Insurance Co. in Indianapolis as agency vice president.

ON FEB. 1, 1952, he became executive vice president and sales director of the newly formed All American Casualty Co., now All American Life & Casualty Co., and two years later became its president.

Fred Haack, Jr., a resident of Park Ridge for the past 39 years, maintains his home at 1429 South Courtland Ave.

He is president of Capital Brass & Aluminum Foundry Co. in Chicago, a position he has held since 1927. Other business affiliations include: president of Western Engineering & Tool Design, Chicago, president of Smeeth-Harwood Co., Chicago, vice president of Dixie Bronze Co., Birmingham, Ala., and director of St. Clair Manufacturing Corp., Bellwood. He has served in various official capacities of the Non-Ferrous Founders' Society, a national organization.

Haack has been active in Park Ridge civic affairs for many years. He served on the City Council from 1937 to 1943, and as Mayor of Park Ridge from 1953 to 1957. A strong supporter of the Park Ridge Y.M.C.A. since he became a member of its original board of directors in 1954, he has remained active and has played a key role in its growth and development. He has also been active in the Park Ridge United Fund work.

JOHN N. METROPULOS, a Park Ridgian since 1959, has his residence at 101 Cuttriss.

He is president of J. N. Metropulos & Associates, Inc., with offices at 777 Busse Highway, and has maintained his business headquarters in Park Ridge since 1956.

Metropulos operated an insurance agency in Springfield, Ill., for five years before joining the All American Life & Casualty Co. as an agency builder in 1953. For 10 consecutive years he has won the Special Agency Builder of the Year award which is given to the agency which produces the greatest volume of paid premiums annually.

Other business affiliations are: vice president and director of Park Ridge Associates, Inc., and director of American Ingenuity, Inc.

Metropulos is a member of the Executive Club of Chicago, Park Ridge Chamber of Commerce, Elks Club of Des Plaines, Lions Club of Park Ridge and the Park Ridge Country Club. He belongs to the Medinah Temple, Springfield Consistory and Springfield Masonic Blue Lodge No. 71. He is also a member of St. John's Greek Orthodox Church of Des Plaines of which he is a past president.

Million Dollar Salesmen Feted

Those honored were:

Joseph Allbright, 76 Lonsdale Road, Elk Grove Village;

Robert P. Calkins, 780 Crest St., Elk Grove Village;

R. M. Sharp, 534 Ridgewood Ave., Elk Grove Village;

F. Vernon Schlexer, 1518 N. Walnut, Arlington Heights; and

Charles C. Marshall, 824 N. Walnut, Arlington Heights.

All but Marshall are employed by Centex Construction Co., Elk Grove Village. Marshall represents Colonial Heights, Inc., Mount Prospect. (RE

Cheapest Fixtures Can Prove Costlier

When choosing plumbing fixtures, the cheapest is usually the most expensive in the long run. Take water closets for example.

The cheapies are harder to keep clean, lose their luster faster, are noisier, and don't function as well mechanically, causing repair bills that are usually avoided with the better quality fixtures.

One of the most highly recommended water closets is the siphon-jet type with an elongated bowl, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. It flushes best, with the least noise. It's the most sanitary. And it costs very little more than the cheapest one on the market.

THE WOMAN who wants convenience in cleaning should ask her plumbing contractor to install an off-the-floor model. Since all piping goes through the wall instead of the floor, including the connection to the wall joints, there is a six-inch space beneath the closet which eliminates the problem of stooping to clean around the fixture. It even makes carpeting the bathroom a much simpler job than heretofore.

Additional information about water closets and other bathroom fixtures, including the new vanity lavatories and decorated fixtures, may be obtained by writing to the Plumbing Fixture Mfrs. Assn., 1145 19th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. (5BB

FHA Homes Now Include Dishwashers

Is a home equipped with an automatic dishwasher worth more than one that is not? Very likely.

Statistics on FHA appraisals and actual sales of homes show that dishwashers are more apt to be included in homes in the quality price range than in those in the lower price brackets.

For example, 52.5 per cent of all new homes appraised by the FHA in 1964 at $22,000 or more were sold with dishwashers, whereas none of the homes under 9,000 had this appliance. In the medium price bracket, 15.2 per cent of the homes appraised at $17,000-$17,999 were equipped with dishwashers.

Among existing homes, dishwashers were included in 40.6 per cent of homes valued at $22,000 or more, in 10.3 per cent of homes in the $17,000-$17,999 range, and in only four-tenths of one per cent of the homes under $9,000.

Automatic dishwashers were included in 15.2 per cent of all new homes and 8 per cent of all existing homes financed with FHA-insured mortgage loans in 1964. Both figures represented an increase over 1963, continuing a growing trend toward including dishwashers as standard items in both new and existing homes.

The most recent U.S. Census Bureau figures show that one out of every four new homes sold in 1963 included a dishwasher in the selling price.

Men's Club Chooses Officers

Area residents will head the Executive, Administrative, Professional (E-A-P) Men's Club at Automatic Electric Company, Northlake, during 1966.

Elected president of the organization comprised of more than 700 management employees was R. F. Barnes, Jr., 1S677 Lorraine, Glen Ellyn, supervisor of Automatic Electric's market analysis section.

Kenneth Kaiser, 6N505 Fairway Lane, Itasca, superintendent of installation, was elected vice president; J. E. Olson, 819 Highland Ave., Glen Ellyn, manager of fabrication control, was named second vice president; and F. V. Krisch, 596 Swain Ave., Elmhurst, credit manager, was elected secretary-treasurer of the club. (5BB

Koltz Named by Baird & Warner

Leo Koltz has been named director of commercial management at Baird & Warner, according to an announcement by John W. Baird, president. In his new capacity, Koltz will supervise management and leasing of properties housing shopping centers, stores and office buildings in the Chicago suburban area.

Shopping centers in his portfolio include Hillside, Green Knolls in Downers Grove, Rolling Meadows, Valley in St. Charles, Ranch Mart in Buffalo Grove and Woodridge, as well as commercial buildings in Glenview (Colonial Court), Elmhurst, Oakbrook and Hammond, Ind.

BEFORE COMING to Baird & Warner, Koltz had been associated with Cities Service and Red Owl and National Tea Co. food stores for which he had handled management, site selections and lease negotiations, and also was active as a developer of commercial properties. He holds a degree in business administration from the University of Oklahoma, and pursued the study of real estate and property management at Northwestern University and the YMCA College.

A native of Chicago and World War II veteran, Mr. Koltz lives with his wife, who also is a University of Oklahoma graduate, and two children at 264 E. Harrison Road in Lombard.

A former member of a Chicago Cubs farm team, his local activities have centered around youth activities including boys' baseball and boy scouting.

Koltz helped to organize the Lombard Toastmaster's Club, which he served as its first president and as an area governor. Mr. and Mrs. Koltz and their children attend St. John's Lutheran Church.

Stan Fic Put In Charge of Night Shift

Stan Fic, of Bensenville, has been named in charge of complete night shift operations at the Franklin Park television factory of Motorola, Inc., according to Walter B. Scott, vice president of consumer products manufacturing.

Fic's promotion is part of a series of factory changes necessitated by expansion of rectangular tube color television production at Motorola.

The Bensenville man resides at 239 Tioga. (5BB

Heating Discomfort In 'Good Old Days'

The fireplace is enjoying a decided comeback—especially for the family or recreation room.

Some psychologists claim the fireplace symbolizes the security and safety of the home, and that its new popularity represents an unconscious desire to return to the "good old uncomplicated days" of great grandpa's time—when family ties were close. Every member of the family, children included, knew exactly where they belonged in the social scheme of things.

There may be something to this theory, the Illinois Assn. of Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors says. Ever since the first cave man discovered fire, the fireside has been regarded as the center of the home and of family life. It conjures up visions of united, cozy families gathered around a blazing fire at the end of a hard day, toasting their toes and popping corn.

THE FACT is, of course, that few homes were adequately heated by fireplaces—or even the old-fashioned pot-bellied stoves of yesteryear. Up close, people were roasted. At any distance from the fire, they froze. Furthermore, fireplaces caused a great deal of smoke, soot, ashes, etc., greatly complicating mother's cleaning problems. They also took up a great deal of space, and the room's decor had to be built around them.

Yes, the fireplace is picturesque. It evokes nostalgia. It's fun to have one in the modern home. But as far as indoor comfort is concerned, the Association says, few people would call the good old days really good or want to go back to them.

Today's central hydronic (hot water) heating system, by contrast, is highly efficient, clean and so unobtrusive that it's scarcely in evidence. Boilers are so compact that one the size of a portable TV set can heat an entire house. Hot water is piped to baseboard radiation in individual rooms, distributing heat that is even, clean and draft-free. The baseboard interferes not at all with the placement of furniture or hanging of drapes.

BUT WHILE the heating system is unobtrusive these days, it remains the heart of the home, since the family's comfort, health and convenience depend on it.

This is why it should be kept in top working order at all times. It should be checked annually by a qualified heating contractor. And if your plant is old and performs erratically, if it's bulky and takes up too much space, it's probably time for a replacement—with a modern compact boiler and scarcely-to-be-seen baseboard radiation.

Elected by Bakers Club

Frank J. Wenter, 200 Firth Road, Inverness Countryside, Palatine, executive vice president of Clissold Publishing Company, has been elected to the board of directors of the Bakers Club of Chicago. The organization is composed of bakery management people and those allied with the industry.

Clissold is publisher of Baking Industry, the oldest trade magazine in the field. (10BB

Realtors Opposed To Revenue Change

The Chicago Real Estate Board and the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards are opposed to the proposed amendment to the Revenue Article of the Illinois Constitution to be presented to the state's voters next November, CREB President Henry J. Schneider announced Thursday.

"Committees of both the local and state real estate associations devoted extensive study to the proposal before recommending opposition," Schneider said.

"While there has been widespread recognition of the excessive burden on the real estate taxpayer under the present tax structure, the proposed amendment ignores his plight," the Realtor leader declared.

"NO PROVISION is made for abatement or reduction in the real estate tax. In fact, some informed observers are convinced the amendment would result in an increased real estate levy," he pointed out.

"Our association recognizes and supports the need to change the state's Revenue Article towards the end of meeting the needs imposed by present circumstances and those in the foreseeable future. We stand ready to work for constructive solutions to the state's revenue problems which are fair and equitable," Schneider declared.

"The proposal under consideration, because it fails to alleviate the real estate tax situation, is not fair and equitable. Notwithstanding the merits of other changes the amendment would precipitate, we are opposed to the proposal," he concluded. (RE

Schnackel, Myslo At Dealers Meeting

Chuck Schnackel and Gene Myslo of Palatine Heating & Cooling, Palatine, were among the more than 400 midwestern air conditioning dealers attending a meeting here at which it was predicted industry volume would top $3 billion in 1966.

Officials of Carrier Air Conditioning Co., which co-sponsored the meeting with area distributors, said the total value of U.S. air conditioning equipment installations in buildings here and abroad during the year would rise nine per cent to nearly $3.2 billion from an estimated $2.9 billion in 1965.

Company spokesmen told dealers the recent growth rate of the air conditioning industry has been more than double that of the gross national product.

OF PARTICULAR significance was a prediction that packaged equipment of the type sold by dealers would show the sharpest sales increase in 1966, primarily because of increased demand for central home cooling systems.

Sales of packaged units, not including room air conditioners, are expected to increase 15 per cent to more than $1.1 billion, the company said. Room air conditioner sales are expected to rise about seven per cent above the 1965 retail value of $650 million, the company added.

The meeting was one of a series of 13 which Carrier is staging around the country to acquaint its dealers with new products and business developments within the industry. (10BB

Insurance Firms Earnings Increase

Investors Security Life Insurance Co.'s earnings last year jumped 300 per cent to a record $402,540 from the previous high of $131,110 in 1964, James H. Hall, president, announced today.

Hall said that 1965 represented the third consecutive year the six-year-old insurane firm has shown a profit. "This is a record we are proud of in view of the fact that only a handful of young life insurance companies have been able to show such a consistent earning record in their early existence."

HE ALSO POINTED out that the company's surplus and paid-up capital had increased to $2,031,741 by the year end from $1,595,616 in 1964. During the year $300,000 was transferred from surplus to paid-up capital. Net investment income was ahead 35 per cent at $208,166 in 1965 against $153,644 in the previous year. Insurance in force at the end of 1965 was $253,430,000, a gain of 8 per cent over 1964.

Hall predicted that insurance in force will surpass $300,000,000 in 1966.

During 1965 the company received license approval in 10 states — Florida, Indiana, Nebraska, Nevada, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Wyoming and will initiate sales programs in each of these new areas when life insurance portfolios are approved by each state.

The company's chief executive said that "our expansion program will continue in 1966 and we expect to obtain license approval in 10 additional states before the year end."

Prior to the certification in the 10 new states, the company was operating in Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana and Illinois.

Tax Queries to Be Answered In Internal Revenue Column

Which tax form is best for me—the 1040 or the 1040A?

Can I claim my wife as a dependent if we file separate federal tax returns?

How much can I deduct for gasoline tax?

Answers to these and hundreds of other questions that taxpayers have about their federal income tax will be given in a tax column starting next week for readers of Paddock Publications newspapers.

Questions used in the column will be those most frequently asked by taxpayers. Both the questions and the answers are being prepared for Paddock Publications by the Internal Revenue Service.

"Our offices receive thousands of questions from taxpayers about their federal returns," states E. C. Coyle, Jr., district director. "They come in personally, they write us and they call us on the phone."

"BY PROVIDING answers to the most frequent questions in a widely read newspaper, we can reach more taxpayers than we can over the phone, by letter or in person. By finding the answers to their tax questions in the newspaper, many taxpayers will save themselves a phone call or a visit to our office," said Coyle.

"The Revenue Service believes that giving clear, courteous and complete answers to taxpayer questions is one of its most important jobs. If we don't provide the tax information that citizens need then the self-assessment tax system may suffer," said Coyle.

Although federal tax law is complex, answers in the column will be written for the layman rather than the lawyer or accountant. Answers to tax questions will be technically accurate but they will be put in everyday language.

IRS officials said that questions used in the column will be those that have the broadest interest.

READERS WHO follow the tax column should receive a well rounded picture of federal income tax requirements. Through answers to questions, readers will be able to find out who is required to file a return, what is considered taxable income, the expenses which are deductible and those which are not, and the requirements that have to be met to claim a dependent.

The column will cover changes in the tax law and regulations that affect the average taxpayer. Information on the tax guides and booklets published by the IRS will also be presented through the column.

The column will carry answers to questions that taxpayers have about the automatic data processing (ADP) system being installed by IRS for both individual and business returns. This system is now beginning to operate throughout the country.

AS PART OF the ADP system, a National Identity File has been established which includes every individual taxpayer. This file provides a check list to disclose failure to file returns, failure to report income, duplicate refund claims, errors in identification and other deficiencies.

To insure the smooth operation of the system taxpayers should fill out their returns carefully and be sure to supply all the information required. Of particular importance, is to put the Social Security on each return in the designated place.

The whole ADP system is built on these numbers. Tax records of individuals throughout the country are identified by number in the central file kept at the National Computer Center in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Refunds, for example, are scheduled by the ADP machines based on taxpayer identification number. If a taxpayer expecting a refund does not list his tax account number in the proper place or if the wrong number is given, there will be a delay in the refund check.

Garland Named to President's Club

Maurice A. Garland, a member of the Chicago branch office of Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, has been named to the company's President's Club for outstanding agents.

Other convention highlights will include a special luncheon for members' wives and a banquet honoring agents for exceptional sales and service performance. (10BB

Kaiser Celebrates 40 Years with Firm

Kenneth G. Kaiser, 6N505 Fairway Lane, Itasca, celebrates his 40th anniversary this month at Automatic Electric Company, Northlake.

Superintendent of installation since 1959, Kaiser, who holds two patents on inventions of telephone equipment devices, started with the telephone and electronics equipment manufacturing company in February, 1929, as an installer.

Prior to his present position, he served in various departments, holding a wide variety of supervisory posts within the company, which is a subsidiary of General Telephone & Electronics Corporation.

In 1934, Kaiser was appointed general plant superintendent for Barranquilla Telephone Company, Colombia, South America. There he worked to install the first trans-oceanic radio-telephone service between Barranquilla, Colombia and the United States.

He also installed the first radio-telephone equipment in Catatubo—a particularly dangerous jungle section of Colombia.

DURING THE late 1940's, the veteran employee was chief-installer in Montevideo, Uruguay for Automatic Electric International—an organization that is today part of GT&E International.

Born in Port Tampa, Florida, a graduate of Manatee County High School, Kaiser began his telephone career in 1926 as an apprentice switchman with Peninsular Telephone Company of Florida—now General Telephone Company of Florida.

He is vice president of Automatic's Executive, Administrative and Professional (E.A.P.) Men's Club and is past president of various community—as well as company organizations. He has been active in the Lombard Temple Corporation, the Lombard Temple Corporation, the Strowger Men's Social Club, and the Craftsmen's Club.

CURRENTLY, the Itasca executive holds membership in the Masons, the Scottish Rite Masons, the Shriners, the DuPage Shriner Club, the Ranchettes Fairway Park Association and is a Past Patron of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Married to the former Frances Ann Harrington of Chicago, Kaiser and his wife have two young sons—Kenneth Jr., age six, and Scott, four. (5BB

Marks 25 Years With Teletype Corp.

Harvey A. Young, 102 South Elmhurst in Mount Prospect, is celebrating his 25th service anniversary with the Teletype Corporation in Skokie.

Young, a native of Atlanta, Georgia, started his career with the Bell System in 1941 as a Lineman with Southern Bell Telephone. He spent twenty-two years with SBT before being transferred to Teletype, the Bell System's data communications manufacturer, in March, 1963. Young's assignment brought him into Teletype's Research and Development organization as an Engineering Associate in Product Development. In 1964 he moved into his present position in the Quality Assurance Department, Field Products.

Entering the U.S. Army in 1942, Young served two years in the Pacific in field communications. Upon completion of his tour of duty in January, 1946, Young had attained the rank of sergeant. He served as a cub-master for the past two years in Pack 152 and is presently an assistant scoutmaster of Troop 152.

Young and his wife, Jean, have three children: Bruce, Kimberly, and Mark.

Bruning Produces Book for Children

A 28-page book designed and written for children has been produced by the Charles Bruning Company to help introduce a new product to the adult world of business. In addition, the book is scheduled for distribution to schools and libraries this spring by the Chicago publishing firm of Albert Whitman & Company, Chicago.

Bruning, a division of Addressograph Multigraph Corporation, conceived the unique book as a sales promotion piece for use in the introduction of the new Bruning 3000 desk top electrostatic copying machine. A salient feature of the machine is its ability to copy from three-dimensional originals, like books, and is the first desk top copier on the market with this capability, according to the company.

"The book has a very practical application for Bruning," said Vic Turner, advertising manager, originator of the idea. "Not only does it give us a useful tool in demonstrating the remarkable features of the Bruning 3000 electrostatic copier, but it provides us with a quality sales tool that no one is likely to throw away." It is Bruning's belief that the book will be taken home and given to a youngster in the recipient's family. "Judging from the number of requests we've had for our book," said Turner, "our guess on its keepability is accurate."

Titled "Professor B and His Wonderful Time Machine," the book takes two youngsters, Beth and Brad, back through time in Professor B's time machine balloon to view first hand the history of man as he set down his thoughts for permanent record. The story leads logically to the contemporary business office and introduces the youngster to the modern copying machine. (They make a copy of their dog's paw.)

THE TEXT is totally noncommercial. Aside from the artist's sketches of the 3000 which appear near the end of the story, there is only one mention of the company's name—the Bruning copyright line on the title page. "And that's in small print!" said Turner.

Bruning ordered 20,000 copies of "Professor B and His Wonderful Time Machine" in its first printing and expects to order another run. These copies carry a special four-page sales promotion insert at the back which describes the features of the Bruning 3000. Publisher's copies which go into distribution in spring will not contain these pages.

Albert Whitman & Company describes "Professor B" as a "read aloud" book. And that, according to Turner, is one of the promotional secrets of the book. While its illustrations are specifically designed for the very young reader, its vocabulary is just a bit beyond their age. "That means that daddy is going to have to read the book aloud to his youngsters," said Turner. "He can't help but be reminded of the demonstration of the Bruning 3000 copier as he does so," he said. "It's a kind of subliminal approach," he added.

Transit Veteran Frugo Retires

A veteran of 43 years of transit service, John Frugo, 1512 Mark Drive, Mount Prospect, was among the Chicago Transit Authority employes who retired on pension on February 1. He had been superintendent of Kedzie station of the surface lines system since October 1, 1952.

Frugo started his career as a conductor on the double deck buses with the former Chicago Motor Coach company in January of 1923. He subsequently was advanced to dispatcher in December, 1925, and became a supervisor in October, 1951. Just previous to the consolidation of transit properties in 1952, he was named superintendent of Wilcox garage of the motor coach company.

Frugo owns the home at the present address in which he resides with his wife, Jane. They have two children, Mrs. Barbara Jean Gugliotta, and a son, John P., and are the grandparents of four, three girls and a boy. The Frugos are members of St. Emily's church, Mount Prospect. (10BB

Modern Etiquette

Q. Just what is meant by "semi-formal," as applied to the dress of both men and women?

A. This usually depends upon the community. In some places, where men customarily wear tails, semi-formal means tuxedos for them and simple evening dresses for the women. In a simpler community, it would be plain dark blue or gray suits for the men and afternoon frocks for the women.

4 Men Promoted by Continental Bank

Four residents of West suburban communities have been promoted to new positions at Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company.

They are Leonard A. Lescher, 159 Cottage Hill Avenue, Elmhurst; Joseph E. Purtell, 196 Oak Street, Elmhurst; Leroy E. Burlund, 231 Montrose, Wood Dale, and Charles F. Gore, 311 Astor Court, Villa Park.

Lescher has been advanced from secretary of the trust department to vice president in the same department. He entered banking with a Continental predecessor in 1925, and has worked in the bookkeeping, real estate, operating, counter, and trust administration and operation divisions. He was elected assistant secretary in 1952, trust officer in 1958, and secretary of the trust department in 1961. He is presently administrative officer in the agency and custody division of the trust department.

HE HOLDS AN LL.B. degree from John Marshall Law School, awarded in 1936. He is married to the former Florence Salzer. They have two children — Raymond and Judith Ann.

Purtell was promoted from assistant secretary to trust officer in the trust department. He started with a Continental antecedent in 1924 and has spent most of his career in the trust field, the bulk of his assignments being in the personal trust division. He was elected an assistant secretary in 1956.

He and his wife, the former Bernice May, have four grown children — Joseph J., Mary Claire, Patricia Ann, and Jeanne Rita.

Burlund moved up to second vice president from assistant cashier in the operating department. He has been with Continental or one of its predecessors since 1923. He has worked in the bookkeeping, accounting, and service divisions and the office of the building. He was manager of the accounting division from 1945 to 1958, and was named buyer in purchasing in 1958. He was elected assistant cashier in 1959.

He and his wife, the former Dorothy Arnold, have two daughters — Patricia Lee and Barbara Ann.

Gore went from assistant cashier to second vice president in the operating department. He started as an office boy with a Continental antecedent in 1922, and has worked in the bookkeeping, general duties, and personnel divisions. He is now assigned to the operations division. He was elected assistant cashier in 1958.

He is married to the former Anne Prendergast. They have one daughter, Mrs. Michael (Patricia) Erlenbaugh.

Zinser Personnel Expands Offices

Expansion of the Zinser Personnel Service facilities to four new suburban area offices in Evanston, La Grange, Oak Lawn and Park Ridge was announced today by Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, founder - director of the firm at 79 W. Monroe St., Chicago.

"The challenge of matching applicants to specific jobs is greater today than at any time in our 44-year old history," Mrs. Zinser said. "With so many Chicago firms relocating in the suburbs we found it necessary to extend our facilities in order to handle the increasing demands.

"Our main office is now geared to greater service to both employer-clients and applicants with the added advantages and conveniences of the suburban area offices," Mrs. Zinser said.

Location of the new suburban area office is: 28 S. Fairview Avenue, Park Ridge.

The Zinser Personnel Service is credited with being the only service of its kind with a training department which offers the teaching of typewriting and shorthand to beginners and those requiring remedial instruction.

Mrs. Zinser, active in civic affairs, is the recently reelected Chairman for Chicago's 45th annual Youth Week celebration in May. (15BB

Hilton Announces Metal Breakthrough

Commercial availability of the nation's first continuously cast aluminum bronze bars and tubes has been announced by the Masten Corporation, Chicago.

Carl Hilton, president of Masten, described the production of continuously cast aluminum bronze products as a "significant metalworking breakthrough." Until the announcement by Masten, aluminum bronze products had been made exclusively by the sand casting, centrifugal casting, or extrusion processes.

"This development of continuous casting by the Masten Corporation," said Hilton, "means that generally higher quality aluminum bronze bars and tubes are now available at generally lower costs."

THE MASTEN Corporation, which was founded by Carl Hilton in 1955, entered the continuous casting field just three years ago. Since that time, the company has scored three notable "firsts" in the field including: becoming the first company to continuously cast metal products both vertically and horizontally; the first to continuously cast manganese bronze; and, now, the first to continuously cast aluminum bronze.

Aluminum bronze solid bars and tubes are used in manufacturing and maintenance applications where especially high strength and hardness is required. The metal parts are used by machine tool and other manufacturers for bearings, gears, nuts, guides, bushings, universal joints, propeller and drive shafts, worm gears, wear and striker plates, and other parts. The aluminum bronze parts are highly resistive to fatigue, deformation, and wear.

Hilton resides at 600 Banbury Road, Arlington Heights, with his wife, Wilma, and children, Laura 16, Sandy 14, John 12, Carl 8, and David 1. (10BB

Policyholders Can Aid Charity

Northwest Suburban area residents who are policyowners with Mutual Trust Life Insurance Company have an opportunity to win a donation of $100 to the charitable organization of their choice, said Richard Clotfelter, General Agent with offices at 702 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights.

In announcing the fourth annual Mutual Trust Life Policyowner Good Citizenship Award program locally, Clotfelter explained that it is designed to support the contributions of policyowners who help make their communities better places in which to live.

Winners will be feted at luncheons in April and each shall receive a specially designed memento for his achievement.

POLICYOWNERS are asked not to be unnecessarily modest about their civic accomplishments. "The winner may be someone who led a clean-up campaign in his neighborhood; a mother who serves as a troop leader; someone who has been active in political affairs. In short, the winner is to be any policyowner who has given his time to help others."

A nominee must own at least one policy with Mutual Trust Life Insurance Company, but neither the amount of life insurance nor the length of time it has been in force will have any bearing on the award.

Northwest Suburban area residents who think they may qualify for the award or wish to nominate another policyowner may obtain information forms from Richard Clotfelter, 392-7510.

Marks Anniversary With Prudential

F. D. MURPHY

Francis D. Murphy, an agent in Prudential's West Suburban (Broadview) district, recently marked his 30th anniversary with the company. The announcement was made by I. A. Stupak, manager of the office, located at 22201 West Roosevelt Road (Broadview).

Murphy is a native of Indiana and was educated in Chicago schools. In 1922, he was graduated from St. Patrick's High School.

PRIOR TO entering the life insurance business with Prudential, he was assistant secretary and treasurer of Central Air Terminal Company.

Murphy and his wife, the former Kathryn McNamara of Cullom, Ill., live at 726 West Dempster Street, Mount Prospect. They are the parents of two sons—Donald and James.

Secretaries Plan Boss Night Dinner

Kaye Schneider, secretary to Edwin F. Schild, resident of Inverness, Palatine Countryside, president Airway Products Corp., has been burning the midnight oil at her office in Schiller Park helping committee members with preparations for the annual Boss Night and dinner to be held Feb. 21.

The dinner meeting to be held at Cafe Chablis, 6510 W. North Ave., Chicago, will have as its theme "Knight in Shining Armor" and beginning with President Lois Middleton's (secretary to Vern I. McCarthy, Jr., president Vulcan Containers, Inc., Bellwood) address of welcome to the moment that the "Knight of the Year" is chosen, the secretaries have planned a memorable evening for the bosses who will be the guests of honor.

Robert J. Summerfield, advertising and promotion manager of Laidlaw Brothers, a division of Doubleday & Company, Inc., River Forest, will be the master of ceremonies.

Summerfield, who has been with Laidlaw Brothers for almost 11 years, following a teaching stint in Michigan and service in World War II, is well known for his interesting, diverting talks. Much sought after as a speaker, the Chapter counts itself fortunate that as a former "knight" of one of its members he has included the Bass Night Dinner in his busy schedule.

Harriet Allyn, well known radio and TV personality will present the program—her one-woman show of original character sketches. Without leaving the stage, and a time lapse of seconds, Miss Allyn transports her audience from a New York dime store to a Montana ranch, so true to life are her characterizations.

The 6 p.m. social hour will be followed by dinner at 7:15. Mrs. Vergie Hayes, Downers Grove, and secretary to Ellis Friedman, president, Hoffman Products Corp., Chicago, is chairman of the committee planning the gala dinner meeting.

New Concept Keys Meet

A new industrial marketing methods concept, stressing efficient, modern management techniques designed to more than double sales in five years, was the keynote of the five-day 1966 Sales Seminar of Magnus Chemical, Division Economics Laboratory, Inc.

Among those at the Seminar, attended by Magnus district managers representing more than 160 Magnus salesmen across the nation, was Frank Ellery Lanaman, 527 W. Eastman, Arlington Heights, district manager for Magnus in this area.

Magnus Chemical manufactures and distributes world-wide a complete line of specialty cleaning chemicals, lubricants, finishes and coatings, cleaning equipment and boiler water treating chemicals for industrial applications.

E. R. Curtis Completes Course

Edward R. Curtis of United Rent-Alls, 708 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, recently completed a course in the Lawn Boy Service School at Galesburg, Ill. Instruction included the complete disassembly of the motor, re-assembly, blade balancing and inspection, and discussion of possible trouble spots.

How to promote service and increasng sales, as well as a tour of the factory, was also part of the curriculum.

The School is open to all who sell and service Lawn Boy products.

Stegeman Observes 25 Years on Job

William F. Stegeman, 2201 George St., Rolling Meadows, celebrates his 25th anniversary this month at Automatic Electric Company, Northlake.

A switchboard repairman in the switch mounting department, Stegeman joined the telephone and electronics equipment manufacturing company in January, 1941, as an errand boy.

Since those errand-boy days, the 25-year veteran of the company, which employs more than 13,600 men and women and produces telephone equipment for the Independent telephone industry, has held various jobs in the firm. He has been a stamper, packer, and an assembler.

MARRIED to a former company employee, Beverly R. Schaaf, Stegeman is active in many civic and service groups within the community. A former U.S. Airman, he has been Rolling Meadows' fire and police commissioner for six years. He is also a member of the Democratic and the Palatine township organizations. Employed at the Northlake firm too is William Stegeman's brother, Marvin J. Stegeman, a relay inspector in the relay assembly department.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stegeman are the parents of a daughter, Vicki Lynn, age 8.

Waldschmidt Hits $1 Million Mark

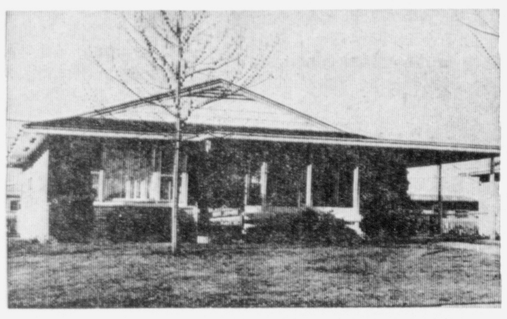
Ronald O. Waldschmidt of 16W620 Crest Ave. in Bensenville, field underwriter for New York Life Insurance Co., provided over a million dollars worth of life insurance coverage for his clients during 1965 and thus became one of the Oak Park general office's leading underwriters, according to Gus Gianakos, general manager.

Waldschmidt has been a consistent winner of company campaigns, and has been a member of New York Life's star production club for the past three years.

HE HAS ALSO received New York Life's "Centurion" award each year for demonstrating professional skill in handling insurance protection for more than 100 people per year.

Waldschmidt is a member of the National Association of Life Underwriters and holds the insurance industry's National Quality Award.

He is an Army veteran who attended both Northwestern University and Elmhurst College, and he holds a B.S. in business administration. He and his wife Marion have three children: David Alan, 7; Susan Lynn, 4½; and Peggy Ann, 2½.



Decorating in light pastels and new carpeting makes this 3-bedroom ranch a showplace.

Advantages of Buying a Home

1 Security
The safe feeling that comes with ownership, and the knowledge that your home is a safeguard against inflation. If prices go up, so does the value of your property.

2 Investment
Payments on your mortgage mean you are buying something, not just paying rent. You keep owning more and more.

3 Tax advantage
Your real estate taxes and the interest on your mortgage or land contract are deductible when you figure your income tax.

4 Financial independence
More people have started on the road to financial independence through home ownership than in any other way.

5 Standing and credit
You are a solid part of the community. You feel that you "belong" and home ownership gives you substantial credit rating.

6 Environment
Your children have a proper neighborhood in which to grow up. Your family finds itself among responsible homeowners with background much like your own. You establish roots.

7 A cash equity
A well-bought home is like a savings account.

8 Character development
Responsibilities of ownership develop business acumen and appreciation of financial independence . . . self reliance.

9 Peace of mind
Knowledge that provision has been made for your family . . . and that they can share in your pride of ownership.

10 Satisfaction
Along with the other advantages, there are many things that make life worthwhile — vegetables from your own garden . . . the chance for do-it-yourself projects, large or small . . . the backyard barbecue . . . the picture of your home on your Christmas cards. These heartwarming things are a very real part of owning your home.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

The use of tiny, dwarf fruit trees in home plantings has increased over the last few years. It appears there will be more interest in, and demand for, dwarf trees as people have more planting space, and leisure time.

Dwarf treees are smaller than the standard sized trees grown in most commercial plantings . . and are especially adapted to backyard plantings, where space often is limited. Popular varieties of dwarf apple and pear trees are generally available from most nurseries. However, peach, plum, and cherry have not been grafted extensively nor for very long on dwarfing rootstocks . . . and so we know very little about their performance. Also, the trees producing stone fruits except for sweet cherry are naturally small as compared with the apple and you can restrict their size by pruning.

If you're a home grower, dwarf fruit trees will give you these advantages. They usually begin to bear one or two years earlier. You can plant several varieties of fruit with different ripening times, all in the space required for one standard variety. You can prune or train them as ornamentals in landscaping, on wires or trellises, against walks, or along a walk and a drive. And you don't need heavy machinery for doing this. Then too there are advantages of fragrant bloom in spring and quick welcome shade in summer.

ONE TEMPORARY disadvantage of dwarf fruit trees is they are generally more expensive than the standard fruit trees. This is because of the extra labor and time required in grafting and growing. Also trees that are dwarfed are usually less firmly anchored in the soil than standard trees. Thus they may need permanent wiring or staking to keep them from blowing over.

Whatever you plant, start considering some dwarf trees this spring. You'll enjoy growing them and you'll harvest some delicious fruit in just a few years.

And for those who already have a few fruit trees planted here's a warning. The temptation is sometimes strong to prune fruit trees too early in the winter.

I'd suggest waiting until late winter or early spring before pruning most fruit trees. Then danger of severe weather is past. This practice is particularly important in many home-garden plots that contain fruit, such as peaches that are not too hardy. Late freezes can ruin the fruit buds that are left on the plants after pruning. If pruning is left until later, damaged wood and buds will be removed, and all live buds can be kept to produce a crop. All American Life Moves to New Home

On Feb. 11, All American Life & Casualty Company moved to the magnificent O'Hare Plaza Building, Chicago. A titan of white marble and glass, this superbly functional structure, heated with light, is the only multi-tenancy office building of its type in all of Chicagoland.

Mr. E. E. Ballard, president, commented, "Once again, we have outgrown our present facilities due to fantastic growth which has far exceeded our estimates. By May 31, 1966, All American will reach one billion dollars of life insurance in force. Our new home at O'Hare Plaza was selected because it is located in the path of Chicago's population trend toward the northwest, close to O'Hare International Airport and the expressways, and gives us quick access to all parts of metropolitan Chicago and the nation."

FOR THE present, All American will occupy 40,000 square feet in the seven story building on a lease basis with option to buy the building during the third year. O'Hare International Bank will be located on the first floor. The 6½ million dollar ultra modern white marble building is the first of the many buildings, including a luxury motel, planned for a 20 million dollar development of O'Hare Plaza. On completion, 5 rolling acres with lush green lawns, spacious bench-lined walks, shrubs and trees will provide a stimulating, fresh new setting and environment in which to work.

All American Life & Casualty Company was formerly located at 225 Touhy Ave., Park Ridge, Ill. The building built by the company in 1961 was sold during 1965 to another insurance company. (BB wind throughout the subdivision with homesites along each side of the fairways. Each site is a minimum of one acre and homes are restricted to a minimum size of from 2,000 to 2,500 square feet depending on design.

ANDERSON has been engaged in the real estate development business for the last 15 years and has participated in the planning and development of a number of tracts of land in the northwest suburban area.

For the convenience of visitors, a property office is located on Route 53 approximately two miles north of Rand Road (US 12) or one mile west of Route 83. (15BB

Women Invited to 'Holiday-for-Two'

Lane Bryant invites women to enter a "Greece And Israel Holiday-For Two" Contest which runs in the store from January 30th through March 31st, 1966, it was announced today by Lee Freedman, store manager. There is nothing to guess, compose or buy in order to enter the contest. Customers simply fill out an entry blank, available at any Lane Bryant store and deposit it in the store not later than March 31st.

The prize, to be determined by a chance drawing, is a magnificent 21-day trip to historic Athens, celebrated Delphi, modern Tel Aviv and biblical Israel, including Jerusalem, the Galilee, Mount Carmel and other points of interest. A superb Greek Islands cruise is included. Transportation will be on Olympic Airways for the winner and a companion. Hotel accommodations are arranged at quality hotels with Modified American Plan meal service, and generous sightseeing tours are included.

"WE HOPE THAT the public will take advantage of the opportunity to enter the contest," Mr. Freedman said. "The trip is an exceptionally interesting one and we are glad to be able to offer it."

Lane Bryant is a group of 115 nation-wide women's specialty shops founded in 1900 by a widow who took in sewing to support her small son. Her fame grew when she created the first ready-to-wear maternity garment. (15BB

Northwest Industrialists To Hear Bukich

Businessmen from the northwest suburban area will take time out during their lunch on Thursday, February 24, to learn how the Chicago Bears became the comeback football team of the year.

Rudy Bukich, star quarterback of the Chicago Bears, will be the featured speaker at the Northwest Suburban Manufacturers Association monthly luncheon. In season play with the Bears, Bukich was the leading passer of the National Football League. Now a Sports Commentator with WBKB-TV in the off-season, Bukich will give the businessmen his views of last season's remarkable comeback, and the outlook for the Bears next season.

Manufacturers interested in attending this meeting should contact the Northwest Suburban Manufacturing office at 9500 W. Belmont, Franklin Park, Ill. Call 678-4366. (15BB

HOW To Make The RIGHT DECISIONS When Buying A Home

What will it cost you each year to maintain a home? You should determine this before you buy. All homes, including new ones, require maintenance. Some kinds of construction require more than others. Exterior painting is less for a brick home, but initial cost is usually higher.

In addition to these, there are taxes and insurance, the rates for which vary in different locations.

Estimates of all these costs should be obtained before you buy, and your local Realtor is the one who can guide you on learning all there is about the home you want.

YOUR REALTOR CAN HELP YOU MAKE THE RIGHT DECISIONS

HOW To Make The RIGHT DECISIONS When Buying A Home

What will it cost you each year to maintain a home? You should determine this before you buy. All homes, including new ones, require maintenance. Some kinds of construction require more than others. Exterior painting is less for a brick home, but initial cost is usually higher.

In addition to these, there are taxes and insurance, the rates for which vary in different locations.

Estimates of all these costs should be obtained before you buy, and your local Realtor is the one who can guide you on learning all there is about the home you want.

'They Ask a Lot of Questions'

Agency Serves Homemakers

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

The Homemakers Extension Service is not a country cousin — unsophisticated in urban-suburban ways.

Suburban women find its programs relevant to their way of living. Homemaker Extension Units tailor their programs to fit the needs of the group.

"Women who join the units are city oriented and interested in further education," explained Evelyn Augustin, home adviser who operates from the Home Economics Extension Office in Des Plaines. Unit programs give women the top view and keep them current in the fields that affect them as homemakers.

DURING THE year, programs will concern foods and nutrition, clothing, home furnishings, family life, art, home management and family economics, community interest and international relationships, health, and safety.

The units give the women needed information and develop their leadership.

Homemaker extension units do not concentrate in a specific subject area like an adult education course would. The setting of the meeting is purposely informal.

Units in the suburban areas have members of varying ages and interests. Mrs. Augustin frankly admits the extension service is trying to attract younger women with children. In 1967 the extension service plans to have two basic programs, one for the younger homemaker, the other for older women with retirement plans.

MRS. AUGUSTIN explains the younger women can benefit the most from extension programs.

The home adviser, a woman trained in home economics, plays a key role in the extension service provided in each county. She attends unit meetings on alternate months, presenting the program. Unit leaders present the programs on the months the home adviser is not present.

The women at the unit meetings have "a good intellectual capacity" and they ask a lot of questions, Beatrice Bagby, a Cook County assistant home adviser said. She and Mrs. Augustin agreed this career demands that they be professionally alert.

"These women expect the old-fashioned home economist," they added. Most home economics schools are turning out specialists.

IF THE HOME adviser doesn't know the answer, she finds it. Mrs. Stanley Olsen, 6N401 Lloyd Ave., Itasca, remarked about this quality. The home adviser's readiness to find the answers she doesn't know is appreciated by unit members.

The extension service includes a reference service. Each unit member receives material on monthly programs. In addition, she can call the cooperative extension offices for particular bulletins on a subject or for general information.

"If a woman has a question about a recipe, a problem with material, she can call us," said Mrs. Augustin.

Mrs. Augustin recalled one question a woman sent the home advisers. Retiring to a limited income, she wanted to know whether it was more economical to drive around and pay her bills or e a five cent stamp to mail them. She also wanted to know whether it was more economical to turn lights on and off or allow them to burn. The home advisers appealed to University of Illinois specialists for the answers that it would be cheaper to mail bills and keep lights burning longer times.

HOME ADVISERS become used to odd questions. One man called to ask advice on handling his toupe. A friend had advised him to use Karo syrup to make it stick to his head but the syrup was coming through the hair. Another caller wanted to know how to remove the musty odor from a crawl space in a home.

Once women attend unit meetings, they usually become sold on their merits. Mrs. Melvin Helsper, Plum Grove Road, Schaumburg, believes any member finds something of value in each monthly unit meeting. She cited the unit program on women's rights under Illinois law as a program that probably gave new information to every member. As unit chairman of the Hanover-Schaumburg group, Mrs. Helsper is convinced "if more women knew about the unit programs, more women would be active."

"You think you know everything about raising children and homemaking until you hear a talk by the home adviser."

NOT ALL THE women are skilled in cooking and sewing, Mrs. Charles Franzen, 116 W. Washington St., Bloomingdale, said of her unit. Everyone wants to learn more.

DuPage County women interested in sewing can take a four-day sewing course in Lombard and advance from beginner to advanced work. Special courses also are offered in subjects such as furniture refinishing. Each county extension service offers the concentrated courses.

Arlington Heights unit chairman, Mrs. E. R. Jannusch, 722 E. Euclid St., finds many members enjoy the tours that are part of the homemaker extension activities. Her unit has gone to Old Town and Marina Towers in Chicago, Sara Lee Bakery in Deerfield and the annual flower show at Chicago's McCormick Place.

Mrs. Olsen of the Itasca unit looks forward to the annual visit to the antique show in Chicago.

MOST UNITS plan craft days during the year. The Palatine group, for example, made Christmas decorations from cornstarch, salt and water. The Bloomingdale unit worked with felt. Another time they tried aluminum etching.

"We're not looking for the bored woman who wants a social club," Mrs. Augustin said.

The extension home economics is part of the Cooperative Extension Service established by Congress in 1914 to help the people of the United States improve their farms, homes and communities. The U. S. Department of Agriculture, the state of Illinois and the county share the financing of the program.

Every land grant university such as the University of Illinois must have an extension service.

Information on the extension office can be obtained by calling 824-2879 for the Cook County Cooperative Extension Offices and 668-5114 for the DuPage County offices.

KNITS ARE ONE of the new fabrics that need special handling. Mrs. Melvin Helsper, Hanover-Schaumburg Homemakers Extension Unit leader, will give her group tips on the handling of knits. (Staff photo)

INFORMATION ON KNITS is just one type of information women learn in the Homemaker Extension Unit meetings monthly. They keep up to date on current topics of interest to homemakers. Mrs. Melvin Helsper, Plum Grove Road, Schaumburg, will tell her group about the handling of knits. She took a leadership course to learn the basics on her subject. A home adviser visits each unit on alternate months to give the program. (Staff photo)

Skin Disease Contagious

Watch Out for Impetigo!

One of the most common and unsightly conditions to affect the skin, especially that of infants and children, is contagious impetigo.

An infectious disease caused by pus-forming germs, contagious impetigo usually begins on the face, ears, neck or hands as a small blister — or cluster of blisters — varying in color from yellow to dark red.

It may take on the appearance of a cold sore on the lips. The sores usually appear within a few days or a week after the germs enter the skin through a cut or scratch.

UNLESS CHECKED early, the condition has a tendency to spread rapidly about the body and take on epidemic proportions, often causing an outbreak in an entire family or school. For these reasons, parents should be alert to the appearance of the aforementioned blisters, which may also resemble crust-like scabs or pimples.

If one is infected, he should avoid contact with others, for this form of impetigo is easily spread from person to person by both direct and indirect contact (use of towels, wash cloths, etc.). Athletic equipment such as wrestling mats and boxing gloves are also instrumental in its spreading.

Good hygiene is always a factor in preventing the disease, and parents and children alike should be taught the need for using their own toilet articles.

THOUGH THE sores of impetigo do not itch, burn or pain, it is sometimes natural for people to scratch or pick on them. This, of course, should be avoided for the pussy material sometimes associated with the condition can lodge beneath the fingernails or on the fingers, yielding another source for transmission of the causative germs.

Fingernails should be kept short and clean. Pillowslips should be changed frequently and laundered apart from other linen. Underclothing or clothing which is in contact with the skin should be also handled with great care.

In the care of contagious impetigo, the scab-like crusts are removed and the smooth, red, moist skin beneath is carefully treated with an antiseptic. Very often, one of the antibiotic drugs is employed, and frequently in stubborn cases the x-ray is used. With proper care, the condition may be cleared up within a few days to a few weeks.

SINCE THE prevention of disease is everyone's aim, wise is the parent who teaches the child early habits of good hygiene. Remember, one case of contagious impetigo can cause an outbreak in an entire family or a school. Be suspicious of that innocent-looking blister.

Coloring Contest To Begin Today

The Chicago World Flower and Garden Show coloring contest starts in today's (Thursday) Paddock newspapers. The first drawing to be colored is on page 2 of this section (Suburban Living).

The flower show will be held at McCormick Place March 19-27.

This coloring contest is open to all children between the ages of 7 and 11. To enter all a child need do is to color the illustration on page 2, using paints, crayons or chalk, and mail the drawing to Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, by the Tuesday following its appearance in the newspaper.

FOUR DRAWINGS will be published in the contest, one each week for four weeks.

There will be a winner each week who will receive an artist's kit. One week the prize will be a Kodak camera kit. A grand prize winner will receive a professional artist's supply set valued at more than $50 or a Kodak movie camera.

All winners of the weekly prizes and the grand prize award will be presented their prizes at the flower show Thursday, March 24, at 7:30 p.m.

The weekly contest entries will be judged by the staff of Paddock newspapers. The weekly winning drawings then will be judged by professional artists at the flower show.

COLORING WILL be judged on originality, neatness and over-all appearance.

Prizes are being donated by Charles Klehm and Son Nursery of Arlington Heights, Eastman Kodak Co., Sears, Roebuck Co. and the Coca Cola Bottling Company of Chicago.

In addition to the prizes, each weekly contest winner will receive free flower show tickets for the entire family.

Deadline for this week's contest entries is Tuesday, Feb. 22. The contestant's name, address and telephone number should be printed and attached to the entry.

Winners will be notified as soon as each week's judging has been completed.

February 25 Is World Day Of Prayer

The annual World Day of Prayer, in which women of 16 area churches will participate, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 25, in St. Simon's Episcopal Church, Kirchoff Road, Rolling Meadows.

Participating from Arlington Heights will be women from First Baptist, Christian Church, St. Simon's, Evangelical, Lutheran Church of the Cross, Our Saviour's Lutheran, First Methodist, First Prebyterian, Southminster United Prebyterian, St. John United Church of Christ and Congregational United Church of Christ.

From Rolling Meadows women will represent the Community Church and from Elk Grove Village the Prince of Peace Methodist, Elk Grove United Presbyterian and Church of the Good Shepherd, St. Nicholas Episcopal Churches.

Dorcas Guild Gives Help

What happens when a mother is hospitalized or becomes sick? What happens when the husband is away and the family needs help? What happens when someone new moves to town and is lonely? What happens when there are no relatives or friends to help?

These and other questions began to bother the pastor of Lutheran Church of the Cross, 2025 S. Goebbert Road, Arlington Heights. While calling on families in the area, Pastor Larry D. Cartford saw the need for a helping hand on many occasions. He has encountered situations among new and established residents where help was needed due to sudden illness, stress of strange surroundings or just plain lonesomeness. Yet, where could these people find help?

At one of the meetings of the Lutheran Church Women, Pastor Cartford brought this need to the ladies. They discussed it, and the suggestion was offered that the women of the Lutheran Church of the Cross form a guild of service which would be available to help anyone in need in the community. The LCW members decided to form the Dorcas Guild.

THE PURPOSE of the Dorcas Guild, named after Dorcas, "Who spent her days in deeds of kindness and charity," (Acts 9) is to provide assistance where and when help is needed. The Guild offers to the community the services of child care, preparation of meals, laundering, ironing, providing transportation or a friendly visit to the lonely.

An example of the Guild in action took place several days ago when the husband of a family was seriously injured and hospitalized some distance from home. The women of the Dorcas Guild assisted this family by preparing meals, providing child care, doing the laundry and the ironing; this permitted the wife to leave town to be at her husband's bedside. In addition, Guild members have provided transportation to the distant city and have remained with the wife through this critical time.

"The Dorcas Guild is here to serve the community," said Pastor Cartford. "It is my hope and the hope of the women of the Dorcas Guild that they can serve others in the community in their time of need."

PASTOR CARTFORD said he now has a well-organized group of volunteers available to pitch in at a moment's notice when he learns of families in need.

Anyone needing help in times of stress is asked to call the chairwoman of the Dorcas Guild, Mrs. Robert Tesmer, 437-3854, or Pastor Cartford at 437-5141 or 439-1322.

Book Review In Palatine

A current best seller "A Gift of Joy," which relates the warm memoirs of actress Helen Hayes, will be reviewed by Mrs. James Todd of Morton Grove for the Palatine Book Review Club on Tuesday, Feb. 22. The luncheon and review will begin at 12:15 p.m. in Brandt's Restaurant, Palatine.

This will be Mrs. Todd's first appearance for the club this season, although she did a review for the group last year.

Mrs. Warren Colclessor will greet guests at the door.

Bensenville Unit to Meet

A "Guide for Buying Dresses" will be given at the Feb. 22 meeting of Bensenville Unit of the Homemakers' Extension Association. The home advisor, Mrs. Rachel Crabb, will start the lesson at 1 p.m. in Green Street School, with a business session and refreshments following it.

Information on the unit is available by calling PO 6-1856.

New Column

Suburban Living will start a new weekly feature for gardeners in its issue of Feb. 24.

Through cooperation of the Arlington Heights Garden Club, a day-by-day column of garden hints will run in the Suburban Living section each week.

Valentine Date For 'Seniors'

Members of Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club will be hostesses to the senior citizens of the area at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 21 at Mount Prospect Community Center. Theme for the meeting is "Be My Valentine."

The "Arlingtones," a barbershop quartet from Arlington Heights, will present the program for the evening.

The club's Senior Citizen department will furnish transportation for those in the area who wish to attend. They may call Mrs. Robert Petersen, chairman, at CL 9-3174.

Palatine GOP Club To Hear Editor

A desire to learn how editors establish a basis for recommending election candidates has prompted Palatine Township Regular Republican Woman's Club to invite Charles E. Hayes, executive editor of Paddock Publications, to its Feb. 21 meeting. He will speak on political publicity and the factors which qualify as "newsworthy."

The public is invited to this meeting, to be held in the First State Bank of Palatine at 8 p.m.

The program will be followed by a question and answer period.

MR. HAYES received his master's degree in journalism at Northwestern University and has been with Paddock Publications since 1954 as reporter, news editor, managing editor and now as executive editor.

He has been the recipient of national press awards, including that honor from the National Religious Publicity Council, the Governor's Award from the Illinois Commission on Human Relations and the Distinquished Service Award from Alpha Phi Gamma, national journalism honorary society. In addition he has received many awards on his special "in depth" series published in Paddock Publications from 1958-65. (S

Area Garden Clubs To Exhibit in Show

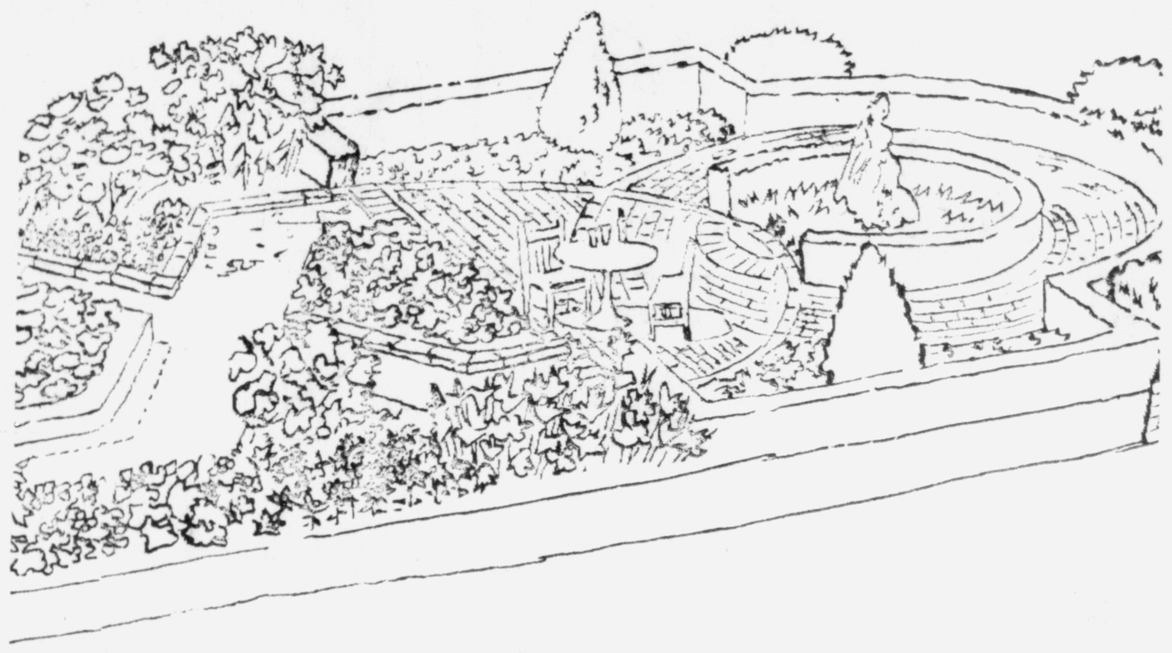
Area garden clubs are making plans to participate in the Chicago World Flower and Garden Show at McCormick Place slated for March 19-27. "America, the Beautiful" is the theme of this year's show, with exhibits interpreting phrases of the patriotic song in abstract, modern and free form arrangements.

Plum Grove Garden Club and Palanois Park Garden Club, both of Palatine, and the Garden Club of Mount Prospect as well as the one in Arlington Heights will enter the competitive design classes.

MRS. DONALD Gardner of Mount Prospect will exhibit in the invitational abstract design class, interpreting "For Spacious Skies."

Mount Prospect Garden Club members have been invited to serve as hostesses at the show on March 23. Mrs. Emil H. Fick is president of the club.

Mrs. Ralph Sandeen, also of the Mount Prospect club, is assisting with hospitality duties during the entire show.



THIS WEEK'S coloring contest sketch shows a portion of the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Chicago's garden at the Chicago World Flower and Garden Show. It is a reproduction of a famous Williamsburg garden. This patio section has grass panels, brick walks, light green shrubs. The flowers are colorful spring blossoming lilies, marigolds, petunias and daisies.

Judith Cheek Becomes Bride of Jack Kriesse

Following a 2-week honeymoon in Florida and Georgia, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kriesse are making their home in Des Plaines. The bride is the former Judith Ann Cheek, daughter of the Clyde H. Cheeks, 127 S. Bobby Lane, Mount Prospect. The groom is the son of the Ambrose Kriesses of Roselle.

The couple's wedding took place Jan. 8 in St. Mary's Church, Des Plaines, with Fr. Earl Thomas officiating. All white carnations decorated the altar for the double ring service which took place at 2 o'clock.

The bride's selection in wedding gowns was a white satin empire A-line with Alencon lace on the sleeves and bodice. Her detachable train was also trimmed with appliques of the lace and her headpiece of lace and seed pearls held a 3-tiered butterfly veil. A nosegay bouquet of white roses and trailing ivy completed her ensemble.

MR. CHEEK gave his daughter in marriage, and Miss Mary Cheek, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Miss Arlene Kriesse, and Miss Carol Eustice of Des Plaines. All wore cerise velveteen sheath gowns. Fashioned in empire style, the gowns featured chiffon sleeves. Pink carnations, pink Elegance red garnets and trailing ivy made up their bouquets.

Serving the groom as best man was Phil Christaphano of Chicago, a cousin of the groom. Ushers were the bride's brother, Ron Cheek, and Dennis Blakely of Chicago.

A RECEPTION for 100 guests was held in the Park Ridge Country Club where Mrs. Cheek received in a dusty rose silk linen dress with Alencon lace and a corsage of pink cymbidium. Mrs. Kriesse chose a dove gray silk shantung jacket ensemble with corsage of pink phalaenopsis. A number of friends and relatives from Michigan were among the guests.

The new Mrs. Kriesse was graduated in 1962 from Maine West High School and is now a receptionist in a Park Ridge doctor's office. The groom attended Prospect High School and is with Mohawk Construction Co. in Rolling Meadows.

Tuberculin Testing

TB Agency Has Answers

The Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County (the Christmas Seal agency) has prepared the following answers for readers of Paddock newspapers. Parents concerned with tuberculosis have asked questions about one of the greatest tools in the fight against TB.

What is a tuberculin test?

Tuberculin is a liquid that is free of germs. The test is a harmless test that tells if a person has TB germs in his body. When the test is given,a drop of tuberculin is put into a child's arm, just under the outer layer of skin.

What happens after the test is given?

If there are TB germs in the body, the spot where the test was given swells a little and may get red. This reaction will last for a week or so. Then it will go away. This reaction is called "positive."

If there are no germs in the body, there may be a smaller swelling and redness or there may be no reaction at all. This is called "negative."

It is important to remember that a test sometimes is not easy to read. Only a doctor or a nurse can do it.

What does it mean if a test is positive?

The positive reactor has TB germs in his body. It does not show if the germs have become active. It does not show any damage to the lungs. Many people are positive reactors. The only way to find out if a person does not have TB is to take a chest X-ray.

What happens to the positive reactor?

He will be given a chest X-ray. He may undergo other tests. Chest X-rays will be recommended for the rest of his family. This checkup will show whether any of them has active TB. It may find the source of the infection.

Why must there be a source?

TB is not inherited. TB is a contagious disease. It must be "caught" from someone with an active case of TB. A person who has a positive reaction to the tuberculin test and who later shows that he does not have active TB cannot infect anyone with his germs.

How long does a positive reactor remain positive?

A person with a positive test almost always stays positive for the rest of his life. It has been said the 30 million Americans are positive — that means, they have TB germs in their body.

Why is a tuberculin test a good idea?

The test can discover an infection early when there has been no damage that can be seen by an X-ray. In these cases, a person can avoid active TB for the rest of his life through healthy living and good medical help.

If my school does not give tuberculin tests, where can my child get one?

A tuberculin test can be had from the family doctor. The clinics operated by the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium and the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District give tuberculin tests. For more information, you can call the Tuberculosis Institute at 243-2000.

What more can a parent do to protect children from TB?

You can make sure that all the adult members of your family get a chest X-ray every year. Chest X-rays are given every month of the year in many places throughout the city and the suburbs. For information, call Canal 6-5181. Besides detecting TB in its early stages, chest X-rays often uncover other chest diseases. (SSD

Homemaker Unit Members Urged to Get Pap Test

A statewide campaign is being conducted this year by the Illinois Homemakers' Extension Federation to urge all members of homemaker units to go to their doctors for a Pap test for uterine cancer.

According to statistics of the American Cancer Society, 14,000 American women will die of the disease this year. For this reason the IHEF, in cooperation with the Illinois division of the American Cancer Society, is sponsoring the project to help save lives.

Theme of the campaign is "Give Your Doctor a Chance."

ALL COOK and DuPage County homemaker units will be participating in the Pap testing program, with unit health chairmen in charge of the promotion in each group. The goal is to enroll as many members as possible for the Pap test, with actual testing to be done by their own doctors.

According to scientists, uterine cancer can be detected by the Pap test before symptoms appear, at a time when it is most curable. The technique itself is named for Dr. George Papanicolaou who developed it with financial support of Cornell University, the Commonwealth Fund, the National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society.

BY ENROLLING as many of the 45,000 members of the 2,000 homemaker units in the state, the project will save many lives during the 6-month campaign which ends in June.

Upon completion, there will be an Annual Citizens Conference in June to evaluate results. At that conference certificates of accomplishment will be awarded to units who have enrolled a record number of members for the test.

Doctor Finds Mothers Don't Cause Colic

Mothers, you are not to blame if your newborn baby develops colic. This news comes from Dr. Jack L. Paradise, pediatrician of the Bellaire Clinic, Bellaire, Ohio.

Dr. Paradise told colleagues attending a recent meeting of the American Academy of Pediatricians that in a study of 146 mothers and their newborns he could find little evidence that the emotional state, intelligence, education or attitudes of mothers caused babies to get colic.

Some infants got it although their mothers were "cheerful nonworriers," the doctor noted. Other babies whose mothers were quite anxious did not get it. Nor did colic seem related to nausea during pregnancy, disappointment with the baby's sex, maternal age or parental allergy. He urged physicians to dispel such erroneous notions so as to relieve the new mother's anxiety.

Don't Blame Furnace For Dirt Problems

Few subjects relating to the art of housekeeping are so little understood as the matter of home heating and cleanliness. Stop 10 housewives on the street and 8 or 9 of them will tell you that the fuel burned in the furnace creates "dirt" or "soot" or "film" in the house. The one or two holdouts who do not make this statement are the real experts, for the fact is there is almost no relationship between the heating fuel used and dirt in the home.

Both gas and oil are burned in enclosed chambers. Combustion is virtually complete. Any vapors which do result are carried completely out of the house via the chimney. Fuels and the products of their combustion just don't get into living quarters.

WITH ANY FUEL or any type heating system a certain amount of dirt accumulates over radiators or over air outlets. When analyzed in laboratories this material generally turns out to be cooking fats from the kitchen, dirt which has come into the house on occupants' shoes or lint from rugs or furnishings.

All radiators and all air movement systems produce air currents within a room, and all air currents raise dirt from the floor and deposit it on the walls. The amount thus deposited depends on how clean the floors are kept and on the volume and velocity of air movement. This in turn is controlled to a large extent by the temperature of the heating element. The more heat, the greater the air movement and the more dirt deposited.

Mardi Gras Is Saturday

Much festivity is promised all who attend the Hoffman Estates Woman's Club Mardi Gras Ball Saturday, Feb. 19, in Golden Acres Country Club. Dancing will continue from 9 to 1 and highlight of the affair will be the crowning of a king and queen from the audience.

Proceeds of the dance will go toward the Hoffman Estates Community Band, provide a clock and prints for the Township Library, a music scholarship and a teen project.

Tickets are available by calling Mrs. John Liataud, 529-9390. (S

Arlington Juniors Make Allocations

Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club has announced allocation of funds to the General Federation of Woman's Club's approved philanthropies. Youth and education played a major roll in the club's distribution of $845.

The members voted unanimously to give a full $600 scholarship to a teacher of exceptional children. Arlington high school students will be recipients of two music camp scholarships of $50 each and one full $45 art scholarship to Allerton Park in Monticello.

In addition, Educational TV, Penny Art Fund, Radio Free Europe, Park Ridge School for Girls and Lincoln Lodge, an Illinois school for boys, received donations.

COMPLETING THE list of selected philanthropies were CARE, Brain Research, Indian Cheer, Operation Healthy Babies, Cancer Research, Project Hope and Congressional Medal of Honor Grove.

Later in spring the club will vote on distribution of funds to local organizations. A luncheon and fashion show on March 26 will add to this fund.

Contributions to Federation projects have been made through the sponsoring of two children's plays and Christmas Ball this year. (S

Nancy Lee Rousseau Weds Edward Johnson on Jan. 15

When Nancy Lee Rousseau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome A. Rousseau, 300 S. Waverly, Mount Prospect, became the bride of Edward John Johnson of Glenview on Jan. 15, she was attended by three girls, all dressed alike in teal and turquoise ensembles.

As they came down the aisle of St. Raymond Catholic Church for the 3 o'clock rites, the three were attired in floor-length dresses styled with teal blue velvet bodice and light turquoise chiffon skirts. Each girl carried white fuji mums tied with turquoise ribbon.

THE BRIDE'S cousin, Mrs. Richard Williams of Rockville, Ind., was matron of honor, and another cousin, Susan Girard of Elk Grove, along with Sharon Brouder of Mount Prospect were bridesmaids.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson of Baraboo, Wis., and his brother Dennis Johnson, was also here for the ceremony to serve as best man.

FATHER FENSKE performed the double ring rites as the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. She wore a white peau de soie floor-length gown, featuring a lace bodice trimmed with seed pearls and a skirt which fell into a cathedral train. Her silk tulle veil was chapel-length and attached to a crown of pearls and crystals.

White roses with carnations and ivy composed her bridal bouquet.

Seating the guests were Jerry Rousseau, brother of the bride, and Frank Lawrence of Fox River Grove.

A dinner reception followed, taking place at the Des Plaines Elks Club for 125 guests.

GREETING them, the bride's mother was dressed in an emerald green silk peau de soie suit and the groom's mother in a royal blue wool suit. Both had accessories to match their ensembles and an ivory cymbidium corsage at their shoulder.

The newlyweds are now living at 1106 W. Hawthorne, Arlington Heights. The bride, a Prospect High School graduate, is employed at Universal Oil Products Co., and the groom is with the Jewel Food Store in Des Plaines.

Stick-on Vinyl Is Decorative, Useful

Room without a view? Or perhaps too much exposure for privacy? Your apartment living room may face a blank brick wall, or your home may be too close to your neighbor or to the street. Don't close your blinds and sacrifice needed room light to avoid an unlovely "out" look or to restrict strangers' "in" look.

In a few minutes you can have the appearance and the benefit of frosted glass on any window surface. Use the new translucent "Cut Glass" pattern in Cling stick-on decorative vinyl covering.

It is striking and unusual for purely decorative purposes, too. The "frosted" effect contributes great elegance to this Art Nouveau study, accentuating the feeling of an era of Tiffany glass accessories and lush "modernistic" lines.

From a practical standpoint, it's the ideal solution to the problem of below-ground-level basement windows, the bathroom where a window shade isn't usable, and the kitchen window which frames a scene of battered garbage cans! Light filtering through yellow "Cut Glass" looks like cheery sunshine. Blue will give the spacious effect of a summer sky. Red softened by the passage of light, becomes a warming glow.

Cling cuts to the required shape and applies easily. It holds firmly, but you can whisk it off in a second when redecorating is desired. All variety stores have this inexpensive aid to prettier homes.

Jaycee Wives to Entertain At Coffee Sunday, Feb. 20

A coffee for visitors and prospective members of Arlington Heights Jaycee Wives has been set for Sunday, Feb. 20, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Greenbrier home of the group's president, Mrs. James Louden, 1403 W. Roanoke, Arlington Heights.

Invited to the coffee are all wives, 21 to 35 years of age, whose husbands are members of the Jaycees. Mrs. Louden will explain to the guests how the Jaycee Wives work for the community and how they help with projects developed by the Jaycees. "We are eager to meet new people and hope to talk them into joining our dynamic group" commented the membership chairman, Mrs. Bart Stull of Arlington Heights.

PROJECTS OF the Jaycee Wives last year included a card party which netted $50 for Clearbrook School, making visual aids for the school, providing powder for 300 layettes and bibs for 60 babies for a local hospital auxiliary, gifts and a completely decorated Christmas tree for a family.

A continuing project is the Jaycee Wives' interest in 82-year-old Mr. Saxer, a resident of the Lutheran Home. The group has been visiting Mr. Saxer for more than a year remembering him on holidays and special occasions, such as his birthday Feb. 8.

THE GROUP meets at 8:30 p.m. the first Thursday of each month in Mrs. Louden's home where the program often includes guests speaking on area issues.

Newly-elected officers of the group will be toasted at the Jaycee Wives dinner Thursday, March 3, at Plentywood Farm in Bensenville. Plans are to meet for cocktails at 6:30 followed by dinner at 7 p.m.

Wives of Jaycees interested in more information about the group may call Mrs. Stull at 259-4536. (S

Pick Issues For Study By AAUW

The program development committee of Arlington Heights Branch of the American Association of University Women will meet Monday, Feb. 21, to select five emerging issues which will be presented to the branch at the March meeting. Mrs. Charles A. Aldag, 409 S. Yale, will be hostess to the committee session.

The program of the AAUW, at all levels, consists of activities that relate to four program topics which are selected every two years for study.

DURING THE Feb. 21 committee meeting, the women will begin to refine and evaluate the emerging issues which have been submitted by branch members through recent weeks.

At the March 10 branch meeting, the committee will present five of these issues from which the branch will select three. These three will then be sent to the association for consideration in the picking of the four program topics for all branches for the coming 2-year period. (S

Delores Eiler Answers:

What is the correct age to begin dancing lessons?

The best age for boys and girls to begin is three, but how old are you now? This is the correct age.

By the age of three the child is ready to take instruction outside the home. He is trying to find self identity and dance education is the best possible medium. It teaches the ability to coordinate mind and body, to develop memory, to take instruction, to become part of a group for attaining definite goals and satisfies the need to feel important by progress of personal achievement. All this in addition to the joy of expressing himself to music by dancing. It establishes good physical and learning habits that he will need all his life.

The school age child needs direction that promotes the good character habits as well as physical dexterity that dance training gives. For the child that takes dancing, there is never "that awkward age." The shy child, as part of a group is able to participate and derive the pleasure of accomplishment and develop the self-confidence needed to overcome that painful shyness.

The teenager needs the companionship of others who are interested in achievement, developing poise, keeping physically fit and having fun doing it. Dance training is an excellent outlet for emotional energy.

Our adult classes are excellent for keeping the muscles in tone, figure control, regaining flexibility and for personal fun and well being. Adults who take lessons find they feel so rejuvenated and are so much more able to go about their daily living.

Delores Eiler established her first school in 1947. She now has schools located in Arlington Heights, Palatine and Deerfield. All are listed in local phone directories.

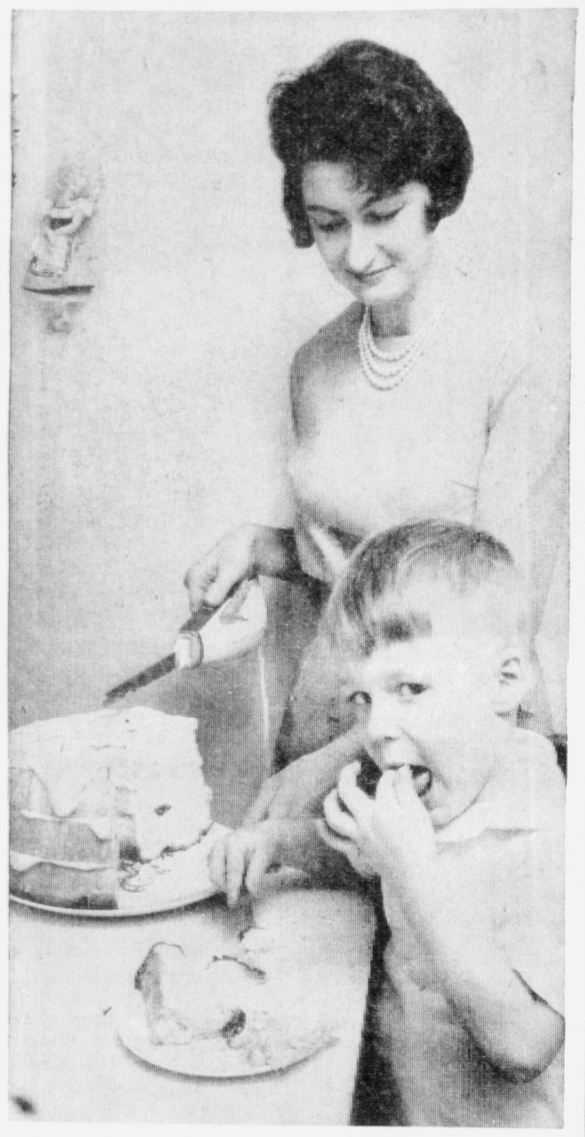
This Cook Likes to Create Her Own Recipes



THERE'S NO DOUBT that Dwayne Densinger enjoys his mother's delicious strawberry-filled angel food cake. Mrs. Norman Denzinger of Mount Prospect makes this high, light and handsome dessert using packaged mixes for both the and handsome dessert using packaged mixes for both the cake and the filling. It is easy to prepare, yet an elegant dessert treat. (Staff photo)

Favorite Menu Is Hit with Children

By LOIS SEILER

Mrs. Norman Denzinger of Mount Prospect has a favorite dinner menu that she likes to serve to guests, and if her company includes children, they enjoy it, too.

It features beef, either a sirloin tip or rump roast, with stuffed potatoes, two flavorful vegetables, a fruit salad and a choice of desserts.

"I like to serve a fruit cup as an appetizer," said Mrs. Denzinger.

She uses fresh fruit with a little canned fruit added, and marinates it in a sweet wine. Chilled for an hour, it is an appealing appetizer for this tasty meal.

"We like our roast well done," commented Mrs. Denzinger, "because it makes a rich brown gravy which goes well with the stuffed potatoes."

"Twice-baking seems to change the flavor of the potatoes," Cathy Denziner declared, "so I only bake them once, mash them and refill the jackets."

Topped with cheese and butter, the potatoes are popped under the broiler for a few minutes before serving.

FOR VEGETABLES she serves candied carrots, which make a big hit with children, and green beans with bacon bits.

Canned pears and peaches are used for the salad and stuffed with a cream cheese mixture. chopped nuts or marashino cherries may be used as garnish.

A strawberry-filled angel food cake or brownies may be served as dessert.

Mrs. Denzinger makes an angel food cake from a packaged mix, cuts it into three layers and fills it with packaged strawberry Whip and Chill made according to package directions for use with frozen strawberries.

"The cake can be made a day in advance, as the filling stays firm and never seeps into the cake," she said.

Because it is nice and light, this cake is delightful to serve following a heavy meal. It is attractive, too, and looks especially pretty sliced and served with strawberries or whipped cream.

MOST OF THESE recipes Mrs. Denzinger devised herself.

"I like to experiment, and my family likes variety," she explained.

Her Brownie recipe she changed from the original to suit her taste.

"I've made this recipe for many years, even before I was married," she said.

Easy to prepare, these Brownies are moist and chewy with a fudge-like flavor. Cathy Denzinger dusts them with powdered sugar while warm, and cuts them into 1-inch squares to serve. They are a great favorite with her children, Connie Louise, 10, who is a fifth grader at Lyons Park School, and Dwayne, 3 years old.

The Denzinger family lives at 630 S. Edward in Mount Prospect. Mrs. Denzinger is a Campfire leader, a member of St. Raymond's Church choir and enjoys sewing and bridge for recreation. The family belongs to the YMCA and participates in swimming activities.

FRESH FRUIT WITH WINE

1 banana, sliced
1 apple, diced
1 orange, cut in sections
Grapes
2 canned pear halves, drained
1/3 cup Mogan David or port wine

Combine fruit and pour wine over all. Chill for about one hour. Serves 6.

STUFFED POTATOES

Potatoes
Warm milk
Butter
Salt to taste
Velveeta cheese
Paprika

Bake potatoes, cut in half and scoop out insides. Beat potatoes with a Mixmaster, using enough warm milk and butter to get the desired consistency. Season with salt. Spoon back into jackets. Dot generously with butter and place a thin strip of cheese down the center of each potato. Sprinkle with paprika. Just before serving, place under broiler until golden brown.

Candied Carrots

Carrots
Brown sugar
Butter

Cook carrots, and add to them brown sugar and butter. Use 2 tablespoons brown sugar to 1 tablespoon butter, depending on the amount needed. Coat well; serve hot.

GREEN BEANS WITH BACON

Cook green beans and drain. Season with butter and salt and sprinkle with crisply-fried bacon bits.

STUFFED PEAR AND PEACH SALAD

Canned peaches and pears
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
½ canned pear
2 to 3 teaspoons milk

Whip together the cream cheese, ½ canned pear and milk. (This mixture can be tinted pink.) Spoon into the hollows of the canned pears and peaches. Maraschino cherries or nuts may be used as garnish. Arrange stuffed pears and peaches and some chilled crabapples on a bed of lettuce on a serving plate.

STRAWBERRY-FILLED ANGEL FOOD CAKE

1 angle food cake, baked according to package directions
1 package Strawberry Whip and Chill
1 10-ounce package frozen strawberries

Cut angel food cake into three layers.

Prepare Strawberry Whip and Chill according to package directions, using the frozen strawberries. Spread between the layers and on top of the cake. Refrigerate for two hours before serving. Slice and garnish with strawberries or whipped cream.

BROWNIES

½ cup all-purpose flour
½ cup cocoa
Boiling water
½ cup margarine, melted
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt
¾ cup broken pecans

Sift flour and measure.

Add enough boiling water to cocoa to make a thick paste.

Beat eggs; add sugar and beat again. Beat in the melted margarine, cocoa paste, vanilla and salt. Add flour and mix until smooth. Stir in the chopped nuts.

Turn batter into a 7 by 10-inch greased pan. Bake in a pre-heated, 350-degree oven for 25 minutes. When done, dust with powdered sugar. Makes 24 one-inch squares.

This Week's Best Buys

Fresh vegetables average 10 cents more per unit than this time a year ago. There is little change in fruit prices. Apples, pears, oranges, grapefruit, strawberries are the same, despite mostly better crops. Midwest apples are a better buy.

Beef is a bargain in more stores. Lamb promotions possible on current market decline and heavier weights. Pork products are up again. Center cut chops advance in more volume outlets, generally $1.19 to $1.25. Sausage meats and cold cuts have jumped six cents a pound wholesale in recent weeks. Advance passed to retail now at average. Wieners formerly 79 cents are now 85; those 69 cents now 75. Liver sausage showed the biggest jump.

Fryers and eggs cost more too. Bacon steady. Butter up, average two cents.

Meats: round and sirloin steaks, ground beef, blade cut chuck roasts, rump roasts, corned beef, lamb shoulder roasts, pork steaks, veal chops, pork butt roasts and steaks.

Poultry: fryers: whole and cut parts.

Produce: grapefruit, tangelos, bananas, midwest apples; yellow onions, white potatoes, yams, rutabagas, carrots. (SH

1,000 Women to Crowd Rt. 83 Heading for 'February Flair'

Motorists traveling south on Route 83 Saturday, Feb. 26, will likely be waving to friends in other autos for that is the day of the seventh annual "February Flair" when literally hundreds of autos will be filled with at least 1,000 area women on their way to Elmhurst Country Club, scene of the popular hat show.

Sponsored by the eight junior women's clubs of the Seventh District, the sale of spring hats will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m. Shows, with representatives of the eight clubs serving as models, will be held at 10:30, 1 and 3 p.m. Rolls and coffee will be served during the morning show and dessert and coffee during the afternoon shows.

Between shows, guests will be invited to browse and try on hundreds of bonnets at their leisure. All hats will be from Hats by Sue according to Mrs. George Mullen of Elk Grove Village, chairman of the show.

THE EIGHT JUNIOR clubs, Arlington Heights, Atise, Des Plaines, Elk Grove, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg and Wheeling, have chosen as recipients of this year's proceeds, the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children and the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Association.

Clearbrook School has recently moved into its new building on Campbell Street in Rolling Meadows. With its new and enlarged facilities, this non-profit institution enrolls 46 children from 4 to 15 years of age. In addition, it now holds an adult workshop which helps 15 students from 18 to 27 years.

Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Association provides help to those seeking aid in emotional and mental disorders. It also aids in the prevention of emotional and mental illness by providing educational programs for the public, psychiatric consultation to schools, agencies and professional persons, psychiatric out-patient service for adults and children and individual and industrial counselling.

Tickets for "February Flair" may be obtained from any junior clubwoman or from the ticket chairman, Mrs. Henry Ehmann, CL 5-3992. (S

Suburban Living
Especially for Women

READY TO TAKE a "Flight into Fashion" are three members of the committee planning the Feb. 27 fashion show and luncheon for St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Woman's Club, Mrs. Harry J. Bennett, 119 Richards Drive, left; Mrs. James M. Miles, 251 N. Clark, and Mrs. Emil Batke, 305 N. Dean, all of Palatine. The "Flight into Fashion" luncheon and fashion show will be held at Itasca Country Club with the Bridal Terrace in Palatine furnishing the clothes. (Staff photo)

'It's Women's Business,' GOP Topic for Feb. 24

"It's Women's Business Too" will be Mrs. Marie Suthers' topic when she addresses Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club at their sixth anniversary luncheon Thursday, Feb. 24 in Old Orchard Country Club. Cocktails will be served from 12:30 p.m. and luncheon begins at 1:30.

Mrs. Suthers, who was one of the first advocates of qualified woman candidates for public office, has served as president of both the Illinois and the National Federation of Republican Women. She is author of "The New Primer in Parliamentary Procedure," a book which attempts to simplify fundamental rules of good procedure for conducting meetings, committee work and other organization techniques.

FOURTEEN WOMEN organized the Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club in 1960. There are now 150 members. At the monthly meetings, programs on politics, legislation, and economic matters are presented. The organization is planning to take a more active part in the selection of Republican women to run for office.

At the present, five members have chosen to take an active role in politics. They are Mrs. Alan Macdonald, Coordinator, Women's Activities, Cook County Republican Central Committee; Mrs. Leo Hunter, president of the 13th Congressional District Women's Republican Club; Mrs. Frank Kolerus, Wheeling Township Committee Woman and Township Auditor; Mrs. George Hauff, Township Clerk and Mrs. Thomas Novotny, Arlington Heights Village Clerk.

Women interested in attending the luncheon may call Mrs. William Andrews, luncheon chairman, CL 3-3970 or Mrs. Donald Marquis, program chairman CL 9-3850 for reservations. Attendance is not restricted to members and guests are welcome. (S

GAY DECORATIONS FOR THEIR Sunday, March 6 fund-raiser are prepared by members of the Service League for Crippled Children. The 4 o'clock affair will include a jazz concert and buffet supper in Long Grove Country Club. Proceeds are earmarked for the Children's Rehabilitation Center which serves the northwest suburban area. Working on the affair are Mrs. Charles Pipher, president, Mrs. Donald Hammerstrom, who is in charge of tickets, 392-5087, Mrs. Donald Deredey, Mrs. John Griffin and Mrs. Homer Nielsen, vice president. All are from Arlington Heights. (Staff photo)

'Clubbing' Moms Pay Honor To Housetending Hubbies

For endless hours of baby sitting and housetending while mother was out "clubbing" special certificates of merit were presented to the hard-working and cooperative spouses of Wheeling Junior Woman's Club members at a recent Sweetheart Night supper. Held in Jack London Junior High School, the menu featured spaghetti, garlic salad, rolls, coffee and cake.

The certificates, designed and lettered by the art committee, Mrs. J. Benjamin and Mrs. H. Rosenberg, were worn by the husbands as they listened to the women conduct their business meeting following the supper, and as they heard a speaker from the Illinois Attorney General's office speak on consumer fraud.

WHEELING Juniors recently made donations to the State Scholarship Fund for Teachers of Exceptional Children and the Brain Research Foundation, two of the projects supported by all junior federated clubs in the state.

The Scholarship Fund money goes to Southern Illinois University, Illinois State Normal and Northern Illinois University to aid students wishing to follow a career in teaching exceptional children. The Brain Research Foundation does research in bio-chemical and neurological aspects of retardation and their treatment. The Foundation is affiliated with the University of Chicago and Children's Memorial Hospital. (S

'Nature's Bonus' Is Garden Club Lesson Tuesday

"Nature's Bonus," a demonstration by Mrs. Hugh Crowe will be featured at the Arlington Heights Garden Club workshop Monday, Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at Pioneer Park Field House.

Mrs. Crowe, past president of the Skokie Garden Club and nationally accredited judge, will demonstrate how to take a branch, leaves and a few fresh flowers to create a floral arrangement.

Program chairman Mrs. Joseph Koenen, feels this presentation will show how fresh flowers can be used and enjoyed in the home during the winter months at a minimum of cost.

Members are asked to bring a container, a pin holder, line material such as (branches or evergreens), and leaves from a house plant. Flowers will be available and can be ordered in advance by calling Mrs. Koenen, CL 9-4514. There will be a nominal guest fee. (S

Handiwork On Display At St. James

Fashions by friends will be featured when the Women's Guild of St. James Catholic Church, Arlington Heights, meets tonight, Feb. 17, at 8:15 in the school hall. Mrs. Thomas McShane, program chairman, announces that members will model their own creations, including suits, dresses and hats.

Knitwear, needlepoint, antique flowers and other handicraft items will also be on display.

Mrs. Jack Crump, Spiritual Development chairman, has planned an exhibit of craft items to be used in the home to emphasize the Lenten liturgy. Assisting her are Mrs. Harold Kushner, Mrs. Thomas Frederick, Mrs. Louis Lekan, Mrs. Russel Fitton, Mrs. James Rudins, Mrs. Kenneth Keitel, Mrs. Frank Mueller and Mrs. Joseph Singer. (S

Sew and Plan Meeting Set By Area UPW

"A Day with UPW" has been scheduled for the February meeting of the United Presbyterian Women of the Community Presbyterian Church of Mount Prospect. The day will begin at 9:15 Wednesday, Feb. 23, and women will be free to participate for as many hours as they can until 3 p.m.

Throughout the day, members will talk briefly about special church interests and combine their efforts with others to do service for the various church-sponsored settlement houses. Choir robes will be made for Peniel House, quilt squares will be cut and sewn for Christian Industrial League, bandages will be rolled for the Ganado Indian Mission, simple dresses and bibs will be made for Christopher House and health kits will be assembled for the migrant program.

Hostesses for the day's refreshments will be Esther Circle, with Mrs. Frank Herold as chairman. Mrs. Charles Houchins is the association president. A special guest during the 1 p.m. refreshment hour will be Mrs. Gilbert Bowen, wife of the newly-installed pastor of the church. (S

St. Edna Women Hear Review

A book review by Georgine Reynolds was presented as the program Wednesday evening when St. Edna's Women's Club of Arlington Heights held its monthly meeting in St. James Hall.

The group is now making plans for its April meeting when the St. Edna's Players will present a comedy, "Way Off Broadway Presents," featuring members of the club. Members' husbands will be guests at this affair and the newly-formed St. Edna's Choral Group will present musical selections from Broadway shows. (S

Study Group Asks: Has Art Gone Mad?

Whether art has gone mad or whether we see things as they really are will be discussed by Audrey von Varga Monday, Feb. 21, when she talks at an art study group meeting of the Arlington Heights Woman's Club. The meeting, to be held at the Countryside Art Gallery, 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights, will also include a tea and will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. according to Mrs. Lester Schreiber, chairman.

"A Clue to Modern Art" is the title of Mrs. von Varga's talk which will cover what has happened to art since the turn of the century and also consider the role of the camera and its influence on the artist.

MRS. VON Varga, educated in Europe, is a former assistant curator of the Dayton Art Institute in Ohio. One of six directors of the Countryside Art Center, she is in charge of public relations for this local group.

Countryside Art Center operates the Countryside Art Gallery and promotes lessons and lectures for the community as well as displays art works of recognized artists in its monthly shows. Examples of contemporary and traditional works are available at all times. (S

Juniors Host Card Party

Rolling Meadows Juniors on Feb. 2, hosted its "Hearts are Trump" card party at Pioneer Park. Mrs. Walter Sergot, ways and means chairman, reports a "complete success."

"Despite the cold weather, the tables were filled and the ladies enjoyed an evening of cards, prizes and refreshments," she commented. A member of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs, Seventh District, Rolling Meadows Juniors meet the second Monday of each month at the Bank of Rolling Meadows. The evening meeting begins at 8:30 and features a variety of programs. Mrs. Charles Morgan, CLearbrook 5-7089, may be contacted by women wishing further information about the club. (S

Junior School Benefit Planned

Suburbanite Friends of the Chicago Junior School will hold a dessert card party Thursday, Feb. 24, at the West Park fieldhouse, Western and Garden Streets, Park Ridge.

Mrs. Michael Schwartz of Mount Prospect is in charge of the special table at which homemade food and baked goods will be on sale. Among her helpers will be Mrs. Robert Bates, also of Mount Prospect.

Proceeds will go to help the Chicago Junior School of Elgin. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Robert Hiller, 823-3730. (S

THE GOLDEN YEARS

DEAR SIR: YOUR RETIREMENT SHOULD BE ABOUT LIKE THIS

A 67-year-old man, retired for two years, has seen fit to write a letter of advice to former colleagues who are still on the job and moving up toward age 65:

"Dear Friends":

"I want to tell you in a simple and honest way what I have learned about retirement in two years. If you'll listen I think you'll learn something.

"Retirement is all right. So don't fear it. It has some problems. It's not all good. But it's all right, and in some circumstances it's wonderful.

"Money is your major worry, as it was mine. I have found money, in retirement, to be a contradiction to all I ever knew about it. The more you have — almost without exception — the thinner your retirement will be. You will need the basics, which are food, shelter, and clothing. I have seen many people getting these in trailer parks and in other economical retirement communities in the citrus belt on $200 to $250 a month . . . and in almost every case they are mingling with people and are happy. I have found that the more money a retired couple has, the higher level of living they adopt . . . and the higher the level of living, the fewer contacts with other people.

"The rich retirement communities are dull, sterile, and lonely places. The cheap ones are bubbling with life. Go see.

"Your three major problems in retirement will be loneliness, idleness, and a feeling of uselessness. Know this now. Then figure your own peculiar way to solve them. There are no rules, no textbooks.

"Your major responsibility in retirement will be your wife. First, to help her adjust to your being home all the time; and second, to get your affairs in such shape that she will be provided for in case you go first.

"I have found religion good. But only in the services, the Bible, and the prayers as I feel I want to say them. Not in the ushering. I would warn you that you will get little satisfaction from being a busy-boy in the mechanics of your church.

"I have come to believe that three diseases kill you in retirement: cancer, heart trouble, and laziness. The laziness is because your pension and Social Security will support you and thus become a narcotic. Fight it.

"I have found that plenty of friends can be had in retirement, provided you're not obnoxious and not a cheapskate in returning invitations.

"I have found that retired people who develop self-sufficiency — who read books, have a minor hobby, watch TV, read newspapers so they have something to talk about, and fill up their days without outside help — are the happiest.

"Love from Freedomland,
"John H. Wharton."

Set Draws Raves

VT Burlesques Simon Play

By JOAN REDDY
Paddock Drama Critic

One of the "in" things is to know that Neil Simon is the hottest playwright on Broadway. His earlier minor success, "Come Blow Your Horn," is now on view in the Village Theatre's production at Prospect High School. Simon's forte is comedy and his talent is the ability to find comic situations that still have a realistic ring to them.

Unfortunately, Village Theatre's resident director, Richard Tyler, doesn't see things that way. Instead of presenting a play about believable people, he produces an all-out farce, complete with the broadest of burlesque movements and gestures. If you like your comedy laid on thick, without subtlety, then this is your dish.

"Come Blow Your Horn" is the tale of a perennial New York bachelor, imbued with the Hugh Hefner philosophy, who inspires his younger brother to break the traces at home and come join him in "the good life." But when little brother becomes like big brother, the life doesn't look so good any more.

AS THE OLDER brother, Daryl Schultz gives a competent performance that smacks of all the slickness of a playboy but lacks the charm to explain why the girls all fall in his arms. One jarring note is Schultz's own Iowa accent which is a bit far out for a man born and raised in Brooklyn.

Apparently more influenced by director Tyler's heavy hand is Eugene Good as the younger brother. He goes through his role at a frenetic pace, cracking his voice to indicate naivety, shaking his knees to indicate nervousness and, in general, performing in the burlesque tradition.

Good fails to convey the change as the young boy becomes the Lothario. The first is played with a "golly, gee whiz" attitude, and the second is done by "golly, gee whiz" with a leer.

THE OUTSTANDING performance is that of Bob Hawley, who plays the father who feels abandoned by both his sons. When he shouts, "Bum!" there is no doubt that he is a father who knows his sons are the bummiest of the bummiest. Although the role calls for a lot of ranting and raving, Hawley produces it all under beautiful control.

Sarah Levin, as the mother, could have used more of this control. Her performance is generally too much in one key. It is a good caricature of the typical Jewish mother, but with more modulation, it might have been a characterization.

Both Hawley and Mrs. Levin take well to their New York-Yiddish accents, with Hawley getting a slight nod.

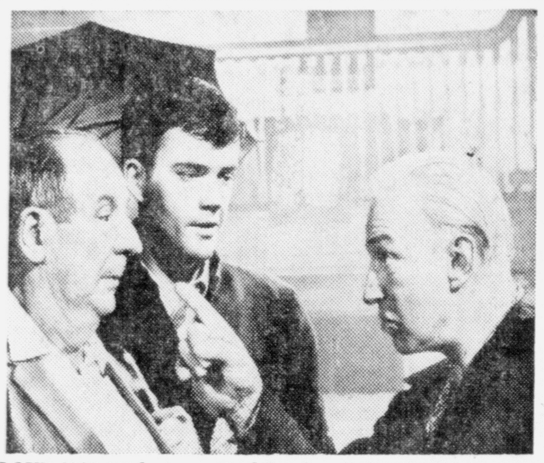
ALTHOUGH the two bachelors are apparently wallowing in girls, only two appear in the play. As the kind of girl a man would marry — if he were the marrying kind — Carol O'Dea presents the picture of a nice girl who still has enough spice to keep a man interested. She is an attractive leading lady, but her elaborate hair-do seems inappropriate for the character. Although a minor point, that hair-do still is disturbing.

Well cast as the nubile girl upstairs is Karen Koreba. Well-endowed, in the Jayne Mansfield manner, she does wonders for beaded knits. Although a redhead, she goes through her role in the best dumb blonde tradition.

In spite of hitting the audience over the head with its humor, "Come Blow Your Horn" is up to Village Theatre's usual high production standards. The bachelor apartment set is so well executed that it evokes applause from the audience. (Seldom does a VT set fail to get applause.) All in all, the production has verve, dash and professionalism.

It is too bad that director Tyler did not have more respect for an audience that can take its comedy straight without a burlesque hypo. (Bill

ROD STEIGER as Mr. Joyboy, chief embalmer at a Hollywood memorial park, is deeply smitten with beautiful mortuary cosmetician Aimee Thanatogenos (Anjanette Comer) in the hilarious satirical comedy, "The Loved One," starting tomorrow (Friday) for an exclusive showing at the new Randhurst Cinema.



LLOYD NOLAN lectures Paul Ford and Jim Hutton for being tipsy in this comic scene from "Never Too Late," Technicolor and Panavision comedy also starring Maureen O'Sullivan and Connie Stevens. It's the motion picture version of the Broadway play about the middle-aged couple about to have a baby at an age when most couples are grandparents. It opens tomorrow (Friday) at Prospect Theatre.

At Ft. Knox

Lt. Richard J. Kenyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Kenyon, 1414 Gloria Drive, Palatine, recently completed a nine-week armor officer orientation course at the Army armor center, Ft. Knox, Ky.

During the course Lt. Kenyon received instruction in the duties and responsiblities of an armor officer and was trained in artillery, infantry and engineer operations, armor logistics, automotive maintenance and map and aerial photo reading.

The 22-year-old officer is a 1961 graduate of Palatine Township High School and entered the Army in November 1965.

A member of Alpha Phi Omega, Alpha Kappa Psi and Beta Alpha Psi fraternities, Kenyon was commissioned in 1965 through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program at the University of Illinois in Urbana.

At San Diego

Pfc. Thomas W. Ostermann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Ostermann of 1305 Cottonwood Lane, Arlington Heights, was meritoriously promoted to his present rank and received a marine corps "Dress Blues" uniform at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego. He competed with approximately 80 other recruits for the award, which is presented by Leatherneck Magazine to the honorman of each platoon during recruit graduation. (10WUS

At Ft. Sill

Pvt. Michael E. Laskowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Laskowski, 307 S. Waterman Ave., Arlington Heights, completed an artillery fire direction control course at the Army Artillery and Missile School, Ft. Sill, Okla. recently.

The fire direction specialist operates equipment that guides artillery fire to its target. During the eight-week course, Laskowski was trained to compute target distances using logarithmic and trigonometric tables and received instruction in mathematics and map reading.

The 20-year-old soldier, a 1963 graduate of Prospect High School in Mount Prospect, entered the Army in September 1965. He completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. (10WUS

Chamber Concert Slated Monday

A chamber music concert in the foyer of Orchestra Hall next Monday, at 8:30 p.m. will be the only program presented by The Orchestral Association this week.

Guest artist for the chamber concert will be Lillian Siskin, a pianist who founded the North Shore Piano Quartet in 1962. Miss Siskin, who has previously appeared with the Tulsa and Houston Symphony Orchestras, will perform Bloch's Quintet for Piano and Strings.

FIVE MEMBERS of the Chicago Symphony will perform. They are Victor Aitay, associate concertmaster; Edgar Muenzer, a member of the first violin section; Milton Preves, principal violist; Frank Miller, principal, violoncellist and Clark Brody, principal clarinetist. The first four compose the Symphony String Quartet.

Tickets for this concert are on sale at the Orchestra Hall box office, 216 S. Michigan Avenue. For information call: 427-0362.

In Seoul, Korea

In the Philippines

Airman 3.C Thomas S. Hempel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie P. Hempel of 1201 W. Sunset Road, Mount Prospect, has been graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the training course for U.S. Air Force air freight specialists.

Airman Hempel, who attended Lane Technical High School, Chicago, and Forest View High School, is assigned to an air force unit in the Philippines.

WITH UNCLE SAM

CADET GARRY B. ALDEN, 1751 Taft Ave., Rolling Meadois, (second from the left) was with a group of 19 other cadets from the U. S. Air Force ROTC unit at Illinois Institute of Technology who inspected the NASA manned spacecraft center near Houston. They were permitted to go aboard the model of a lunar excursion module designed to land two men on the surface of the moon during Project Apollo. They also viewed films taken during the Gemini 6 and 7 flights and examined the pressure suit used by Scott Carpenter on his Aurora 7 flight.

On Terrebonne Parish

Michael Brost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias L. Brost, 307 S. Rush St., Roselle, serving in the Navy aboard the Terrebonne Parish, has been promoted to Engineman Second Class.

Mr. and Mrs. Brost were notified by his commanding officer that the promotion was the result of his having successfully passed "a difficult, highly competitive, Navy-wide examination."

Candidates chosen to take the examination were selected on the basis of their professional knowledge, military aptitude, and past performance.

"Mike," who graduated from Lake Park in '61, is completing his fourth year in the Navy.

At Ft. Knox

Pvt. Siegfried E. Gronall, of 209 E. Clarendon, Prospect Heights, recently completed an armor turret maintenance course at the Army armor school, Ft. Knox, Ky.

During his 10 weeks of training, Gronall received instruction in the maintenance of tank and other combat vehicle turret mechanisms, tank guns, range finders and small arms.

He entered the Army in August 1965, and completed basic training at Ft. Knox. (10WUS

At Ft. Leonard Wood

Pvt. Stephan S. Vylasek, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Vylasek, 7500 N. Elmhurst Road, Bensenville, recently completed a leader orientation course at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

The course prepares trainees to be assistant platoon sergeants and squad leaders of basic training companies and to be selected for the course, the trainee must meet higher-than-average mental and physical requirements.

The 18-year-old soldier is a 1965 graduate of Forest View High School in Arlington Heights. Before entering the Army he was employed by United Air Lines in Elk Grove Village. (10WUS

In Germany

Army Pvt. Thomas J. Kedzie, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Kedzie, 2605 Campbell, Rolling Meadows, participated in Exercise Marne Mauler, an 11-day field training exercise conducted by the 3rd Infantry Division in Germany, Jan. 28 - Feb. 7.

The exercise provided training in tactics against an aggressor force and trained the division to support itself logistically.

French, German and U.S. air and ground forces took part as friendly and aggressor forces.

Marne Mauler was part of a year-round program to maintain combat proficiency.

KEDZIE, OVERSEAS since last December, is a reconnaissance scout in Headquarters Company of the division's 1st Battalion, 64th Armor near Kitzingen.

He entered the Army in July 1965 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

A 1962 graduate of St. George High School in Evanston, Kedzie attended Loyola University in Chicago and was an auditing clerk with the First National Bank of Chicago in Chicago before entering the Army.

At Redstone Arsenal

Lt. Harold N. Olsen of 444 S. Oak St., Itasca, attended the defense procurement management course of the U.S. Army Logistics Management Center, Ft. Lee, Va.

Lt. Olsen is now assigned to the U.S. Army Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

The course offered was in the areas of procurement, general supply, surplus property disposal, depot operations and inventory management.

The Army Logistics Management Center, established in 1954, is the department of the Army's only postgraduate level school for logistics managers. It is a field activity of the U.S. Army Material Command, Washington, D. C. (5WUS

In Canal Zone

Frank D. Olesuk, son of the Frank Olesuks, 411 W. Bryn Mawr, Roselle, is with the U. S. Army stationed in the Panama Canal Zone.

'Darn Cat' At Golf Mill

Walt Disney's latest comedy feature, "That Darn Cat," opens tomorrow (Friday) at the Golf Mill Theatre.

Stars like Hayley Mills, Dean Jones, Dorothy Provine and Roddy McDowell provide laughs in this story of a slippery Siamese named D. C. (short for Darn Cat) who picks up the only clue to a bank robbery when a kidnapped lady bank teller slips her wrist watch around his neck. Since D. C. can't tell the FBI where he's been, they have to follow him and hope he returns to the criminals' lair.

"That Darn Cat" will be an exclusive showing at the Golf Mill Theatre and will be presented at five performances each day. (Bill MARILYN OSTROWSKI, who plays the not-so-innocent maid in Winston Little Theatre's "Exit the Body," rehearses a scene from the mystery farce with the two male leads, Harry Brown, playing a small-time crook, and Angelo Polvere, cast as the handyman-sheriff, Vernon. The play will be staged Feb. 25 and 26 at Palatine High School's Cutting Hall. (Staff photo) (Bill

WLT Will Introduce New Play to Circuit

In trying to escape the commonplace in little theatre, such as the light, sophisticated comedies that have been used and reused, Winston Little Theatre has selected a farce mystery for its next production.

The play, "Exit the Body," has not made the little theatre circuit and should be a welcome change for local theatregoers.

"Exit the Body" premiered in summer stock in Vermont several seasons ago and received unanimous rave reviews. The play has many funny scenes, but also its share of mystery and intrigue. Focal point of the set is the closet, and as closets are especially good for harboring dead bodies, this lends itself to a mysterious type setting.

THE FEMALE mystery writer who rents this sinister home for her hard-earned vacation may find all sorts of new material for one of her novels. The house, supposedly the rendezvous point for some stolen jewels, becomes something of a grand central station as one and all try to solve the mystery.

Playing the leading role of Crane Hammond will be Karen Costin of Palatine. Her loyal but cynical secretary, Kate Bixley, is played by Bonnalee McAuley, also of Palatine. Leading male roles of Randolph, cheap, small-time crook, and Vernon, New England handyman, are taken by Harry Brown and Angelo Polvere of Palatine.

Marilyn Ostrowski of Arlington Heights plays Jenny, the young corn-fed maid who is not so innocent as she seems. Another Arlington resident, Adelaide Fairfield, portrays the local real estate tycoon, Helen. Lillian, contemporary of Crane's, is played by Betty Kandlbinder of Palatine.

OTHERS IN THE cast of "Exit the Body" are Cliff Harmon as Lyle Rogers, Jerry Butz as Phillip Smith and Rudy Kandlbinder as Richard Hammond.

Director of "Exit the Body" is Ray Smithers of Mount Prospect.

Tickets may be obtained by calling FL 8-1278.

It's Opening Night For Guild Players

Tomorrow (Friday) is opening night for The Guild Players with Howard M. Teichmann's two-act comedy, "The Girls in 509."

Two pixilated hermit ladies, Dorothy Sicher and Shirley Swangren, supported by an entourage of Teichmann caricatures, played by Charles Block, David Fulton, Marvin Kaufman, Henry Netter and Shirley McNally, will face audiences in the new Lake Park High School theatre-auditorium in Medinah both tomorrow and Saturday, at 8:30 p.m.

The Guild Players report a limited number of seats still available for the Friday night performance. Tickets will be available at the door performance night, or phone 529-3897 for reservations.

"THE GIRLS IN 509" is the third presentation of The Guild Players' eighth season. Resident director Vic Simone is assisted in this production by Dorothy Pfeiffer, Jan Boutelle and Art Blackaller.

Next in production will be "The Great Sabastians," scheduled for April. Billed as a flamboyant comedy, it is the Lunt-Fontanne vehicle about international spies, magic and "show biz." (Bill

'Little Women' Held Over at Pheasant Run

The Pheasant Run Playhouse Children's Theatre production of "Little Women" will be held over at the St. Charles Playhouse for two weeks past the usual six-Saturday schedule. "Hansel and Gretel" will follow the current play, opening Saturday, Feb. 26. The original Grimm fairy tale was dramatized by Charlotte B. Chorpenning.

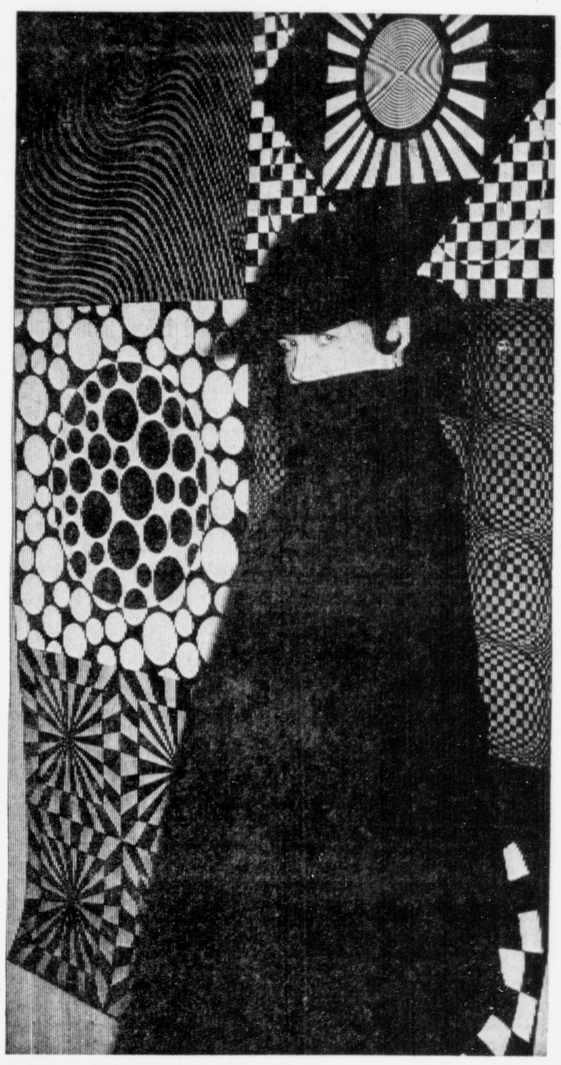
Children's theatre plays are presented every Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the door, and reservations are necessary only for groups of 20 or more. (Bill

Gina Bachauer Concert Soloist

Pianist Gina Bachauer will make her third appearance at subscription concerts of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra this evening (Thursday) and tomorrow afternoon (Friday). For this performance she will play Brahms' Second Piano Concerto.

David Diamond's Eighth Symphony will be included in the program.

Serge Fournier, conductor and music director of the Toledo Orchestra, will be the guest conductor at this Saturday's popular concert. Miss Bachauer will again be soloist. For this program she will play Tchaikovsky's First Piano Concerto.



THIS MYSTERIOUS LADY will be one of many intriguing people attending the first annual Countryside Art Center Beaux Arts Ball. Prizes for the most original costumes will be awarded, though persons less dramatically inclined are welcome to come in conventional attire. The ball, featuring music by Gill Bowen and his band and a midnight supper, will be held at the Elks Club in Arlington Heights Saturday evening. Original murals by Countryside Art Center artists, such as the above one by Sue Kehe of Arlington Heights, will be a part of the decor and at ball's end may be purchased for a modest price. For ticket information call the Countryside Gallery, 253-3005, any afternoon between 1 and 4 except Monday.

In Army Reserve

Anthony E. Scala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel V. Scala, 1015 Hemlock Lane, Mount Prospect, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve through the Reserve Officer Training Corps upon graduation from Loyola University, Chicago, Jan. 30.

Lieutenant Scala was graduated from Loyola Academy, Wilmette, in 1961.

Signing to Help Layden? . . .

KEN LAYDEN

Missouri's loss may be Ken Layden's gain. That's the way it looks now after the Boston Red Sox signed University of Missouri baseball captain Dan Rudanovich to a pro contract.

Rudanovich, who hit .463 for the Tigers last spring to rank fourth among collegiate hitters, was the regular centerfielder for Missouri. Layden, an Arlington High School product, was slated to be one of the backup men.

But with Rudanovich gone Layden will get a crack at grabbing the starting centerfield slot. His chief competition should come from another sophomore, Jeff Conrad of Peoria.

The Missouri coaching staff was kicking around the possibility of shifting Layden to the infield (probably second base), but with centerfield wide open right now that switch appears doubtful.

Arlington grad Layden hit .385 in his senior year with the Cards.

The signing of Rudanovich set off a storm of protest from Missouri coach John (Hi) Simmons who was also stripped of his captain-elect in 1965.

"I am deeply disappointed that this situation occurred again," Simmons said. "It appears organized baseball has again shown its complete disregard for the educational future of the boy.

"This signing in the middle of the year shows that some teams are only interested in a piece of property."

Prospect High grad John Stafsnes is on the sidelines with a rib injury after turning in some strong efforts for the United States Merchant Marine Academy wrestling team. A four-year varsity letterman, Stafsnes has a personal record of 21-17 and took third place honors at 160 pounds in the 1965 New York Metropolitan tournament. John is captain of the Academy mat team.

Dunnigan Now Sixth Best . . .

Pat Dunnigan belongs to an exclusive club.

The Forest View High School standout, a varsity regular in basketball for three seasons, climbed past the 800 mark Saturday in career scoring to become the sixth greatest scorer in Paddock area history.

Dunnigan owns 802 career points with three regular season games remaining. There's a chance, if the Falcons get hot around tourney time, that Pat could top 900, a standard that has eluded all but four area preps.

Ron Kozlicki, a Palatine High School All-Stater who is a regular at Northwestern University, has the career record for the Paddock area with 1562 points. Kozlicki also has the single season mark of 617.

The number two slot in the all-time list was grabbed by St. Viator's Charley Grandt last winter. Grandt concluded his brilliant prep career with 939 points.

Palatine's John Seehausen (934) and Paul Schrage (922) stand next in line, and Arlington's Chuck Close is fifth with 856.

The top six career scorers played three years of varsity basketball while the seventh and eighth boys, George Pomey and George Bork, were limited to two varsity campaigns at Prospect and Arlington.

The area leaders:

1.	Kozlicki (Palatine)	1562
2.	Grandt (St. Viator)	939
3.	Seehausen (Palatine)	934
4.	Schrage (Palatine)	922
5.	Close (Arlington)	856
6.	Dunnigan (Forest View)	802
7.	Pomey (Prospect)	799
8.	Bork (Arlington)	783

The scoring list should undergo some additional changes next winter as Arlington's Steve Allen and Prospect's Tom Lundstedt conclude their prep cage careers.

Allen, a varsity regular as a sophomore, has 556 career points, and Lundstedt shows 503. Barring any unforeseen events, these two boys could pass the 1,000 mark in the 1966-67 season.

The top three seeded teams in the Niles West Regional, one of the toughest regional alignments in the suburban area, were jolted Friday evening. Top-seeded New Trier lost to Evanston, 48–44, and No. 2 seeded Glenbrook South dropped a two-point decision to Maine South. St. Patrick, ranked No. 3 in the regional, was surprised 73-71 at St. Ignatius. Evanston is the fourth seeded team at Niles Illini Coach Likes Broome . . .

"Bob Broome has as much class on the side horse as any man in the country."

University of Illinois gymnastics coach Charles Pond is enthusiastic when he talks about his sophomore prize from Arlington High School.

"There is no doubt in my mind that he will rank nationally before the season is over," says Pond. "The type of spirit as a competitor that Bob brings to practices and meets is a benefit to everyone concerned. He is very conscientious in working to improve his performance."

Broome, a sophomore commerce major at Illinois, has an 8.31 average out of a possible 10 points on the side horse, and he is raising it in every meet.

Broome didn't go to Illinois with too much fanfare although he had enjoyed a successful prep career.

Bob finished second on the side horse in the 1964 district meet which Arlington won with 104½ points. He had a 164 routine for coach Tom Walthouse's Cardinals.

A loud-mouthed fan kept shouting "let 'em play ball, ref, let 'em play ball" in a prep basketball game until official Kevin Donlan of Oak Park retorted, "I wish they could, sir!"

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

Arlington's varsity basketball team was having problems in West Suburban play, but the frosh-soph Cardinals were tied for second place. . . Key players on the sophs were Bob Lockwood, Jack Weber, Denny Thill, Bruce Bjorklund, and Sam Caltigirone. . . Dick Nelson of Maine was the top scorer in the West Suburban with 262 points. . . Arlington's John Sujack was sixth with 179 in 13 games. . . Arlington was set to meet York in the league finale.

The Champions – Sectional Is Next

96 Boys In Meet; 24 To Survive

Wrestlers Go To Palatine For Sectional Tournament

by Ken Knox

Climb aboard a rainbow, and try to hold on.

Some 3,000 boys—high school wrestlers—approached such a promising arc a week ago, and all but 672 found it too elusive. They are the ones who may continue the journey this weekend, wrestling their way toward a glory reserved only for 12: Illinois high school championships.

The youthful grapplers of the state have circuited again to sectional tournament time, and before this weekend passes by, their number will have been reduced to 168, plus the 24 who will come out of Chicago toward the same rainbow's end.

The next stop for 96 of them will be Palatine's Fremd High School at 1000 S. Quentin Rd., scene again of one of the state's seven sectional tourneys. The last stop for the 24 who survive at Palatine and the other centers will be Northwestern University's McGaw Hall in Evanston, the site beginning a week from tomorrow (Friday) of the state finals.

The clutching and twisting on the Palatine mats will begin with the first round bouts at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow. These semi-finals are scheduled for 2:00 p.m. and the finals for 7:00 p.m. Saturday. Seeding of the wrestlers — who came out of the Forest View, Fenton, Lake Park and Rockford East districts — was arranged for last night (Wednesday).

OF THE 96 seeking to take the giant step through Palatine, six made the step last year, four of them winning championships, two finishing second, the minimum to advance to the state tournament. One of them—York's Bob Bien — went all the way to Illinois supremacy at 120 pounds.

The field at Palatine will be a rich one, and it could spawn more than one state titlist. Numbered among the entrants are several boys with unblemished performances, and others with only a palmful of losses. They will wrestle in the name of 28 different high schools, including Palatine, Arlington, Conant, Fenton, Forest View, Lake Park, Prospect, St. Viator and Wheeling in the Paddock area.

ROGER SCOTT
29-0 at 180

The biggest delegation will arrive from Maine West, with four winners and three runners-up from the Forest View District. Three others — Lake Park, and East and West Leyden — will have six each, with Lake Park sending the most district champions, five.

Breaking it down by the weights, it is clear that at most levels, there is at least one outstanding boy:

95 pounds — The class here may be very much the property of Lake Park's Bill Kielar. Now 20-0 for the season, he was a Prospect Holiday, Tri-County and District champion, and finished second in the sectional a season ago. A factor may be Prospect's Gary McMorrow, 10-7-1.

103 pounds — The talent fairly bubbles at this weight, with Rockford East's Tom Tennyson perhaps the smart money choice. He's 24-0, a Prospect Holiday, Big Eight Conference and district champ. But there's also Fenton's Bob Aguilar, 24-2, a

Showdown For M-SL Leaders

Prospect 7-0, Falcons 6-1 In League Competition

by Michael Hess

This, as they say, is it!!

Prospect and Forest View quintets meet tomorrow (Friday) evening. That contest's outcome couldn't be more important.

"This is the big one for us," states Knights coach Dick Kinneman. "Our game with Forest View will probably decide who wins the conference."

"This is the one we've been waiting for," says Falcons director Ken Arneson. "What happens against Prospect will tell the story about first place in the league."

At present Prospect is 7-0 and first among Mid-Suburban cage entries. Right behind the leaders, in second, is Forest View at 6-1. Each will have just two M-SL games left after their meeting.

"WE'LL HAVE TO play good ball," continued Kinneman, "but I think we do better against good competition and that's what we'll get Friday. Our defense has been consistent and we've done better recently on offense. It should be a very close game."

"I know we won't catch Prospect 'down' in this one," Arneson commented, "but I think our chances are pretty good and so does the team. We've used four different offenses and six different defenses this season and we may have to use them all on Friday. We just have to shoot the works."

Thus far this season the Knights have compiled a 16-3 record including victories in their last 13 games. Prospect will enter the battle with FV off 54-42 and 81-49 victories over Wheeling and Conant. Kinneman's crew hasn't been out rebounded in any game this year and is presently shooting 49.5 per cent from the floor and 64.1 per cent at the line.

The Falcons are 13-6 for the present campaign. They've captured four in a row including a 57-45 bouncing of Maine West and a 51-47 bumping of Wheeling in most recent outings. Forest View has connected at a 36 per cent clip on goal tries and 62 per cent on foul attempts.

District Swimming Meet

Tankers Seek State Slots at New Trier

Paddock area swimmers interested in making a trip to Hinsdale Township High School in eight days must go by way of Winnetka and New Trier East.

Fourteen schools, including a quartet of area entries, will send swimmers to New Trier Friday and Saturday for one of six district events staged in Illinois.

Winners of first and second places in each event and divers winning the first six places in the district competition will advance to the state finals at Hinsdale on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 25-26.

In addition, all swimmers meeting a minimum qualifying time in each event will also advance to the state meet.

Thirteen of the schools in the New Trier headliner will be thinking in terms of individual honors only. Host New Trier, the defending state champion, is an overwhelming favorite to grab team honors in the district.

JOINING THE host Indians will be Arlington, St. Viator, Forest View, and Prospect from the Paddock area; Deerfield, Glenbrook South, Highland Park, Lake Forest, Glenbrook North, New Trier West, Prairie View, Niles North, and Waukegan.

St. Viator High School, unbeaten in 13 duals, will send the strongest area contingent into the district although coach Charley Mondi is the first to admit that qualifying at New Trier is extremely difficult.

"We were unbeaten in duals primarily because of our depth," Mondi points out, "and that depth won't be of much help in the district. But we do have some boys who could do very well."

RENE TAGUE of the Lions looms as a strong possibility in the 50 freestyle. Tague has clipped off a swift 23.2 which is below the qualifying standard.

Jim Spears gave St. Viator its first district point last winter with a sixth in the 100 breaststroke (1:10.3), and Spears has chopped that down to 1:08 so could score again.

Other Lions who may make some noise at New Trier are Rick Withrow in the 200 yard free (he has a 2:02.7), Fred Schmidt in the individual medley (2:23.5), Joe Herrity in the fly (1:01.1), and the 400 yard relay of Tague, Withrow, Jim Cronin, and John Massey.

MONDI ALSO expects to enter the 200 medley relay of Mike Gibler, Rick Kalinowski, Herrity, and Kevin Shea; Bill Richardson in the 200 free; Shea in the 50 free; Lou Hibbs in the 200 individual medley; Dave Chantry and Ken Sophie in diving; Cronin and John Massey in the 100 free; Gibler and Tim Wallace in the 100 back; Richardson and Bob Brown in the 400 free; and Kalinowski in

Cougars Confronting Two MSL Victims

by KEN KNOX

If history does indeed repeat itself, then Conant High School's basketball players may anticipate a gay weekend.

They will confront—in two nights—the two basketball teams they have defeated in seven Mid-Suburban League games. If history were to repeat in the gatherings, the Cougars would not only obtain some sorely-needed cheering up, but would entrench themselves as a solid and respectable fourth in the MSL.

First — in a game to be played Friday night at Maine East's gymnasium — will come Maine West. The Warriors fell 54-45 to Conant on January 21, and at 1-6 are fifth in the MSL.

Saturday night, the Cougars will be at Wheeling, a team they consumed 63-39 three weeks ago. The Wildcats are winless in the league.

THE COUGARS — coming off a tingling loss to Palatine Friday and a cannonading at Prospect Saturday — can't permit complacency in either venture. Because both foes, despite their records, have shown themselves to be potential menaces, even to the best in the league.

In terms of hidden possibilities, the most deceptive record may belong to Maine West. Gaston Freeman's Warriors, besides being 1-6 in the conference, are 2-15 overall. Yet those who have seen them, especially lately, agree that they possess a scrambling persistence that won't admit defeat until it's inflicted. Over the weekend, the Warriors lost 57-45 to second place Forest View and took third place Palatine to the wire before expiring 62-57.

In Mike Owens' Wildcats, against whom they stand 2-2 over the past two seasons, the Cougars will find another team not willing to succumb easily. Winless in the league and 3-15 in all their games, the 'Cats still troubled potent Prospect and Forest View over the past weekend, losing by only four points to the Falcons.

CONANT HEADMAN Rol Berg has cause for both somberness and anticipation after the Cougars' latest trials. There was nothing especially pleasurable about losing the pair to Palatine and Prospect, and sliding to 5-13 over-all. Nor was there any particular pleasure in the way the games were lost: the dissipation of a nine-point lead against the Pirates, a flat performance the next night in the 81-49 loss to the Knights.

But in one of the most important individual resurgences of the Cougars' season, 67 center Larry Powell showed the kind of form that can make him feared around the basket. He hit for 43 points in two games, 30 against Palatine and 13 despite a foul load against Prospect, while getting more than two dozen rebounds and breaking up several shots in the contests. With both Maine and Wheeling suffering height problems, Powell could be significant.

Conant coach Rol Berg indicated late this week that Cougar forward Dave Sander is a doubtful starter in Conant's upcoming basketball action. Sander is suffering from persistent knee trouble, and if he can't play, he'll be replaced by 6-1 forward Bill Lunebach.

At the forwards, there's good news and bad for Conant. Co-captain Dave Sander, stopped twice by injury, has been slow in trying to regain last season's form, but in his last three games he's averaged 10 points and has boosted his rebounding. But 6-1 Bill Lunebach, who had some outstanding games for the Cougars, contributed only eight points over the weekend and is headed for the No. 6 man spot. Dick Helmer, a four-point-a-game man valued for his playmaking, will keep the other forward position.

AT THE GUARDS, it'll again be 5-8 Walt Riley and 5-10 John Glasshof, with Glasshof — despite a cool weekend — still the team's leading scorer with a 12.6 per game performance, and a constant outside shooting threat.

Only three positions are sure for Maine, with Freeman sending 6-1 Al Fritz to center and Dick Manny and Ken Mueller to the starting guard assignments. Fritz, off his best performance with an 18-point outpouring against Palatine, is an important key, because Maine has been troubled at the center slot all season. Mueller and Manny are both snappy ballhandlers who help give the club its scrambling ability, and Mueller has augmented that with a 15-points a game average.

Forward has been handled on an exchange basis among the Warriors, with Freeman listing five different boys as starting possibilities. Among the possibilities are 5-11 seniors Paul Moehling and Pete Kulik, each averaging near 7.5 points a game, and 6-0 senior Mike Sorenson, who put in eight points in a sub role at Palatine.

COACH FREEMAN, who'll be working mostly to minimize mistakes this weekend, has retained some optimism, and he'll need it, considering his Saturday night opponent will be Prospect. He has been most happy about the determination of a team with a luckless record: "It's hard to be pleased when you're not winning, but if you can be happy under these circumstances, then I am."

Wheeling, which had success with the experiment over the weekend, can probably be counted on to slow things down against Palatine and Conant this weekend. Besides that new tactic, there'll be a new face in the lineup: 6-2½ center Phil Smith, a sophomore averaging in double figures who would be the biggest Wildcat on the floor. He's had games of 19 and 20 points in soph play.

Another new addition may be Ken Foster, a 5-7 hustler-type, at one of the guards. Otherwise, Owens will go with guard Rex Peterson, coming off a chilly weekend, and forwards Tom Neuckranz and Scott Bischoff, both averaging over 10 points a game this season.

HEAVYWEIGHT — John Reed, Palatine; Dennis Forston, St. Viator; John Palm, Elmwood Park; Steve Sederquist, Rockford Guilford; Bill Westphal, Larkin; Al Gildemeister, Forest View; Mike Derrico, York; Stacy Gedman, Rockford West.

First four at each weight were district winners; second four were runners-up.

First Matches Slated Friday

Tri-County and district champion; Conant's Tom Borthwick, second in the district, but 13-3-4 for the season; and Prospect's Dave Holmes, 12-5-2, a victim of Tennyson in the holiday meet.

112 — There's no clear favorite here, but the field includes Conant's Mike Ferguson, a Lake Park district winner who has won nine of his last 10 bouts; Forest View's Steve DeHaven, a district winner 11-10 for the season, Prospect's Mike Mohr, 11-8; and Fenton's Clarence Giltner, a district champion.

120 — This is the domain of defending state titlist Bien, unbeaten for the season, a winner in his district without allowing a point, a sectional champion at Palatine last year, Prospect holiday tourney winner this year. The competition will include St. Charles' Upstate Eight and district champ Tom Stephenson; Belvidere's Frank Toles, three times a Big Eight champion, 23-3 for the season; Prospect's Bill Kalvog, 11-5-1.

127 — This is the hope for one of Maine East's two entries, Bruce Garnett. At 11-4 for the season, he's beaten some good competition. Others to watch: East Leyden's Bruce Laursen, Rockford East's Big Eight champion Jack Larson, and the boy who beat him in the district, Jim Scialla of Harvard.

133 — Another resplendent field here, with Lake Park's Brian Quig — now 24-2-1 — one of the choices. Also with only two losses is Tony Lee of Rockford West, and his distirct master, Jerry Gratz of Harvard. Arlington's Chip Douglas (16-5) is in the field, and York's Richard Bobus, a Prospect holiday winner and district king.

138 pounds — There could be a stellar battle here between Rockford West's Bob Nunez, 26-0 for the season and a Big Eight tourney winner; and Maine West's Tom Hansch, 17-1. And there's Arlington's Dave Gooding, 12-6-1, and Lake Park's district winner John Hausen.

145 — A splendid field that could produce a diverting rematch between Prospect's Rick Bertoglio (17-1) and Conant's Dennis Skoneczka (15-3-2), the only boy to beat him this season. But someone also must contend with East Leyden's Bill Laursen, a sectional winner and third in the state at 138 a year ago, and perhaps Forest View's Jim Kubik, 16-4-2.

154 — Maine West's brightest hope, 19-1 Steve Ryden, would have to get past Joe Asta here, no easy achievement since the East Leyden lad was a sectional winner at Palatine last year. And Lake Park's Bill Hausen must be considered with his 21-6 mark.

165 — Another sectional veteran, second a year ago, will return in the form of Elmwood Park's John Palazzolo. He had a fourth in the state, and in the district this year blanked York's Russ Rapier, a Prospect holiday titlist who will also be on hand. It's a good field for Arlington's Mike Jones (17-4) and Palatine's Bill Peterman, a Lake Park district winner.

180 — Watch out for Roger Scott is the word here. He's a Rockford East boy who won the sectional last year, and this year numbers among his credits a Prospect holiday, Big Eight and district title, and has not lost in 29 bouts. His best competition may come from Forest View's Mike Severns, 18-3.

Heavyweight — Several boys have a chance, including the host school's John Reed, 16-3-1 for the season. St. Viator's Dennis Forston has been outstanding at 14-1, while two boys from the Big Eight — conference champion Stacy Gedman of Rockford West and district king Steve Sederquist of Rockford Guilford — should be considered. Sederquist was fourth at Palatine a year ago.

Mt. Prospect Ball Signup This Saturday

Registration for the Mount Prospect Baseball Association for Boys will be held on the next two Saturdays at the Mount Prospect Community Center (formerly Mount Prospect Country Club).

The sign-up will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on February 19 and February 26.

All boys between the ages of nine and 16 are eligible to play in the Mount Prospect program. Birth date must fall on or after Aug. 1, 1949 and before Aug. 1, 1957.

The division of registration will be as follows:

Bronco League — (Ages 9-12) Birth date must fall on or after Aug. 1, 1953 but before Aug. 1, 1957.

Pony League — (Ages 13-14) Birth date must fall on or after Aug. 1, 1951 but before Aug. 1, 1953.

Colt League — (Ages 15-16) Birth date must fall on or after Aug. 1, 1949 but before Aug. 1, 1951.

Falcon Frosh Trip Up 'Cats

Forest View withstood a Wheeling rally in the final period Saturday morning and pulled out a 42-36 frosh 'A' basketball victory.

The young Falcons enjoyed a 37-22 lead after three quarters, but the Wildcats posted a 145 advantage over the final seven minutes.

Keith Bauer was high for the winners with 12 ponts, and he turned in a strong defensive game. John Caltagirone contributed nine.

Don Wright scored 16 points for the Wheeling five that suffered its first Mid-Suburban setback.

Wheeling topped the frosh 'B' game, 54-37, as Mike Thomas tossed in 14 points and Ken St. Onge 13.

Match Slated

Paddock Classic Traveling League All-Stars will oppose national champion Hamm's Beer team Saturday night, March 19, at a site still to be arranged.

Tankers Face District Meet

the 100 breaststroke.

Arlington's John Gardner, who guided the Cards to a 4-6 dual meet mark without the benefit of a home pool, sees Dick Tucker in the 50 freestyle as one of his top state candidates. Tucker has clipped off a 23.2 which is below qualifying.

John Erickson, who has a 1:10.8 in the 100 breaststroke, is another possibility, and junior Lowell Christy has a 1:04.4 to his credit in the 100 back.

OTHER CARDINAL entries will be Cary Oliver, Erickson, Jim Sarbaugh, and Bill Elsner in the medley relay; Greg Stafford in the 200 free; Scott Guilfoil in the 50 free; Russ Larson and John Schuler in the 200 individual medley; Dick Witcher in diving; Bill Sayre in the 100 fly; Dick Robinson and Jim Sarbaugh in the 100 free; Oliver in the 100 back; Don Johns and Dick Decker in the 400 free; Larson in the 100 breast; and Stafford, Guilfoil, Robinson, and Tucker in the 400 freestyle relay.

Prospect High School, 1-9 in duals, has John Norton, a sixth place finisher in the 100 butterfly last winter. Norton had a 1:04.4 in the 1965 district and took third in the conference last Saturday at 58.4. He lost only once in dual meets.

Tom Braakman won his last five dual meets and was sixth in the conference in the 100 yard breaststroke, and the Knights' 200 yard medley relay of Norton, Braakman, Bob Krysiak, and Mike Busse took sixth place honors in the league after falling in only two duals.

OTHER KNIGHT hopefuls should be Busse in the 100 free, Howie Payne in the 200 free, Jim Harvey in the 200 individual medley, and Jim Kramer in the 200 yard individual medley and 100 backstroke.

Mike Bodozian is the top entry from Forest View High. Bodozian just missed qualifying for the finals in the conference 200 freestyle.

Daryl Oberg (100 butterfly), Mike Nolan (200 individual medley), and Harold Abrahamson (50 freestyle) rank as other Falcons who will probably enter the district competition.

Sophs, Frosh in 'Cats Mat Wins

Wheeling's sophomore and freshman wrestlers turned in a pair of victories last Thursday to end their 1965-66 seasons.

The 'Cats sophs whipped Niles North by a 29-19 tally and finished with an 8-3-1 over-all record, 2-3 and fourth in the Mid-Suburban League. Wildcats' freshmen stopped NN 30-19 to close at 8-5 over-all, 1-4 and fifth in the M-SL.

No details of either Wheeling mat triumph were made available at press time.

Pirates Host Wildcats In Friday MSL Game

By KEN KNOX

Two teams with their gazes fixed on decidedly different horizons will collide Friday night on Palatine's basketball floor.

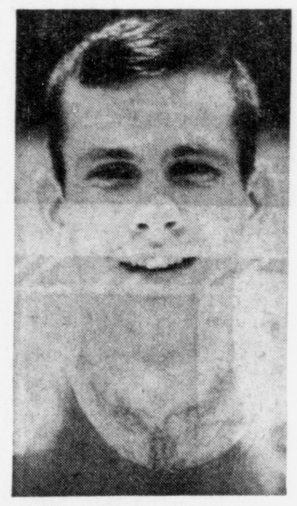
The host Pirates, assured of a first division Mid-Suburban League finish and entitled to crave even more, will meet Wheeling's Wildcats, whose appetites are more fundamental. They are still in search of their first MSL victory.

Palatine currently stands 5-2 in the league, one game behind Forest View and two behind Prospect, and could—with the proper combination of its own victories and Forest View and Prospect defeats—still assume supremacy. Ahead, after the Wheeling game, are crucial close-out confrontations with Forest View Saturday night and Prospect next Friday.

Wheeling is now 0-7, and if the 'Cats don't achieve victory one at Palatine, they'll get two more chances against fellow second division residents, Conant this Saturday, Maine West next Friday.

ACCRUING THAT first triumph against Palatine will be a formidable undertaking for Mike Owens' athletes, for the Pirates are clearly one of the most steadily-improving teams in the area. Though they began with but two victories in their first eight games, they have since blended for eight victories in their last 11 outings. Their only defeats have been close ones to Rock Falls in the consolation finals of the DeKalb Holiday Tournament, and to Forest View and Prospect in the league.

Bud Mueller's men have done it while proving it's not necessary to have a super-star in your ranks to play winning basketball. They have done it with an admirable balance of scoring playing technique and attitude. And it has been especially evident in the league play.



JERRY McCORMICK
Part of Balance

The team's current conference scoring leader, a veteran enjoying a productive resurgence after a slow beginning, is Jerry McCormick. The 6-1 forward is second in the league with 110 points, a 15.7 average. But he's amply augmented by 6-3 center Dave Willy, a rugged performer of outside shooting skill who has a 107-point total in the MSL. And at the other forward, 6-2 Paul Kozlicki has totaled 102 points, most by being an accomplished threat near the basket.

AT THE GUARDS, Palatine will field Randy McWilliams, averaging 10 points a game, and junior Mike Ferguson, averaging five a game in the league. Both are refined ballhandlers and hounds on defense.

Mueller also has a good man in reserve in 6-3 junior Doug Spruance, who played important roles offensively and defensively in Palatine's weekend wins over Conant and Maine West.

The Palatine coach concedes that against Wheeling there is a possibility that his Pirates might have their minds a little on the Forest View - Prospect game being played the same night, or on their own upcoming games with the front-runners. But he doesn't think there's a great danger.

"The boys are out to finish as strong as they can," he said, "regardless of the outcome of any other game. They're not that kind of team. They play to win. Not always as well as they might, but to win."

WHEELING, WHICH came within five points of Palatine in their first meeting, will also be out to win, and probably with a new tactic and a new face.

The tactic, which had some success in respectable losses to Prospect and Forest View over the weekend, is slowing down the play. Owens thinks it may work well for them, but mistakes sabotaged the effort over the weekend.

The new face expected in the lineup is Phil Smith, who at just over 6-2 would be the biggest Wildcat in the starting lineup. A center, he's being brought up from a sophomore team that had a 4-8 record. He had seven games in double figures with the sophs, with a high of 20.

Another relatively new face may be 5-7 Ken Foster, who'll vie with 6-0 Al Gibbon for one of the guard jobs. He's regarded as a scrambler, while Gibbon, who hasn't scored much, can rebound with some strength.

THE TWO 'CATS of consistent scoring ability will be at the forwards in the persons of 6-0 Scott Bischoff and 6-1 Tom Neuckranz, averaging 10.4 and 11.3 points respectively. Neuckranz needs 14 more points to equal the school scoring record of 217 set last season by Mark Newman, who'll be in reserve this weekend.

The other guard job is slated for Rex Peterson, a 5-10 junior averaging 7.6 points a game. He had only six points over the last weekend, but occasionally will erupt with a double-figure performance and some good outside shooting.

Now 3-15 overall, with eight losses in a row, these Wildcats will have enough motivation to win to warrant Palatine's concern Friday.

AND AFTER Wheeling, Palatine will meet Forest View, now 6-1 in the league and a 63-55 victor over the Pirates in their first meeting. The Falcons continue to be led by swift 6-2 forward Pat Dunnigan, whose school career record point total has now reached 802, and who's averaging 17 points a game this season. A steady rebounder with nice offensive moves underneath, he's the big threat.

But there must also be special concern reserved for 6-5 center Jim Baumgardt, who had a dismally slow start but now is using his considerable frame to good advantage around the basket. A rangy front three will also include 6-3 Howie Brasch, a junior whose biggest value has been rebounding.

At the guards will be Jim Buckholz and Byron Borgardt, with both having erratic performances, but representing genuine threats when they're on, as they were in the first Palatine game.

(For details of Wheeling's Saturday night opponent — Conant — see the Cougars game preview elsewhere in this section.)

Falcons, Knights To Clash Friday

tory. He has 802 markers in a trio of seasons and is presently sixth among all-time Paddock area scorers. During this year Dunnigan has 322 points, a 17.1 average, and 109 in the M-SL. He makes 45 per cent of his goal attempts, 60 per cent of his free throws and has grabbed 192 rebounds in 19 games.

FORWARD

Dan Agard of Prospect, 6-2, has 134 points, a 7.9 average, thus far this season. He rebounds with strength and is probably the top defensive player on his squad. Howie Brasch, a 6-3 junior, hasn't played full time for Forest View. Still, he has managed 94 points, a 5.2 average, and when he plays a full game usually takes over 10 off the boards.

CENTER

Tom Beard's major value to the Knights has been in his defense and rebounding. But, the 6-3 center has put in 126 points, a 6.6 average. Jim Baumbardt, the big man in the game at 6-5, has been coming on strong for the Falcons. After a slow, injury-riddled start which saw him produce only 69 points in 11 games, Baumgardt has chipped in 36 markers in his last three games. He also has 37 rebounds during that trio of outings.

GUARD

J. D. Thorne carries an 8.5 point average for Prospect. The 6-0 playmaker has hit most of his 162 markers from long distance and he owns a dazzling mark of 32 for 43 at the line. Though his scoring has slumped off recently he still is a definite outside threat. Jim Buckholz missed the last two FV struggles due to disciplinary action taken by his coach. However, Buckholz, 6-0, will bring 149 points, an 8.8 average, into play against the Knights.

GUARD

Tony Kulasa has used his backcourt position to drive Prospect ahead in many of its contests. With 104 points this year, a 5.5 average, Kulasa is just a minor scoring threat and yet he seems to come through with buckets just when they're needed most. Byron Borgardt has put in 130 points for Forest View. He can handle the ball and picks up many assists in addition to maintaining his 6.8 average.

THERE ARE two primary reserves in the Knights' camp and three abide with the Falcons.

Leading Prospect bench forces are 6-4 junior Dave Kingman and 6-0 senior Craig Wolf. Kingman has tallied 128 points and Wolf 68 during their part time duties. Jeff Grismer, 6-3, Bucky Jones, 5-9, and Bob Erlander, 6-0, are top Forest View subs. Grismer has 155 points, Jones 82 and Erlander 27.

In their first meeting of the season the Knights topped Forest View 66-57. That result created the only difference between the two in conference standings. Kulasa's 21, Lundstedt's 18 and Kingman's 12 points paced the winners in the first encounter while Brasch, with 16, Buckholz, with 10, and Dunnigan, with 9 points, led the losers.

If facing each other isn't enough for one weekend, both Prospect and Forest View also have games Saturday.

The Knights will be hosting another traditional rival, Maine West. The Warriors record is only 2-15 but Prospect had to struggle the first time around to beat them 47-36. Lundstedt had 27 in that affair.

THE FALCONS draw a much tougher assignment. FV will have to tackle Palatine which, at 5-2, is presently only one game in back of the Falcons in league standings. The Pirates are 10-9 for the season and only a good Forest View performance caused a 63-55 defeat when the two first met.

A double victory for the Knights this weekend will clinch the conference championship. Assuming that Prospect came back to beat Maine, a double win for Forest View would bring a tie for FV in the league's top slot. Possible combinations of wins and losses could allow Palatine to move into a three-way deadlock for first in the M-SL.

This weekend's action is indeed "it" for Prospect and Forest View.

(For further details on Saturday evening opponents Maine West and Palatine see separate stories in this section.)

In West Suburban Play

Cardinals Need Two Wins for Best Mark

by BOB FRISK

There's only one way Arlington High School can achieve its finest West Suburban Conference basketball mark in history.

The varsity Cardinals must win their two remaining league games, the final contests an Arlington team will play in the West Suburban.

Coach Ted Wissen's outfit catches a dangerous Downers Grove quintet Friday evening in Downers and concludes the league campaign the following Friday at home against revenge-seeking LaGrange.

TED WISSEN

Two victories would assure Wissen's entry of second place in the West Suburban and would give Arlington a handsome 10-4 league slate and 16-5 over - all mark heading into the regional.

Arlington has never won more than nine games in a single conference season, and the Cards reached that level for the first time last winter with a 9-5 mark.

GETTING BY Downers Grove for a second time poses some interesting problems for Wissen and his Cardinals.

Arlington slipped by Downers in an earlier meeting, 65-64, on a basket by Jim Donchess with five seconds remaining, and another battle to the wire is anticipated for Friday evening.

Coach Lloyd Wasmer's Trojans will be home for the final time this season and still carry slim hopes of finishing as high as second in the West Suburban. Downers stands 6-6 today but it's possible that an 8-6 mark could grab a share of second place honors.

THE TROJANS feature the second and fourth best scorers in the West Suburban, and Arlington's main defensive problems will be stopping 6-5 Bud Bocker and 6-1 Rick Howat.

Bocker is shooting for a second straight conference scoring title, but he currently stands 10 points behind York's Larry Saunders. Bocker has 236 points in 12 league games, a 19.7 average. He needs only 18 points in his two final contests to equal the total that ruled the West Suburban last season.

Howat, a sharpshooting guard, has been on a scoring rampage. The slender 6-1 junior scored 114 points in seven first round contests but already has thrown in 112 in five second round tilts. He's hit York for 26, Maine East for 22, LaGrange for 26, and Glenbard for 25 over his last four games.

HOWAT HAD only 11 points in that first meeting with Arlington. Bocker threw in 23.

There's a big gap after this potent 1-2 punch. Steve Chapman, a 5-10 guard, is next in line in West Suburban play with 95 points. Joe Radosevich has 65 and Dick Lane 64.

ARLINGTON			DOWNERS GR.
6-6	Hubbard	F	Radosevich 6-0
6-4	Jorgensen	F	Lane 6-1
6-6	Donchess	C	Bocker 6-5
6-3	Allen	G	Howat 6-1
5-10	Townley	G	Chapman 5-10

Arlington will counter with 6-3 Steve Allen, the fifth best point-producer in the West Suburban, and an explosive lineup that has hit 70 or better in five conference contests, including a 73-49 bombing of Maine East last Friday.

WISSEN WAS encouraged with his squad's effort against Maine. The Cards jumped out on top early, dominated the boards, and coasted past the Blue Demons, shaking off a two-game losing skid.

Balance dictated in the Cardinal attack with four regulars reaching double figures.

Arlington now has three regulars averaging in double figures in league play, and they're all juniors. Allen has 222 points, an 18.5 average, and Terry Townley has 163 for a 13.6 standard. Donchess stands at 11.1.

Donchess, the 6-6 junior center, and Bruce Hubbard, a 6-6 senior forward, bounced back from scoreless nights at Hinsdale with strong games Friday. Donchess had 15 points and Hubbard threw in 12.

Jim Jorgensen had his best night in West Suburban play with a 15-point contribution against Maine.

Townley moved one free throw closer to a school record and now is two shy of a new mark in league play. The 5-10 junior has 69 charity throws in West Suburban play, and the school record for a league season is 70 set by Tom Jacobsen in 1956-57.

MAT MENTORS urge on their charges in last weekend's district wrestling action during which sectional berths and possible state titles were at stake. Silent concentration is offered by Prospect coach Dick Mudge (bottom) for his grappling aggregation which ended second in the meet and qualified five for the sectional. Vocal support is given Forest View matmen by their director, Hal Henson. The Falcons finished fourth in the meet and will send four to the sectional.

Lions Conclude Loop Play With Twin-Bill

by BOB FRISK

Will the real St. Viator basketball team please stand up!

Is it that well-oiled machine that took apart mighty DeLaSalle or that sputtering unit that played in streaks last weekend?

Head coach Larry Nomellini doesn't know. He's as baffled as everyone else.

The Lions have been running hot and cold all season, showing nine wins in 20 games, but they've flashed signs of a smoothly - operating, dangerous outfit that could give anyone trouble.

Maybe a return to the home floor, so important a factor in the Chicagoland Prep League, will shift the Lions into high gear, creating some momentum to carry into the regional warfare that is just around the corner.

ST. VIATOR will entertain St. Joseph of Westchester Friday evening and St. Mel Saturday to conclude Chicagoland Prep actiity for another season.

Nomellini's charges, now 6-6 in conference scuffling, could still wind up in third place with a double victory this weekend.

Getting by St. Joseph and St. Mel would be an enjoyable way to bring down the curtain on the Chicagoland season because these two clubs own five of the 11 victories over St. Viator.

ST. JOSEPH has three successes against the Lions. The Chargers whipped St. Viator in a Thanksgiving tourney, 66-52, and gained a 69-63 victory in holiday action. The Westchester entry nipped the Lions by one point in their only league meeting.

St. Mel handled St. Viator by six points in the Chicagoland tourney and by six points in a regular league affair.

But these five Lion losses have been on the road, and the Arlington Heights crew is extremely anxous to gain some revenge before the home folks.

ST. JOSEPH will come to town Friday evening with a 6-6 conference standard. Coach Pat Callahan is equipped with one of the finest centers in the league in 6-4 Tommy Miller, and Miller's battle with St. Viator's 6-7 Paul Pomplun should highlight Friday's action.

In three games with St. Viator Miller has scored 48 points. The Lions' center has only 30 against St. Joseph, but this is a different Pomplun than the boy who played against the Chargers in those other meetings.

"Why, Pomplun looked about 100 per cent better against us this time than he did in that first game," St. Patrick's head coach Max Kurland praised Saturday evening after his Shamrocks had tipped the Lions, 53-45.

THE LANKY LION pivot outplayed St. Pat's highly regarded Joe Burke, checking the 6-7 senior with two baskets while scoring 18 himself. Burke had enjoyed a 21-13 bulge in that first game.

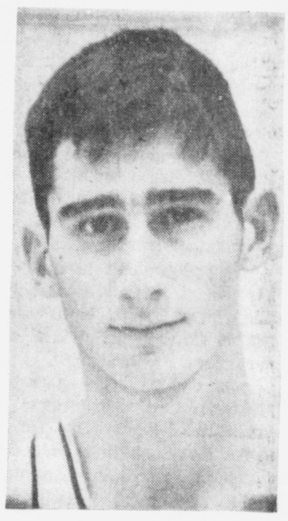
The emergence of Pomplun as a stickout performer under the basket makes the Lions dangerous. He complements the outside threat of junior guard Frank Hogan, who was blanked from the field Saturday but still ranks as one of the finest shooters in the area.

Pumplun scored 83 points in the first round of Chicagoland play but has 89 in only five second round tilts. For the season he owns a 14.6 average and has cleared 226 rebounds in 20 games.

ST. VIATOR			ST. JOSEPH
6-4	Dumke	F	Graziano 6-0
6-1	Bataille	F	Desmond 6-2
6-7	Pomplun	C	Miller 6-4
5-11	Hogan	G	Olsen 5-11
5-10	Collins	G	Vosicky 5-9

TIME: Preliminary, 6:30 p.m., Friday.

Dan Collins and Emille Bataille have been chipping in with some steady efforts, and now Nomellini hopes 6-4 Paul Dumke will shake a scoring slump that has plagued him for the past two weekends.



PAUL POMPLUN
Looking Good

ST. MEL'S MAIN threat Saturday evening will be 5-9 senior guard Johnny Ryan, the third best scorer in the Chicagoland Prep with an 18.8 per game standard.

The Knights are 7-5 in the league, and this is the club St. Viator must catch to gain a piece of third place.

Opening Their Season . . .

Prospect Thinclads Fall to Niles North

Despite a standout showing by Jack Pollard, Prospect lost its season opening indoor track meet 59-40 to Niles North on Tuesday.

Pollard won the half mile and mile events and was second in the 50 yard dash. His time in the half was 2:05.2, a new record on the NN track, while a 4:45.2 gave him top mile honors.

THE ONLY other first for coach Dick Calisch's Knights went to Phil Cordina. With a leap of 12 feet, Cordina won the pole vault. He was also second in the high jump.

Leroy Ratieke and Vaughn Pederson captured a pair of runner-up spots for Prospect. Ratieke was number two in the broad jump and quarter mile while Pederson came in second in the low and high hurdles.

Only other second for the Knights went to Larry Striebinger. He backed up Cordina's winning pole vault.

At Prospect's frosh-soph level there was also a standout, Steve Holmes, but there was also a loss to Niles, 72-28. Holmes took first in the half mile, at 2:14.9, and in the mile, at 5:10.1. Only other first for the Knights went to Bill Benoche who was clocked at 61.9 in the 440

"IT WAS A long afternoon," commented headman Calisch after the meet. There was one spot of brightness for the Prospect track director, however. His team membership had grown from eight to 12 since the start of practice. "There should be more coming out after basketball ends," Calisch said.

The Knights' next meets will be tomorrow (Friday) at Highland Park and Tuesday at home against Wheeling. Both meets will begin at 4:30 p.m.

Wildcats Sixth In Frosh Meet

Fourth place finishes by Jeff Shornden on the parallel bars and Stew Oakley on the still rings highlighted a sixth place team showing for Wheeling in the Waukegan Frosh Invitational gymnastics meet.

Host Waukegan won the frosh gym feature.

Also scoring for the Wildcats were Ed Hawkinson with a fifth on the parallel bars, Jim Kniskern with a sixth in tumbling, Ed Hawkinson with a sixth place tie on the rings, and Mike Hughes with a sixth place tie on the trampoline and tenth on the high bar.

On Both Levels

'Cat Gymnasts Whip Falcons

Another conference season is drawing to a close . . .

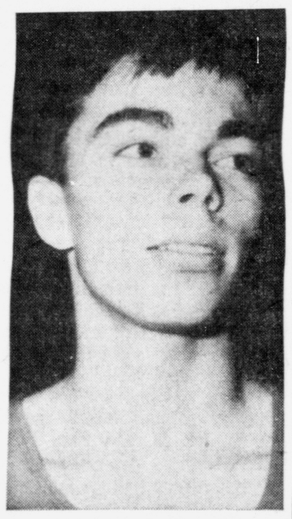
Wheeling and Forest View gymnasts ended 1965-66 Mid-Suburban League dual competition last Friday. The 'Cats topped FV by an 81-50 margin.

With the victory Wheeling finished at 4-1 in the M-SL while the Falcons were 0-3-1. The Wildcats are second in dual standings, Forest View sixth, last, with only the league meet remaining.

At the frosh-soph level Wheeling also triumphed. The younger Wildcats trimmed the Falcons 71-61 and took first place with a 4-0-1 record. FV fell to second at 4-1-0.

LEADING THE winning varsity was Dick Dyson. He was best in tumbling with a score of 138 and also second on the trampoline. His showing gave him 12 meet points.

Pacing Forest View was Dave Hippensteel. He won for the 12th straight time on the tramp and remained undefeated this season. Hippensteel was judged at 152 in his specialty for the only first registered by the Falcons. He also took a third on the rings.



BOB JOHNSON
High on Bar

Other top places in the meet, all for the 'Cats, went to Bob Johnson, Jim Bowker, Jim Coats and Greg Shornden.

Johnson registered a 133 on the high bar to take honors there. He was backed by the second place finish of Fred Hudson. Bowker, with a 168, and Lonny Davis were one-two on the rings while Coats, at 139, and Mike Allen were one-three on the horse. Shornden's 148 led Mike Banks and Dick Rainer to a sweep on the parallel bars.

Another who placed high for the winners was Gerry Fontecchio. He was second in tumbling behind Dyson and third on the tramp behind Dyson and Hippensteel.

GARTH FREEMAN, Jim Olmon, and Mike Damore were the only others to finish in the top three spots in any event for the Falcons. Freeman was third on the horizontal bar and also fifth on the rings. Damore was second on the horse and Olmon third in tumbling.

"This was an important victory for us," said Wayne Selvig, Wheeling's coach. "However, several of the boys had breaks in their routines which will hurt if they occur in championship meets." The over-all 'Cats dual record is now 7-7 while Forest View is 4-7-1.

In lower level action the Wildcats captured four firsts to establish their winning margin. They went to John Whittington on the high bar, Steve Geiger on parallel bars, Dick Orna on rings and Kim Butler on horse. Whittington also took second on the P-bars and Geiger second on the horse and third on rings.

A pair of top spots went to Forest View's F-S unit. They went to Glenn Owsiany on the tramp and Gregg Murphy in tumbling. FV's frosh-soph club is now 9-3 over-all while the 'Cats are 11-3-1.

Prospect Frosh Topple Cougars In Cage Action

Prospect ran up a huge third quarter advantage and held on in the last period to triumph 47-35 in a freshman basketball clash with Conant last Saturday.

Earl Benoche's Knights mushroomed a 20-16 halftime margin with a 16-4 advantage third quarter, and cruised in for the win, the sixth of the year against six losses. Prospect moved to a 3-2 mark in Mid-Suburban league play with the win.

Bruce Timko led the winners with 17 points, while Bob Frick added 11 points and 10 rebounds, and Scott Lyman claimed nine rebounds. For Conant, Frank DeGracia and Mike Kubala had eight points each.

In the B contest, Prospect was also a winner, and by a 47-37 score. Gary Bach was high point man with 11 markers.

Marian Jayvee Five Tips Lions

Marian Central's jayvee basketball team rallied in the final period Saturday to pull out a 61-58 victory over St. Viator.

The host Lions held a 48-42 lead after three periods.

Greg Polich was high for St. Viator with 20 points. Paul Ponsot collected 18 and Dan Miksta 11.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Few tips — —

Many people have been entering their dogs in the various obedience training clubs throughout the area. There are, of course, many beginners who have never trained a dog before and the whole program can be a real pleasure if a few things are remembered by the new trainee and his dog.

Like any school work, there is homework for dog and owner, with this in mind here are just a few tips on training at home: Perhaps the most important, the word patience should be remembered. It takes time to get the message across to your dog, so don't rush the act. Some breeds will learn a little faster than others which often makes the owner of a slow learner rather frustrated.

Secondly, don't lose your temper. If you do the dog has you at a disadvantage, and often the dog will come out the winner. Third is to work with your dog where there are no distractions. When you can't work outdoors, try the garage or the basement. Fourth—be consistent in the use of your commands. Don't use one command for an exercise and then turn right around and use a different one or a variation of the original command later on. Fifth — don't spend too much time in a training period. One or two 20 to 30-minute sessions each day will do the job.

Classwork at the training club is designed to give you the help required to train your dog, as well as get your dog accustomed to other dogs. However, the final answer is "homework," and that means every day if you want a well behaved dog. Also keep in mind, dogs are like children, there are no two alike when it comes to training.

Westminster — —

The Westminster K.C. show will be history by the time the paper goes to press, and this column will have been long completed before the results of the show are known. It will be of interest to hear who comes up with winners from our area. The show, held Monday and Tuesday at Madison Square Garden in New York City, reached its capacity of 2,557 dogs and of interest is that over 500 entries were returned after the capacity was reached.

International Set — —

Speaking about shows elsewhere brings to mind that plans are well under way for the International K.C. Show to be held at the International Amphitheatre on April 2 and 3.

International last year was the largest dog show held in the country, with an entry of 2982 dogs of 111 different breeds. If you plan to enter your dog, prize lists and entry blanks are available at the International Club's headquarters in the Exchange Building at the Chicago Stock Yards or at the Foley Dog Show Organization, Philadelphia. Entries will close Tuesday noon, March 15.

Barks and Bays — —

Eskimos in the Canadian Arctic are so fond of their dogs that they often give them names of deceased family members. Can't you just hear them calling "Uncle Slug?"

Wheeling's Thinclads Open Indoor Season

A big three will be leading when Wheeling opens its indoor track season today (Thursday).

Veterans Paul Fiegen, Bill Lytle and Doug Steinman will pace the Wildcats during coming thinclad activities. Big things are expected from that trio.

"All three were good in cross country," commented Wheeling coach Jim Hoffman, "and all three should be good in track. Each one of them should do well enough to go down state when the time comes."

FIEGEN IS A senior whose specialty is the half mile where he posted a top time of 1:59.2 as a junior. Lytle, another senior, who was downstate one year ago, will handle the 440. His best in the quarter is a 51.3. Junior Steinman will be the 'Cats miler. He was injured last season but Hoffman feels he'll be strong.

With that threesome in the lead, Wheeling travels to Maine East for its first indoor action. The opponent in that action will be Maine South and this afternoon's starting time is 4:30.

Others who are counted on by Hoffman as he views the coming season are Jim Lisafeld, Bob Bromley, Bill Surmin, and Tom Paturalski.

Lisafeld is a junior who will race in the sprints. He was clocked at 5.7 for the 50 one year ago. "He was outstanding as a soph and should do well again," says Hoffman. Bromley, Surmin and Paturalski all will draw assignments in the hurdles.

IN THE FIELD events the Wheeling outlook is a bit dim at present. "It's wide open in the shot, discus, pole vault and high jump," said Hoffman. "Almost anyone could be in there in our first meets."

There are 16 Wildcats out for varsity track this season. At the frosh-soph level, which Hoffman expects to be stronger than the varsity, there were 47 who arrived for practice. Those upper and lower level squads face an 11 meet indoor season winding up with the Wildcat Relays on February 25.

Last season Wheeling took part in an abbreviated indoor campaign. Of six meets on inside boards the 'Cats lone win came by a 66-34 count against Conant.

Cardinals Head JV Gym Action

Mike Erickson and Art Weidner paced Arlington's junior-varsity gymnastics team to a 70-62 victory over Evanston last week.

Erickson scored 21 points, topping the tumbling field, and Weidner tallied 18½ with a first on the side horse.

Rallies Fall Short

Hot-and-Cold Lions Suffer Two Setbacks

by BOB FRISK

St. Viator's hot-and-cold Lions couldn't put together four strong quarters in visits to St. George and St. Patrick last weekend as they added two more chapters to the baffling 1965-66 basketball story.

The Lions, a convincing victor over league-leading DeLaSalle the previous week, played in spurts in the two road battles, slipping 71-70 at St. George on Friday and 53-45 at St. Patrick Saturday.

St. Viator held the lead for only 47 seconds at St. George and that was in the early stages of the first quarter. The Lions enjoyed the lead for the final 38 seconds of the first half and opening 47 seconds of the second half at St. Patrick.

TWO FURIOUS fourth period rallies gave St. Viator fans something to shout about in the two losses.

Coach Larry Nomellini's Lions were seven points down with 1:20 remaining Friday at St. George but climbed to within one point (69-68) in the next 62 seconds.

Dan Collins hit two quick baskets to cut the Dragon lead to three points with 27 seconds remaining and after Don Geist missed the first of a one-and-one free throw attempt the Lions stormed down the floor.

JUNIOR FRANK Hogan, who was instrumental in getting St. Viator back into the game, sailed for the basket on a nifty drive, scored, and drew a free throw with 18 seconds left.

Hogan's charity toss hit the front of the rim, and Geist and Collins scrambled for the loose basketball. A jump ball went to St. George and with 11 seconds remaining Reinhold Rager, who had scored only two points, was at the line with a one-and-one.

Rager calmly dropped in both tosses to give the Dragons a 71-68 lead. Dan Miksta hit from the side for St. Viator as the clock ran out.

ST. VIATOR couldn't get untracked at St. George, falling behind 20-10 after one period. The Lions, who had committed only six turnovers in four periods against DeLaSalle, had their sixth early in the second period.

Hogan and Emille Bataille paced a mild Lion uprising in that second stanza with the Lions closing the gap to four points (27-23) with 4:22 remaining. St. George shot out on top by nine, but St. Viator only trailed by five points at the break thanks to Johnny Gregory's steal and layup.

The Lions gained a 39-39 tie with 3:38 remaining in the third quarter on a charge engineered by Hogan, Paul Dumke, and Bataille, and the two clubs traded points until the Dragons flurried for a four-point advantage.

ST. VIATOR, plagued by foul problems all night, lost four starters by fouls in the fourth period but never quit battling. Collins and Hogan paced the comeback but it wasn't enough.

The Lions showed ten more baskets than the hosts but trailed 27-6 at the free throw line. In an interesting development St. George went almost nine minutes in the second half without a personal foul.

Hogan was high for the Lions with 22 points. Bataille added 15, Collins 12, and Paul Pomplun 11.

THE LIONS had trouble leaving the starting gate Saturday night at St. Patrick, going four minutes without a point, but Nomellini's crew caught fire in the second period and outscored the Shamrocks 11-2 in a six-minute stretch.

Pomplun, who turned in a strong game, launched the outburst with a jumper from the side and in the next 60 seconds Bataille and Gregory meshed layups.

After Tony Bertucca scored for St. Pat's, the Lions ran off five more points. Hogan hit a free throw, Bataille cashed a layup thanks to a sharp pass from Hogan, and Pomplun went high for a crowd-pleasing tip.

Pomplun's tip gave the Lions a 20-19 lead at intermission.

THE HOST Shamrocks, who have never lost a basketball game to St. Viator, turned on the power in the third quarter and hit the Lions with 18-5 blitz, taking a 37-25 lead into the final quarter.

St. Pat's, a surprise victim at St. Ignatius the previous night, relaxed late in the fourth period with a 10-point, 48-38 lead and it was almost disastrous.

Bataille's layup at 1:51 ignited the charge that brought a large St. Viator contingent to its feet.

A turnover and two Hogan free throws cut the Shamrock lead to six points (48-42) with 1:45 left and at 1:03 Pomplun drove in for a layup.

The Shamrocks had a 48-44 lead, but the Lions were moving.

A TECHNICAL foul with 40 seconds left sent Hogan to the free throw line, and the junior, who had shooting problems for the night, connected to cut the Shamrock lead to three points.

St. Viator had control after the free throw, but lost the ball on a carrying violation with 30 seconds remaining. With the press on, Bertucca slipped past the Lion defense for a layup and an offensive foul gave the hosts the ball once again.

A three-point play by John Lucas sealed the Shamrock victory.

Pomplun was high for the losers with 18 points, and he shut off St. Pat's 6-7 Joe Burke with only two baskets and five free throws. Burke had 21 against the Lions in an earlier meeting.

Lions' Frosh Topple Marian

A 35-point second half carried St. Viator's frosh basketball team to a 44-37 victory over Marian Central Saturday.

The Lions had trouble getting untracked in the opening period and trailed 15-9 at the intermission.

John Brawley and Dave Erfort topped the winners with 17 points each.

St. George shaded the Lion five Friday, 47-43, in a battle that was tight throughout.

Brawley dialed 17 again for St. Viator, and Erfort chipped in 11.

Cards Seek Perfect Mark in Gymnastics

One meet stands between Arlington High School and an unbeaten season in varsity gymnastics.

Coach Tom Walthouse's powerful Cardinals, fresh from their most enjoyable weekend of the 1965-66 season, will entertain Hinsdale Friday at 7:00 p.m. in a special Parent's Night attraction.

Parents of the gymnasts will be special guests as Arlington tangles with the Red Devils on both varsity and frosh-soph levels.

THE MEET WITH Hinsdale will conclude dual meet activity for the Cardinals. The conference action is set for Friday and Saturday, Feb. 25-26, with the district on Saturday, March 5.

"The team spirit and enthusiasm was so great that I don't think anyone could have beaten us last Friday," Cardinal coach Walthouse enthused as he looked back on a stunning 78-54 victory over Evanston.

"The boys were pulling for each other and the over-all team reaction to the meet far surpassed my expectations."

EVANSTON WENT into the meet without a dual meet loss in gymnastics since Jan. 11, 1964. They came out of the action with a resounding 78-54 setback.

Senior Jim Johannesen showed once again why he's labeled one of the finest gymnasts in Illinois. He picked up three more firsts against Evanston with a 172 routine on the high bar (86-86), 172 on the parallel bars (87-85), and 146 in tumbling (76-70).

Hank Taylor ruled the side horse with a 155 routine (75-80) and Sam Cullison and Steve LeVan finished 2-3 to give the Cards an important sweep.

DOUG DATTILO continued to sparkle on the still rings with a first place rating of 176. Both judges gave Dattilo 88's.

In addition to the side horse, Arlington's other strong showings came on the high bar where Bert Schmitt and sophomore Lee Brown finished 2-4 behind Johannesen and on the parallel bars where Johannesen, Don Von Ebers, and Schmitt placed 1-2-3.

Roy Rettburg took a third on the rings with a 172, only four points behind teammate Dattilo, and Tom Riesing was fourth in tumbling and third on the tramp.

ARLINGTON RAN its record to 13-0 Saturday with a 77-55 thumping of York in an important West Suburban Conference test.

Johannesen took individual honors again with three more firsts, receiving two 90-plus ratings.

He won the high bar with an 89-92 and ruled the parallel bars with an 84-94. A 137 routine in tumbling gave the versatile senior his third first place.

RIESING GAVE THE Cards a first on trampoline with a 79-78, and Dattilo rolled along on his specialty with a 180 on the rings. Doug showed two 90 ratings.

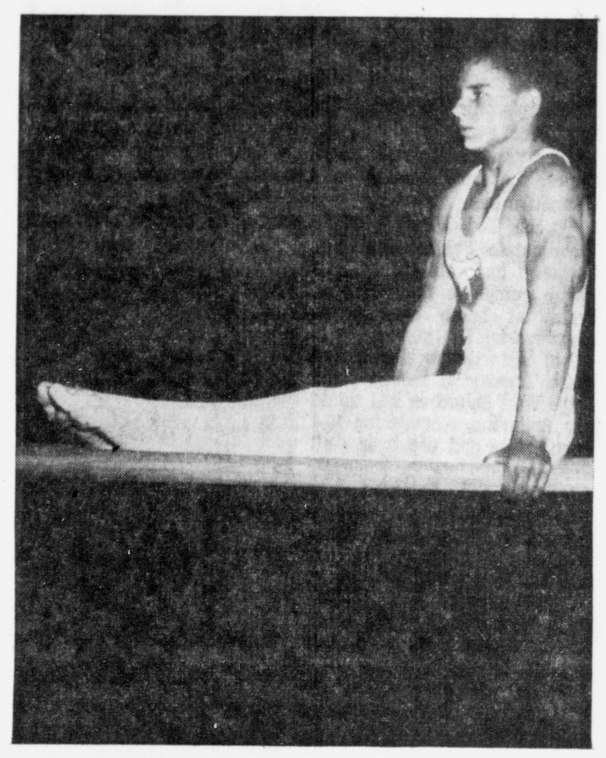
Claiming seconds for Arlington were Steve LeVan on the side horse (71-82), Schmitt on the high bar (85-84), Rettburg on the rings (86-83), and Riesing in tumbling (71-63).

ARLINGTON'S frosh-soph gymnasts ran their winning streak to 12 with a 69-63 victory over Evanston but suffered a 73-59 setback Saturday against York.

The Cards picked up four firsts against Evanston with Wayne Crockett on the side horse (55), Jack Finch on the parallel bars (42) and rings (50), and Guy Jessogne in tumbling (42).

Crockett topped the parallel bars (60) and Atkins headed the side horse (40) for the only Arlington firsts against York.

Crockett picked up 12 points with his first, third on the rings, and sixth on the side horse.



JIM JOHANNESEN of Arlington High School enjoyed an impressive weekend in varsity gymnastics as he scored six firsts in the Cardinals' victories over Evanston and York. Johannesen, a senior, topped the high bar, parallel bars, and tumbling events in both meets. He'll lead the Cards in their final home meet of the season Friday evening. (Photo by Larry Dale)

Prospect JVs Top Wheeling

Prospect High's JV cage team continued its winning ways last Friday night by taking the measure of the host Wheeling quintet 58-41.

The Knights were ahead 11-10 after the first quarter of play but increased the margin in the second period to eight points by outscoring the Wildcats 19-12.

Both teams turned cold in the third quarter as Prospect tallied only six points while Wheeling managed only four.

Coach Don Arseneau's Knights iced the game with a 22 point outburst in the final quarter to chalk up their twelfth victory of the season against two defeats.

Butch Leonard paced the victors in scoring with 19 points and was followed by Mike Anderson and Tom Grafton with 11 each.

Jeff Winterburg led Wheeling with a 14 point total.

Cardinal Frosh Split Now 9-5 For Cage Season

Arlington belted Maine East for the second time this season but dropped a four-point decision to St. Charles in frosh 'A' basketball action.

Coach Tom Pitchford's Cardinals exploded for 25 points in the first period Saturday and coasted to a 65-48 victory.

Dean Schmelzer tossed in 23 points on nine baskets and five free throws to pace Arlington to its ninth victory of the season.

Turnovers proved costly Monday as the Cardinal plebes suffered a 56-52 loss at St. Charles.

Arlington was guilty of 25 turnovers for four periods in suffering its fifth loss of the campaign.

Dave Somers scored 15 points and Jim Baumgartner 14 for the losers.

Prospect, FV End 8th, 9th in M-CSL Swim Competition

It was a sad end to an unfortunate conference season for Prospect and Forest View swimmers.

The Mid-Central Suburban League swim meet was staged last Saturday at Niles West. Nine tank teams were entered.

Deerfield captured the M-CSL title by taking four of 11 firsts and totaling 85 points. Also with four firsts, Niles North got 65 points and second while remaining top places and third went to Maine South.

For Knights and Falcons teams the outcome was not bright. Coach Don Barrett's Prospect unit finished eighth with seven points and Forest View, directed by Keith North, was shut out of the scoring column and last.

LEADING THE Knights in the meet was John Norton. After qualifying for the finals with the fourth best time, Norton took third in the finals of the 100 yard butterfly. He was timed at 58.4.

Prospect also garnered a pair of sixths in the competition. They went to Tom Braackman in the 100 yard breaststroke and the 200 yard medley relay team of Norton, Braachman, Bob Krysiak and Mike Busse.

The nearest that any of the Falcons could get to making the finals was a seventh place in preliminary races. That went to Mike Bodozian in the 100 yard freestyle. He needed a sixth to qualify for wind-up action.

At the frosh-soph level New Trier West was the winner, with 69 points, though Deerfield trailed by only seven in taking the number two position.

Forest View's younger swimmers ended in seventh with nine points. Phil Nychay scored highest by ending third in the 50 yard butterfly and sixth in the 300 yard free style. A fourth in the 100 yard individual medley went to Ray Bauer.

IN THE MEDLEY relay swim Ray and Knute Bauer, Greg Hahn and Brad Davis combined to take sixth for FV.

The Knights' F-S club totaled three points and was ninth. Those three markers resulted from the fourth place finish of Leo Essick in the 50 yard free style.

Both Prospect and Forest View will next swim in the district meet. That action will come tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday at New Trier. (See separate story in this section for complete details.)

Maine West Seizes District Mat Honors

Someone ran away with the title in last weekend's district wrestling meet. That someone was Maine West.

MW out-distanced the field by placing boys among the top four at every weight except one. The Warriors finished with 89 points.

Far to the rear was runner-up Prospect with 54 points. Close behind, in third and fourth, were Arlington and host Forest View. They had 53 and 51 points respectively.

THE LAST three positions went to Maine East, Wheeling and St. Viator in that order.

Triumph for Maine West resulted when coach Dick Carlini's grapplers took four individual firsts, three seconds, two thirds and two fourths. Only at 112 pounds, where they had no entry, did the Warriors fail to gain any honors.

Of other firsts in the meet, two each were grabbed by the Knights, Cards and Falcons. The Blue Demons and Lions had one apiece and the 'Cats none. Three second spots went to Prospect, two to Arlington and FV, one to ME and Wheeling and none to Viator.

Just those individuals who finished one or two at each of the dozen weights will advance to sectional wrestling action which begins tomorrow (Friday) at Palatine. Thus, winning Maine will send on the most, seven.

FEW UPSETS were registered in the district meet as most came through with expected good performances. Competition began with matches at:

95 pounds — Dave Grutzius started Maine West to victory by taking honors here. He decisioned Arlington's soph Jim Whitnell 7-4 in the prelims and then stopped Gary McMorrow of Prospect 12-9 in the finals. McMorrow is now 10-7-1 for the year. Third place went to Forest View's Tom Mann, who whipped Whitnell 7-1.

103 pounds — Prospect got one of its firsts at 103. The Knights' Dave Holmes extended his season record to 12-5-2 by pinning George Maurides of Maine East in 4:20, decisioning Jay Mc Donnell of the Cards 2-0 and blanking MW's Kurt Christansen 8-0 for the title. Wheeling's Ray Weidner topped McDonnell 4-2 for the number three spot.

112 pounds — The hosts picked up the most points at 112 as FV's Steve DeHaven won two bouts and gained first. DeHaven, now 11-10, decisioned the Demons' Mike Thomas 6-5 and, in the finals, bounced Mike Mohr of Prospect 9-2. Thomas scored a pin in 3:28 to finish number three. He flattened Dennis Kneip of Wheeling.

120 pounds — Maine West's second win went to Ron Poloshay. Poloshay shut out George Taylor of Forest View 7-0, followed with a 4-1 decision over Arlington's Tom McCarthy and wrapped up the title by a 5-2 margin over the Knights' Bill Kalvog, whose record was dropped to 11-5-1. McCarthy came back to stop Wheeling's Karl Meisenheimer 6-3 for third.

127 pounds — Three high scoring bouts decided the issue here. Bruce Garnett topped the Lions' Don Rich 6-1, the Falcons' Ron McKisic 9-6 and the Warriors' Wayne Rozanski 11-2 to triumph at 127. Garnett, of Maine East, is now 11-4 for the season. Wheeling's Al Eisenstein closed 1965-66 competition at 13-4-2 with a referee's decision win over McKisic to decide third place.

133 pounds — Last year Chip Douglas took a fourth at 133 for the Cards. This time around he won. Douglas leveled Bob Best of Forest View 11-2, Jerry Hawkinson of Wheeling 7-2 and Greg Dolphin of MW 4-0 to gain his sectional berth and a 16-5 record. Hawkinson ended fourth after a 5-0 loss to ME's Ed Eggelston, who was third.

138 pounds — A 17-1 record belonged to Maine West's Tom Hansch after his three straight wins at 138. Hansch began with a pin, in 1:50, of Viator's Marty Hertz and followed up by trouncing Mike Fluegel of Wheeling and Dave Gooding of Arlington by 10-2 margins. The Card's Gooding, second, is now 12-6-1. Fluegel was also beaten by Phil Eaton of Maine East. Eaton won 5-1 to take third.

145 pounds — Rick Bertoglio of Prospect also extended his season mark to 17-1 by finishing first at 145. John Krebsbach of the Lions was Bertoglio's first victim on a pin in 4:31. Then the Knights' matman decisioned Randy Ryden of MW 9-5 and, for the title, registered a 5-2 decision over the host's Jim Kubik. Kubik is the possessor of a 16-4-2 standard. In third at 145 was Wheeling's Matt Porzel, who gave Ryden his second 9-5 defeat.

154 pounds — Best record in the meet was owned by another Ryden from Maine West, Steve. He took three decisions to make his mark 19-1 and become the Warriors' fourth winner. John Comstock, of Maine East, Pete Phillips, of Forest View, and Don Lindmark, of Arlington, fell before the Ryden surge. Lindmark, who was second, is 15-5-1 while Phillips, 14-6-1, was third after registering a 5-0 default win against Rich Haddock of the 'Cats. Haddock, fourth, lost a pair of matches and closed the campaign 13-4-2.

165 pounds — The Cards' Mike Jones was the 165 victor. He beat Prospect's Marty Destafanis 8-4, Maine East's Bill Dritlein 5-0 and Wheeling's Paul Berwanger 2-0 to run his personal record to 17-4. Berwanger, in second, was the Wildcats' lone entry to advance to sectional action. He's now 11-6. MW's Jim Kautz whitewashed Dritlein 2-0 and ended third.

180 pounds — Perhaps the closest action took place at 180. Forest View's Mike Severns edged Brad Somers of Arlington 7-5 to gain the finals. There Severns met the Demons' Wally Pollack. Those two wrestled through three regular periods and overtime before Severns was awarded a referee's decision for the title. An 18-3 total belongs to Severns. Somers dropped another narrow decision when he was tipped 3-2 by Mike Schwepfer of Maine West in third place action.

Heavyweight — At the heaviest weight was where St. Viator gained all its points. In their first district meet ever, the Lions got all honors from 6-3, 235 pound Denny Forston. Forston started by doubling the score in a 4-2 decision over Arlington's Ron Thompson. He followed by whipping Claude DeRusha of Maine East 8-2 and then took first place with a 5-1 tally run up against FV's Al Gildemeister. Forston is 14-1 for the year and Gildemeister 9-5-1. Third went to DeRusha when he blanked MW's Royce Leonardson 2-0.

The district meet was held last Friday and Saturday at Forest View. Preliminary bouts were staged the first day with semi-finals in the afternoon and finals in the evening of the second day.

POINTS IN the meet were awarded on the basis of 10 for first, seven for second, four for third and two for fourth. Also, a single point was given for each preliminary bout won and each pin scored at any level of action.

There were a total of 76 matches in the meet. Of those, 64 ended in decisions, just nine with pins, two with a referee's decision and one by default. Paul Berwanger of Wheeling was the lone contestant to register more than one pin in the meet.

(For details of the sectional wrestling meet to be held at Palatine see a separate story in this section.)

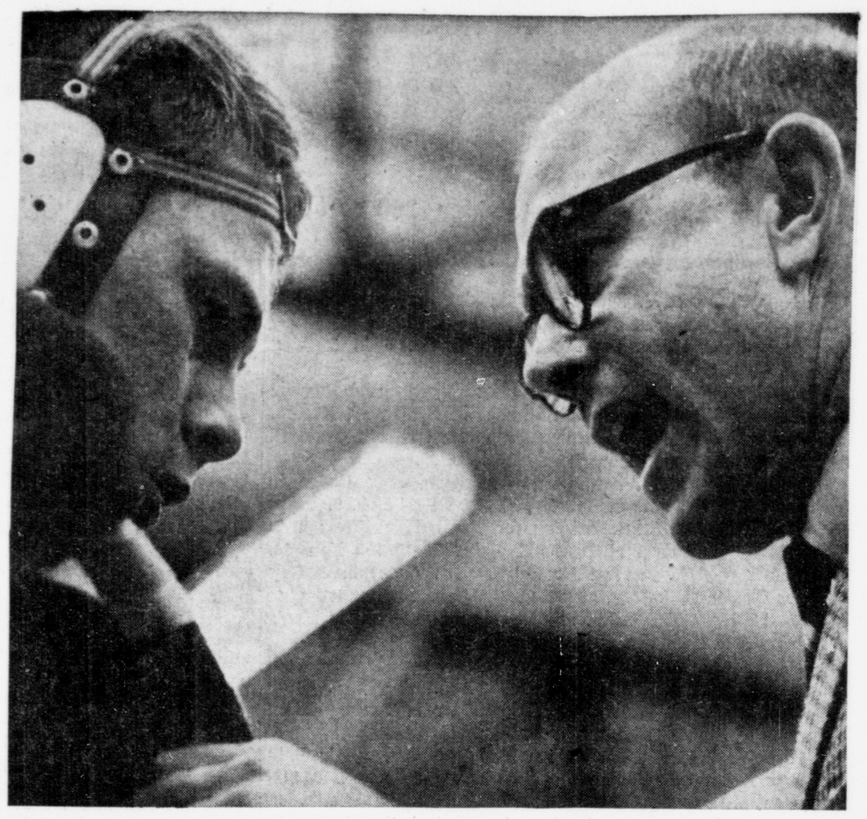
First and second place winners both qualify for the sectional wrestling meet and gain 10 and 7 points respectively toward team score.

Neither third or fourth place winners advance to sectional meet but do gain 4 and 2 points respectively toward team score.



MAT COUNSEL is given by Forest View coach Hal Henson to his wrestler Mike Severns. Discussion came during a lull prior to an overtime period in the first place 180 pound bout in last weekend's district grappling. Whatever Henson's advice was, it was good because Severns went on to win a referee's decision and take the crown at 180.

Late Burst Gets Victory

Forest View Quintet Topples Maine West

by MICHAEL HESS

It was a cage party no one would want to repeat . . .

Forest View attended a hoop social last Friday. Site of the affair was Maine East. Maine West's quintet acted as host.

Upper-class FV was 11-6 over-all prior to the event and 4-1, second, in Mid-Suburban League meetings. MW, of much lower status, was 2-13 for the season and 1-4, fifth, in the M-SL.

The Falcons planned for a quiet, friendly gathering from which they'd leave in triumph, and everything started according to schedule. Forest View opened with a polite 3-0 lead.

But, the Warriors became rude and barged in front 12-7 after one quarter and 23-22 at the half. These bad manners seemed to fluster the Falcons. Their play was haphazard, off form, and they committed 10 turnovers before the intermission.

THEN TWO additional visitors turned proceedings into near chaos. In the guise of referees these guests whistled 24 fouls during the second half. Coaches' angry hoots, players' anguished looks and the reek of incompetence trailed the wake of this bumbling pair.

Reeling a bit, adding eight turnovers to its total, Forest View still managed a slight 35-33 advantage as the last period began. With just 2:46 remaining FV clutched a slim 45-44 margin.

At that juncture the Falcons decided the party was over. They made 10 straight points in 90 seconds and led 55-44 before Maine West could respond. Little more than one minute later it was over and Forest View trudged home with a 57-45 win.

"The officiating was really bad," said FV's coach Ken Arneson. "It's hard trying to beat seven men. I'm just glad we got out with a win."

For the entire contest the Falcons had 22 fouls and 20 turnovers. Only twice before this year did they have more. Those figures compared unfavorably with the 13 fouls and 14 turnovers charged against the Warriors, who, regardless of their record, continue a scrambling, never-say-die style of play.

IT WAS GOOD shooting which saved Forest View. Arneson's club made 23 of 47 goal attempts (48.9 per cent) and 11 of 17 (64.7 per cent) at the line. Maine, under Gaston Freeman, connected on 35.9 per cent from the floor (14 of 39) and 60.7 per cent (17 of 28) on foul tries.

High scorer in the game was FV's Pat Dunnigan. He made seven of 12 from the floor and two of four free throws for 16 points. Teammates Jim Baumgardt, with 13, and Jeff Grismer, with 11, also hit double figures. Dick Manny's 11 markers paced the Warriors' attack.

Dunnigan opened affairs by tossing in the Falcons' first five points but buckets by Manny and Pete Kulik gave MW its first quarter advantage. Period two found Dunnigan riding the bench, with three fouls, and Baumgardt combining with Grismer for 13 points, enough to bring Forest View within one at the half.

In the third quarter Dunnigan, Grismer and Baumgardt combined for all FV points, making five of nine from the floor and half of six at the charity stripe. Grismer's 15-footer broke a 33-33 tie and sent the Falcons into the final period ahead by two.

THE REFS TOOK over during the last eight minutes. Maine's Ken Mueller fouled out at 6:04, Byron Borgardt of Forest View left at 4:54, and Baumgardt was excused at 2:46. On Baumgardt's fifth personal, the 14th of the period, Dale Haase sank a pair from the line to bring the Warriors within one, at 45-44.

For FV that marked the party's finish.

Howie Brasch sank a driving lay-up, Bucky Jones popped one from 12 feet, Dunnigan made a lay-up, Brasch threw in two foul shots and the tally was 54-44. Jones capped the rally by stealing the ball and making a lay-up. Maine hadn't scored during that period.

Three more points were registered before the end but the issue had been decided. Also before the end, Grismer picked up his fifth foul and, with an official pushing and prodding him toward the sideline, became the game's fourth casualty.

As a social affair this cage gathering was a definite dud!

Hinsdale Coasts To Swimming Title

Hinsdale, a state power in swimming, showed its class Saturday in the first West Suburban Conference meet.

The powerful Red Devils rolled up 115 points to dominate a five-team alignment.

LaGrange was second with 54, Riverside-Brookfield third with 40½, Maine East fourth with 33, and Arlington High fifth with 15.

A school record in the 50 freestyle by Dick Tucker highlighted Arlington's varsity performance.

Tucker, a standout all season who will be shooting for a state slot this weekend in the district, turned in a 23.2 in the 50 preliminaries to take five-tenths of a second off his own mark.

Tucker came back with a 23.8 in the finals for a second behind Scott Gardner of Hinsdale. Gardner was clocked in 23 seconds flat.

John Erickson took a third in the 100-yard breaststroke with a 1:10.8, his career best, and fourth in the 200 yard individual medley at 2:26.1.

Junior Lowell Christy splashed to a fourth in the 100-yard backstroke with a 1:04.4.

Arlington collected 10 points in frosh-soph ranks for another fifth. Cary Oliver took fourth in the 50 backstroke and Dick Witcher was sixth in diving.

The Cards placed fourth in the 200 medley relay with a unit of Oliver, Jim Philo, John Westwood, and Witcher.

Falcons' JV Cagers Top Warriors 57-52

Forest View JV cagers brought Maine West down to their level last Friday evening.

By a 57-52 margin the Falcons topped the Warriors. That result lowered MW from first to a second place Mid-Suburban League tie with FV.

As the contest opened Forest View raced out to a 17-7 first quarter lead. Bob Arnold's seven points paced the opening attack for the Falcons who hit seven of 11 from the floor.

CONTINUING its hot streak through period two, FV was in front 35-15 just 1:03 before intermission. Six Falcons made five or more points in the initial half. Center Ted Lambert led the way with nine.

Coach Bob Rees' Forest View charges connected on 13 of 24 goal tries and 12 of 15 at the line before the second half started. Maine West, with Bob Banger making seven markers, put in eight of 19 from the floor and six of 12 at the line.

In the third quarter the Warriors came charging back. They established a 20-8 margin in the period and were down by only four, at 46-42, when the last seven minutes got under way. Phil Murdock and Ken Mach directed the MW surge.

Lambert kept FV ahead through the final quarter. He made six of his team's 11 tallies to offset four points each from MW's Murdock and Larry Kahler. The Warriors never came to within four points of the winning Falcons.

HIGH SCORER in the struggle was Lambert with 21 points. Arnold added 11 and Dennis Lynch and Rich Gillespie six each for Forest View. Maine had four who hit double figures as Murdock finished with 14, Kahler 12, Banger 11 and Mach 10.

The Falcons sank 57.1 per cent (20 for 35) of their goal attempts in the game and 65.4 per cent (17 of 26) of their foul shots. The Warriors put in 38.3 per cent (18 for 47) from the floor and 59.2 per cent (16 of 27) at the line.

There were 39 fouls called in the 28 minutes of action and a combined total of 32 turnovers. FV, its record upped to 10-4 over-all by the triumph, committed 20 fouls and 18 turnovers while MW, its season record dropped to 6-7, had 19 fouls and 14 turnovers. Both teams were left with 4-2 M-SL standards.

Prospect Jayvees Whip Conant Five

The Prospect JV basketball team rallied in the second half to break open a close contest and earn a 66-48 home court victory last Saturday evening against Conant High.

The two clubs battled on even terms in the opening two quarters. Conant outscored the Knights 10-9 in the first period, and Prospect outpointed the Cougars 17-14 in the second quarter to garner a slim 26-24 halftime margin.

Paced by Mike Anderson and Tom Grafton, the Knights came on strong in the third period. Coach Don Arseneau's quintet hit for 17 points while holding Conant to seven to post a 12 point lead, 43-31, going into the final quarter.

Prospect increased its margin early in the final quarter, and midway through the period Arseneau began to empty his bench. The Knights outscored the visitors 23-17 in this frame to register their second win of the weekend and their 13th of the season against two defeats.

Anderson and Grafton led Prospect in scroing with 18 and 13 points respectively. Ed Johnson matched Anderson's 18 point effort to pace Conant.

Cards JVs Win Again

Two explosive periods were enough to carry Arlington's jayvee Cardinals past Maine East Saturday morning, 66-57.

Coach Al Allen's Cards scored 21 points in the opening stanza and 28 in the concluding period as they wrapped up their fifth straight victory.

Steve Conley poured through 22 points for Arlington on nine baskets and four free throws. Jim Bressler added 16.

The Cards will take an 8-3 season mark in a home game Saturday with Downers Grove.

Knights Get MSL Soph Mat Crown

Prospect's sophomore wrestlers wrapped up the Mid-Suburban League title last Saturday, handling Conant 40 7 on the Prospect mats.

For Dave Ziemek's Knights, it meant an unblemished conference mark in duals and a 9-1 record over-all. The big win was almost an anti-climax to the crucial edging of chief contender Palatine the Saturday before.

PROSPECT WON at the first eight weights in the meet, getting pins from Jim Amoroso (95), Dave Phillips (112) and Mike Herod (120), and decisions from Bill Hueckstaedt (103), Terry Halshausen (127), Luke Dicce (133), Bob Link (138) and Ron Richardson (145).

Dan Burkhardt drew with George Reedy 1-1 at 154, but Mike Sanders came back with a pin at 165 and Jeff Schneider a decision win at 180. Conant's only triumph came with Hank Wellnitz pinning Mark Kitzing in the heavyweight bout.

For the season, Prospect co-captains Link and Schneider had marks of 13-1 and 11-4 respectively, while Amoroso was 10-1-1, Hueckstaedt 6-4, Halshauser 13-2 and Richardson 9-2. The team also had the championship of the Maine East holiday tourney in its record.

Guards in Charge

Guards have served as basketball captains at the University of Illinois 11 of the 17 seasons since 1950. Guards captained the Illini for seven straight years from 1958-1964.

Lions' Swimmers Finish Unbeaten in Dual Meets

Regardless of what transpires this weekend in the district competition, St. Viator's swimmers can look back on the 1965-66 season with justifiable pride.

Coach Charles Mondi's Lions completed their dual meet campaign last week with a rout of Lake Forest to run their record to 13-0 at both levels.

A record-setting performance by Joe Herrity in the 100 butterfly highlighted the varsity triumph as the Lions achieved a perfect 86-9 score.

Herrity splashed to a 1:01.1 clocking in the fly for one of 11 firsts in the varsity meet.

HERRITY ALSO worked on the 200 medley relay which clicked off a 1:53.3. Other members of the relay team were Tim Wallace, Jim Spears, and Kevin Shea.

Spears added a victory in the 100 breastroke (1:09) to his relay win, and Wallace won the 100 backstroke in 1:07.1.

Shea, who worked the fly in the medley relay, was the first man off for the victorious freestyle team. Bob Brown, Ed Vallely, and John Massey joined Shea in the 400 freestyle event with the victors coming in at 4:01.

Rene Tague fashioned two firsts for Mondi's powerhouse with the senior turning in a swift 23.1 in the 50 freestyle and a 52.6 in the 100 free.

Rick Withrow won the 200 yard freestyle in 2:09.6 and the 400 free in 4:43.3, and Tom Pilot posted a 2:35.1 for first place honors in the 200 individual medley.

Dave Chantry topped the diving alignment with a 68 rating.

LOU HIBBS was a double winner for the frosh-soph Lions who overwhelmed Lake Forest, 76-18.

Hibbs won the 100 individual medley in 1:06.9 and the 100 freestyle in 58.8.

Other individual winners were Ed Leadley in the 50 free (26.0), Dave Mullan in diving (33.3), Fred Schmidt in the 50 fly (28.1), Bill Saigh in the 50 backstroke (29.7), Bill McCaffrey in the 300 free (3:36.1), and Mike Madden in the 50 breastroke (33.4).

IN ACTION last week St. Viator overpowered Maine East on a varsity level, 71-24, and scored a 56-39 frosh-soph win.

Tague and Withrow were double winners for the varsity against Maine. Rene had a 24.5 in the 50 freestyle and 55.4 in the 100 free. Withrow won the 200 free in 2:07.5 and the 400 free in 4:45.3.

Other individual winners were Schmidt in the 200 individual medley (2:30), Herrity in the 100 fly (1:03.9), and Jim Spears in the 100 breastroke (1:10).

Leadley, Hibbs, Mike Kaminski, Vallely, and McCaffrey scored firsts on a frosh-soph level.

RMB Blanks Morton

Steve's Belts Lattof Ladies

Two dramatic declarations have been made in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

Steve's Restaurant, which had become accustomed to having things its way in the 1964-65 season, has indicated it wants things that way again. Steve's—in action bowled at Jeffery Lanes on Feb. 6—blasted Lattof Chevrolet, the team that supplanted Steve's in this season's round one.

KAY CLARK

And Rolling Meadows Bowl, a team that ran afoul of some adversity in the first round, has demonstrated it doesn't mean to collapse for anyone this time around. RMB clouted Morton Pontiac — a team with which it had been tied — 4-0.

A LESSER declaration was made by River Rand Bowl, the league's current cellar-dweller. River Rand clubbed Striking Lanes 3-1 and considerably closed the gap between the cellar and the floors above it.

All the action left Steve's resting at the PWCTL's top, two points ahead of RMB, which itself broke free of the three-team cluster it had been part of the week before. Lattof settled to third, a point back of RMB, two up on Striking Lanes.

Steve's whitewashed Lattof by a huge margin, taking a series advantage of 2645-2403. That winning series was the best of the evening in the PWCTL, as was Steve's first game of 941. Those peak performances were paced by PWCTL veteran Winnie Lohse, who had the best individual game and series as she combined 203, 223 and 182 for a 608 total. Teammate Delores Harris had 535, while the best a cool Lattof's could muster was Peggy Harris' 502.

KAY CLARK AND Marlene Smith led Rolling Meadows Bowl past Morton. Kay was best with a 545 series, while Marlene had 542, and each had a 202 game. Only the first game was close, as Morton got its best from Nancy Dietz, whose 495 was very much sub-par for the league's individual average leader.

Things ended up fairly close between River Rand Bowl and Striking Lanes, with 31 pins difference at the end. But River Rand had it by enough in games two and three to rule the series with three points.

Gloria Lucchesi, who had a 204 game in the total, reigned for River Rand with a 564 series. Striking gained 557 from Eunice Whitmore and 531 from Marge Duffy, but didn't have enough to compete with the rest of River Rand's five.

Striking will get its chance for some upsetting this Saturday night, tangling with Steve's at Jack Gunnell's. Rolling Meadows Bowl will try to take advantage of River Rand Bowl, and Lattof Chevrolet will run into Morton Pontiac.

Sports, Pioneer Stay 1-2 In PCTL Ranking

Balance isn't everything. But it surely is something.

That was the athletic lesson of the Paddock Classic Traveling League last Saturday night, as Concourse Sports Chalet and Brim's Pioneer Lanes continued their 1-2 pacing of the pack.

The Sports stayed on top — gaining a couple points more on Pioneer — by stopping City Welding Sales and Service with a team performance that varied 174 pins between high score and low.

Pioneer kept in high contention with a performance of stunning balance, a range of 29 pins between the poles. It was just enough to edge some impressive Jeffery Lanes balance.

Bill Cook Buick stayed in the flock in other action, blanking The Brass Rail, while Morton Pontiac handled Karlsen Pharmacy 5-2, finishing off the three-way tie that had existed between those two and City Welding.

SPORTS CHALET advanced to 30 team points in second round play — five better than Pioneer — by taking six of seven points from City Welding. The Welders got their point by knotting Chalet 928-928 in game one. The winners made it easy in game two and by the slimmest of margins — one pin — in game three to rule the rest.

Ray Neumann was the man on the high end of the scale, rolling a 662 series on his home Gunnell's Lanes, with a 257 game in the total. Sub Dave Catherwood, who had a fine 599 a week before, had the low with 488. The Welders got their best from Bill Todd, 573.

Pioneer won 4-3 over Jeffery at Jeffery Lanes, taking two games but not quite by enough to outweigh the 59-pin margin Jeffery established in winning its one game. So Jeffery got the point for pins.

IN THE PIONEER blend was a 591 from Pat Peterson, 570 from Ron Sheldon, 564 from George Schmidt and 562s from Larry Thon and Bob Krisch. Jeffery had John Randolph at 608, Don Christensen at 607 and the others in the mid-500s.

Bill Cook Buick, paced by Paul Borvig's 600, was a 7-0 winner at home at Rolling Meadows Bowl. Borvig had a 233 game in his total, a contribution that helped Buick overcome the Railers' best team game and set up the whitewash. High for the losers was Warren Olson with 577. By the win, the Buick men hopped to third with 21 total points.

Morton Pontiac started slowly, losing the first game by 59 pins to Karlsen Pharmacy, but soon tuned up on the familiar Beverly Lanes alleys and stormed to victory in games two and three. Morton's 1028 third game was the best team effort of the evening in the league.

Les Zikes Jr. led his team with 601, while Bob Glaser had 583. For Karlsen, Warren Karlsen had 586 and Herm Simonis 582.

Sports Chalet and Pioneer will have the stage to do something about their contention for the top this Saturday, for they meet in direct opposition at Pioneer. Bill Cook Buick will meet Karlsen Pharmacy at Striking Lanes; Jeffery will host City Welding; and Morton Pontiac will meet The Brass Rail at River Rand Bowl.

Card Sophs Fall, 36-27

A fourth period surge gave Maine East's sophomore basketball team a 36-27 victory over Arlington High School last Friday evening.

The Cards were not out of the lowscoring contest until that concluding quarter.

Maine East took an early lead, 12-11, at the end of the opening stanza and stretched it to two points, 17-15, at the intermission.

The visitors outscored the Cards by a basket in the third period and coasted to victory in the final stanza.

Arlington had trouble at the free throw line, hitting only nine of 27.

Keith Culberson was high for Arlington with 13 points.

The Cardinals will travel to Downers Grove Friday for another West Suburban Conference tilt.

Arlington Wins Frosh Gym Meet

Jim Brousseau scored 18½ points and Glenn Pierre tallied 11 last Thursday to lead Arlington High School's frosh gymnastics team to a 79.5 to 52.5 victory over Evanston.

Brousseau fashioned a first on the high bar and side horse and tie for second on the parallel bars. Pierre tied for first on the rings and placed fourth on the parallel bars and fifth on the side horse.

Bob Gleichman topped the parallel bars.

Verify Averages Of Top Bowlers

Averages of winning bowlers in the recent Paddock tournaments have been verified and prize checks are in process of being mailed. League secretaries of the loops involved will be receiving these checks from bowling lane proprietors, effective Monday, Feb. 21.

Cards Post Fourth Win

Arlington High School's swimmers, operating under a severe handicap without their own pool, still managed to pick up four victories during the 1965-66 season.

Coach John Gardner's Cardinals overwhelmed West Leyden last week, 60-35, to conclude dual meet activity. The victory was the fourth for Arlington in ten meets.

Junior John Erickson and senior Dick Tucker sparked the win over West Leyden with four of Arlington's eight firsts.

Erickson flashed to a 2:31.5 in the individual medley for a five-second victory over teammate Russ Larson and had a 1:14.6 in the breastroke.

Tucker won the 50 freestyle in a sparkling 23.3 and the 100 free in 57.4.

JUNIOR STANDOUT Lowell Christy gave Arlington first place points with a 1:04.8 in the backstroke and also worked a leg on the victorious medley relay.

Larson, Bill Sayre, and Greg Stafford joined Christy in a 1:57.4 medley relay.

Soph Dick Witcher won the diving event with a 53 ranking.

Arlington won the freestyle relay with a team of Stafford, Dick Price, Scott Guilfoil, and Witcher.

ARLINGTON splashed to 11 firsts in overwhelming West Leyden's frosh-soph entry, 76-19.

Cary Oliver took two individual firsts with a 30 flat in the backstroke and 1:15.5 in the individual medley, taking four-tenths of a second off the backstroke mark.

Tony Pretto topped both the 100 freestyle (1:05) and middle distance freestyle (1:50).

Other individual winners were Ray Peale in the 50 freestyle (29.1), Jim Philo in the breastroke (36.4), Kurt Thomson in the distance freestyle (4:03.1), Craig Davis in the butterfly (35.7), and Bob Miller in diving (25.85).

Scott Josif, Philo, John Westwood, and Thomson turned in a 2:13.8 medley relay and Graham, Tom Walsh, Miller, and Tom Huegerich showed a 2:03.5 in the freestyle relay.

Navigation Course Set

A seven-week course in navigation, entitled "Piloting," will be given at the Chicago Park District Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum beginning Friday, Feb. 18, announced Robert I. Johnson, planetarium director.

This course is planned for the Sunday sailor who is interested in primary navigation sailing on the Great Lakes. There is no prerequisite for enrollment in the course. Sessions will be held each Friday evening, from 7:30 to 9:00 o'clock, from February 8 through April 1.

Registration is open at the office of Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum, 900 East Achsah Bond Drive, Northerly Island. Additional information may be had by telephoning WAbash 2-4488 between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. every day except Tuesday and Friday when the Museum remains open until 9:30 p.m.

Grove Captures Wins in Frosh, Soph Wrestling

Elk Grove's frosh and frosh-soph wrestlers concluded their dual meet activity last Saturday on a winning note.

The Grenadier frosh toppled New Trier West, 35-25, for their first victory of the season in 12 meets. The Grove sophs won, 36-15, to post a 5-7 season mark.

Posting victories for the Elk Grove plebes were Don Capplen (95), Jim Pankow (112), Dan Austin (127), Ray Kook (133), Tom Wanser (145), Steve Jung (154), and Pete Hagen (heavyweight).

Frosh-soph winners from Elk Grove were Jim Devito (103), Mark Beatty (112), Dave Wheeler (127), Ron Traub (133), Mike Ernest (145), Chuck Raffaele (154), and Spencer Dreischarf (180).

Henry's Is 8-0 In Cage League

Henry's took an unbeaten record into competition this week in the Wheeling Park District adult basketball league.

The pace-setting Henry's quintet had eight straight victories and a two-game lead over Groot's.

Groot's overpowered Martin Metals last week, 61-45, for its sixth victory in eight outings.

In other action the Jaycees clipped the Highland-Glenn five, 60-59, for their third win. Rustad was high for the winners with 18, and Harhan topped Highland with 25.

In games next week Highland-Glenn will play Martin Metals (Tuesday, Feb. 22) and Groot's will battle the Jaycees (Thursday, Feb. 24).

GRAPPLING SECRETS aren't being whispered between Arlington's Mike Jones and Paul Berwanger of Wheeling. Instead the Cardinals' and Wildcats' wrestling entries are simply concentrating on defeating each other in their 165 pound match held last Saturday. Jones finished with a decision win over Berwanger to take first place in district mat action.

Cards Rout Demons For 8th League Win

by FRED BOEDEKER

The Arlington Cardinals regained sole possession of second place in the West Suburban Conference basketball race as they trounced neighboring Maine East, 73-49, last Friday night.

The Cards now sport an 8-4 record in the league with only two games left to play. The York Dukes have already cinched the conference crown and are presently coasting along with an unblemished 12-0 mark.

The outcome of the Maine game was never much in doubt as the Cards opened up a 14-5 lead in the first four minutes of play. The Demons closed to within four points, 15-11, at the end of the first quarter but that was as close as they were to get.

The second period saw Arlington's pressing defense and strong board play pay off as the Redbirds poured through 21 points to leave the court at intermission with a commanding 36-18 lead.

THE LOCALS increased their advantage to 51-29 after three periods and in the final quarter with most of the starters on the bench, Arlington continued its hot hand to garner 22 points and effect the 73-49 rout.

Coach Ted Wissen's boys displayed excellent balance as four starters scored in double figures. Steve Allen was high man with 16 points while Jim Donchess and Jim Jorgensen collected 15 each. Bruce Hubbard got 12 counters on four baskets and four free throws.

Donchess and Hubbard bounced back from scoreless evenings at Hinsdale the previous week. The 15-point night was the seventh in double figures in the West Suburban for Donchess, Arlington's 6-6 junior center. Hubbard has reached double figures five times in the WSC.

Guard Chris Schawel led the Demons with 14 points while high scoring Craig MacGregor was held to ten.

THE GAME WAS somewhat of a milestone in Cardinal basketball history as it represented the last scheduled game between the two schools. The bitter rivalry that dates back to 1951 comes to an end this year as the Cardinals withdraw from the West Suburban Conference.

Arlington closed out the series with a string of four straight basketball victories over Maine East. The Demons' last win over Arlington came on Feb. 7, 1964, when they tripped up the Cards, 62-47.

The Cards hope to clinch at least a tie for second place in the conference Friday evening when they travel to Downers Grove. Arlington has only two league games remaining and while a double victory would assure them of sole possession of the runnerup spot, a split could force them into a tie with either Glenbard West or La Grange.

Pioneer Bears Top High School Loop

The high school division of the Arlington Heights Park District Hockey League wound up its 1965-66 regular season schedule last week with the Pioneer Park Bears, captained by Paul Rocca, winning the league championship.

Over 60 village youths participated in the program, playing games nightly at Recreation Park rink.

In addition, the Arlington Heights Warriors, an all star team co-captained by Rocca and Herb Irlbacker, and composed of league personnel, competed in the North Suburban Hockey Association, running up a second place record of four wins and three losses.

The locals beat Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, Park Ridge and Rolling Meadows, and bowed to Park Ridge twice and Dundee once.

Standout players included Rocca and Irlbacker, Dennis Edwards, Bill Sayer, Skip Wibbs, John Sevast, and Joe Spaulding.

'Cats Comeback Fails

Wheeling Falls 51-47 Before Falcon Quintet

by MICHAEL HESS

"Comeback" was the word and the word, last Friday, almost meant "upset."

Wheeling cagers trailed Forest View by two after period one, by eight at half, by 14 after three quarters. FV's margin was still 11 with just 1:52 remaining.

In those closing seconds the 'Cats rallied. They registered eight quick points in their comeback try. However the Falcons avoided an upset, held on, and gained a narrow 51-47 triumph.

The win left Forest View with a season mark of 13-6 and winning streak of four straight. Coach Ken Arneson's quintet is now 6-1 in Mid-Suburban League action just one game behind conference leader Prospect.

WHEELING, IN defeat, had its over-all record lowered to 3-15 and its losing string extended to eight in a row. Among M-SL aggregations headman Mike Owens' crew is sixth, in the cellar, with an 0-7 standard.

Both teams' efforts in their struggle can best be summarized in one word — defense.

The Falcons' defense was rugged. Using a height advantage of over 2½ inches per man, FV dominated the defensive board limiting Wheeling to one shot each time down the floor. Arneson's crew stopped the 'Cats with only 23 points during the initial three quarters of action.

The Wildcats' defense was forced to scramble but Owens' crew scrambled well. Their defensive drive kept opposition shooters off balance and Forest View hit for only 24.5 per cent of their goal attempts. Wheeling's pressuring defense also picked up many fouls and it was fouls which brought defeat.

A close first quarter opened the battle. Jim Baumgardt and Howie Brasch started FV scoring while Scott Bischoff, Tom Neuckranz and Rex Peterson countered for the 'Cats. After Mark Newman's foul shot tied the score for Wheeling a jumper by Forest View's Pat Dunnigan put his team up 9-7 as period two opened.

DUNNIGAN AND Byron Borgardt, with six and five points respectively, helped increase the Falcons' margin. Dunnigan's eight-footer made the score 19-9 but Al Gibbon and Jim Funk brought the 'Cats to within eight, at 23-15, by the intermission.

In period three FV built what appeared to be an unbeatable lead. Seven markers by Dunnigan and four by Bucky Jones helped establish a 37-23 gap going into the last quarter.

To that juncture Forest View had made just nine of 38 goal tries. However 19 fouls committed by the 'Cats gave the Falcons 19 points at the line and those charity markers kept FV out of reach.

Starting the final period Jones made two goals for Forest View and Neuckranz one for Wheeling. The 'Cats were down by 16 at 41-25. Then Newman hit an eight-footer and Neuckranz and Jerry Kerr both made a pair at the line cutting the margin to 41-31.

In the next two minutes the margin remained the same. With 2:16 left the totals were 48-38. Kerr added one for the 'Cats but Jones tossed in two at the line and, at 1:52, the score was 50-39.

AS WHEELING started its move from behind the driving force was 5-7 senior guard, Ken Foster. The word hustle must have been made for Foster. He was everywhere, doing everything and he, more than anyone else, caused the 'Cats comeback.

With Foster harrassing and hampering FV's offense, Funk and Gibbon canned goals for Wheeling. The score was 50-43. Then Foster got into the scoring column with a 16 footer from along the base line. Only five points separated the two teams but only 31 seconds were left.

The clock showed 24 seconds as Jones made an FV foul shot setting the score at 51-45. Seven seconds later the Falcons' Grismer drew his fifth foul and Neuckranz went to the line. In a one and one situation Neuckranz missed his first attempt but as time ran out he set the final totals with a tap in.

Wheeling's comeback had failed and Forest View had its triumph.

DUNNIGAN WAS high man in the game. He made five of 15 from the floor and eight of 11 at the line for 18 points. Jones made seven of nine foul tries for the winners and also finished in double figures with 13. As a team FV made more points from the charity strip, 27, than from the floor, 24.

Best scorer for a balanced 'Cats attack was Neuckranz with 10. Gibbon added nine for Wheeling which had nine players contribute markers. The losers hit 16 of 38 (42.1 per cent) from the floor.

Fenton Boasts Two Champions

As expected East Leyden took home the Fenton District Wrestling Championship Saturday afternoon at Bensenville with four individual champions and a score of 96 team points.

West Leyden made a strong bid, ending in second place with one champion, five second places and 82 team points. Elmwood Park, York and Fenton placed two champions and Maine South one.

State champion Bob Bien (120) of York showed his power by winning his class with two decisions and a pin, not allowing a point to be scored against him. He decisioned Commers of West Leyden 6-0, pinned Federighi of Elmwood Park in 3:22 and gained the championship with an 11-0 decision over Dodgers of East Leyden.

Another 1965 state qualifier John Palazzolo (165) of Elmwood Park whipped his three challengers. Warming up with a 4-1 decision over Heinrichs of Ridgewood, then eliminating Kohler of West Leyden and Rapier of York by identical 11-0 scores.

THREE FENTONITES survived the first round and all three continued to gain a sectional berth. Bison Bob Aguilar (103) lived up to his top-seeded position, despite a sprained ankle, and breezed through his three bouts, decisioning Pederson of Maine South 16-2 in the first round, pinning Herzmann of Elmwood Park in 3:27 for the second win and gaining the gold medal with a 10-4 decision over Cartwright of East Leyden.

Fenton's Clar Giltner had an equally good weekend. Second seeded Giltner decisioned Shea of St. Patrick 11-2, pinned third-seeded Strykowski of East Leyden in 5:17 and in a hard fought championship round came out ahead of top seeded Neiman of West Leyden 4-2. Paul Poplawsky, second in the conference tournament last weekend at 154, picked up another silver medal and a trip to the sectionals at Palatine next week by decisioning Solomon of Maine South 4-1 in the first round, and winning a 2-1 overtime match from Seib of West Leyden in the semi-finals. He dropped the championship to top seeded Joe Asta of East Leyden 9-3.

LEGS ENTWINED, struggling for balance are Steve DeHaven and Mike Mohr. DeHaven, of Forest View, gained a decision victory over Mohr, of Prospect, in the district wrestling meet staged last Friday and Saturday. The win gave DeHaven the 112 pound crown but the Falcons, 4th, still ended behind the Knights, 2nd, in team standings.

Prospect Gymnasts Stop Conant 82-50

Overall balance outweighed individual brilliance Friday afternoon, as Prospect's powerful varsity gymnasts out-pointed Conant 82-50.

For Rick Farris' crew, it secured a perfect record after five Mid-Suburban league dual meetings, and upped the Knights' season mark to 3-3. Bob Ferguson's Cougars compiled a 3-2 mark in MSL meetings, and are 7-6 overall. The action left Prospect in an excellent position for the league's six-team meet at Wheeling on February 26.

The Knights overcame another stellar performance by Conant's Gary Funke to accomplish the victory. Funke, with two undisputed firsts, a tie for first and a fourth, compiled 23 team points.

But Prospect Triumphs

Stubborn 'Cats Give Knights Good Battle

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

Mid-Suburban League cage leader Prospect High traveled to Wheeling last Friday night to take on cellar dwelling Wheeling High, and the Knights had to battle surprisingly hard against the lowly Wildcats to earn a 54-42 decision.

The contest was played before a fine crowd of Prospect and Wheeling basketball fans. The Knight rooters made the journey in order to cheer their charges on to their 12th straight victory.

The Wildcats used a "spirit week" celebration in order to reactivate interest in Coach Mike Owens' Wheeling varsity cagers, and the fine support and fan enthusiasm must have rubbed off on the Wildcat cagers.

THE OWENS athletes employed a different game style than they ordinarily employ, and it has to be judged as successful in this case when you consider that Prospect bombed the Cats 71-43 in a meeting last month.

Being at a distinct height disadvantage the Wheeling quintet utilized a ball-control type of strategy throughout most of the contest, and it did them no harm.

The heavily favored Knights led throughout most of the contest, but never really had a safe margin until midway in the final period.

THE SLOW pace was especially evident in the opening quarter, which eventually ended in a 6-6 tie. Forward Dan Agard sent Prospect into a 2-0 lead after the opening tip-off, but Wheeling's Scott Bischoff came back with a pair of field goals to give the Cats a 4-2 lead.

Wheeling held on to this margin for several minutes as it employed the ball-control type play in order to wait for a good opening in the Prospect zone defense. Prospect eventually managed to tie the count shortly before the quarter ended and in the next quarter began to solve the Wildcat puzzle.

With the score knotted up at 8-8 early in the second quarter, Coach Dick Kinneman's quintet tallied six straight points on a pair of free throws by Agard and a duo of baskets by J. D. Thorne to take a 14-8 lead.

A FEW MINUTES later Prospect's ace forward-center Tom Lundstedt finally got into the scoring act and pitched in two successive field goals to widen the margin to nine points, 20-11. The two teams exchanged field goals at that point, and the half ended with the Knights on top 22-13.

Prospect came out in the second half and increased its lead to 26-13 on two quick field goals by Agard and Tony Kulasa, but then Wheeling began a rally of its own.

Paced by an ex-JV product, Greg Fedyski, playing in his initial varsity contest, the Cats moved to within six points at one stage late in the period. Fedyski scored five points in this Wheeling flare-up, but Tom Beard and Agard tamed the Wildcats somewhat with a couple of baskets near the end of the quarter to give Prospect a 34-25 lead going into the final eight minutes.

WITH A LITTLE under six minutes left in the game the Knights had a 38-30 lead, and the Wildcats still had visions of an upset. However, at that point Prospect started a flurry of points that in a few minutes had them safely out in front for the first time in the game, 50-32.

Substitutes began streaming in from both benches after this outburst, and it was simply a matter of time before Prospect fans were cheering the Knights, 54-42 MSL win.

Lundstedt, who had a 22.2 per game average prior to this tilt, had to relinquish his usual high game scoring honors to Agard, who ended up with 14 points. Lundstedt posted 12 points for the night.

Wheeling was paced by guard Mark Newman, who turned in 10 points along with a fine floor game.

Knights Rip Conant

Prospect Five Hits 54 Per Cent in Win

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

Coach Dick Kinneman's highly regarded Prospect varsity basketball unit climaxed its weekend of cage activity last Saturday night on the home court by soundly trouncing Conant High 81-49 for its second Mid-Suburban League win in as many days.

The previous night at Wheeling the Prospect five had some difficulty before defeating the last place Wildcats 54-42, but against Conant the Kinneman men had little trouble.

The little trouble the Knights did encounter came in the person of 6-7 Larry Powell. The lanky center came off a 30 point performance the night before against Palatine and gave a good account of himself against Prospect, until he ran into foul trouble early in the third quarter.

POWELL SAT out a good portion of the last half but finished the game with 13 points and did a fine job filling in the middle of the Conant zone defense.

The 81 point total run up by the Knights was their second highest total of the 1965-66 season. The last time that Prospect broke the 70 mark was at the Pontiac Holiday Tournament when it downed Granite City by an 82-61 count.

A big contrast in the performance of the two teams, and an important factor in the outcome, was the field goal shooting record. Prospect piled up 34 field goals and a 54 per cent shooting average compared to 16 field goals and a poor 28 per cent success ratio by the Cougars.

THE KNIGHT scoring was spread between eleven of the thirteen players who saw action during the evening's rout. Tom Lundstedt found some tough going under the offensive basket but still managed to lead all scorers in the game with 16 points.

Tony Kulasa chipped in 12 points for Prospect on some fine outside shooting, and Mike Mueller came off the bench to register the same number of tallies. Mueller was playing in only his second varsity contest, having just recently been promoted from the JV team.

The Knights wasted no time in building up a sizable lead after the opening tip-off. Dan Agard, Lundstedt, Kulasa and Tom Beard, in that order, swished the nets for two-pointers early in the quarter, before Conant's Dave Sander finally put two points on the board for his mates.

PROSPECT WENT on to build up the count to 15-2 before Bill Lunebach registered a free throw for the Cougars. When the first period finally ended, the Knights were comfortably on top 23-5 by virtue of a 70 per cent field goal shooting effort and a perfect 5-5 record at the free throw lane.

Things cooled down considerably for Prospect in the second quarter, as Conant's Powell led a rally that enabled the Cougars to outscore the home team 14-12.

However, Prospect came out in the second half and quickly added on to its 35-19 half time lead. Led by Mueller's eight points and Lundstedt's seven, the Knights built up their lead to 57-40 by the end of the third quarter.

Scoring was at a rapid pace in the final stanza as substitutes took over most of the duties. The final tally ended up 81-49, and Prospect continued to hold undisputed first place in the MSL cage race with a 7-0 mark.

Pedersen Named Pro at Midlane

The new head golf professional for Midlane Farm Country Club is Chuck Pedersen, it was announced by the club's president, Dennis Gent.

Pedersen, a P. G. A. class A professional from Arlington Heights, moves to Midlane Farm from Rolling Green C.C., where he spent the last ten seasons as assistant and head professional. He was graduated from Arlington Heights High School and attended Milton College in Wisconsin.

Regarded as an excellent teacher, Pedersen counts among his students Ara Parseghian, Notre Dame football coach, and Shirley Englehorn, president of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, who is now collaborating with him on a golf book which will be released late this year.

CHUCK PEDERSEN

Midlane Farm Country Club is a semi private course located on Townline Road in Wadsworth, Ill., just four miles northwest of downtown Waukegan.

Opened to the public in 1964, it was designed by golf course architect Robert Bruce Harris and features 7 miles of underground fairway watering system on gently rolling terrain.

The course is situated in the center of 700 acre Midlane Farm. The 200 ft. long clubhouse, which is done in authentic Early American decor, was converted from a huge dairy barn.

Hawks Gain Cup Crown in Hockey

The Pioneer Park Hawks added the Midget Stanley Cup to their 1965-66 hockey league championship for a clean sweep of available honors in Arlington Heights.

The second place Braves fell one game short of victory as they rolled over the Warriors 8-4 in the semi-final round.

The charged-up Braves roared into the cup finals against the Hawks and flattened the league champs 7-1 in the first of a best of three.

The Blue and Gold Hawks fought back with a come-from-behind, second game 5-3 victory.

The series final was held under the lights at Pioneer and the balanced scoring of the Hawks proved too much for the Braves. The scoring opened at 7:18 of the second period as Bill Bryk broke in all alone on Braves' goalie Kennedy and dumped a shot in the right corner.

Paul Santelli, captain of the Blue and Gold, added two more counters at 12:15 and 3:46 of the final stanza before Tom on a rebound and a ten foot slap shot. John Cavers finished the scoring at 10:06 on a clean breakaway.

Brave captain Sayre was voted the outstanding cup player with eleven goals.

The Arlington Midget All-Stars met with further disasters on the tourney trail. The All-Stars lost a 3-2 double overtime game to Rolling Meadows in the opening round of the weekend Morton Grove International.

The locals then absorbed a 6-1 defeat at the hands of Mount Prospect in the consolation round.

Cougars Matmen Tip Knight Frosh

Conant's freshman wrestlers defeated Prospect in a meet held last Saturday in the season ending action for both squads.

The Cougars finished their Mid-Suburban League campaign with a 3-0-2 record which put them second. In the M-SL the Knights closed at 2-3 in fourth place. Over-all Prospect was 6-4.

No details of the meet were made available at press time.

'Y' Girls Coast to Swim Win

It was strictly no contest as the Northwest Suburban Girls YMCA swimming team rolled past the North Suburban Y last weekend, 266-50, for its 22nd straight victory.

The area gals dominated the competition with five swimmers scoring double victories.

Gail Schlak of Des Plaines, swimming in the cadet division, won the 25 yard freestyle and 25 yard butterfly.

Jan Lesniak of Prospect Heights topped the 100 yard individual medley and 25 yard backstroke in the midget class, and Sandy Gabler of Arlington Heights headed the midgets in the 25 freestyle and 50 freestyle.

Susie Ivison of Barrington sparkled in the prep division with firsts in the 50 butterfly and 100 freestyle.

Jackie Nesvig of Palatine scored with firsts in the junior division 50 freestyle and 100 free.

The local 'Y' team will be seeking its 23rd straight dual victory Saturday at the Harvey YMCA.

Atkins Goal Decides Title

A goal by Jeff Atkins in a fourth overtime period gave the Moguil Mouseketeers a 1-0 victory over the Skinny Doogans in the Bemidji Ball championship of the Arlington High School intramural sports program.

Atkins' goal decided an event that had covered two days at the Arlington tennis courts.

Bemidji ball is a form of hockey played with broomsticks and volleyballs.

The champs posted a 10-1 season record in the league which was formed by Guy Vena, a coach at Arlington.

Members of the winning team were Capt. Jim Sergey, Paul Parish, Keith Winkler, Tom Sullivan, Bob Mothershead, Dave Heisig, Dave Fondrie, and Atkins.

Forest View's Soph Five Tips Wheeling, 56-54

Bench strength paid off Saturday morning for Forest View's sophomore Falcons as they slipped by Wheeling, 56-54.

"Our subs did a good job when the regulars fouled out in the fourth quarter," Falcon coach Rog Steingraber praised.

Steingraber cited the relief work of Dave Erickson, Ken Wisniewski, and Fred Lauing.

Wheeling jumped out in front 18-9 after one period, but the Falcons clamped on the zone press and slowly chopped away at the 'Cat lead.

Mike Messer was high for Forest View with 15 points. Fred Wester had 14 and Kevin Grismer 12.

Phil Smith tallied 19 points for the Wildcats. Rboin Melzer flipped in 11.

Lindahl Leads

Joan Lindahl, one of the better women bowlers of Arlington Heights and a member of the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League, bowled 653 scratch for a 701 gross to take the lead in the Illinois state women's singles Sunday at Belleville, Ill. She ranks fourth in all-events. Tourney continues for several weekends.

Wheeling JV Quintet Falls to Forest View

A big first quarter made the difference . . .

Forest View JV cagers topped Wheeling 23-7 in period one last Friday. That 16 point margin held up as FV whipped the 'Cats 52-36.

WITH THE victory coach Bob Rees' Falcons' record became 11-4 over-all and 5-2 in Mid-Suburban League play. Wheeling, for headman Ted Ecker, is 4-9 for the season and 2-5 in the M-SL.

Frank Calvello led Forest View's charge in the first quarter. Four field goals and two foul shots gave Calvello 10 points for the Falcons who made seven of 13 from the floor and nine of 12 at the line for their 23 markers.

Over the next three periods both teams collected 29 points. FV was up 32-12 at the half but the Wildcats established a 24-20 advantage after the intermission to set the closing totals.

Scoring efforts of each quintet were considerably hampered by many fouls and frequent turnovers. There were 44 fouls whistled in the contest, which resulted in 61 free throw attempts, and 41 turnovers committed, 24 in the first half.

HIGH SCORER in the game was the Falcons' Rich Gillespie who had 15 points. Calvello added 12 and Ted Lambert 10 for the winners. Jeff Winterburg was best for Wheeling. He had nine points and was backed by eight from Rick Bruce.

Forest View shot 35.7 per cent from the floor (15 for 42) and 57.9 per cent at the line (22 of 38) in the fame. A percentage of 31.1 on goal tries (10 for 32) was the Wildcats' mark and, at the charity stripe, they made 69.6 per cent (16 of 23).

One Point Loss to Prospect Gymnasts

A slim one point margin brought Prospect gymnasts a defeat from Willowbrook last Saturday.

Final tally of the meet found the Knights on the short end of a 66½-65½ count. That dropped the overall record of coach Rick Farris' squad to 8-4.

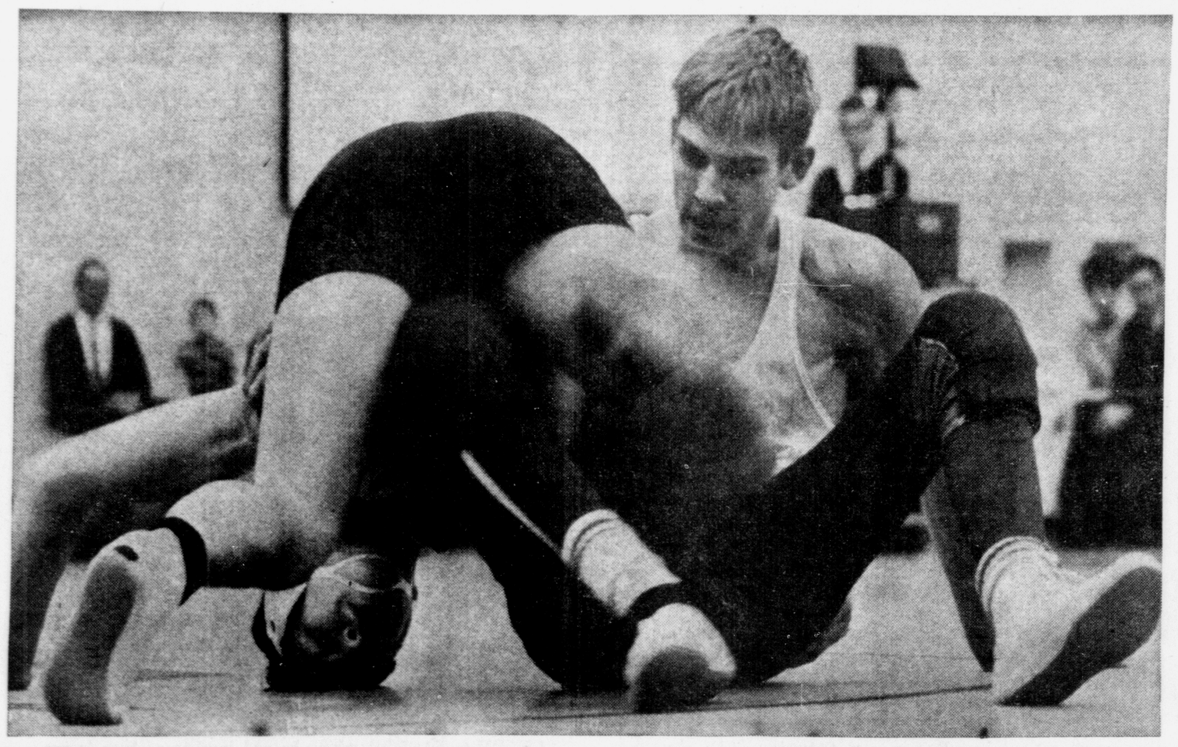
Three firsts were taken by Prospect in the meet. They went to Rick Carr, Bruce Cole and Vince Franzone. Car took trampoline honors with a rating of 172 while Cole, at 139, was best on the side horse and Franzone's 139 led rings action.

Behind Carr on the tramp Bill Nendel gained a third while Jim Anderson and Bob Destafanis were number three in back of Cole and Franzone in horse and rings competition. Bob Goffinski and Rick Burger were two-three in tumbling and identical positions went to Stu Bedford and Ken Vomaka on the parallel bars.

At the frosh-soph level the same narrow margin existed, however, there the Knights won 66½-65½. Fred Gaines' triumphant team is now 9-2-1 for the season.

Taking first for the lower level Prospect entry were Nick Penneff, Roy Hardin and Bill Van Sky. Penneff won on the tramp, Hardin on the high bar and Van Sky on the P-bar. Van Sky was also second on the rings.

Other seconds for the Knights younger gymnasts went to John Hall on the trampoline and Steve Bang in tumbling. Thirds were taken by Bruce Bernard, on the H-bar and in tumbling, and Doug Olson on the rings.



NOW WHAT?? Wheeling's Paul Berwanger (right) appears to hold an advantage over Mike Jones of Arlington in last weekend's district wrestling meet. However, when the two grapplers finished their bout for the 165 pound title it was Jones who won. He blanked Berwanger 2-0 though both advance to sectional action. (Staff photo by Bob Finch)

St. Viator Sophs Split League Tilts

Bill Yaeger, Pat Zeller, and Gary Berg each scored 14 points Friday evening as St. Viator's sophomore Lions routed St. George, 65-48, in Chicagoland Prep League basketball.

The Lions traveled to St. Patrick the following night and suffered a 49-45 reversal.

A 20-9 second period sent coach Ed Wasielewski's Lions into a 10-point halftime lead at St. George, and they never trailed again.

The winners held a 44-28 lead after three periods and Yaeger tossed in six baskets to spark a 21-point concluding stanza.

A furious fourth period rally fell short Saturday at St. Pat's. The Shamrocks held a 37-23 lead after three quarters but showed only a four-point advantage at the final buzzer.

St. Viator went five minutes without a point in the second period.

Zeller was high for the Lions with 13 points. Berg contributed 12 and Bill Reising eight.

St. Viator will conclude league play this weekend with home games against St. Joseph and St. Mel.

Grove's Quintets

Elk Grove sophomore and freshman basketball teams met New Trier West last Saturday. No results from those contests were made available at press time.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

YOUNG DATA PROCESSING EXECUTIVE
Who Wants to "Arrive" Before His Time

should investigate the management consulting opportunity which exists with our firm. Ideally, the candidate would be between 28-34. He has a Bachelor's degree and possibly a Master's. He has had 5-8 yrs. of experience with 1 or more firms. His capacity for working with management people, coupled with his analytical and problem solving abilities, have earned him recognition from his employer and respect from his associates. To this young man, we offer the opportunity to "leap frog" ahead in his career. If your record of achievement includes the design and installation of systems for a variety of applications (inventory, production control, order processing and accounting), we welcome your exploration of this consulting opportunity in our international organization. Chicago, Toledo, or Detroit locations with regional travel.

Our Used Car Creed

"When we sell NEW automobiles we act chiefly as a retailer, selling merchandise that bears another's name and reputation.
"But when we sell USED cars, we take on some of the responsibility of a manufacturer.
"The various USED cars that we sell are no longer warranted by the original makers. In effect, they bear OUR name.
"We have succeeded as a merchant of re-conditioned automobiles with the honesty of our products and our methods.
"We can't afford to jeopardize our reputation by selling merchandise we cannot offer with pride and confidence.
"Our USED cars must be honestly re-conditioned to give us the benefit of a product that will create the right kind of word-of-mouth advertising."

Mrs. Harry Schulze, 253-2352, by Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Morris Pecka

Tillie Pecka, who resided with her son and daughter-in-law at 904 N. Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights, died after a long illness Saturday, Feb. 12, in Plum Grove Nursing Home.

Mrs. Pecka was born in Czechoslovakia Sept. 23, 1895. She was interested in gardening and handiwork.

Preceded in death by her husband, Morris, she leaves three sons, William of Arlington Heights; James, and Joseph, both of Chicago; a daughter, Ann Erst of Berwyn; eight grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; and several brothers and sisters.

A 10 a.m. funeral mass was read Tuesday, Feb. 15, at St. James Church, Father Laramie officiating. Interment was at Our Lady of Sorrows Cemetery in Hillside. Haire Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Glenn Lingen

Irene Lingen, 43, died Sunday, Feb. 12, in Wesley Memorial Hospital. A former resident of Des Plaines, her last address was 2210 Goebbert Road, Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Lingen was a PTA president for two years in High Ridge Knolls.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday, Feb. 14, at Trinity Lutheran Church in Des Plaines, followed by interment at Mount Emblem. Arrangements were made by Lauterburg & Oehler Funeral Home.

She leaves her husband, Glenn D.; two sons, Terry and Jeffrey; her mother, Anna Baron of Chicago; two sisters, Mary Shmay, and Sophie Pecora, both of Chicago; and brothers, Henry Wojner of Stanley, Wis., and Val of Abbottsford, Wis.

Andrew G. Olson

Andrew G. Olson, a retired building contractor, died Thursday, Feb. 10, in his home at 311 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights. His age was 95.

Mr. Olson came to this country from Sweden when he was 17 years old, and had made his home in Arlington Heights for the past 15 years. He was a member of Medinah Shrine and the oldest member of Arlington Heights' First Methodist Church.

Dr. Amos A. Thornburg conducted funeral services at 11 a.m. Monday, Feb. 14, at Lauterburg & Oehler Funeral Home. Interment was at Oakhill Cemetery.

Preceded in death by his wife, Amanda, he leaves two daughters, Violet Butler of Toledo, Ohio, and Evelyn Peterson of Arlington Heights; three grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren. (A15

Daniel M. McSweeney

Daniel M. McSweeney, a Palatine resident at 366 N. Quentin Road for the past 15 years, died after a heart attack Wednesday, Feb. 9, in Northwest Community Hospital.

Mr. McSweeney, born in Willard, Ohio, May 8, 1902, had been employed as a salesman by Glidden Paint Co. in Chicago since 1951. He was a member of St. Theresa Church in Palatine.

Funeral mass was read at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 12, at St. Theresa Church, with interment in Garrett, Ind. Ahlgrim & Son Funeral Home completed the arrangements.

He leaves his wife, Ruth, nee Coates; a son, John D. of Connecticut; one daughter, Marilyn Dorsch of Madison, Wis.; nine grandchildren; brother, James McSweeney; and sisters, Anne McSweeney, Margaret Smith, Catherine Barrett, and Mary Minnaugh. (A15

Joseph J. Ziesk

Joseph J. Ziesk, 531 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights, died in Arlington Heights Rest Home Wednesday, Feb. 9. He was born Jan. 26, 1887, in Chicago.

Mr. Ziesk, a retired bricklayer, had been an Arlington resident since 1923, except for a period of seven years when he and his wife lived in Florida. They returned in 1965. He owned and operated a mink farm in Arlington Heights at 1308 N. State Road from 1937 through 1948.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, nee Braun; a son, Julius of Lavonia, Mich.; four daughters, Delores Petersen, and Betty Lou Srednicki of Arlington Heights, Eileen Dermond of Modesta, Calif., and Barbara Black of Danville, Ill.; 21 grandchildren; one great-grandchild; brothers, Paul of Lake Como, Wis., Charles of Glenview, Fred of Des Plaines, Walter of Chicago, Bert of Woods, Wis., and Arthur of Valparaiso, Ind.; and a sister, Katherine Werdell of Skokie.

Funeral mass was said at 10 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 12, at St. James Church, followed by entombment at Queen of Heaven Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were completed by Lauterburg & Oehler Funeral Home.

Mrs. John Sharp

Flora Sharp, who made her home with her daughter at 202 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights, died Thursday, Feb. 10, in Bee Dozier's Nursing Home. Her age was 76.

Mrs. Sharp, born in Mount Olive, Ill., was a member of Faith Lutheran Church in Arlington Heights.

She leaves two daughters, Bernice Ninnemann of Palatine, and Marie Elsberg of Arlington Heights; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 12, at Haire Funeral Home, followed by interment at Wunders Cemetery, Chicago. Officiating was Rev. Edgar H. Behrens.

Vincente Borrego Jr.

Vincente Borrego Jr., 33, of 1600 Algonquin Road, Arlington Heights, was killed Sunday, Feb. 12, when struck by an automobile while crossing Algonquin Road near Elmhurst Road, south of Mount Prospect.

He leaves his mother, Dolores; and two brothers, Moises of Arlington Heights, and Rogelio.

A rosary service was conducted Monday evening at Lauterburg & Oehler Funeral Home, and funeral service and interment will be held in Mission, Tex., Wednesday, Feb. 16.

R. E. Schoenbeck

Funeral services for Richard H. Schoenbeck, a life-long resident of this area, were held at 2 p.m. Friday, Feb. 11, at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Palatine. Interment was at Memory Gardens Cemetery.

Mr. Schoenbeck died in his home Wednesday, Feb. 9, at 240 W. Chicago Ave., Palatine. He was born Jan. 22, 1907, in Arlington Heights.

18 Firms Train Students In Office Occupations

Long corridors of the Universal Oil Products building in Des Plaines have become a familiar sight for Forest View High School student Judy Loeding. Judy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Loeding, 2707 Martin Lane, Rolling Meadows, works there afternoons as part of her training in the Distict 214 office occupations program.

Eighteen area employers have a special stake in the success of Forest View and Wheeling High Schools' occupations program.

All are serving as training stations for senior students enrolled in O.O.

The program, planned to give the seniors on-the-job experience working in an office, requires each girl or boy to spend 15 hours a week or more as a paid trainee — clerk-typist, stenographer, bookkeeper or the like.

AS A BY-PRODUCT, some of the teenagers may have jobs waiting for them when they graduate.

They will, in any case, be able to tell employers they contact for full-time jobs that they had a year's experience, backing up that statement with professional references.

Mrs. Ada Songer is in charge of the O. O. program at Wheeling High School and Mrs. Helen Graves teaches the program at Forest View. Mrs. Graves has the only boy enrolled — Robert Sanden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sanden, of 1000 Cypress Lane, Elk Grove Village. Sanden is a trainee in the accounting department at United Air Lines.

AT PROSPECT High School, Mrs. Margery Bright is already interviewing potential enrolees in the O. O. program that will be started there next year. She spent part of her Christmas vacation making first contacts with possible employers. The Prospect teacher is aiming for an enrollment of 15 senior students, both boys and girls.

"There are a lot of good opportunities in this program for boys," Mrs. Bright says. She cites banks and auto agencies as among firms with a real interest in male trainees.

To expand District 214's O. O. program next year will mean finding more employers willing to serve as laboratories for office learning. All three teachers will be on the outlook for interested companies.

THEY MIGHT well use Patrick Irwin of the Televiso Electronics firm in Wheeling as a reference.

Irwin's company employs as clerk-typists two Wheeling High School seniors, Kathy Pecora, daughter of the Joseph Pecoras, 1460 Marcy Lane, and Donna Karlow, daughter of the Daniel Karlows, 228 Maureen Drive.

"The girls we have are working out real well," states Irwin. "They were easy to train because they caught on fast."

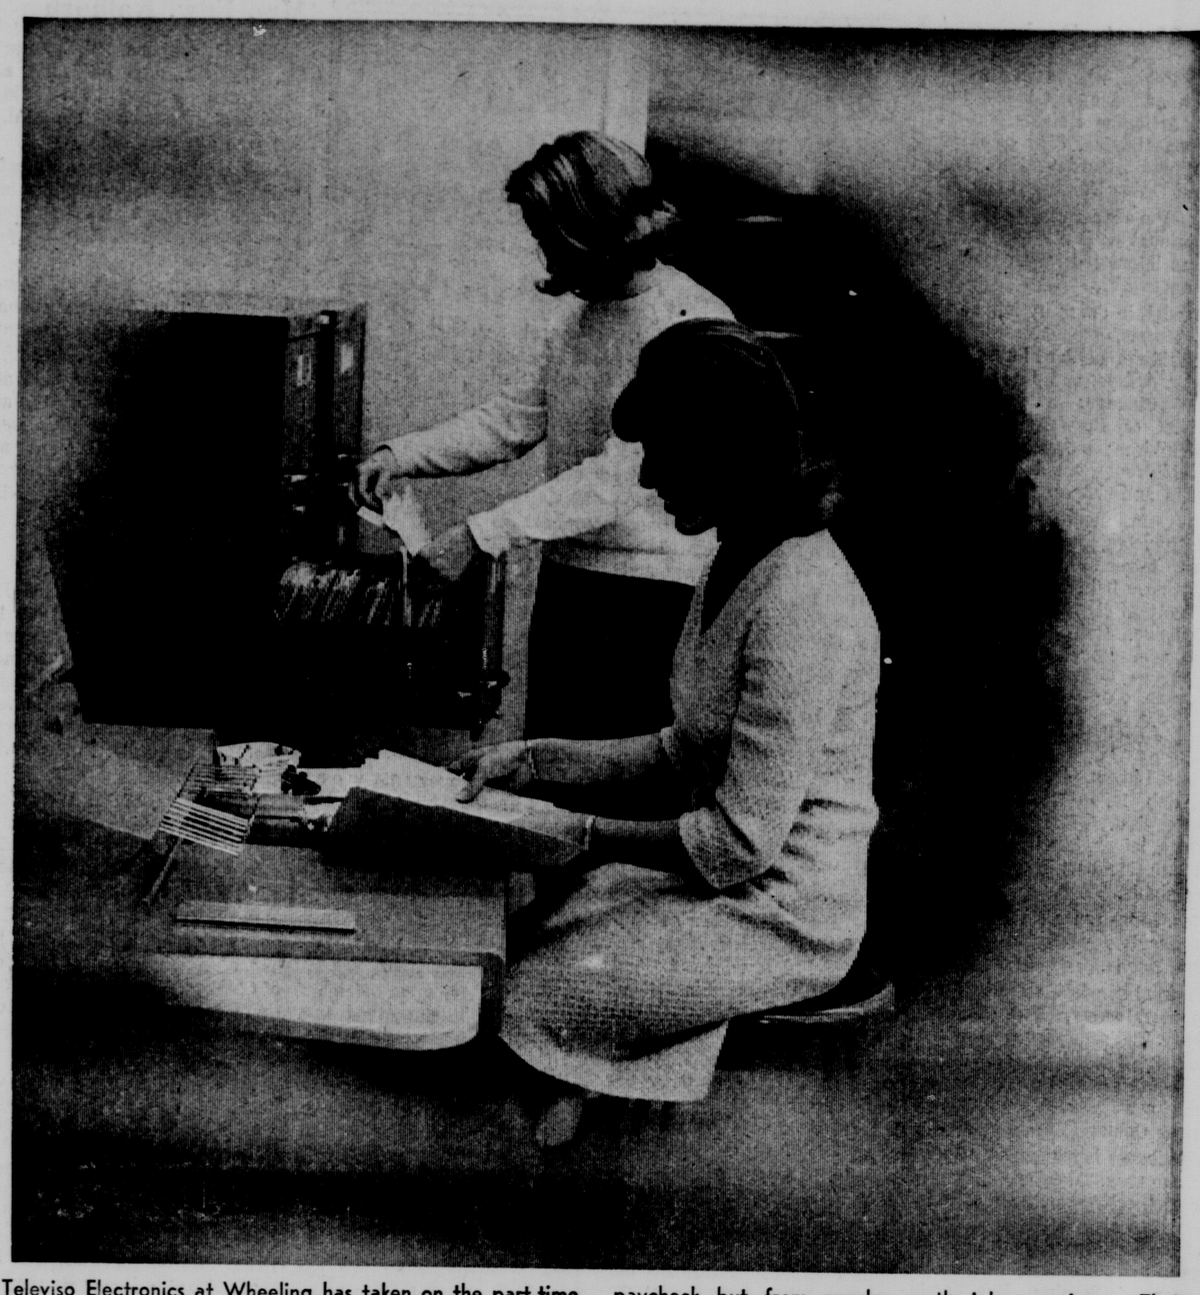
"If we have the work," he adds, "we'll take students on again next year, for we think its been a good thing for us as well as for the girls."

MRS. SONGER has a great deal of praise for all the companies that serve as training stations for the O. O. students. "I'm always amazed how patient and kind these employers are," she says, "particularly to this age group."

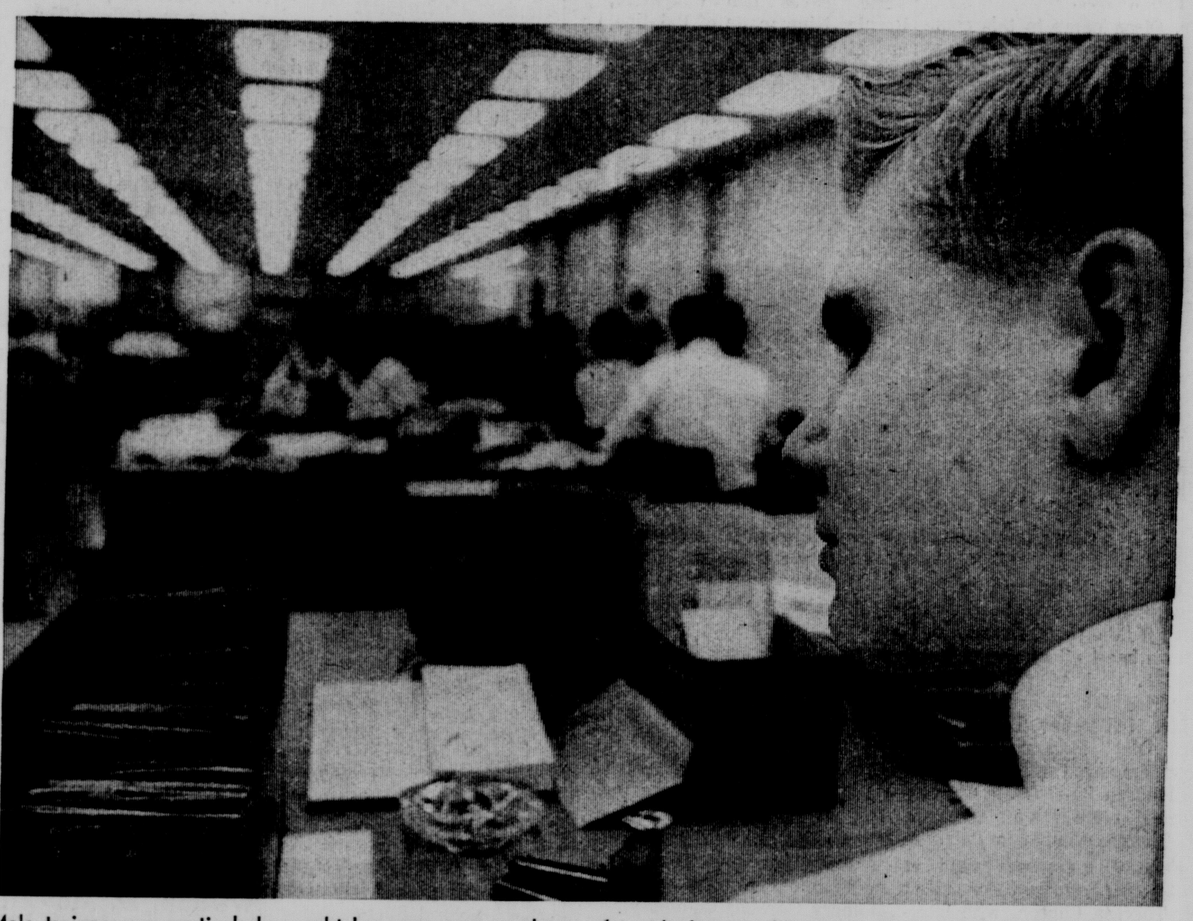
"Remember, these girls are not finished products or we wouldn't put them out to be trained. Working with them does take patience — and our employers have it," she will tell you.

Wheeling's O. O. students are also given training at Wheeling Auto Parts, Wheeling Trust and Savings, the Community Presbyterian Church, All American Co., Illinois Lock Co., Montgomery Ward at Randhurst, Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., in Des Plaines, and four District 214 offices.

Forest View High School's O. O. program counts as cooperating employers the Bruning Co., of Mount Prospect, United Air Lines, Universal Oil Products and Brentwood School in Des Plaines, General Bathroom Products of Elk Grove Village and Arlington Heights attorney John Patrick O'Brien.



Televiso Electronics at Wheeling has taken on the part-time training of these two senior girls, Donna Karlow and Kathy Pecora. The girls have been working there since fall and — like the other trainees — are benefiting not only from a paycheck but from regular on-the-job experience. Their teacher believes all her students have matured on the job, improving their business skills, their attitude and grooming.



Male trainees are particularly sought by some area employers interested in helping District 214 with its office occupations program. Robert Sanden, shown in the United Air Lines accounting department where he works part-time, is the only boy in this year's O.O. program. But more boys could be placed — and teachers working with the business majors hope to interest more in the program.

Familiarity with filing comes more quickly, Wheeling High School student Patricia May has found, in a regular office setup. She works at Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., Des Plaines. Patricia, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert May, 1108 Crabtree Lane, Mount Prospect, is one of 14 Wheeling seniors learning office skills in practical settings.

Classroom training is also important, students enrolled in District 214's office occupations program soon learn. Shown here before a class of attentive Wheeling High School girls is Mrs. Ada Songer, who supervised a similar program Downstate before coming to this district. One of her Wheeling students, Susan Gille, is an officer of the Illinois Association of Office Occupations Clubs and president of area student O.O. Clubs.
